Mr. HOAR. I present resolutions adopted by the Cold Cut Club of Waltham, Mass., which are in the nature of a petition, and which declare, among other things, that banking corporations give us a volume of money only as their profit allows, and they therefore shamefully reduced the volume of money in this country between 1880 and 1890, which made it necessary for Congress to increase its purchases of silver to supply us with money; and that thereupon the bankers began to increase the volume of bank notes, thereby throwing great discredit upon the wisdom of Congress and its silver law of July 14, 1890. Wherefore they pray that all private corporations be prohibited from issuing money, and that Congress take measures to compel the retirement of bank notes already out.

I commend the resolutions especially to the attention of my honorable friend from Ohio [Mr. SHERMAN]. I think he will derive great pleasure from their perusal. I move that the resolutions be referred to the Committee on Finance.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. COCKRELL presented a petition of Rose Valley Union, No. 104, of Saline County, Mo., praying for the passage of the Washburn-Hatch anti-option bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of the Commercial Club of Kansas City, Mo., praying for the passage of legislation to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Cherokee Nation of Indians of the Indian Territory, and to make appropriations for carrying out the same; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented the affidavit of Dr. J. W. Snowden, of San Jose, Cal., in support of the petition of Mrs. Gabriella P. Moody, praying to be granted a pension; which was referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. BUTLER presented the memorial of C. E. McDonald, R. N. McMaster, and other members of the Bethel Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church of Winnsboro, S. C., remonstrating against any repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. GEORGE presented memorials of citizens of Columbus, Miss., and of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church (South) of Lauderdale County, Miss., remonstrating against the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. VEST. I am directed by the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 10015) to authorize the construction of bridges across the Hiwassee, the Tennessee, and the Clinch Rivers, in the State of Tennessee, to report it without amendment, and I ask that it take the place on the Calendar of Senate bill 3525, which has been heretofore reported favorably from the Committee on Commerce. The bills are identical, and I ask that the House bill be substituted for the Senate bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar, and Order of Business 1173, Senate bill 3525, being a bill of the same title, will be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. SAWYER, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 8162) to pension Mary E. Trimble, widow of Montague N. Trimble, of the Mexican war, submitted an adverse report thereon.

Mr. VEST. Let the bill be placed on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar with the adverse report of the committee.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed a bill (H. R. 1007) to provide for lowering the height of a bridge proposed to be constructed across the Ohio River between Cincinnati, Ohio, and Covington, Ky., by the Cincinnati and Covington Rapid Transit Bridge Company, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message also announced that the House had passed a concurrent resolution to print and bind 60,000 copies of the special report of the Bureau of Animal Industry on diseases of cattle in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message further announced that the House had passed a concurrent resolution to print and bind 60,000 copies of the special report of the sheep industry of the United States; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills and a joint resolution, and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 9821) to amend "An act to promote the construction of a safe deep-water harbor on the coast of Texas," approved February 9, 1891;

A bill (S. 3195) granting to the Yuma Pumping Irrigation Company the right of way for two ditches across that part of the Yuma Indian Reservation lying in Arizona; and

A joint resolution (S. R. 113) providing for the printing of the Agricultural Report for 1892.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. PEPPER introduced a bill (S. 3716) for the relief of James Richardson; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

He also introduced a bill (S. 3717) for the relief of John Kircher; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. BERRY introduced a bill (S. 3718) to authorize the Oklahoma Midland Railroad Company to construct and operate a railway, telegraph, and telephone lines through the Indian and Oklahoma Territories, and for other purposes; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. HIGGINS introduced a bill (S. 3719) for the relief of Jasper Hanson; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. GALLINGER introduced a bill (S. 3720) to set aside the verdict of a court-martial in the case of George J. Barnes, late private in Company F, Second Regiment United States Sharpshooters, and Company H, Fifth New Hampshire Volunteer Infantry; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. CAMERON introduced a bill (S. 3721) for the relief of George Rushburger; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. VOORHEES introduced a bill (S. 3722) to increase the pension of William G. Smith; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Pensions.

He also introduced a bill (S. 3723) to reimburse the Miami Indians of Indiana for money improperly withheld from them; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. COCKRELL introduced a bill (S. 3724) granting a pension to Henry Hahman; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. QUAY introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 114) authorizing the exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition of the picture entitled "The Record of Columbus," by Annas G. Hutton; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Library.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. PETTIGREW submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Indian appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. McMILLAN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the District appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. QUAY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; the amendment providing for the purchase of the historical manuscripts lately compiled by Erastus Thatcher, relating to the District of Columbia, the city of Washington, and the towns of Alexandria and Georgetown, etc.; which was referred to the Committee on the Library, and ordered to be printed.

MARITIME CANAL OF NICARAGUA.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I submit a resolution and ask for its present consideration.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations be directed to inquire what sums, if any, have been expended by the Maritime Canal Company, the Nicaragua Canal Construction Company, or any company allied to either of said companies, in and about the construction of said canal or otherwise, with the funds of said expenditure, since the accounts of expenditure heretofore rendered to said committee.

Mr. SHERMAN. I can only say that a recent report has been made which probably the Senator has not examined. However, I do not know that that gives the items called for in the resolution.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I think possibly the Senator from Ohio will not object to the resolution after I make a statement.

Some two years ago testimony was taken by the Committee on Foreign Relations showing the expenditures made by the different canal companies up to that date. At that time a bill was pending in the Senate proposing Government aid for the Nicaragua Canal to the extent of the indorsement of $100,000,000 of bonds with the deposit in the Treasury of 50 per cent of the stock of the Maritime Canal Company as collateral security. Since that time the scheme has been entirely changed. While that bill was pending testimony was taken showing the expenditures made by the Canal Construction Company and the Maritime Canal Association, aggregating some $3,000,000.

As I said, the whole scheme has been changed, and now the Government of the United States is to indorse $10,000,000 of bonds; the construction of the canal is to be taken from the construction company, where it was placed some two years ago, and is to be entrusted solely to the Maritime Canal Association; and in consideration of its past expenditures that company is to receive $6,000,000 of the bonds of the company guaranteed by the Government and $12,000,000 of its stock. All the other stock except the stock that goes to Costa Rica and Nicaragua is to be vested in the Government of the United States as a gift.

The testimony taken two years ago shows that upwards of $3,000,000 or about $3,000,000 was expended, and that was to be paid back to the construction company, which was then to have the profits of construction. Now it is proposed to give them $6,000,000 of bonds and $12,000,000 of stock. I do not suppose it is seriously contended that $9,000,000 have been expended since the last testimony taken two years ago; but before the Senate can act intelligently upon the question as to how much stock shall be donated to this company, the Committee on Foreign Relations should certainly desire that we shall have before us some testimony to show how much has been expended. It was with that purpose in view and with the idea of facilitating the progress of the bill that I offered the resolution.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the resolution?

Mr. SHERMAN. I ought to say a word or two, although I have no objection to the passage of any resolution calling for information in regard to the Nicaragua Canal.

The Senator from Colorado is mistaken in regard to the recent report made by the Committee on Foreign Relations in two very important particulars. The company now building the Nicaragua Canal is called the Maritime Company. It is working through a construction company. They had expended a year or two ago, when the first report was made, about $3,000,000, according to their own statement. They now claim to have expended considerably more, quite as much as $6,000,000. The aggregate maximum was inserted. The amount that has actually been paid in money in the construction of the Nicaragua Canal is to be ascertained by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State, but the maximum shall not exceed $6,000,000 when all is paid.

In respect to the $12,000,000 of stock, under the first bill that was proposed there was $30,000,000 of stock left in the hands of the two countries through which the canal runs and the Maritime Company, but it was thought better that the Government of the United States should assume a more direct and absolute control and ownership of the canal and that it should be built upon guarantees furnished by the Government. Therefore the bill requires that all stocks, all securities of every kind, all bonds shall be extinguished and liquidated except stock that was issued to the Governments of Costa Rica and Nicaragua and also $12,000,000 of stock that had been issued in payment of the concessions, etc., which had been granted.

Mr. WOLCOTT. That is $12,000,000, as I stated.

Mr. SHERMAN. The amount is $12,000,000. The Senator is correct about it. But that was simply to cover the concessions. As to the value of that stock it is a matter for anybody to form his own opinion upon. However, all the facts in regard to it and all the information we can gather has been printed with the recent report, as the Senator will see if he will look at it; but if there is anything further in the way of information that may be given we will give it with great pleasure.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I have read the report and I fail to find any statement of the expenditures since the last testimony was taken.

Mr. SHERMAN. The detailed expenditures were not given, and the reason why we did not exact that was because those expenditures were going on day by day, and we were willing to trust to the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State, whoever they may be in the next Administration, if the bill is passed, to fix and limit and liquidate the amount that has actually been expended.

Mr. HOAR. I simply desire to say in this connection, before the resolution is adopted, that the recent experience of another country and our own experience in relation to the transcontinental railroad from 1862 to 1864 make it very important that Congress, through the Committee on Foreign Relations, should see to it that in the construction of the Nicaragua Canal, if the Government is to have any relation to it whatever, daylight shall constantly be turned in upon every transaction, and that nothing shall happen either of expenditure or receipt of Government aid, or conduct of the officials, or engineers, or the agencies charged with that structure which shall not be instantly made known to all mankind. It is a matter which concerns very much indeed the good name of this country and the pure and upright expenditure of our public moneys.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the resolution?

Mr. MORGAN. I prefer that the resolution shall go over until to-morrow and be printed.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Let it go over until Monday.

Mr. VOORHEES. I ask that the resolution be read again.

The resolution was again read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The resolution will lie over until to-morrow and be printed.

HOUSE BILL REFERRED.

The bill (H. R. 10007) to provide for lowering the height of a bridge proposed to be constructed across the Ohio River between Cincinnati, Ohio, and Covington, Ky., by the Cincinnati and Covington Rapid Transit Bridge Company, was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

REPORT ON DISEASES OF CATTLE.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following concurrent resolution of the House of Representatives: which was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That there be printed and bound of the special report of the Bureau of Animal Industry on diseases of cattle and cattle feeding 60,000 copies, of which 20,000 shall be for the use of the Senate and 40,000 for the use of the House.

REPORT ON THE SHEEP INDUSTRY.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following concurrent resolution of the House of Representatives: which was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That there be printed and bound of the special report of the sheep industry of the United States 60,000 copies, of which 20,000 copies shall be for the use of the Senate and 40,000 for the use of the House.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate a resolution coming over from a previous day, which will be read.

The resolution submitted yesterday by Mr. MORGAN was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Commerce be instructed to inquire and report to the Senate the advantages, if any, that will accrue to the production, industries, coastwise and foreign commerce, immigration, and other interests of the United States, by means of the adoption and facilities of transportation, and the reduction of the cost thereof that would be afforded by the building of a ship canal to connect the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans through Lake Nicaragua.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

Mr. MORGAN. Mr. President, the resolution of the Senate which was adopted in executive session, under which the Committee on Foreign Relations got jurisdiction of the inquiry in respect of the Nicaragua Canal, was directed more particularly to the political aspects of that question, by which I mean of course the foreign aspects of it, than to the material questions that might affect the people of the United States in their commerce, in their productions, in their enterprises, and in their coastwise and foreign trade. So that committee, taking the instruction of the Senate, went very earnestly to work to ascertain what was the situation of the canal project under the concessions of the Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica, and to ascerwith having inspired us with that progressiveness in invention and in other grand endeavors that have marked the nineteenth century as the grandest in all the list.

The French are a wise, sagacious, thoughtful, earnest, determined people. Even their peasantry are men who study over public and private affairs with great deliberation, and when they have made up their minds they act with firmness. They found that they had intruded, some of them at large sums of money and great powers into the hands of Mr. De Lesseps, and that he had made a magnificent and triumphant success in the building up of the Suez Canal. He therefore had no difficulty in attracting to his scheme large contributions or subscriptions from the French people. They poured their money in a flood into the mine of the Panama Canal, where, according to the premonition of our own delegate sent to the Parisian congress, it was necessarily bound to be lost.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The hour of 2 o'clock having arrived, it becomes the duty of the Chair to lay before the Senate the unfinished business, which will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. A bill (H. R. 7445) defining "options" and "futures," imposing special taxes on dealers therein, and requiring such dealers and persons engaged in selling certain products to obtain license, and for other purposes.

Mr. MORGAN. Will the Senate indulge me one minute longer?

Mr. PUGH. I ask that the unfinished business may be laid aside temporarily so that my colleague may finish his remarks.

Mr. MORGAN. I have only a few words more.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alabama asks unanimous consent that the regular order be laid aside informally to allow his colleague to conclude his remarks. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and the Senator from Alabama will proceed.

Mr. MORGAN. I am very thankful to my colleague and the Senate for this indulgence.

This committee on two occasions have reported bills to aid this canal, and they have, with the utmost caution, in view of all the developments of the Crédit Mobilier and the recent Panama scandal, put into the bill every cautionary provision that we could find for the purpose of guarding against any of the disgraceful results which have characterized some of these great enterprises. It is only in respect to railroads in this country, or to one railroad in this country, I believe, that any corruption has been alleged, although we have six or seven transcontinental roads and four or five of them have been largely subsidized by the Government with grants of land or grants of money.

The people of the United States, when they are themselves looking upon the conduct of their own officials in the management of a great public trust like this, are not afraid that they are going to drop into the slough of putridity and corruption. They are not to be terrified from doing a great public duty by the mere fact that other men, in their attempts to benefit their country or to do something else, have gone into a distressful condition of disgrace. We have nothing to fear about that unless we are afraid of ourselves. If we are afraid of the Congress of the United States and the President of the United States and the confirming power of the Senate of the United States, then of course we ought to be afraid of what shall become of this canal.

Mr. HOAR. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HARRIS in the chair). Does the Senator from Alabama yield to the Senator from Massachusetts?

Mr. MORGAN. Certainly.

MR. HOAR. If it be not disagreeable to the honorable Senator from Alabama I should like to ask him a question in regard to this matter which I think it quite appropriate should be answered now. He is probably as familiar with this whole subject as anyone in the Senate or perhaps out of it. What are the securities now existing for absolute publicity in regard to all the transactions of the Nicaragua Canal Company?

The Senator has alluded to the Union Pacific Railroad. The two acts, the act of 1862 and the act of 1864, that act which we had occasion to review so thoroughly in connection with the Credit Mobilier investigation, appointed so-called Government directors as supervisors or watchmen, without any authority of control, if the Senator from Colorado [Mr. Wolcott] is right. I do not remember about that; but at any rate the main purpose was that they were required by the law, if I recollect it right, to be present, and it was provided that a Government director must be a member of every special and standing committee of the board of directors of the Union Pacific Railroad. They were to report annually to Congress, or to the Secretary of the Interior, and through him to Congress, such observations as they made in regard to the conduct of the affairs of the road. But, as everyone knows, the great contracts with the Credit Mobilier and all the proceedings which excited so much popular condemnation of the Union Pacific Railroad were absolutely secret, in spite of that provision of the law.

[illegible]

The victors, in part instantly re-soundful, sent the New York post office and took steps to re-establish the flow of the post-tollies, and went down into the cities and took the New Yorkers back into the full share of the nation's life. I do not say that they had moved the country at that time, but they put it all back, gave Credit Mobilier back, gave all the rest of the road, and undertook to distribute it among the Representatives from all parts of the country in order to get them interested in it. So the mere existence of the few Government directors, without any voting responsibility, and simply in order to keep a watch, turned out in that case to be almost an perfect and complete protection.

Now, I should like to have the honorable Senator from Alabama, if he will do me that favor, state what are the safeguards and precautions and securities which will enable the people of the United States and mankind to know at once and at the time every transaction in the handling of the capital to which the Government is expected to lend its credit so as to justify the expenditure of every dollar of money, the employment of every agency, and everything else which may possibly, if it be not looked upon, become a means of wrongdoing. As I said earlier in the day, when the resolution was introduced by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. Wolcott], the recent example of France and the not very remote example of this country make it important for our public credit and good faith, and the purity of our Government that this enterprise shall proceed to its termination without the possibility of a retraction.

Mr. MORGAN. Mr. President, the Committee on Foreign Relations have exhausted really their ability. I may better say they have employed all their ability at least in trying to get such provisions into the bill as would give absolute publicity to everything that is done in the construction of the canal, and absolute security that there should be no fraud perpetrated in connection with it by any body. The first and main provision on that subject is in regard to the ten of the fifteen directors who shall be entitled to vote and participate in the actual direction of the company, which was not the case in the United States in regard to the Union and Central Pacific Railroad Company.

Now, I should be willing to take every dollar that will ever be in the Treasury, of the United States for example, and put the hands of a man like the Senator from Massachusetts, whether bonded or without security, just upon his record, his history, and what I know to be the principle, which have constituted his record. Here are ten directors, every one of whom are men of equal rank with the Senator from Massachusetts, to be appointed by the President of the United States, and approved by the Senate, whose duty it is to see that the management of the business with five others, one of them appointed by the President, and by the Senate, and four by the stockholders. The ten directors take it in order in hand, and are to be so placed that it will be possible with them, or at least, five of them, to manage their proceedings regularly and annually, and even monthly, to the Secretary of the Treasury, that any fraud can be followed to permeate the management of this business? It is a matter of almost physical impossibility, if we are to look to the directors alone.

Then it is required that the bond to be issued by the United States shall be printed and signed by the President of the United States, and countersigned by the Secretary of the Treasury, and that the same shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States only in print, and that no copies of the same shall be made or used except as may be ordered by the President of the United States Government, and of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that the same shall be under the supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that the same shall be subject to the examination of the Secretary of the Treasury, and that the total expenditure shall not exceed $100,000, and that the pro rata expenditure shall not exceed the proportion of one hundred dollars to the $100,000,000, considering the cost of the work that is to be done.

Mr. HOAR. Will the Senator state what are the provisions for auditing the accounts?

Mr. MORGAN. They are to be audited by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. HOAR. How often?

Mr. MORGAN. Not less frequently than once in two months they are to be audited by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. HOAR. All the accounts of the company, or merely the expenditure of the bonds?

Mr. MORGAN. All the accounts, the use of every dollar of money that is realized from the sale of the bonds. The bonds are not paid out in advance; they are paid out upon audited bills for work actually done.

Mr. HOAR. That was the case with the Union Pacific.

Mr. MORGAN. The bills must be brought in and audited, and then the bonds are authorized to be issued in payment of that audit.

Mr. VOORHEES. I ask the Senator from Alabama to yield that I may introduce two bills. Morning business has not had much chance this morning.

Mr. MORGAN. Certainly, I will yield, and I apologize for taking so much time. If I were not compelled to be absent from the country I would not take this liberty.

[The bills were introduced, and appear under their appropriate head.]

Mr. VOORHEES. I am very much obliged to the Senator from Alabama. I can only say that no greater question can be discussed than the one he is discussing now, and nobody can discuss it any better than he can discuss it. I am much obliged to him for his courtesy.

Mr. MORGAN. In addition to what the Senator from Massachusetts has referred to as a means of ascertaining what the company is doing, here is a provision in the charter which requires that—

Said company shall make a report on the first Monday of December in each year to the Secretary of the Interior—

That is a different officer—which shall be duly verified on oath by the president and secretary thereof, giving such detailed statement of its affairs and of its assets and liabilities as may be required by the Secretary of the Interior, and any willfully false statement so made shall be deemed perjury and punishable as such.

That guaranty comes also to our assistance in the prevention of frauds.

I have to say further that if there is any Senator in this body, or any member of the other House, or any other person who can suggest any reasonable cautionary plan or phraseology for making it impossible for fraud to enter into these affairs, the Committee on Foreign Relations will welcome the suggestion and will recommend its adoption at any time that it may be brought forward, for surely nothing can be further from our desire than that the slightest opportunity should be afforded through the means of this bill or in building this canal for the squandering or improper use of public funds. We have seen enough of that, and being cautioned in advance by the experience of other governments, as well as our own, it does stand us in hand to make every reasonable provision of the character suggested by the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. Hoar].

Mr. President, I have not gotten through with all that I meant to say this morning, but in deference to the business of the Senate, I feel bound to yield the floor. At a future day, not far distant, I hope I may have the opportunity of presenting my views on some other matters included in the bill of the Senator from Ohio [Mr. Sherman], reported back to the Senate from the Committee on Foreign Relations.

DEALING IN "OPTIONS" AND "FUTURES."

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 7845) defining "options" and "futures," imposing special taxes on dealers therein, and requiring such dealers and persons engaged in selling certain products to obtain license, and for other purposes; the pending question being on the amendment of Mr. VILAS in section 2, line 1, after the word "thereof," to insert, "and does not in good faith intend to purchase and deliver the articles contracted to be sold and delivered according to the terms and requirements of such contract;" so as to read:

That for the purposes of this act the word "futures" shall be understood to mean any contract or agreement whereby a party contracts or agrees to sell and deliver to another or others at a future time, or within a designated period, any of the articles mentioned in section 3 of this act, when at the time of making such contract or agreement the party so contracting or agreeing to sell and deliver the article, or the party for whom he acts as agent, broker, or employer in making such contract or agreement, is not the owner of the article or articles so contracted or agreed to be sold and delivered, or has not theretofore acquired by purchase and is not then entitled to the right to the full possession of such article or articles under and by virtue of a contract or agreement for the sale and future delivery thereof previously made by the owner thereof; and if does not in good faith intend to purchase and deliver the articles contracted to be sold and delivered according to the terms and requirements of such contract.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the Calendar under Rule VIII.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Colorado move to proceed to the consideration of the Calendar or to the consideration of the first bill on the Calendar?

Mr. WOLCOTT. I move to proceed to the consideration of the first bill on the Calendar.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Colorado, that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the first bill on the Calendar.

Mr. WASHBURN. On that I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HARRIS (when his name was called). Upon all questions I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. Morrill].

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. Hunter].

Mr. SAWYER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Minnesota [Mr. Davis] on the anti-option bill and all questions pertaining to it.

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. Colquhoun]; but I am advised that if he were present he would vote "nay" on this question, and I therefore vote. I vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. BUTLER. May I inquire if the senior Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. Cameron] has voted?

The VICE PRESIDENT. The senior Senator from Pennsylvania is not recorded.

Mr. BUTLER. Then I will withhold my vote. I am paired with him.

Mr. CALL. My colleague [Mr. Pasco] is absent, and the Senator from Maryland [Mr. Gibson] has agreed to pair with him. If my colleague were here he would vote "nay."

Mr. GIBSON (after having voted in the affirmative). I withdraw my vote, and stand paired with the Senator from Florida [Mr. Pasco]. If he were present, I should vote "yea."

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. Walthall], who is absent in the performance of duties imposed by the Senate. My colleague [Mr. Aldrich] is also absent and unpaired. I transfer my pair with the Senator from Mississippi to my colleague, and vote "yea."

Mr. HIGGINS. I am paired with the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. McPherson], and in his absence I withhold my vote. I should vote "nay" if he were here.

Mr. HISCOCK. Has the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. Jones] voted?

The VICE PRESIDENT. He is not recorded.

Mr. HISCOCK. I refrain from voting, being paired with him.

Mr. VEST (after having voted in the affirmative). I have a general pair on the anti-option bill with the Senator from Kansas [Mr. Perkins]. I prefer to withdraw my vote under the circumstances.

Mr. HIGGINS. I suggest to the Senator from Missouri [Mr. Vest], who is paired with the Senator from Kansas [Mr. Perkins], and I being paired with the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. McPherson], that we exchange pairs so that the Senator from Missouri and myself may vote.

Mr. VEST. Very well.

Mr. HIGGINS. I vote "nay."

Mr. VEST. I vote "yea."

Mr. SAWYER. I am paired with the Senator from Minnesota [Mr. Davis], but I see that no quorum has voted, and I have a right to vote under the circumstances. I vote "nay," as the Senator from Minnesota would vote if present.

The result was announced—yeas 9, nays 31; as follows:

The VICE-PRESIDENT. No quorum having voted, the roll will be called.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Pending the call of the roll, I move that the Senate adjourn.

Mr. WASHBURN. On that I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I again announce the pair of my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL], and I vote "yea."

Mr. HARRIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL].

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. HISCOCK. Observing that the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES] is present, I vote "yea."

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I again announce my pair with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS], and also the transfer of that pair to the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES]. I vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 11, nays 31; as follows:

YEAS—11.

Brice,	Hiscock,	Quay,	White,
Caffery,	Hoar,	Vest,	Walcott.
Dixon,	Palmer,	Vilas,

NAYS—31.

So the Senate refused to adjourn.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. No quorum having voted, the roll will be called.

The Secretary called the roll, and the following Senators answered to their names:

Berry,	Gallinger,	Kyle,	Sherman,
Brice,	George,	McMillan,	Shoup,
Butler,	Gibson,	Morgan,	Stockbridge,

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Forty-six Senators have responded to their names. A quorum is present.

Mr. SHERMAN. It is not usual for us to have a very long session on Saturday. I take the liberty of suggesting whether the Senate would not be willing, by unanimous consent, to agree now that the pending bill shall be disposed of on Wednesday next. On Monday the debate can go on. On Tuesday I understand certain addresses are to be made, and, in deference to the universal custom, we should adjourn when those addresses are concluded. We shall not probably be able to do anything upon the bill on Tuesday. I have not participated in the debate to any extent, but it seems to me that we ought now to agree that on Wednesday the bill shall be disposed of. We can commence immediately after the morning business upon that day, and certainly on Monday and Wednesday any further debate desired can take place. I therefore ask unanimous consent of the Senate that the bill shall be disposed of on Wednesday.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request made by the Senator from Ohio?

Mr. WOLCOTT. I object.

Mr. SHERMAN. Then all I can say is that I hope if the Senator having the bill in charge has a majority of the Senate with him he will try and close the matter out on Wednesday, because it is interfering with very important public business in which we are all interested, together with the appropriation bills and the entire Calendar.

Mr. WASHBURN. In view of the objection made by the Senator from Colorado, I give notice that on Wednesday I shall ask the Senate to remain in session until we reach a vote on the bill and amendments.

Mr. QUAY. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Mr. HOAR. Will the Senator withdraw the motion for one moment?

Mr. QUAY. Certainly.

FORM OF CREDENTIALS.

Mr. HOAR. I ask the unanimous consent of the Senate to make a statement, which will take but a moment.

I have received from a good many quarters in the State, and from State officials, applications in regard to the proper form of credentials of the members of this body. In the past some of the States have been in the habit of looking down at credentials with a great deal of superstitious detail. They have become more and more compact and brief year by year, but still frequently the best forms contain much that is entirely superfluous. For instance, it is quite the custom of the executive of a State to certify that the person elected is a person 30 years of age, who has been nine years a citizen of the United States, and is an inhabitant of the State from which he is chosen. I conceive that such a certificate is absolutely without effect. The governor is merely to certify to the election of the person, and undoubtedly from the fact of his election the presumption arises, until something else is shown here, that he is eligible, but the governor has no means of knowing whether he is eligible and has nothing to do with the fact.

Then it has been the habit in some States to certify that the election was made by a concurrent vote of the two Houses or that the election was made on joint ballot in convention. If that were necessary, it would be certainly in the latter case, necessary to certify carefully that all the steps or all the failures which were essential conditions of the power of the Legislature to elect in that form had occurred.

I conceive that everything of that kind is accomplished by the term "duly elected," and that a certificate that A B was at a certain time duly elected by the Legislature of the State a Senator for a certain term, certified by the executive and countersigned by the secretary of state, is all that is necessary.

Without any one being responsible for it but myself, I have prepared a form which I desire to have read and go into the Record, so that if the officials of the several States shall see fit they may conform to it.

Mr. PASCO. Before it is read I will ask the Senator from Massachusetts, through the Chair, whether it applies to an appointment made by the governor as well as to an election?

Mr. HOAR. No; it does not undertake to do that.

Mr. PASCO. Does the Senator propose to suggest a form of that kind also?

Mr. HOAR. I had not thought of doing so.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The paper will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

To the President of the Senate of the United States:

This is to certify that on the 17th day of January, in the year of our Lord 1893, ——— was duly elected by the Legislature of said Commonwealth a Senator to represent the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the Senate of the United States for the term of six years, commencing the 4th day of March, A. D. 1893.

Witness, his excellency, ———, our governor, and our said hereunto affixed at Boston, this ——— day of January, in the year of our Lord 1893, and the year of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and seventeenth.

Secretary of the Commonwealth.

ELISHA BROWN.

Mr. SAWYER. I ask the Senator from Pennsylvania to allow me to call up a little bill. It will take no time.

Mr. QUAY. I will yield for that purpose only.

Mr. SAWYER. I ask that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 6069) for the relief of Elisha Brown.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill. It proposes to place on the pension roll the name of Elisha Brown, late a private in Company F, First Regiment United States Infantry, serving from February 19, 1826, to February 18, 1844, and to allow him a pension at the rate of $15 per month.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Mr. QUAY. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

The motion was agreed to and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business. After an unproductive session in executive session the doors were reopened at 4 o'clock p. m. the Senate adjourned until Monday, January 16, 1893, at 12 o'clock m.

The House met at 12 o'clock m. Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. W. H. MILBURN, D. D.

The Journal of the proceedings of yesterday was read and approved.

ANNUAL REPORT FROM THE BUREAU OF AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following message from the President: which was read, referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and ordered to be printed:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith for your information a letter from the Secretary of State, inclosing the annual report of the Bureau of American Republics for the year ending June 30, 1892.

BENJ. HARRISON

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES, January 14, 1893.

MILITIA OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting estimates of deficiencies in appropriations for the militia of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year 1893, and for prior years: which, with accompanying papers, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

APPROPRIATION FOR FOREIGN MAILS.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting an estimate of appropriation, submitted by the Postmaster-General, for transportation of foreign mails for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894; which, with accompanying papers, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

SUPPORT OF NATIVE INHABITANTS OF ALASKA.

EXPENDITURES IN THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Navy, transmitting a detailed statement of the expenditures for that Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892; which, with the accompanying papers, was referred to the Committee on Expenditures in the Navy Department, and ordered to be printed.

JOHN DEATON VS. THE UNITED STATES.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the assistant clerk of the Court of Claims, transmitting copy of the and extortionate charges of transportation have operated in fixing the price to the disadvantage of the producer. Still, under our existing system it is an actual and legitimate price unaffected by dealings in fictitious products, unaffected by fictitious transactions which represent only the opinion of one man that a staple will be more valuable at a future time, and on the other side the opinion of another man that it may be less valuable.

If at a great center of exchange, where the value of all staples is fixed by a system of contracts of fictitious sale and delivery in the future an opinion with all producers shall be made that prices will rule lower or in the decreasing scale, then we can see that those who are compelled to sell will take a lower price. The opinion having been created that the staple which they own will decrease in value, those who hold it and are obliged to sell will of necessity take a lower price.

We can also see that the constant tendency, effect, and purpose of a system of large fictitious sales for future fictitious delivery must have a depressing effect on natural prices.

There is a legitimate price for staples, the cost of production with a margin of profit to the producer and the cost of transportation and exchange with a margin of profit to those engaged in it.

This is the necessary margin of profit. Prices can not fall below this without the cessation of permanent production and all above it is the margin of speculative profit by middlemen and has no real or proper relation to reasonable and fair prices.

It is certainly legitimate and perhaps beneficial that this system of fixing prices by natural causes should be supplemented by the competition between buyers for speculative reasons; but unquestionably it ought not to be allowed that they shall be influenced in any way by the fictitious sale and purchase and the fictitious delivery of vast amounts of these staples not in existence, thus giving a power to great centralized organisms to create an opinion unfavorable to the value of these great staples while in the hands of the producer.

We will suppose that some men who speculate or deal in cotton are of the opinion that the supply of cotton will be very short, and the price rule high; other men are of the opinion that it will rule low.

The men who think cotton will rule high will agree to buy on future delivery, and the men who think it will rule low will agree to sell for future delivery, and if the opinions of all these men were fairly collected every day and sent out they would be nearly equal, and the producers in the country having cotton might properly say opinions are even and nothing can be seen from them as to the effect of these opinions on prices to-morrow. But the fact is that these reports of the sales for future delivery made in the great exchanges of the world must have an effect in fixing the price for both present and future actual delivery.

If I want to buy any staple for future use, and I find that the prevailing rate for future pretended delivery is a certain rate, I will not give a larger price than the prevailing rate for future delivery, especially when a powerful corporation guarantees the difference between the exchange price for future deliveries and the contract price, whatever it may be. Is not the contract price in the exchanges of the world for futures entirely within the control of combinations between the great operators on these boards and subject to be fixed by them arbitrarily and in their own interest, and with reference only to getting these staples out of the hands of the producer before the law of supply and demand shall have increased their value to the natural and legitimate price?

This seems to be the necessary, logical, and inevitable conclusion.

If it be true, if it be possible, if it be probable, it requires of intelligent legislation that all the power of intellect and research should be addressed to its prevention, for it means nothing more nor less than that a power to fix the value of each man's labor; and the amount that he shall receive for his compensation and for the support of his family is left to those whose interest it is to impoverish him, leaving him only the bare necessities of life.

If this be true, let us inquire, then, how long can the producers stand a system in which a scant and insufficient share to support life of the proceeds of their own labor is assigned to them by an arbitrary power which appropriates the greater part to their own enormous enrichment?

The answer, Mr. President, is not difficult to find. It will only be until the conviction of the fact becomes general. Then their indignation will know no bounds, and may become dangerous to peace and good order unless wise legislation shall remedy the evil here and now. Under all conditions that have been heretofore devised the producer has been at a great disadvantage in the sale of his productions. The progress of poverty has kept pace with the discovery of labor-saving inventions and with the improvements in transportation and the new methods of sale and distribution.

The increase of corporate property and wealth has kept pace with the decrease of the individual ownership of land and property by the great body of the people.

Discontent, dissatisfaction, wild schemes of agrarian legislation and of socialistic systems, misleading the people, are the results of this impoverishment, this arbitrary diminution of the value of each man's labor, this taking from him for the enrichment of others under commercial processes and systems a larger share of his labor than is necessary for its just and proper exchange.

Vast burdens of debt have been created on the producers, and their creditors are the men who produce nothing, but handle the results of their labors.

The lives of the great mass of the people grow harder every day. There is something wrong in our industrial economy. The people demand of us that we shall at least endeavor to find and remedy it.

Therefore, Mr. President, this legislation, however imperfect and tentative it may be, is in the line of the demand of the people and of public opinion. They believe, as I think, that it is progress in the industrial economy, in the line of the preservation of private property and of our existing institutions, that corporate power may exist and yet be subject to control and limitation. In my judgment, they are not to be deluded with the idea that the limitations of power in the Federal Constitution prevent the representatives of the States and the people from exercising such power and effecting such legislation as shall be adequate to their protection against any evils which threaten the destruction of the commerce of this country.

I, therefore, Mr. President, am in favor of the principle of the bill, and shall vote first for the amendment of the Senator from Mississippi.

Mr. PLATT. It occurs to me that this matter now under discussion is of sufficient importance so that at least an eighth or a tenth of the Senate should listen to the discussion. I suggest the want of a quorum.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called.

The Secretary called the roll, and the following Senators answered to their names:

Allison,	George,	Mills,	Squire,
Berry,	Gibson,	Palmer,	Stewart,
Brice,	Gordon,	Peller,	Stockbridge,
Butler,	Hansbrough,	Pettigrew,	Vandoe,

Dixon,	Huntin,	Ransom,	White,
Dolph,	Jones, Ark.	Sawyer,	Wilson,
DuBois,	McMillan,	Sherman,
Gallinger,	McPherson,	Shoup,

Mr. TELLER. My colleague [Mr. Wolcott] is detained at home by sickness.

Mr. CHANDLER. I wish to announce that the Senator from Illinois [Mr. Cullom] is detained from the Senate by sickness.

Mr. CALL. I wish to announce that my colleague [Mr. Pasco] is detained from the Senate on business.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Forty-six Senators have responded to their names. A quorum is present. The question recurs on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Wisconsin [Mr. Vilas].

Mr. HOAR. Let it be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. In section 2, line 15, after the word "thereof," insert:

And does not in good faith intend to purchase and deliver the articles contracted to be sold and delivered according to the terms and requirements of such contract.

So as to read:

That for the purposes of this act the word "futures" shall be understood to mean any contract or agreement whereby a party contracts or agrees to sell and deliver to another or others at a future time, or within a designated period, any of the articles mentioned in section 3 of this act, which contract or agreement shall be made by the party so contracting and agreeing to sell and make such delivery, or the party for whom he acts as agent, broker, or employee in making such contract or agreement, and not the owner of the article or articles so contracted for, agreed to be sold and delivered, nor shall the future possession of such article or articles make it a contract for the sale and delivery thereof and does not in good faith intend to purchase and deliver the articles contracted to be sold and delivered according to the terms and requirements of such contract.

Mr. WHITE. Mr. President, in the course of the remarks of the Senator from Illinois [Mr. Palmer] the other day I submitted a question as to the operation of this bill unless the amendment be adopted. I now desire to restate that question in as few words as I can, in a plain business way, because I believe that the bill without the amendment will be a bill of penalties against cotton farmers in the Southern States. I think I can demonstrate that in a very few words.

The testimony taken before the two committees on the subject of the fact indubitably that much the larger proportion of the crop in the Southern country is made by advances obtained from factors for that purpose. Formerly the factor who made the advance was generally a factor living in some center of trade. In the operation of the modern system the advance which is made to make the crop, as a usual rule, in consequence of the great subdivision of land, is made by merchants in the interior towns. Their capital not being adequate to make this advance themselves, the usual form of contract which they make is a contract by which the merchant in the interior town agrees to advance a given sum of money to the cotton-raiser, to enable him to make his crop, stipulating that for a given unit of money advanced a given quantity of cotton shall be shipped to the merchant.

The result of the system is that the money with which the crop is made is obtained immediately by the planter from the interior town, but the money which the merchant in the interior town advances is obtained from a money center. In other words, not having the capital himself to carry on the business, he obtains the money from a money center. Now, how does he obtain it? He takes his contracts. He produces those contracts and he says, "Here I have contracts to advance $30,000, and as an equivalent of that $30,000 I am to get what? So many bales of cotton. I wish to borrow the money from you to make this advance." That is the usual and customary form in which cotton is raised in the Southern country. I think there is no misapprehension or mistake about that.

Now, how is the money obtained? When the merchant from the interior town comes in with his contract, the statement is made to him, "I will advance you this money, but the only security outside of your credit that I have is the cotton, and the price the cotton is to sell for becomes a question which I must determine before I can make the advance. If you will allow me to determine that question now, and sell for future delivery at a market which is satisfactory to me so as to insure the price I am to get for the cotton, I will make you the advance." There is not a bank in the Southern country to-day that advances money to the larger factors which has not back of the loans these contracts with the price of the property guaranteed by the sale at the time the contracts are made.

Now, what does this bill provide? The bill does not allow the merchant to sell. That is perfectly plain. The merchant will not be able under the bill to do it. But who under the bill will be able to do it? The farmer. Under this bill the farmer can sell his crop growing and in process of being made.

Therefore the inevitable operation of the bill will be that when the farmer presents himself to get the advance the answer will be, "I can advance you the money, but I can not obtain the money. I am placed in a position where I can sell under the future system in order to guarantee a price which warrants me. I will make you the advance provided you transfer to me your right to sell your crop." This bill allows that.

So the inevitable operation of this section of the bill, unless you put this amendment in it, will be to take from every farmer in the Southern country who goes to borrow $1 to raise a crop the right to sell that crop at the time of the making of the contract. Therefore, this is a bill to force all the farmers of the Southern country, who are not rich but are poor, to sell their crop while the seed is in the ground and before the germination has taken place, and thus to force them against their will to become speculators in the sale of their crop at the very incipency of the season.

I say this is as plain to me as that two and two make four, and if you pass the bill without allowing the person who has the bona fide intention to purchase and deliver, the necessary operation of the bill will be to force every cotton farmer who has not the money to make his own crop to become a speculator in that crop before the crop is out of the ground, and to dispose of his crop as part of the contract to obtain the necessary advance to make it. Such being the inevitable consequence of this bill unless you adopt that amendment, I beg that the amendment be seriously weighed before it shall be voted down.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Wisconsin [Mr. VILAS], on which the yeas and nays have been ordered.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HANSBROUGH (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS]. I transfer that pair to the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES], and vote "nay."

Mr. HARRIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL].

Mr. HILL (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. DOLPH (when Mr. MITCHELL'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. MITCHELL] is unavoidably detained from the Senate by an affliction in his family. I have been requested to procure a pair for him, but I have been unable to learn who is ordinarily paired with him and have been unable to do so upon this vote. If any Senator upon the other side of the question will pair with him, I shall be glad to have him do so.

Mr. HOAR (after having voted in the affirmative). I will cheerfully pair with the Senator's colleague.

Mr. DOLPH. My colleague is in favor of the bill.

Mr. HOAR. Yes; and I am opposed to it.

Mr. DOLPH. That will be satisfactory.

Mr. HOAR. I withdraw my vote.

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). My colleague [Mr. HAWLEY] is absent, and writes me that as the bill has been amended he is in favor of it. He requests me to obtain a pair for him. I have no doubt that he would vote against the pending amendment, and as I should vote for it, I will pair with him.

Mr. SAWYER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Minnesota [Mr. DAVIS] on the bill and all amendments.

Mr. SQUIRE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL] and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. VEST (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Kansas [Mr. PERKINS]. If he were present I should vote "yea" and he would vote "nay."

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). Upon this question I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL]. Otherwise I should vote "nay."

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE] has announced a pair with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL].

Mr. WILSON. Although I have a general pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], I am advised if he were present he would vote "nay." I will therefore vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. TELLER (when Mr. WOLCOTT'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. WOLCOTT] is detained from the Senate by sickness. I will pair with my colleague. I should vote "nay," and if he were present he would vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is absent unpaired. I suggest to the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] that he transfer his pair with the Senator from Kansas [Mr. PERKINS] to my colleague.

Mr. VEST. Very well; I vote "yea."

Mr. BUTLER. I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON].

Mr. GORDON. I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN], but I understand that if he were here he would vote "nay," and I will therefore vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. CARLISLE. I am paired on the bill and all amendments with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. SQUIRE. I announced my pair with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL], but I understand a different arrangement has been made, and that the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON] is paired with that Senator.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Washington correctly stands paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL].

Mr. SQUIRE. I should vote "nay" if I were not paired. However, my pair with the Senator from Virginia only applies to the main question.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas (after having voted in the affirmative). I have a general pair with the Senator from New York [Mr. HISCOCK]. I have just voted, and I take the liberty of transferring my pair to the Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCO].

Mr. CALL. I wish to announce that my colleague [Mr. PASCO] is paired on this amendment with the Senator from New York [Mr. HISCOCK]. If my colleague were present he would vote "nay."

Mr. GORMAN (after having voted in the affirmative). I have a general pair with the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE]. Notice his name is not recorded, and I withdraw my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 12, nays 33, as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. GEORGE. All of the amendments to perfect the bill having been disposed of, I offer an amendment to strike out all after section 3 of the bill, except the last section, which refers to the time when the bill is to go into operation, and insert in lieu of the part proposed to be stricken out that which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. It is proposed to strike out, beginning with section 4 to the close of section 14 of the bill, and insert:

SEC. 4. That "options" and "futures," as hereinbefore defined, are hereby declared to be obstructions to and restraints upon commerce among the States and with foreign nations, and to be illegal and void; and if any person shall be a party either as buyer or seller, to any contract or agreement hereinbefore defined as "options" or "futures," he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof in either the proper district or circuit court of the United States shall be fined for every such offense in a sum not less than the whole sum paid or agreed to be paid or received or agreed to be received on any such contract, if the sum shall amount to as much as $1,000; but if the said sum shall not amount to $1,000 then he shall be fined $1,000 and in addition thereto shall be imprisoned for a period not less than one year nor more than five years; and every distinct contract shall constitute a separate offense of the seller and also of the buyer.

SEC. 5. That any merchant or other exchange, board, or other association in or through which "options" or "futures" or both shall be made, encouraged, settled, regulated, or adjusted are hereby declared to be unlawful combinations to obstruct commerce among the States and with foreign nations. And if it shall appear that any such board, association, or exchange has encouraged, regulated, adjusted, or promoted any such contract or settlement the said board, association, or exchange shall be subject to proceedings to be instituted in the circuit court of the United States by bill in equity, by which such action of such combination or exchange, or by any member thereof, shall be enjoined. Such proceedings shall be commenced by the proper district attorney of the United States or the Attorney-General whenever there shall be reasonable ground to suspect that any such board, association, or exchange has violated this section. Such proceedings may also be instituted and maintained by any private person or persons on leave of the court first had and obtained; and it shall be the duty of the court to grant such leave upon proof made by affidavit that there is reasonable ground to believe that any such board, association, or exchange has violated this section. In cases of such suits by a private party or parties the proceedings shall be in the name of the United States on the relation of such private party or parties. In case such proceedings are successful the court shall adjudge to the relator or relators full costs and also full attorney's fees for prosecuting such suit, together with reasonable compensation for his or their time spent and expenses incurred in and about said suit. But such suit at the relation of a private party shall be subject to the control of the district attorney or Attorney-General.

SEC. 6. That any person who shall, in the United States, by letter or telegram or other communication sent from the United States to any foreign country, or by an agent, resident in a foreign country, enter into any contract hereinbefore described as "options" or "futures," or who shall do any other act tending and encouraging the making of such contract in any foreign country, or shall, in the United States, perform any such contract or pay any damages for non-performance, or do any act in part performance of such contract or in part satisfaction of such damage, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be triable and punishable as provided for in section 4 of this act.

SEC. 7. That any contract herein defined as "options" or "futures," when made outside the jurisdiction of the United States, shall be held utterly null and void when attempted to be enforced in any court of the United States.

SEC. 8. That when any money or other valuable thing has been paid or delivered on any contract herein prohibited, or in satisfaction of any damages or any part of the damages claimed from a breach of any such contract, the title to such money or other valuable thing shall be held as not having been passed by such delivery or payment, and the same may be recovered back in the proper district or circuit court of the United States at the suit of the party making such delivery or payment, or by his legal representatives, if he be dead, and shall be subject to his creditors as his other property; and there shall be no defense against any such proceeding by a creditor to subject said money or property to his debt arising out of any transaction between the parties to such payment or delivery, except the actual and bona fide return of the money paid or thing delivered before such proceeding had been commenced.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE].

Mr. VEST. Mr. President, at the last session I expressed my opinion in regard to this bill, and directed my remarks principally to the measure as it came from the House of Representatives. I do not understand that there is any difference of opinion between the mover of the pending amendment and myself in regard to the palpable unconstitutionality of the bill as it came from the House of Representatives. It is now sought by the commerce clause of the Constitution, as it is termed, to evade the constitutional argument against the measure as it came from the coordinate branch of Congress, and to invoke the police power under the commerce clause directly to do away with the evil which is denounced.

The Supreme Court in 116 United States Reports, in the Errol case, which has been frequently quoted here in debate, defines so clearly and distinctly the meaning of commerce among the States that it is not necessary to do more than refer to that lucid opinion delivered by Mr. Justice Bradley. The highest judicial tribunal in the country then declared—and I take it that no intelligent lawyer will for an instant doubt the correctness of the decision—that commerce among the States began from the time the goods or the products of a State or Territory were delivered to the agent of transportation to be carried to another State or Territory.

The point decided in that opinion, the leading case upon the question, is that when the goods or products were upon their way from the place of actual production to the depot or the pier or the wharf where the transit commenced they were still within the police power of the State and subject to taxation by the State or Territorial authorities, and that not until those goods or products were actually delivered to the boat or the railroad or other agent of transportation, to be carried outside of that territorial jurisdiction—not till then did the Federal authority commence. The language of the Supreme Court, which I quote exactly, is that until that time these goods or products are exclusively within the jurisdiction of the State.

How is it possible, if this be so, that the power to regulate commerce among the States and with foreign countries can attach to these products within the States? The amendment of the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] affects a transaction in the State of Missouri as to a product of the soil of Missouri, between citizens of Missouri, and without any contemplation by either of the parties that the goods should ever pass out of the territorial limits of the State.

It is said that Congress has the exclusive power to declare what is an obstacle to commerce among the States and with foreign countries and that this power is above and beyond the construction of the Supreme Court of the United States and in itself perfect and absolute. Mr. President, if that be so, absolute power, then, exists in the Congress of the United States to declare, however monstrous and indefensible the proposition may be, that any practice or pursuit in any State of this Union is an obstacle to commerce, and the Supreme Court is inhibited from making inquiry and deciding upon the truth of that fact.

Is it possible that it is seriously contended now in the Senate of the United States that this absolute power upon the part of Congress is vested in this body by the Constitution?

In the case of the Loan Association vs. Topka, in 20 Wallace, Mr. Justice Miller declared that nowhere in any Department of the United States Government was there vested unlimited power. This is a Government of limitation; it is a Government entirely antagonistic and antipathetic to absolutism. Our fathers in vain suffered to establish a free Government if now the doctrine is to be asserted successfully, that either in the executive, legislative, or judicial department is there absolute power or discretion without limitation.

If this doctrine now asserted be true, what is the monstrous conclusion? I belong to a party which has always held from the days of the old struggle between John Adams and Thomas Jefferson that this is a Government of limitations; that the powers granted to the States were vested entirely in the States, and those given by the States to the General Government were to be strictly but fairly construed. What is the monstrous conclusion if this new doctrine be correct? Congress may take from the States all the reserved police powers; Congress, if it can adopt this amendment, may declare properly that the retail of alcoholic liquors in any State is an obstacle to commerce; that opium joints constitute an obstacle to commerce; that ordinary gambling, such as faro banks and roulette and other devices, constitute an obstacle to commerce.

Mr. HOAR. And horse races.

Mr. VEST. If this be so, Congress may declare that all these diminish the absolute products of a State or community, and therefore diminish the volume of commerce among the States and with foreign countries. If such a bill, so monstrous and unconstitutional, should be presented to the Supreme Court of the United States, according to the doctrine now advanced that Court would be compelled to say that Congress had passed upon this question, and we can go no further in this inquiry.

Mr. President, it seems to me that the statement of the proposition is an absolute and irresistible refutation of it. The police powers, which every lawyer on both sides of this Chamber knows are reserved to the States, which not a delegate in the Federal Constitutional Convention of 1789 would ever have thought for one minute of giving to the Federal Government, are here, under the guise of protecting commerce among the States and with foreign countries, to be exercised by Congress in the States. If this doctrine be true, there are no rights in any State; Congress is supreme; Congress is absolute in its power. As a matter of course, if any individual or any State or Territory should put an obstacle in the way of commerce among the States, a physical obstacle or an obstacle in the nature of State or Territorial legislation, it would be unconstitutional, because an invasion of the jurisdiction given alone to the Congress of the United States to regulate commerce with foreign countries and among the States.

If an individual or an association of individuals should undertake by force to prevent the agencies of transportation from going on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. SHERMAN presented petitions of the boards of health of Medina, Oberlin, Montpelier, Pistoria, Bowling Green, Ada, New Concord, Gallipolis, Greenville, Painesville, Amelia, Wadsworth, Ravenna, East Liverpool, and Massillon, all in the State of Ohio, praying for the adoption of a national quarantine and the suspension of immigration until the quarantine defenses of the country shall be placed in a condition to guarantee protection from contagious diseases; which were ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of Goodwill Council, No. 178, Junior Order United American Mechanics, of Gnadenhuttchen, Ohio, praying for the passage of legislation providing for the further restriction of immigration; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of the Ohio State Agricultural Convention, praying for the passage of the Washburn-Hatch antioption bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of the Board of Trade of Dayton, Ohio, praying for the repeal of the silver-purchase act of 1890; which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. McMILLAN presented a petition of 55 citizens of Escambia, Mich., praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. COCKRELL presented a memorial of members of the East Sedalia (Mo.) Baptist Church, and citizens of Sedalia, Mo., remonstrating against the repeal of the present law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. KYLE presented the petition of J. W. Ryan and other citizens of Sturgis, S. Dak., praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. PETTIGREW presented memorials of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Mitchell, of the Young Men's Christian Association of Davison County, and of H. J. Johnson and other citizens of Salem, all in the State of South Dakota, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday, and praying that the sale of intoxicating liquors be prohibited thereat; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented petitions of Thomas Carr and other citizens of Faulkton, of M. O. Thompson and other citizens of Sioux Falls, and of John R. Weeks and other citizens of Yankton, all in the State of South Dakota, praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. ALDRICH presented a petition numerously signed by bankers and merchants of Providence, R. I., praying that the purchase of silver under the act of July 14, 1890, be discontinued; which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. SAWYER presented petitions of the Bankers' Association of Superior, Wis., and of the Merchants' Association of Milwaukee, Wis., praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver act; which were referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. DOLPH. I present a petition of State and county officers of Oregon, praying for an extension of time for settlers to make proof and payment for forfeited railroad lands, the same subject-matter upon which I presented a memorial of the Legislature of Oregon on yesterday. As I intend this morning to report a bill granting this extension, and hope to secure its immediate consideration, I move that the petition lie on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. DOLPH presented the petition of J. B. Luse and sundry other citizens of Marshfield, Oregon, praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. FELTON presented a petition of the Legislature of California, praying for the passage of House bill 9283 creating the California debris commission, and regulating hydraulic mining in that State; which was referred to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. VEST presented the memorial of P. F. Tomlinson and other citizens of Sedalia, Mo., remonstrating against the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. QUAY presented memorials of the Wylie Memorial Presbyterian Congregation of Philadelphia; of the Ministerial Association of Harrisburg; of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Sharon; of the United Presbyterian Church of Claysville; of the Methodist Episcopal Congregation of New Bedford, and of the Chestnut Level Congregation, all in the State of Pennsylvania, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of the Merchant Tailors' Exchange of Beaver Valley, Pa., praying for the passage of House bill 5353 limiting the free entry of wearing apparel of foreign manufacture; which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. DUBOIS presented a petition of 12 citizens of Silver City, Idaho, praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. HISCOCK presented the petition of Hermann Hesser and other citizens of New York City, praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. COCKRELL. I present a petition expressing the wish that the World's Fair be opened on Sunday, it being the petition of citizens of the State of Missouri, chiefly residents and citizens of Kansas City, Mo. This is what is upon the back of the petition, and I found it upon my desk. Upon a very casual observation I see that it is signed by citizens of Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Indiana, Ohio, Massachusetts, New York, California, Texas, Wisconsin, Michigan, New Mexico Territory, and one citizen of China—a "heavenly Chinese." As I stated, the petition prays for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on the Sabbath. I move that it be referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. VEST presented a petition of citizens of Olivette, Central, and Stratman, all in the State of Missouri, praying for the quiet opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. MITCHELL presented the petition of Thomas J. Cole, pastor of Trinity Church, E. L. Stuart, H. D. Heham, A. Friedberg, and 40 other citizens of Portland, Oregon, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented the petition of W. B. Steele and 90 other citizens of Portland, Oregon, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. MILLS presented a memorial of 15 citizens of Hallettsville, Tex., praying for a repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of citizens of Fort Worth, Tex., praying for the passage of legislation opening up the Cherokee Strip to settlement; which was ordered to lie on the table.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. KYLE, from the Committee on Education and Labor, to whom was referred the joint resolution S. R. 119 extending the powers of the United States Government Exhibit Board, reported it without amendment.

Mr. PETTIGREW, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred the bill S. 3459 to secure the relinquishment of the Indian title to a portion of the Pyramid Lake Reservation, in Nevada, and to the entire Walker River Reservation in said State, and for other purposes, reported it without amendment.

SETTLERS ON FORFEITED RAILROAD LANDS.

Mr. DOLPH. By direction of the Committee on Public Lands, I report back favorably with an amendment the bill S. 3381 to amend an act entitled "An act to forfeit certain lands heretofore granted for the purpose of aiding in the construction of railroads and for other purposes." The bill is endorsed by every member of the committee. It relates to the matter of extending for settlers upon forfeited railroad lands the time in which to make proof for the lands. It will only affect those who by misfortune at the failure of crops have been unable to meet the requirements and pay for their lands by the 1st of February next, and it extends the time until the 1st of January, 1894, when the bill is amended, to give them an opportunity to secure their lands. The bill is unanimously reported and is recommended by the Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of the General Land Office in the correspondence which I have attached to my brief report. I ask that the bill be taken up for consideration. I do not think any one will object to it.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it be read for information.

Mr. HOAR. To what lands does the bill relate?

Mr. DOLPH. The bill relates simply to persons who have purchased lands of the railroad company and have not made proof owing to the failure of crops some of them were unable to pay for their lands in the time prescribed.

Mr. HOAR. In what State?

Mr. DOLPH. The Senator from Louisiana [Mr. WHITE] intends to offer an amendment confining the bill to the State of Oregon or to the railroad lands from Wallula, Wash., to Portland, Oregon, to which I have no objection; but I do not like to ask for that myself.

Mr. HOAR. Is it proposed to be a general law?

Mr. DOLPH. Let it be read and it will be explained.

Mr. HOAR. Let the bill be read.

Mr. SHERMAN. When does the time expire?

Mr. DOLPH. The time expires the 3d of February. Nobody will object to the bill when it is read. Let it be read.

The bill was read, and, there being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to its consideration.

The amendment of the Committee on Public Lands was in line 9, after the word "section," to strike out the words "at any time within four years from the passage of said act," and insert "to January 1, 1891," so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That section 3 of an act entitled "An act to forfeit certain lands heretofore granted for the purpose of aiding in the construction of railroads, and for other purposes," be, and the same is, amended so as to extend the time within which persons entitled to purchase lands forfeited by said act shall be permitted to purchase the same in the quantities and upon the terms provided in said section to January 1, 1891.

Mr. DOLPH. The amendment extends the time for a portion of the settlers on the land from September next until the 1st of January, and for others from either February or March next to the 1st of January in either case a part of the year. As stated in the memorial of the Oregon Legislature there was an entire failure of the crop in that section last year and the people have had to borrow money even to get seed to reseed their land. The object is to give the settlers the advantage of another crop to save their land.

Mr. HALE. Is the bill limited to the State of Oregon?

Mr. DOLPH. The Senator from Louisiana proposes to offer an amendment to limit it.

Mr. WHITE. I have not yet prepared the amendment.

Mr. DOLPH. If it is desired I will state the amendment.

Mr. WHITE. Very well.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is first upon agreeing to the amendment of the committee.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. DOLPH. After the word "act" in line 7 I propose to insert:

Upon the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company between Wallula, Wash., and Portland, Oregon.

The object is to limit the bill if that is the desire. I did not like to ask for the passage of a special act. If the Senator from Louisiana offers that amendment I will consent to it.

Mr. WHITE. I offer that as an amendment to the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Louisiana.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

COINAGE OF SILVER.

Mr. SHERMAN. I am directed by the Committee on Finance to report back with amendments the bill (S. 3123) for the repeal of certain parts of the act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, approved July 14, 1890. I ask to have it read.

Mr. HOAR. Let the bill be read in full and the amendments in full.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be read if there be no objection.

The Secretary read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That so much of the act entitled "An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," approved July 14, 1890, as directed the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 1,500,000 ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered in each month at the market price thereof, and to issue in payment for such purchases of silver bullion Treasury notes of the United States, is hereby repealed, to take effect on the 1st day of January, 1891: Provided, That this act shall not in any way affect or impair or change the legal qualities, redemption, or use of the Treasury notes issued under said act.

Mr. PLATT. What are the amendments?

Mr. SHERMAN. Let the Secretary read the amendments proposed by the committee.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendments of the committee will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 13, after the word "ninety," strike out "three" and insert "four;" so as to read:

Is hereby repealed, to take effect on the 1st day of January, 1891

Insert a new section, as follows:

SEC. 2. That upon any deposit already or hereafter made of any United States bonds bearing interest in the manner required by law, any national banking association having made or making the same shall be entitled to receive from the Comptroller of the Currency circulating notes of different denominations, in blank, registered, and countersigned as provided by law, not exceeding in the whole amount the par value of the bonds deposited: Provided, That at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued to any such association exceed the amount at such time actually paid in of its capital stock.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE LANDS.

Mr. HUNTON. I am directed by the Committee on Education and Labor, to whom was referred the joint resolution (S. R. 121) authorizing payment, under the act of August 30, 1890, to the State of Virginia, upon the assent of the governor, heretofore given, till adjournment of next session of the Legislature thereof, to report it back with a favorable recommendation, and I am further instructed by the committee to ask unanimous consent for its present consideration.

There being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the joint resolution.

The preamble recites that the recent Legislature of Virginia, through a misunderstanding with the Department of the Interior, adjourned without giving the assent required by the act of Congress approved August 30, 1890, entitled "An act to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the more complete endowment and support of the colleges of agriculture and the mechanic arts, established under the provisions of an act of Congress approved July 2, 1862."

The joint resolution provides that payments from the appropriation of the act may continue to be made to the State of Virginia, upon the assent of the governor, heretofore given, till the adjournment of the next regular session of the Legislature of the State.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The preamble was agreed to.

REMOVAL OF ICE IN POTOMAC RIVER.

Mr. McMILLAN. I am instructed by the Committee on the District of Columbia to report a joint resolution making an appropriation of $5,000 for the clearing of the Potomac River of ice, and to ask for its immediate consideration.

The joint resolution (S. R. 135) making an appropriation of $5,000 for clearing the Potomac River of ice was read the first time by its title and the second time at length, as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, etc., That $5,000, or as much thereof as may be necessary, payable from any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated and from the revenues of the District of Columbia in equal parts, to be immediately available, is hereby appropriated, to enable the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to hire boats for the purpose of clearing the Potomac River of ice within the District of Columbia.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

There being no objection, the joint resolution was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

FORT BRIDGER MILITARY RESERVATION.

Mr. CAREY. I am directed by the Committee on Public Lands, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3063) to provide for the disposal of the Fort Bridger abandoned military reservation, in the State of Wyoming, to report it favorably without amendment. I ask for its present consideration of the bill.

By unanimous consent the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill. It proposes to make subject to disposal, under the homestead law only, all public lands now remaining undisposed of within the abandoned military reservation in the State of Wyoming known as the Fort Bridger military reservation. Actual occupants thereon upon the 1st day of July, 1892, shall have the preference right to make one entry, not exceeding one quarter-section, under existing laws, if qualified, which shall include their respective improvements. Any of such lands as are occupied for town-site purposes and any of the lands that may be shown to be valuable for coal or minerals shall be disposed of as now provided for lands subject to entry and sale under the town-site, coal, or mineral-land laws, respectively.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MAIL BOXES.

Mr. SAWYER. From the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads I report back favorably without amendment the bill ports thereon; which were agreed to, and the bills were postponed indefinitely:

A bill (S. 3359) donating a Napoleon gun to the Society of the Sons of the Revolution of Pennsylvania;

A bill (S. 2767) to deliver to the State of Colorado certain guns; and

A bill (S. 2687) authorizing the Secretary of War to issue to the governor of Colorado four 3-inch Roman guns in exchange for two brass Napoleon guns.

Mr. COCKRELL, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 5049) to remove the charge of desertion against Lucius L. Dyer, reported it with amendments.

Mr. VILAS, from the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3181) for the relief of Luster P. Chester and Freeland Chester, and Luster P. Chester and Freeland Chester, executors of Thomas R. Chester, submitted an adverse report thereon; which was agreed to, and the bill was postponed indefinitely.

Mr. DOLPH, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3555) for the relief of George W. Jones, reported it with amendments.

Mr. CULLOM, from the Committee on Interstate Commerce, to whom the subject was referred, reported a bill (S. 3724) to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate commerce," approved February 4, 1887; which was read twice by its title.

Mr. CAMERON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 739) for the relief of James A. Finley, reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 5649) for the relief of Lieut. F. W. Davis, and granting him an honorable discharge, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 4758) for the relief of Charles E. Houston, reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. PROCTOR, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported favorably three amendments intended to be proposed to the Army appropriation bill; which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

BUOYAGE IN LAKE MICHIGAN.

Mr. CULLOM. I report back from the Committee on Commerce favorably, without amendment, the bill (S. 3707) making an appropriation for establishing buoyage on the water front of Chicago, Lake Michigan, Illinois. As it is a very short bill and one about which I think there will be no controversy, I ask that it be now considered.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let it be read for information.

The Chief Clerk read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the sum of $24,500 or so much thereof as may be necessary, be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of establishing proper buoyage on the water front of Chicago, Lake Michigan, Illinois.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. CULLOM. I will state that this appropriation is regularly estimated for, and it is a very important one to be made.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the following bills; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate:

A bill (H. R. 6797) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Cahawba River, in Bibb County, Ala., by the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis Railway;

A bill (H. R. 9053) to punish trespassers on the lands of either of the five civilized tribes;

A bill (H. R. 9069) for the further continuance of the publication of the Supplement to the Revised Statutes of the United States;

A bill (H. R. 9610) to amend section 1014 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to offenses against the United States;

A bill (H. R. 9611) to amend section 847 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to commissioners' fees;

A bill (H. R. 9612) to amend section 833 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to semiannual returns of fees by district attorneys, marshals, and clerks;

A bill (H. R. 9613) to amend section 828 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to clerks' fees;

A bill (H. R. 9979) to regulate the right of appeal in certain cases; and

A bill (H. R. 10062) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Oage River between the mouths of the Pomme de Terre River and Buffalo Creek, in Benton County, Mo.

The message also announced that the House had disagreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the House to the bill (S. 1497) to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia north of the city, further insisted upon its amendments to the bill, and a further conference with the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and had appointed Mr. HAZARD, Mr. TOLSON, and Mr. POST managers at the conference on the part of the House.

The message further announced that the House had passed the bill (S. 3581) to amend the proviso to be found in section 501 with the free-delivery service, page 509, twenty-fourth volume, Statutes at Large.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills, and they were then signed by the President pro tempore:

A bill (H. R. 6969) for the relief of Edisha Brown;

A bill (H. R. 3576) for the relief of R. S. Jenkins, postmaster at Marshall, Tex.;

A bill (H. R. 484) to authorize the Secretary of War to convey to school district number 412, of Kithery, Me., a portion of Fort McClary military reservation, in exchange for other land; and

A bill (S. 1492) to remit the penalties on the light-house steamer Pausy.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. McMILLAN introduced a bill (S. 3735) to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for semiannual statements by foreign corporations doing business in the District of Columbia," approved July 29, 1892; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. PETTIGREW introduced a bill (S. 3736) requiring the Secretary of the Treasury to secure a bond from the corporation known as the World's Columbian Exposition before the coins provided for by chapter 381, Statutes of the United States, first session, Fifty-first Congress, are delivered to said corporation; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial Select.

Mr. CAMERON introduced a bill (S. 3737) to prevent desertions from the Navy, and for other purposes; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Mr. SAWYER introduced a bill (S. 3738) granting a pension to Fred S. Chamberlain; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. CULLOM introduced a bill (S. 3739) granting a pension to Miss Sara B. Stebbins; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. McMILLAN introduced a bill (S. 3740) for the relief of S. J. Black and A. P. Bauman, of the District of Columbia; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. TELLER introduced a bill (S. 3741) to submit to the Court of Private Land Claims, established by an act of Congress approved March 3, 1891, the title of William McGarrhan to the Rancho Panoche Grande, in the State of California, and for other purposes; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. COCKRELL introduced a bill (S. 3742) granting a pension to Evans Ewing; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

SALE OF COLUMBIAN STAMPS.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I desire at this time to introduce a joint resolution, and I ask its immediate consideration, if there is no objection. It is very short.

The joint resolution (S. R. 137) instructing the Postmaster-General to discontinue the sale of so-called Columbian stamps was read the first time by its title, and the second time at length, as follows:

Resolved, That the Postmaster-General of the United States be instructed to discontinue the sale of the so-called Columbian stamps, except to such persons as may specially call for them, and be instructed to continue to keep on sale the ordinary postage stamps, and to retire the printing of the so-called Columbian stamps.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Mr. HAY. I am glad to hear. The Senator from Colorado asks unanimous consent of the Senate for the consideration of the joint resolution at this time.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. President, I apprehend there will be no objection to the joint resolution. I know of nothing more ridiculous than the great posters which are now being delivered to us as postage stamps, which cover half an envelope, and a few dollars' worth of which would require a dray to carry them from the Senate to one's residence. The old postage stamps were such as met the demand of the public. I apprehend there will be no objection to the joint resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

Mr. DOLPH. Let the joint resolution go over. The new postage stamps have been sent to the various postmasters to be sold.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The joint resolution, being objected to, will go over.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. PETTIGREW submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill, the amendment providing that the Secretary of the Treasury shall require bond from the corporation known as the World's Columbian Exposition before the souvenir medals are delivered to it; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select), and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HUNTON submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the District appropriation bill; which was ordered to be printed, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. SHERMAN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. PROCTOR submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. TELLER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the fortification appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. DOLPH. I submit an amendment intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, which I ask to be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. I call the attention of the Senator from Nevada [Mr. STEWART] to it, and I hope there will be an early report from the committee, so that the amendment may go to the Committee on Appropriations. Let the amendment be read.

The amendment was read, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, as follows:

To include the States of California, Oregon, and Nevada for moneys by them expended in the suppression of the rebellion, under the act of Congress approved July 27, 1861, and acts amendatory thereof and supplement thereto, being the sums of money shown by the reports of the Secretary of War to have been paid by said States in the suppression of the rebellion.

To the State of California, the sum of $2,151,366.56.

To the State of Oregon, the sum of $224,536.53.

To the State of Nevada, the sum of $404,049.70.

Mr. DOLPH submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill, the amendment proposing to increase the appropriation to carry into effect the Chinese exclusion act; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HAWLEY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds and ordered to be printed.

COINAGE OF SILVER.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I submit an amendment intended to be proposed to the bill (S. 3423) for the repeal of certain parts of the act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, approved July 14, 1890. As the amendment is very brief I ask to have it read.

The amendment was read and ordered to lie on the table and to be printed as follows:

To amend Senate bill 3423, for the repeal of certain parts of the act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, approved July 14, 1890.

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"That section 3 of the act entitled an 'Act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, approved July 14, 1890,' be so amended as to read as follows:

"That the Secretary of the Treasury shall coin the silver bullion purchased under this act as rapidly as possible, after such purchase, into standard dollars, and shall also coin into silver dollars as rapidly as possible all the silver bullion now in the Treasury, purchased under the provisions of said act of July 14, 1890, and any gain or seigniorage arising from such coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the Treasury."

of the Treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes, approved July 14, 1890; which was ordered to lie on the table and be printed.

REPORT ON ALASKA SALMON FISHERIES.

Mr. DOLPH submitted the following resolution: which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, directed to transmit to the Senate a copy of the report of the special agent having in charge the protection of the salmon fisheries of Alaska.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on the 14th instant approved and signed the following acts:

"An act (S. 3623) to amend the act of March 3, 1873, for the relief of the Columbian University, in the District of Columbia; and

A joint resolution (S. R. 113) providing for the printing of the Agricultural Report for 1892.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TERM.

Mr. PEPPER. I gave notice a few days ago that yesterday morning I would ask the consent of the Senate to proceed with my remarks upon Senate joint resolution No. 96, but on account of the adjournment yesterday the opportunity was not afforded me. I beg leave now to renew my request.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. JONES of Arkansas in the chair). The Senator from Kansas will suspend for a moment. The Chair will ascertain if there is further morning business. Is there further morning business? [A pause.] If not, the Calendar under Rule VIII being in order—

Mr. WASHBURN. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of House bill 7845, being the antioption bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair has recognized the Senator from Kansas [Mr. PEPPER], who asks the indulgence of the Senate for the purpose of making some remarks. The title of the joint resolution called up by the Senator from Kansas will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. A joint resolution (S. R. 96) proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States to limit the office of President to one term for each incumbent.

Mr. PEPPER. Mr. President, on the 17th day of July, the subject of the election of the President was again considered, the question being on the proposition that "the national executive" should be "chosen by the National Legislature." The discussion on that day brought out the views of some of the stronger men of the convention, and they are suggestive. I shall very briefly refer to them:

Mr. Gouverneur Morris [of Pennsylvania] was pointedly against his being so chosen. He will be the mere creature of the Legislature, if appointed, and impeachable by that body. He ought to be elected by the people at large—by the freeholders of the country.

Mr. Sherman [of Connecticut] thought that the sense of the nation would be better expressed by the Legislature than by the people at large. The latter will never be sufficiently informed of characters, and, besides, will never give a majority of votes to any one man. They will generally vote for some man in their own State, and the largest State will have the best chance for the appointment.

Mr. Wilson [of Pennsylvania]. * * * It might be answered, that the concurrence of a majority of the people is not a necessary principle of election not required as such in any of the States. But, allowing the objection all its force, it may be obviated by the expedient used in Massachusetts, where the Legislature by a majority of voices decide in case a majority of the people do not concur in favor of one of the candidates.

Mr. Pickens [of South Carolina] did not expect this question would again have been brought forward, an election by the people being held to be the most obvious and striking objection. They will be led by a few active and designing men. The most populous States, by combining in favor of the same individual, will be able to carry their points.

Mr. Williamson [of North Carolina] conceived that there was the same difference between an election in this case by the people and by the Legislature, as between an appointment by lot and by choice. There are at present distinguished characters, who are known perhaps to almost every man. This will not always be the case. The people will be sure to vote for some man in their own State, and the largest State will be sure to succeed.

Mr. L. MARTIN [of North Carolina] moved that the Executive be chosen by electors appointed by the several Legislatures of the individual States.

The motion was lost.

On the question on the words "to be chosen by the National Legislature" it passed unanimously in the affirmative.

The subject was continued on the 19th of the same month, when Messrs. Patterson, Wilson, Madison, and Gerry participated. The debate that day throws more light on the subject, and will be found on page 337 of the book from which I am reading, Elliott's Debates. I will read a portion of the remarks of Mr. Madison as they are given:

Mr. Madison [of Virginia]. If it be a fundamental principle of free government that the legislative, executive, and judiciary powers should be separately exercised, it is equally so that they be independently exercised. There is the same, and perhaps greater, reason why the executive should be independent of the legislature, than why the judiciary should.

Mr. Gerry [of Massachusetts]. If the Executive is to be elected by the legislature, he certainly ought not to be reelectable. This would make him absolutely dependent. He was against a popular election. The people are unenlightened, and would be misled by a few designing men. Heuried the expediency of an appointment of the Executive by electors to be chosen by the State executives."

The Evening Journal of this city has been publishing some fine truths. The franking was, which has been having its share of the what gives them an interest. They want to know the cause of it.

Here are some of the most important:

"The politics of the business district is the politics of the street and what adheres to Wall street is their political action. It was Republican financiers in the city who were the first to see that who felt that to control the domination of the city was to control the easier than to elect their man at the polls. It is the acme of the science of modern politics.

In view of this remarkable conspiracy to control the nominees of the popular conventions it will be recalled how frequently wealthy but inactive Republicans were heard to remark during the recent campaign that they were glad Cleveland was nominated; that in any event the country was safe, and that they cared little whether Harrison or Cleveland won. This idea found no expression in the public press, but every man knows how deeply rooted it was in the minds of the men whom he met in daily intercourse. Business men said simply: "We are safe with either. This is the cheapest election that we have experienced for twenty-five years. Heads we win, tails you lose." And the poor, deluded Populists of the West fell into the trap and helped to down Harrison.

We shall have parties, Mr. President, as long as we have issues to determine, and that is well. But the general welfare does not require that political organizations should grow gray before they die. Old parties drift away from the toiling masses and drop into dangerous ways. They become arbitrary and oppressive. Their leaders grow rich and powerful or they become subservient to great interests that are able to pay campaign expenses. Parties ought to be always young. Then they are vigorous and responsive, quick to catch the people's voice and prompt to execute their will.

Once give to the people the privilege of casting their votes directly for the chief officer of the Republic, knowing that he is not eligible to a second term, and you bring about a new and better education of voters, who would then divide themselves on present issues; they would rise to a higher plane of political thought; they would organize on principles and not on prejudices, taking care of to-day rather than of yesterday, and they would hold to parties only as long as they were useful in promoting the general welfare.

Great measures of public policy would then be originated by the people themselves, whose representatives in Congress would proceed without party bitterness, engendered in a heated party struggle, to execute the will of the voters. The campaign caravan would be abolished, the noise and the glamour, the pyrotechnics and the gaudy displays of party gatherings would cease to attract and amuse, and the tone of political literature would be in corresponding degree purified and improved. It would permit the birth of new parties without placing weights and manacles on them, for then all will have learned that new parties are needed to handle new issues. Voters would change their party alignment with every change of issue, and when a victory is won it would be a victory of the people.

DISTRICT IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. HARRIS. I ask the Chair to lay before the Senate the message from the House of Representatives in relation to Senate bill 1307.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HALE in the chair). The Chair lays before the Senate the action of the House of Representatives upon the bill indicated by the Senator from Tennessee, which will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

IN THE HOUSE, June 30, 1892.

Resolved, That the House of Representatives disagree to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses to the amendments of the House to Senate bill 1307, to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia lying outside of cities.

IN THE HOUSE, January 18, 1893.

Resolved, That the House further insist upon its amendments to the bill (S. 1307) to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia lying outside of cities, and ask a further conference with the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon.

Ordered, That Mr. HEMPHILL, Mr. HEARD, and Mr. POST be the managers on the part of the House.

Mr. HARRIS. I move that the Senate grant the further conference asked by the House of Representatives.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Presiding Officer was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate: and Mr. HARRIS, Mr. McMILLAN, and Mr. PERKINS were appointed.

HOUSE BILLS REFERRED.

The following bills, received from the House of Representatives, were severally read twice by their titles, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

A bill (H. R. 9611) to amend section 847 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to commissioners' fees;

A bill (H. R. 9612) to amend section 833 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to semiannual returns of fees by district attorneys, marshals, and clerks;

A bill (H. R. 9613) to amend section 828 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to clerks' fees;

A bill (H. R. 9979) to regulate the right of appeal in certain cases; and

A bill (H. R. 9610) to amend section 1014 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to offenses against the United States.

The following bills were generally read twice by their titles, and referred to the Committee on Commerce:

A bill (H. R. 10062) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Osage River between the mouths of the Pomme de Terre River and Buffalo Creek, in Benton County, Mo.; and

A bill (H. R. 6797) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Cahawba River, in Bibb County, Ala., by the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis Railway.

The bill (H. R. 9053) to punish trespassers on the lands of either of the five civilized tribes was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

The bill (H. R. 9069) for the further continuance of the publication of the supplement to the Revised Statutes of the United States was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Revision of the Laws of the United States.

CALIFORNIA DÉBRIS COMMISSION.

Mr. STEWART. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 9286) to create the California Débris Commission and regulate hydraulic mining in the State of California. I think it will take but a little time. It is a short bill, and it is quite important that it should be passed.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill which had been reported from the Committee on Mines and Mining with amendments.

The Secretary proceeded to read the bill.

Mr. STEWART. I think it would facilitate the consideration of the bill to have the amendments of the committee considered as they are reached in the reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The hour of 2 o'clock having arrived it is the duty of the Chair to lay before the Senate the unfinished business.

DEALING IN OPTIONS AND FUTURES.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 7845) defining "options" and "futures," imposing special taxes on dealers therein, and requiring such dealers and persons engaged in selling certain products to obtain license, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The pending question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE], on which the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT] is entitled to the floor.

Mr. PLATT. Mr. President, when at the last meeting of the Senate for business I addressed myself to this question the interruptions, of which I did not and do not complain, led to the extension of my remarks to a length which I had not contemplated when I commenced, and I do not intend to occupy a great amount of time this morning.

On Tuesday I endeavored to show, and I think I did show, that the proposed legislation was in no sense whatever an exercise of the taxing power. Other Senators had said that it was not a legitimate use of the taxing power of the Constitution; that it was an abuse of the taxing power of the Constitution. I maintain that it would be in no sense an exercise of the power to lay and collect taxes which is found in the Constitution of the United States, because the penalties or exactions, whichever they may be called, which the bill imposes upon those who deal in property which they have not in hand at the time they propose to sell it can not be called taxes. They are not intended to raise revenue, and it is a primary and essential purpose of a tax that it shall raise revenue. Whatever else may be intended by the laying of a tax, it must be in addition to the purpose to raise revenue and not disconnected from it.

I will not go over the ground of my argument on a former day, but I want to call attention once more to the danger of the doctrine which is to be proclaimed by the passage of this bill, the doctrine that the power to tax is the power to destroy, and therefore Congress has the right to destroy.

Mr. President, there has been no question of such momentous consequence before Congress since the war of the rebellion. The deliberate announcement that Congress may destroy individual property of any kind in any State and may prohibit individual business of any kind in any State is the most dangerous doctrine ever proclaimed in this Chamber since it was announced that States had a right to secede from the Union and that the Government had no power to coerce them.

I beg Senators who think that in an incautious moment they have in some way become committed to the passage of this bill to stop and consider what they will be committed to if the bill passes. Can a Senator commit himself to the doctrine that Congress may destroy all individual property at will in every State of the Union, may prohibit all individual business at will in every State of the Union? For that is the meat and the essence of this bill.

The bill is defended upon only what has been called an aphor-

THE SPEAKER. The bill will be read subject to objection. The bill was read at length.

Mr. TAYLOR of Illinois. Let the report be read subject to objection.

THE SPEAKER. Without objection the report will be read. The report was read at length.

Mr. TAYLOR of Illinois. Before consent is given, Mr. Speaker, I should like to have some further explanation of this bill.

Mr. BANKHEAD. Mr. Speaker, as set forth in the report, in 1856 Dr. Read invented a rifle shot or projectile which was extensively used by the United States Government under a contract made with him for that purpose. He had a contract with the Secretary of War to pay him a reasonable royalty on the invention in case of its use by the Government. Under that contract and after this invention had been extensively used, a board of army officers was appointed to ascertain and investigate what a reasonable royalty would be for the use of the projectile. That board of army officers, after a very thorough investigation of the subject, reported that in their opinion $17,000 was a reasonable and just price to pay for the invention.

This bill has been passed by the House on three separate occasions; it has passed the Senate on two occasions, and passed both the House and Senate on one occasion, but failed to reach the President in time for his signature. I think it is a perfectly just claim.

Dr. Read has been prosecuting this claim for some twenty years past; he has grown old in its prosecution.

It is certainly a just and proper claim; the Government owes the amount of money, and if it intends to pay its just debts to its citizens it seems to me that there can be no reasonable objection interposed to the passage of this bill.

Mr. OATES. If my colleague will allow me, for twenty years or more this claim has been before Congress, and never in a single instance has there been a report adverse to it. The reports have been uniformly in its favor.

THE SPEAKER. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. TAYLOR of Illinois. This is a very old claim, but I am informed that the beneficiary is a deformed little girl, and so I do not object.

Mr. BYNUM. I object.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. McCook, its Secretary, announced that the Senate had disagreed to the amendments of the House to the bill (S. 1307) to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia lying outside of the city, had agreed to a further conference asked by the House, and had appointed Mr. HARRIS, Mr. McMILLAN, and Mr. PERKINS as the conferees on the part of the Senate.

It also announced that the Senate had passed the bill (S. 3707) making an appropriation for establishing buoyage on the water front of Chicago, Lake Michigan, Illinois; in which the concurrence of the House was requested.

It also announced that the Senate had agreed to the amendments of the House of Representatives to the joint resolution (S. R. 128) to authorize the Secretary of War to grant permits for the use of reservations and public spaces in the city of Washington, and for other purposes.

GRUBB & ROBINSON.

Mr. BRODERICK. I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of the bill (H. R. 9413) to authorize the proper accounting officer of the Treasury Department to examine and audit, according to equity, the claim of Grubb & Robinson, a firm consisting of Alfred B. Grubb and William H. Robinson, and of Alfred B. Grubb, for building material sold and delivered to members of the Prairie band of Pottawatomie Indians in Kansas.

The bill was read at length.

Mr. BRODERICK. I ask to have the following report read.

THE SPEAKER. Without objection the report accompanying the bill will be read.

The report was read at length.

THE SPEAKER. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. WATSON. I call for the regular order.

THE SPEAKER. The demand for the regular order is equivalent to an objection.

The regular order is the call of the standing and select committees for reports.

SALARIES OF THE RAILWAY POSTAL CLERKS.

Mr. HENDERSON of North Carolina, from the Committee on the Post-Office and Post-Roads, reported back the bill (S. 2604) to reclassify and prescribe the salaries of railway and postal clerks; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

SENECA INDIANS.

Mr. HOOKER of New York, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, reported back the bill (H. R. 19296) to ratify and confirm an agreement made between the Seneca Nation of Indians and William B. Barker; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

NEW YORK INDIANS.

THE SPEAKER. The morning hour begins at twenty-four minutes past 12 o'clock.

Mr. PEEL. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the bill go back to the Committee on Indian Affairs, which committee was passed without prejudice. I desire to take up a bill which has already been considered in part, authorizing the New York Indians to bring their claims before the Court of Claims.

THE SPEAKER. The Committee on Indian Affairs had reserved to it the right to be called, and the gentleman from Arkansas now exercises that right.

The Clerk will report the title of the bill pending in the morning hour.

The Clerk read as follows:

A bill (H. R. 5679) to provide for a settlement with the Indians who were parties to and beneficiaries under the treaty concluded at Buffalo Creek, in the State of New York, January 15, 1838, for the unexecuted stipulations of that treaty.

THE SPEAKER. This bill was being considered in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. PEEL. I move that the House resolve itself in the Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of this bill.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, for the further consideration of the bill (H. R. 5679) to provide for a settlement with the Indians who were parties to and beneficiaries under the treaty concluded at Buffalo Creek, in the State of New York, January 15, 1838, for the unexecuted stipulations of that treaty, with Mr. TARNSEY in the chair.

Mr. PEEL. Mr. Chairman, if the committee will give me their attention I will say that it will be remembered by those who took notice of the proceedings in this matter, that when the hour expired the other day the committee was dividing.

THE CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. PEEL] and the gentleman from New York [Mr. BENTLEY] were acting as tellers.

Mr. PEEL. If the tellers were to resume their places now, of course the committee would be unable to remember the subject-matter, and I move that the vote by which tellers were ordered may be reconsidered, so that the subject-matter may be explained again to the committee, and so that members may know what they are voting upon.

The motion was agreed to.

Accordingly the vote by which tellers were ordered was reconsidered.

Mr. PEEL. Now, Mr. Chairman, if the committee will give me their attention—and especially if the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN], who objected to this matter before, will give me his attention—I will say that the Committee on Indian Affairs reported a House bill to appropriate nearly two millions of dollars to pay the New York Indians their claim as found by the Court of Claims. The Senate committee reported a bill to refer the matter to the Court of Claims again for the purpose of ascertaining the law in connection with the facts, as well as the facts themselves. When the bill was up before us, we asked to substitute the Senate bill for the House bill. Since that time the Senate have passed their bill referring this matter to the Court of Claims. I have the proceedings as shown by the Record in my hand.

I now move that the engrossed Senate bill, which is the same as the printed Senate bill, be substituted for the House bill. The House bill appropriates the money, while the Senate bill does not, but refers the matter to the Court of Claims to find the amount due, restricting the court from finding any interest so that the first vote should be on the motion to substitute the Senate bill for the House bill. To that I do not think there can be any objection, because the House bill appropriates the money, while the Senate bill refers the matter to the court. I would like to have a vote on that, so that we may get to the substitute, and then the matter will be thoroughly explained to the committee.

Mr. HOLMAN. Let the Senate bill be read.

Mr. PEEL. I ask that the engrossed Senate bill be read. It is the bill (S. 3197) to authorize the Court of Claims to hear and determine the claims of certain New York Indians against the United States.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc. That jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the Court of Claims to hear and enter up judgment as if it had original jurisdiction of said case, the claim of the New York Indians, being those Indians who were parties to the treaty of Buffalo Creek, New York, on the 15th of January, 1838, against the United States, growing out of the alleged unexecuted stipulations of said treaty on the part of the United States. In the hearing and adjudication of said case said court may proceed upon the finding of facts already made, upon a reference of said claim to said court, filed on the 11th day of January, 1892, and transmitted to Congress by John Randolph, assistant clerk of said court, on the 16th day of January, 1892. Or said court may, in its opinion justice so requires, take other testimony as to facts. But in any judgment it may render against the United States, in favor of said claimants, interest shall not be allowed. The statute of limitations shall not be pleaded as a bar to recovery in said case. The Attorney-General is hereby directed to appear in behalf of the United States in said case. And from any judgment rendered by the court, either party may appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. Said cause shall be advanced on the docket and tried without delay in any court which shall be deemed invested with jurisdiction thereof by the provisions of this act.

Mr. PEEL. Now, Mr. Chairman, the question is on adopting the substitute, which refers the matter back to the Court of Claims to determine, instead of voting up on the House bill which appropriates the money.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Arkansas [Mr. PEEL], that the Senate bill now on the Speaker's table, just reported by the Clerk, be recommended to the House as a substitute for the House bill, and that the House bill do lie upon the table.

Mr. HOLMAN. I wish to inquire of my friend from Arkansas [Mr. PEEL] whether this matter has been referred to the Indian Bureau and a report made?

Mr. PEEL. I am not advised; but my colleague [Mr. HOOKER of New York] can probably tell.

Mr. HOOKER of New York. It has been, and the Indian Bureau recommends the passage of the bill.

Mr. HOLMAN. I hope we will have the report from the Indian Bureau read.

Mr. HOOKER of New York. I have not the report here.

Mr. HOLMAN. I think this measure should not pass unless it is recommended by at least the Indian Commissioner, and I think it should also be recommended by the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. PEEL. I will say to my friend that he certainly can not object to a vote being taken on the question of substituting the Senate bill for the House bill. Then the issue will arise whether the substitute should pass. I would like to have a vote taken on that, and then I will have the statement from the Senate read, which explains the matter very fully. My colleague [Mr. HOOKER of New York] states that the Commissioner has recommended it, and I hope the gentleman will not object.

Mr. HOLMAN. But the letter of the Commissioner ought to be printed in the RECORD.

Mr. PEEL. It may be in the report.

Mr. HOLMAN. My friend will understand fully that it is obvious that this claim will be adjudicated in favor of the Indians by the court, from the finding which they have already made, the subject having already been before them. The only question is whether, in a claim over fifty years of age, the House should apply the principle of the statute of limitations or not. If the matter is referred to the court, of course the court will allow the money. That is very obvious from the facts already stated, and which appears in the report. I do not remember what gentleman interested himself in the subject when it was up before, but a question of this magnitude ought certainly to be fairly considered.

I was in hopes that the Secretary of the Interior, or at least the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, had made a full report upon the claim. This transaction occurred over forty years ago, and it seems to me almost incredible that this should have remained all this time in this way.

Mr. PEEL. Mr. Chairman, it is not strange to a man who had had experience in this House why claims against the United States, by Indians or anybody else, are allowed to grow old. I am not posted why it was in this particular case; but I am never afraid of the courts of my own country adjudicating a claim against the Government for anybody. The motion which I make now is not to pass the bill, but to pass the substitute, a Senate bill, which the Senate has passed (and I have the proceedings of that body in my hand), to refer this claim back to the Court of Claims.

The court once found in favor of these Indians. Instead of going on with the other bill, and appropriating the money, in response to that judgment of the Court of Claims, the Senate thought it safer to send the claim back to the Court of Claims for farther adjudication, with the right of either party to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States, the Government to be represented by the Attorney-General. Therefore I can not see why any gentleman can object to adopting this substitute, and let each party take its chance in the courts of our own country to see whether the Indians are entitled to the amount.

Mr. HOLMAN. As against anybody else but Indians, the statute of limitations would have operated long ago. I do not pretend to say that the statute of limitations ought to operate against the Indian tribes, because in some sense we are the trustees of those Indians, but certainly my friend will do the committee the justice to have at least the findings of the Court of Claims read, so that we may know what we are doing.

Mr. PEEL. Mr. Chairman, the report made by the Senate committee contains all that; but it will take our entire hour to have it read.

Mr. HOLMAN. Read what the Senate committee did.

Mr. PEEL. The whole report of the Senate committee was read before, at the instance of my friend from Indiana. The committee made the Senate report a part of their report. The findings of the Court of Claims have been read to this House. My friend from Indiana says now he recognizes the fact that the statutes of limitation ought not to be applied against our wards. My friend forgets that before, at his instance, I moved to strike out that portion of the bill providing that the statute of limitation should not run. It was stricken out by this committee on my friend's own motion. Now, he admits that that ought not to be done, and he is fatter now than he was then.

I hope we will have a vote upon the substitute; and then we will discuss further the merits of the substitute.

Mr. HOLMAN. I think the report ought to be read.

Mr. PEEL. It has been read once.

Mr. HOLMAN. I know; but these things pass out of our minds so rapidly.

Mr. RAY. Mr. Chairman, I would like to say to the gentleman from Indiana that this claim has not slept. President Lincoln recognized the justice of the claim in 1864—

The CHAIRMAN. Does the gentleman ask for the reading of the Senate or the House report?

Mr. HOLMAN. I think that the House report ought to be read.

Mr. PEEL. The House report adopts the Senate report, and to have it read now would be equivalent to defeating the whole measure.

Mr. REED. Ask unanimous consent for the continuance of the morning hour.

Mr. PEEL. The report has been read once.

Mr. REED. Perhaps if you were to ask for the continuance of the morning hour until this bill is finished, you might dispose of the measure.

Mr. PEEL. The committee that has the day would object. This day is set apart for the consideration of business of another committee.

Mr. REED. I do not think the gentleman from Indiana means to defeat the bill in that way.

Mr. RAY. Mr. Chairman, I want to say for the information of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN] that President Lincoln recognized the justice of the claimants in their demand in 1864. It was also recognized again in 1865 by President Johnson, by the appointment of a commissioner to treat for the extinguishment of the Indian title to these lands. But nothing was accomplished then. Since then bills for the purpose of making appropriations to permit the Secretary of the Interior to adjust this claim have been passed on in committee, in the Forty-third Congress, in the Forty-fifth Congress, and in the Forty-eighth Congress, with favorable reports, but the question never has been reached for action.

Mr. HOLMAN. Now, what was the title to be extinguished?

Mr. RAY. The title of these Indians.

Mr. DOLLIVER. Mr. Chairman, we can not hear what the gentlemen say.

The CHAIRMAN. The Chair is unable to hear a word.

Mr. RAY. Mr. Chairman, by the treaty made with these Indians almost the entire State of Kansas was given to these Indian tribes. Afterwards the Government went on and sold these lands at about $1.43 per acre and covered the money into the Treasury, without making any provision for the protection of the rights of these Indians. Of course the title to that land has passed to the settlers, and it was for the purpose of appropriating money to extinguish the title of the Indians and their claims to this land that this action was taken.

Mr. HOLMAN. Was not that grant made to those Indians on condition of their settlement upon the lands and their abandonment of certain Indian lands in Wisconsin and Michigan?

Mr. RAY. The grant of these lands in Kansas was made by that treaty to those Indians upon condition that they should surrender certain lands in Wisconsin.

Mr. MILLER. Five hundred thousand acres.

Mr. RAY. Yes, 500,000 acres of land in Wisconsin. They did surrender and relinquish to the United States Government their claim to those lands. The United States Government did sell those lands in Wisconsin, did receive the money for them,

AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the subcommittee of the Committee on Agriculture, having in charge the appropriation bill, be authorized to sit during the sessions of the House until the completion of the bill.

The SPEAKER. In the absence of objection that order will be made.

There was no objection.

DIGEST, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, I submit a privileged report from the Committee on Printing.

The SPEAKER. The report will be read.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That there be printed — copies of the Digest and Manual of the Rules and Practice of the House of Representatives for the second session of the Fifty-second Congress, the same to be bound and distributed under the direction of the Speaker and Clerk of the House: — copies thereof to be bound in paper covers.

The Committee on Printing, to whom was referred the foregoing resolution, report the same back with the recommendation that it do pass with the following amendments: Fill the first blank by inserting "2,500," and the second by inserting "500," so that it will read: "2,500 copies of the Digest and Manual of the Rules and Practice of the House of Representatives for the second session of the Fifty-second Congress," etc., and "500 copies thereof to be bound in paper covers."

The estimated cost of same is $3,568.

The amendments recommended by the committee were agreed to.

The resolution as amended was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. RICHARDSON, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid upon the table.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

The SPEAKER. The regular order is the call of the standing and select committees for reports.

SOILED PAPER CURRENCY.

Mr. BACON, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, reported back the bill (H. R. 10012) to provide for the speedy and frequent redemption of United States paper currency and national bank notes which have become soiled, impure, unclean, or otherwise unfit for use; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

REPORTS OF NATIONAL BANKING ASSOCIATIONS, ETC.

Mr. BACON also, from the Committee on Banking and Currency, reported back with amendments the bill (H. R. 10118) to amend section 5209 of the Revised Statutes; which was referred to the House Calendar.

REGULATION OF COMMERCE.

Mr. STORER, from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, reported back the bill (H. R. 10222) to amend the act to regulate commerce; which was referred to the House Calendar.

Mr. STORER also, from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, reported back the bill (H. R. 10250) to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate commerce;" which was referred to the House Calendar.

BUOYAGE WATER LINE, CHICAGO, ILL.

Mr. BRICKNER, from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, reported back the bill (S. 3707) to make an appropriation for the establishment of buoyage on the water front of Chicago, Lake Michigan, Ill.; which was referred to the House Calendar.

ROCKPORT AND HARBOR ISLAND SUBURBAN RAILROAD.

Mr. CRAIN, from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, reported back the bill (H. R. 9174) authorizing the Rockport and Harbor Island Suburban Railroad to construct a bridge across the Corpus Christi channel, known as the Morris and Cummings Ship Channel, near its entrance into Aransas Bay, in Aransas County, Tex.; which was referred to the House Calendar.

MILLE LAC INDIAN RESERVATION IN MINNESOTA.

By Mr. AMERMAN, from the Committee on the Public Lands: Joint resolution (S. R. 89) for the protection of those parties who have heretofore been allowed to make entries of lands within the former Mille Lac Indian Reservation in Minnesota—to the House Calendar.

TRUST, LOAN, AND OTHER CORPORATIONS, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

By Mr. RICHARDSON, from the Committee on the District of Columbia: A bill (H. R. 10248) to amend an act to provide for the incorporation of trust, loan, mortgage, and certain other incorporations within the District of Columbia—to the House Calendar.

SALE OF LIQUORS, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

By Mr. HEMPHILL, from the Committee on the District of Columbia: A bill (H. R. 7207) to regulate the sale of distilled and fermented liquors in the District of Columbia—to the House Calendar.

SATURDAY HALF-HOLIDAY, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

By Mr. HEMPHILL, from the Committee on the District of Columbia: Joint resolution (S. R. 130) to amend an act entitled "An act making Saturday a half-holiday for banking and trust companies in the District of Columbia," approved December 22, 1892—to the House Calendar.

ECLECTIC MEDICAL SOCIETY, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

By Mr. HEMPHILL, from the Committee on the District of Columbia: A bill (S. 741) to incorporate the Eclectic Medical Society of the District of Columbia—to the House Calendar.

EAST WASHINGTON CROSS-TOWN RAILWAY COMPANY.

By Mr. HEARD, from the Committee on the District of Columbia: A bill (H. R. 5353) to incorporate the East Washington Crosstown Railway Company of the District of Columbia—to the House Calendar.

WASHINGTON, BURNT MILLS AND SANDY SPRING RAILWAY COMPANY.

By Mr. RICHARDSON, from the Committee on the District of Columbia: A bill (H. R. 9056) to incorporate the Washington, Burnt Mills and Sandy Spring Railway Company—to the House Calendar.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

The SPEAKER. This completes the call of the standing and select committees for reports. The morning hour begins at five minutes to 1. The call rests with the Committee on the Library, which committee had a bill pending yesterday.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw that bill.

The SPEAKER. This is the second call for the purpose of permitting committees to bring up measures for consideration. The Committee on Rivers and Harbors was called.

Mr. BLANCHARD. I ask unanimous consent to pass the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, with the right to be taken up later without prejudice.

Mr. BACON. I object.

The Committee on Military Affairs was called.

HOSPITAL CORPS, UNITED STATES ARMY.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (H. R. 9925) to establish companies of the Hospital Corps, United States Army, and for other purposes.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the companies of the Hospital Corps, organized by the Secretary of War in the Medical Department of the Army, are hereby established upon the same military status as companies of infantry, and shall hereafter be known as companies of the Hospital Corps.

Sec. 2. That each company shall consist of eight hospital sergeants, one of whom shall be selected as first sergeant, and one as quartermaster sergeant; six hospital corporals, two musicians, one drummer, and as many privates, not exceeding one hundred, as the President may direct.

Sec. 3. That the hospital sergeant shall be detailed as such from the hospital stewards, the hospital corporals from the acting hospital stewards, and the remaining members of the companies from the privates of the Hospital Corps, United States Army, and each shall receive the pay of his grade in the Hospital Corps.

Sec. 4. That the necessary officers to command the companies of the Hospital Corps shall be detailed from the Medical Department, United States Army.

Sec. 5. That the President is authorized to organize for bearer, ambulance, field, hospital, and other like service, such companies of the Hospital Corps as he may deem necessary.

Sec. 6. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The SPEAKER. This bill is on the Union Calendar.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. The bill does not provide for any a appropriation or require any expenditure of money whatever. It should be on the House Calendar. If it is on the Union Calendar it is there by mistake.

The SPEAKER. That being true, the Committee of the Whole will be discharged from the further consideration of it, and it will be considered in the House.

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the amendment proposed by the committee.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend line 3, in section 1, by adding the words "and such privates as are in the Hospital Corps," and striking out all of section 2.

The amendments were agreed to.

The bill as amended was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time; and being engrossed, was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

On motion of Mr. OUTHWAITE, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

POST TRADERSHIPS.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. Mr. Speaker, I call up the bill (S. 3117) relating to post traderships.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc. That where a vacancy now exists or hereafter occurs in the position of post trader at any military post it shall not be filled, and the authority to make such appointment is hereby terminated: Provided, That in the event of the death of a post trader his personal representative shall be allowed by the Secretary of War a reasonable time in which to close the business.

Mr. HEARD. I would like to ask the gentleman in charge of the bill to make a brief explanation. I do not know of any good reason why the bill should not pass, but I should like the gentleman to state briefly the reason why he thinks it should pass.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. Mr. Speaker, I will ask for the reading of the report.

The report (by Mr. OUTHWAITE) was read, as follows:

The Committee on Military Affairs, having had under consideration the bill (S. 3117) to abolish post traderships, are of the opinion that this measure should become a law, and therefore recommend that the bill do pass.

The Senate report, a copy of which is herewith attached, is adopted by the House committee.

[Senate Report No. 713, Fifty-second Congress, first session.]

The Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3117) relating to post traderships, have had the same under consideration and submit the following report:

The purpose of this bill is to abolish post traderships. It will not produce a radical change, and the present system will continue until those persons who are now post traders shall either die or retire, but when vacancies occur from either of those causes, then the post tradership shall be abolished. The bill has received the approval of the War Department and the Major-General Commanding the Army, whose report is herewith appended. An extract from the last report of the Secretary of War upon this subject is also annexed.

Your committee has amended the bill and in its amended form recommends that it pass.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY, Washington, D. C., May 14, 1892.

SIR: Referring to Senate bill 3117, entitled "A bill relating to post traderships," I have the honor to report as follows:

The position of post trader was originally established in part, perhaps, as a substitute for the old sutlership which had been abolished, but mainly as a means of supplying necessities to emigrants and travelers passing or visiting military posts on the frontier at a period of time when the Army and roving Indians were almost the sole inhabitants of a vast region of country. Around all those, then new, frontier posts have grown up thriving towns where traders of all kinds are able to supply the necessities above referred to, by means of which the post trader became only a privileged rival of citizens engaged in legitimate business in the near vicinity.

These trade stores were also found to be a demoralizing element in nearly every garrison, being places of dissipation for both officers and enlisted men. Under the wiser social custom gradually developed in the Army, both officers and enlisted men have generally been provided with far better means for social entertainment and recreation, the officers having their post messes or clubs, and the soldiers the institution now called "exchange," both of which are in the main cooperative stores in their character, and as such supply to the officers and their families and to the enlisted men of every garrison all those comforts and luxuries which are deemed essential in modern society.

The post trader is no longer necessary, and in nearly all cases, if continued at all, would be only a source of detriment to the best interests of the Army. In some cases the policy of the War Department to do away with all post traders has been delayed through a just and generous regard for vested interests of the present incumbents, and such have been permitted to continue their business until they could close out without material loss, and their buildings have been or are to be purchased at a fair price whenever that may be done to the advantage of the Government. So rapidly as this can be accomplished the system of post traders should be eliminated entirely, and I therefore fully concur in the wisdom of the proposed law repealing the authority to appoint post traders in the Army. This necessity can never hereafter again arise so long as the territory of the United States remains with its present boundaries.

Very respectfully,

J. M. SCHOFIELD,
Major-General Commanding.

The SECRETARY OF WAR.

[Extract from the last report of the Secretary of War.]

At the beginning of this administration there were licensed post traders at most army posts. They were a privileged class, exempt from taxation, because located on Government reservations, and had practically a monopoly of the trade in such articles as were not furnished or sold by the quartermaster or commissary. Wherever cities and villages have grown up near the formerly remote Western posts, and the post trader has thus ceased to be a necessity, it has been my purpose to discontinue the system as rapidly as possible and permit the trade of military posts, outside of the ordinary governmental supplies, to take its regular channels.

On the 4th of March, 1889, there were eighty-five of these traders. There are now but twenty-two, and seven of these have been notified that their licenses will be revoked within a short time, at a date so fixed as to give them an opportunity to sell or reduce their stocks. Four of the remaining fifteen are at posts whose abandonment has been ordered, or soon will be, so that at the end of the fiscal year there will be only eleven remaining.

The parties who held these privileges had large personal and political influence, and it has not been an easy or pleasant task to make this change. Many of them also had invested considerable capital in these enterprises, and were, therefore, entitled to consideration and a reasonable time to close their business. But their profits had been large, and I believe that no injustice has been done them. It was a pernicious system and necessity was the only excuse for its existence at any time. It has outlived whatever usefulness it may have had, and its longer continuance is not for the interest of the service or for the public good.

Mr. OUTHWAITE (during the reading of the report). I ask that the further reading of the report be dispensed with.

Mr. HEARD. I am content with the report as far as read.

The bill was ordered to a third reading; and it was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

LINE OF BATTLE OF THE ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA AT GETTYSBURG.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. Mr. Speaker, I now call up the bill (S. 2914) for marking the lines of battle and positions of troops of the Army of Northern Virginia at Gettysburg, Pa., and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the title of the bill.

The title of the bill was reported.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. I move that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering the Senate bill.

The motion was agreed to.

The House accordingly resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, Mr. BYNUM in the chair.

The CHAIRMAN. The House is in Committee of the Whole for the purpose of considering the bill which the Clerk will report.

The Clerk proceeded to read the bill.

Mr. OUTHWAITE (during the reading of the bill). Mr. Chairman, so far as the bill has been read it places before the committee fully and clearly the purposes of the bill. I therefore ask unanimous consent that the further first reading of the bill be dispensed with.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Ohio asks unanimous consent to dispense with the further first reading of the bill. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. I ask that the Clerk now commence with the reading of the bill by sections.

The Clerk read as follows:

Be it enacted, etc. That for the purpose of preserving the lines of battle at Gettysburg, Pa., and for properly marking with tablets the positions occupied by the various commands of the armies of the Potomac and of Northern Virginia on that field, and for the purchase or condemnation of land of historical importance, and for opening and improving avenues along the positions occupied by troops upon those lines, and for fencing the same, and for determining the leading tactical positions of batteries, regiments, brigades, divisions, corps, and other organizations with reference to the study and correct understanding of the battle, and to mark the same with suitable tablets, each bearing a brief historical legend, compiled without praise and without censure, and to be prepared by said commission and approved by the Secretary of War, the said Secretary is hereby authorized and directed to appoint three commissioners, two of whom shall have been participants in the battle of Gettysburg, and one of whom shall have been an officer of the Army of Northern Virginia; and the said commissioners shall have the general charge of the work aforesaid, and shall recommend the purchase of such land as they deem it necessary for the United States to acquire for the purposes aforesaid, and they shall, under the directions and instructions of the Secretary of War, execute the provisions of this act. The said commissioners shall be paid such compensation, out of the appropriation provided in this act, as the Secretary of War shall deem reasonable and just, not exceeding $10 each per day of actual service, and they may employ such surveying parties and clerical assistance as may be necessary, and secure such historical information as they may need, at compensations for these several services to be fixed by the commission, subject to the approval of the Secretary of War, and to be paid out of the appropriation provided in this act.

Mr. OUTHWAITE. Mr. Chairman, I ask that the amendments to this section be voted on in gross, unless a separate vote be demanded.

The CHAIRMAN. The gentleman from Ohio asks unanimous consent that the committee amendments be voted on in gross. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none.

Mr. BURROWS. What are the amendments?

The CHAIRMAN. The Clerk will report the amendments.

The Clerk read as follows:

In line 4, section 1, after the word "field," insert "and the securing and compiling of additional historical data now available beyond that now in possession of the Government."

In line 8, section 1, strike out the words "the leading" and insert in place thereof the words "delineating the most important." At the end of same line add the words "and evolutions."

Section 2. Strike out all after the word "censure," in line 13, to and including the word "and," in line 21, and insert in place thereof the following:

"A commission is hereby created and established, under the name of 'The Gettysburg Battlefield Commission,' to consist of three members, who shall be appointed by the Secretary of War, one of whom shall be a civilian who is recognized as the person best informed in the history of the battle, and who shall be chairman of the commission and its historian; one an officer of the Army of the Potomac who participated in the battle, and one an officer of the Army of Northern Virginia who participated in the battle. Said commission shall have a principal office in connection with the War Department in the city of Washington.

"The said chairman shall, as soon as possible after his appointment, compile historical maps showing not only the general lines of battle of the two armies, but approximately the successive tactical and strategic positions and evolutions of all bodies of troops taking part in said engagement, to the end that all the principal operations of batteries, regiments, brigades, divisions, and corps, and other organizations, when acting as such respectively, may be represented upon said maps, and by means of which the said several positions and evolutions of said organizations may be marked upon the field, and for said special services in the preparation of said maps said historian shall be paid a reasonable compensation, not exceeding the sum of $5,000, to be fixed by the Secretary of War: the same to be paid in such installments, according to the progress of the work, as may be determined upon between said historian and the Secretary of War."

Line 20, section 1, strike out the word "aforesaid" and insert in lieu thereof the words "upon the field."

Line 21, section 1, after the word "purchase," insert "or condemnation."

construction of a public building at Baker City, Oregon, reported it with an amendment.

He also, from the same committee, reported four amendments intended to be proposed to the sundry-civil appropriation bill; which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HARRIS. The Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3521) to amend the charter of the Eckington and Soldiers' Home Railway Company, of the District of Columbia, have directed me to report the same adversely and to ask that the bill be indefinitely postponed for the reason that the committee have already reported favorably a House bill substantially the same as the bill now reported adversely.

The report was agreed to.

Mr. PEPPER, from the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 988) for the relief of Mrs. Emilie M. Perriere, widow and representative of Louis L. Perriere, deceased, submitted an adverse report thereon; which was agreed to, and the bill was postponed indefinitely.

Mr. McHILLAN, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred an amendment intended to be proposed to the District appropriation bill, the amendment making an appropriation for the purpose of condemning or purchasing the ground needed to extend and open Thirty-seventh street, between Back street and Tenuallytown road, at or near Schneider lane, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. VEST, from the Select Committee on the Transportation and Sale of Meat Products, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3522) to create a bureau in the Department of Agriculture for the giving public information of the production and shipping of live stock, reported it without amendment.

He also, from the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 6797) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Cahaba River, in Bibb County, Ala., by the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis Railway, reported it without amendment.

Mr. MITCHELL. I am directed by the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 1954) for the relief of Lewis D. Allen, to report it adversely. I call the attention of the Senator from Missouri [Mr. COCKRELL] to the report.

Mr. COCKRELL. I think the Senator from Oregon has done exactly right. I am very glad to know he has reported the bill adversely.

Mr. MITCHELL. I move that the bill be indefinitely postponed, and ask that the report be printed.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the rules of the Senate the report will be printed, notwithstanding it is adverse. The bill will be indefinitely postponed, if there be no objection.

Mr. MITCHELL, from the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3520) for the relief of Jason Wheeler, late United States Indian agent at Warm Springs Agency, Oregon, reported it without amendment and submitted a report thereon.

MISSOURI RIVER BRIDGE AT OMAHA.

Mr. FRYE. From the Committee on Commerce I report back favorably, with an amendment, the bill (S. 3727) to amend "An act authorizing the construction of a railway, street railway, motor, wagon, and pedestrian bridge over the Missouri River, near Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, Nebr., and to extend the time for the completion of the bridge therein provided for." As it is important that the bill shall become a law at this session of Congress, I ask that it may receive present consideration. There will be no objection to it.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it be read for information.

Mr. HARRIS. Subject to objection.

The bill was read; and there being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to its consideration.

The amendment of the Committee on Commerce was to add to the bill the following proviso:

Provided, That the navigation of the Missouri River shall not be obstructed by false works during the construction of the bridge.

So as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That section 8 of the act entitled "An act authorizing the construction of a railway, street railway, motor, wagon, and pedestrian bridge over the Missouri River, near Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, Nebr.," be amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 8. That this act shall be null and void if construction of said bridge shall not be commenced on or before the 1st day of January, 1892, and be completed on or before the 1st day of July, 1893; Provided, That the navigation of the Missouri River shall not be obstructed by false works during the construction of the bridge."

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

ARREARAGES OF DISTRICT TAXES.

Mr. HUNTON. I am directed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3385) to amend the act of May 6, 1890, fixing the rate of interest to be charged on arrearages of general and special taxes now due the District of Columbia, to report it with a favorable recommendation, and I am further instructed unanimously by the committee to ask the consent of the Senate to put the bill upon its passage. It is an important matter which has been indorsed by the District Commissioners and the bill is unanimously reported by the District Committee.

Mr. COCKRELL and Mr. SHERMAN. Let the bill be read for information.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That all persons whose property was involved in suits of law, or where minors were owners, at the time the arrearages of taxes were received at 6 per cent and penalties on, may, within six months from the date of passage of this bill, have the privilege of paying said arrearages of taxes up to July 1, 1892, with remission of penalties, and interest to be computed at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

TABERNACLE SOCIETY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. VANCE. I am instructed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3690) to incorporate the Tabernacle Society of the District of Columbia, to report it favorably, with an amendment, and I ask that it be now considered.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the bill be read for information.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill will be read at length for the information of the Senate.

The Secretary read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That Thomas J. Kervock, Mrs. C. H. L. Cones, Mrs. Florence S. Vance, Mrs. Kate R. Mann, Miss Faunle Whelan, and Miss Rafael Acosta, and their associates and successors, are hereby constituted a body politic and corporate by the name of the Tabernacle Society of the District of Columbia, with power to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, and have perpetual succession; to acquire, take by devise, bequest, or otherwise, hold, purchase, encumber, and convey such real and personal estates as shall be required for the purpose of its incorporation; to make and use a common seal, and the same to alter at pleasure; to choose a board of trustees, consisting of not more than fifteen, of whom five shall constitute a quorum to do business, and which board shall be authorized to fill any vacancies in their number; to appoint such officers and agents as the business of the corporation shall require, and to make by laws for the accomplishment of its purposes, for the management of its property, and for the regulation of its affairs.

SEC. 2. That this act may be amended or repealed at any time by the Congress in its pleasure.

Mr. COCKRELL. I should like to ask the Senator from North Carolina what is the object of the bill? The bill gives unlimited power to this corporation to hold and acquire real and personal estate; there is no limit to the amount; and there is no object specified in the bill for which the association is organized.

Mr. VANCE. I will state that the object is specified; but not in the bill as it was read by the Secretary. The object is to furnish vestments and sacred vessels to poor churches.

Mr. COCKRELL. That object is not specified in the bill as printed. My attention was directed to the bill, and I had a copy of it on my desk and made a memorandum upon it.

Mr. VANCE. The bill was amended by the committee.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair calls attention to the fact that the bill is reported with an amendment. It was read as introduced; but there is an amendment reported by the committee.

Mr. VEST. Let the amendment be read.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let us hear the amendment, then.

Mr. SHERMAN. I think the bill had better be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. VANCE. I will take this opportunity to state that the bill was changed by the printer. The object of the association was expressly stipulated and set forth in the original bill, and the printer, by what authority I do not know, drew his pen through it, which forced us again to amend the bill in the committee.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

There being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendments of the committee will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 7, after the word "Columbia," insert:

An association to provide vestments and sacred vessels to poor churches.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

KILLING OF FRANK RILEY.

Mr. SHERMAN. I am directed by the Committee on Foreign Relations to report back favorably a resolution submitted by the Senator from Oregon [Mr. MITCHELL] calling for information from the State Department, and to recommend its passage.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The resolution will be read.

The resolution submitted by Mr. MITCHELL December 6, 1892, was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the President be, and he hereby is requested, if not incompatible with the public interests, to transmit to the Senate, at his earliest convenience, copies of all correspondence on file in the Department of State, if any, relating to the alleged killing of Frank Riley, an American sailor of the United States steamer Newark, in Genoa, Italy, in August or September last.

Mr. MITCHELL. I suggest that the resolution be put on its passage, if the Senator from Ohio has no objection.

Mr. SHERMAN. I have no objection.

Mr. MITCHELL. I ask for the immediate consideration of the resolution, by consent of the chairman of the committee.

The resolution was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to.

HEATON'S "RECALL OF COLUMBUS."

Mr. QUAY. I am instructed by the Committee on the Library, to whom was referred the joint resolution (S. R. 134) authorizing the exhibition, at the World's Columbian Exposition, of the picture entitled "The Recall of Columbus," by Augustus G. Heaton, to report it with an amendment in the nature of a substitute, and I ask the unanimous consent of the Senate that it be immediately placed on its passage.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in the Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the joint resolution.

The amendment of the Committee on the Library was to strike out all after the resolving clause and insert:

That the Architect of the Capitol be, and he hereby is, authorized to loan to the Department of State the picture in the Capitol entitled "The Recall of Columbus," by Augustus G. Heaton, for exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition.

The amendment was agreed to.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The joint resolution was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The title was amended so as to read: "A joint resolution authorizing the loan, for exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition, of the picture entitled 'The Recall of Columbus,' by Augustus G. Heaton."

POTOMAC AQUEDUCT BRIDGE.

Mr. GALLINGER. I am instructed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the joint resolution (S. R. 133) instructing the Secretary of War to cause an examination to be made of the piers of the Aqueduct bridge, and the District Commissioners to furnish a statement of expenditures on account of said bridge since it became the joint property of the United States and the District of Columbia, to report a Senate resolution as a substitute for the joint resolution, and I am likewise instructed by the committee to ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The joint resolution, in the absence of objection, will be indefinitely postponed. The Senator from New Hampshire asks unanimous consent for the present consideration of the Senate resolution which is reported as a substitute.

The Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the resolution: which was read, as follows:

A resolution instructing the Secretary of War to cause an examination to be made of the piers of the Aqueduct bridge, and the District Commissioners to furnish a statement of expenditures on account of said bridge since it became the joint property of the United States and the District of Columbia.

Whereas by the annual report of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia for the year ending June 30, 1889, it is made to appear that the masonry composing the piers of the Aqueduct bridge was largely in need of repair and at least one of the piers thereof had settled 4 inches to the north, and large cavities caused by erosion existed in more than one of said piers, and that a large sum of money was expended in the repair of the same; Therefore,

Resolved, That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized and directed to cause to be made a thorough examination of the piers of said bridge by some competent officer of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, and report to Congress at an early day—

First, If any one of said piers of said bridge has so settled as to be out of plumb; and, if so, which way it leans.

Second, What cavities, if any, exist in any of the piers of said bridge requiring repairs or in any way impairing the supporting capacity of said piers, or either of them, making specific report of defects, if any, in each pier.

Third, That he transmit a copy of the report of the officer of the Engineer Corps charged with the duty of constructing the piers of the said bridge, showing as minutely as may be the plans and processes used in the construction thereof.

And be it further resolved, That the Commissioners of the District of Columbia be required to transmit to Congress a detailed report of any and all expenses incurred in the repair of the piers of said bridge since the same became the joint property of the United States and the District of Columbia, and by whom said repairs, if any, were made, and under whose direction or supervision the same were made, and, as fully as may be practicable, a detailed account of the work of making the same, and a copy of the report of any officer of the District or employed thereof, engaged in the said work, or upon any part thereof, including a statement as to whether the said Commissioners have ever caused either or all of the piers of said bridge to be tested with plumb and level, or any other suitable instrument, to see if either or all of them are out of plumb, and, if so, the result of such examination.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

The resolution was agreed to.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had, on the 20th instant, approved and signed the following acts:

An act (S. 118) for the relief of the estate of Isaac W. Talking-ton, deceased; and

An act (S. 3195) granting to the Yuma Pumping Irrigation Company the right of way for two ditches across that part of the Yuma Indian Reservation lying in Arizona.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. TELLER introduced a bill (S. 3743) granting a pension to Julia E. Lock, formerly widow of the late Gen. Daniel McCook; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. CHANDLER introduced a bill (S. 3744) granting a pension to Alice K. Potter, widow of Gen. Joseph H. Potter, deceased; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. BRICE introduced a bill (S. 3745) to amend the military record of Thomas M. Elliott; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. WOLCOTT introduced a bill (S. 3746) granting a pension to William J. Eaton; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. PEPPER introduced a bill (S. 3747) for the relief of William K. Copeland; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE introduced a bill (S. 3748) granting a pension to B. C. Goddard; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. CULLOM introduced a bill (S. 3749) to place William H. Baillache on the retired list of the Army; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. CALL introduced a bill (S. 3750) granting an increase of pension to Benjamin F. Perry; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

He also introduced a bill (S. 3751) granting a pension to John Hatcher; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. WHITE introduced a bill (S. 3752) for the relief of Mrs. Mattie S. Holland; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. WILSON (by request) introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 138) to recover the value of the Columbian souvenir coins in certain contingencies; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. CAREY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the legislative appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CHANDLER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Indian appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the general deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the fortification appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. PROCTOR submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Army appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of State, transmitting, in pursuance of the provisions of the act of Congress approved February 3, 1887, a certified copy of the final ascertainment of the electors for President and Vice-President appointed in the State of Michigan, at the election held therein on the 8th day of November, 1892, as certified to him by the governor of that State; which was ordered to lie on the table.

SALMON FISHERIES OF ALASKA.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting, in response to a resolution of the 19th instant, the report of Special Agent Max Pracht, having in charge the protection of the salmon fisheries of Alaska; which was read.

Mr. PLATT. I think the communication should be referred to the Committee on Appropriations. It relates, to be sure, to the salmon fishing industry in Alaska, and I might perhaps go to the Committee on Fisheries; but an appropriation will be asked for the continuance of the supervision of those fisheries. That matter is now before the Committee on Territories, and the committee will, I think, report in favor of an amendment to the sundry civil or some other appropriation bill for that purpose. I think, therefore, that the communication and accompanying papers had better go to the Committee on Appropriations, unless it is desired to refer them to the Committee on Fisheries.

Mr. DOLPH. The papers will be printed, I suppose.

Mr. PLATT. Yes.

Mr. DOLPH. I think the reference suggested a proper one.

Mr. PLATT. Unless a claim is made by the Committee on Fisheries, I move that the communication, with the accompanying papers, be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and printed.

The motion was agreed to.

INDIAN DEPREDAATION CLAIMS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Attorney-General in response to a resolution of the 21st instant relative to specified classes of Indian depredation claims entitled to priority of consideration under section 4 of the act of March 3, 1891, transmitting the decisions of the Court of Claims in the cases of John T. Mitchell, administrator, etc., vs. The United States and Sioux Nation of Indians, and of James S. Valk, executor, etc., vs. The United States and Rogue River Tribe of Indians; which, on motion of Mr. CHANDLER, was, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Select Committee on Indian Depredations, and ordered to be printed.

BRIGHTWOOD RAILWAY COMPANY.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the president of the Brightwood Railway Company of the District of Columbia, transmitting the names of stockholders of that company, etc.; which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia, and ordered to be printed.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT presented memorials of the Third Presbyterian Church of Camden, and of the Presbyterian Church of New Providence, in the State of New Jersey, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadricentennial (Select).

Mr. SHERMAN presented a petition of the North Star Grange, No. 671, Patrons of Husbandry, of Geneva, Ohio, praying for the passage of the Washburn-Hatch anti-option bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a memorial of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Canton, Ohio, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadricentennial (Select).

He also presented petitions of the Boards of Trade of West Alexandria, Youngstown, Findlay, Canton, and Cuyahoga Falls, all in the State of Ohio, praying for the establishment of a national quarantine, and the suspension of immigration until the quarantine defense of the country shall be placed in a condition to guarantee protection from contagious diseases; which were ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. SAWYER presented a petition of sundry bankers and business men of Fox Lake, Wis., praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. VILAS presented a petition of the Manufacturers and Jobbers' Union of La Crosse, Wis., praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law, and remonstrating against the further purchase of silver by the Secretary of the Treasury; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. WILSON presented petitions of the Tailors' Local Union No. 207, of Burlington, Iowa, and of Union No. 700, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, of Keokuk, Iowa, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadricentennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of the Board of Trustees of Howard County, Iowa, praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. QUAY presented petitions of the Paint and Decorative Artists' Union and the Tailors' Local Union of Philadelphia, and of the Pennsylvania State Prison, praying for the passage of the Tariff-repeal bill; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadricentennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of the Philadelphia Patrons of Trade, praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of Captain Henry T. Platt, of Garrison No. 8, Regular Army and Navy Union, of Philadelphia, praying Congress to further extend the law retiring call to service of the Army and Marine Corps of the United States after thirty years' honorable service; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. CULLOM presented petitions of Clear-Makers' Union No. 38, of Springfield, Ill., and of Local Union No. 188, of Illinois, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadricentennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of South Flat Grange, No. 1641, Patrons of Husbandry, of Illinois, praying for the passage of the anti-option bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of business and rural citizens of Mendota, Ill., praying that the purchase of silver under the so-called Sherman act be immediately discontinued; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented petitions of citizens of Jasper, Wayne, Hamilton, Monroe, Jefferson, and Madison Counties, all in the State of Illinois, praying for the appointment of a Senate committee to investigate the combine formed to depreciate the price of grain now existing between the millers, rail roads, elevators, and; which were referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Mr. DANIEL presented a petition of business men of Norfolk, Va., praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. MORRILL. I am instructed by the Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3500) to amend an act entitled "An act to credit and pay to the several States and Territories and District of Columbia all moneys collected under the direct tax levied by the act of Congress, approved August 5, 1861," approved March 2, 1891, to report adversely thereon. I ask, however, that the bill be placed on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar with the adverse report of the committee.

Mr. MORRILL, from the Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 5591) to permit the withdrawal of certain papers and the signing of certain receipts by John Finley, his attorney, asked to be discharged from its further consideration, and that it be referred to the Committee on Claims; which was agreed to.

Mr. McMILLAN. I am directed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom the subject was referred, to submit a report accompanied by a bill to authorize reassessments for local improvements in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes. I ask that the bill be read twice, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The bill (S. 3761) to authorize reassessments for local improvements in the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DAVIS, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 1275) granting a pension to Abraham B. Simmons, of Capt. Thomas T. Ipp's company, in Col. Briggs' regiment, South Carolina Volunteers, in the Florida Indian war, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 6508) granting a pension to Joseph Fort, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. SAWYER, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 929) granting a pension to Mrs. Mary E. Donaldson, reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom were referred the following bills, reported them severally without amendment, and submitted reports thereon:

A bill (H. R. 7036) granting a pension to Lillie Ries, late a nurse at Jefferson Barracks;

A bill (H. R. 3417) granting a pension to Ellen Hewett;

A bill (H. R. 2497) granting a pension to Samuel Luttrell; and

A bill (H. R. 2400) granting a pension to Willis Luttrell.

PROOF IN PENSION CASES.

Mr. SAWYER. I am directed by the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 10189) relating to proof of citizenship of applicants for Indian war pensions under the act of Congress, approved July 27, 1892, to report it with an amendment. This is a short bill, and I ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill. It directs the Commissioner of Pensions to accept as sufficient proof of the citizenship of an applicant for pension under the act of July 27, 1892, the fact that such applicant at the date of the application was an actual and bona fide resident of the United States.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

DEATH OF MR. JUSTICE LAMAR.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair has received a communication from the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, which will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES,
Washington, January 24, 1893.

The VICE-PRESIDENT:

It becomes my painful duty to inform the Vice-President and the Senate of the death of Mr. Justice Lamar, which occurred at 8.59 o'clock last night at Mason, Ga.

I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,

MELVILLE W. FULLER,
Chief Justice of the United States.

Mr. WALTHALL. Mr. President, that the death of the great man just announced—great, sir, in every sense—is a public calamity, will be agreed by men of all shades of opinion throughout the country which he served so well. But it is in Mississippi that this affliction will be most keenly and severely felt. Sir, he was the pride of that State, to whose name he brought so much of credit during his long career of usefulness and honor in public positions of the highest responsibility and trust. He was the idol of the people of his State. They admired him for his rare gifts and his uncommon powers; they were grateful to him for services which they believe and I believe no other man could have rendered them as he did and when he did; and they loved him and trusted him for the sublime courage, the fidelity, generosity, and honor which signalized as well his private as his public life.

Mr. President, on this occasion I may not speak at large of his private life or of his public service, but I may be permitted on behalf of Mississippi and of all her people to thank the Senate in advance for the action which I know will soon be taken in adjourning as a mark of respect to his memory.

Mr. GORDON. Mr. President, this is not the occasion for any extended remarks in reference to the distinguished dead, but I do feel impelled to say that Georgia especially sympathizes with her sister State, Mississippi, in the deep sense of the loss we have sustained.

Judge Lamar's life began in Georgia. His distinguished ancestry make a part of her history. Around his name in early manhood were clustered the hopes of our people. They have naturally followed his career with the deep interest that would attach to a career so illustrious, so brilliant, so exceptionally beneficial to his country. As a mother weeps, so Georgia weeps at the death of this great man.

Sir, it was my fortune to know him and love him. It is the fortune of Georgia to have given to this Union the man who has just passed away with an immortal glory around his name and with the blessings of his entire countrymen of every section forever to follow him.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. President, in view of the sad announcement which has been made to the Senate and as a proper mark of respect to the memory of the deceased justice, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

The motion was unanimously agreed to; and (at 12 o'clock and 28 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until to-morrow, Wednesday, January 25, 1893, at 12 o'clock m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, January 24, 1893.

The House met at 12 o'clock m. Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. W. H. MILBURN, D. D.

The Journal of the proceedings of yesterday was read and approved.

REFUND OF CUSTOMS DUTIES.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a detailed statement of the refund of customs duties, etc., for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892; which was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

POST-OFFICE BUILDING, HOULTON, ME.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Acting Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a statement as to the United States custom-house and post-office building at Houlton, Me.; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

THOMAS READY.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of War, transmitting copy of a bill for the relief of Thomas Ready, and recommending its approval; which was referred to the Committee on Claims.

PURCHASE OF INDIAN SUPPLIES, ETC.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Acting Secretary of War, transmitting statement prepared by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, showing open market purchases of goods and supplies for the Indian service during the fiscal year 1892; which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

WASHINGTON AND GEORGETOWN RAILROAD COMPANY.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a communication from the president of the Washington and Georgetown Railroad Company, showing the receipts, etc., of said road for the year ending December 31, 1892; which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

BRIGHTWOOD RAILROAD COMPANY.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a communication from the president of the Brightwood Railroad Company, showing the operations of said road for the year ending December 31, 1892; which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House certified copies of the ascertainment of electors in the States of Michigan and Louisiana, transmitted by the Secretary of State; which were severally ordered to lie upon the table.

BRIDGE ACROSS THE MISSOURI RIVER.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the bill (S. 3727) to amend an act authorizing the construction of a railway, street railway, motor, wagon, and pedestrian bridge over the Missouri River, near Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, Nebr.

Mr. BRYAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of that bill.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be read subject to objection.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That section 8 of the act entitled "An act authorizing the construction of a railway, street railway, motor, wagon, and pedestrian bridge over the Missouri River, near Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, Nebr.," be amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 8. That this act shall be null and void if construction of said bridge shall not be commenced on or before the 1st day of January, 1892, and be completed on or before the 1st day of July, 1893: Provided, That the navigation of the Missouri River shall not be obstructed by false works during the construction of the bridge."

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

There being no objection, the bill was considered, ordered to a third reading, and being read the third time, was passed. On motion of Mr. BRYAN, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER. In the absence of objection the corresponding House bill (H. R. 19117) will be laid on the table.

SENATE BILLS REFERRED.

The SPEAKER laid before the House Senate bills and a joint resolution of the following titles: which were severally read a first and second time, ordered to be printed, and referred to the committees named below:

Joint resolution (S. R. 134) authorizing the loan, for exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition, of the picture entitled "The Recall of Columbus," by Augustus G. Heaton—to the Committee on the World's Columbian Exposition.

A bill (S. 1948) authorizing the Southern Kansas Railway Company to construct and maintain a pipe line from the North Fork of the Canadian River, Indian Territory, to said railway—to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

A bill (S. 3690) to incorporate the Tabernacle Society of the District of Columbia—to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

A bill (S. 3353) to amend the act of May 6, 1890, fixing the rate of interest to be charged on arrearages of general and special taxes now due the District of Columbia—to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

TESTIMONY IN INTERSTATE-COMMERCE CASES, ETC.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the bill (S. 1933) concerning testimony in criminal cases or proceedings based upon or growing out of alleged violations of an act entitled "An act to regulate commerce," approved February 4, 1887, as amended March 2, 1889, and February 10, 1891, the Senate having disagreed to the House amendments, and asked for a conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses.

Mr. PATTERSON of Tennessee. I move that the House insist on its amendments and agree to the conference asked for.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER appointed as conferees on the part of the House Mr. WISE, Mr. PATTERSON of Tennessee, and Mr. STORER.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted to Mr. BROWN of Maryland, indefinitely, on account of sickness.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. HOLMAN. I ask unanimous consent that the call of committees for reports be dispensed with this morning, and that gentlemen desiring to submit reports be permitted to file them with the Clerk.

There was no objection, and it was so ordered.

Mr. HOLMAN. I move that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole for the further consideration of general appropriation bills.

Mr. OATES. Mr. Speaker, pending that motion I desire to make a proposition relating to the business of the House. It is well known that to-day and to-morrow were, by a previous order of the House, set apart for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill. Exception was made in favor of general appropriation bills. Now, I do not care to raise the question of consideration, provided we can reach an agreement which will facilitate business. I ask unanimous consent, therefore, that Thursday be substituted for to-day, so that Wednesday and Thursday may be given to the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, and let the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN] go on with his appropriation bill to-day, if that be agreed to.

Mr. HOLMAN. I think that is a very proper proposition, inasmuch as to-day ought to be devoted to the consideration of the sundry civil bill, so that it may be laid before the Senate at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. BURROWS. There ought to be no objection to that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will submit the request of the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. OATES], which is that the order heretofore made assigning to-day for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill be vacated, and that Thursday be substituted for to-day, so that Wednesday and Thursday, subject to the same limitation as in the original order, may be given to the consideration of the bankruptcy bill.

Mr. CRAIN. I object.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I wish to submit a request for unanimous consent. As the House well knows, the Committee on the District of Columbia was cut out of its day yesterday. Next Monday happens to be the fifth Monday of the month, and there is no appointment, under the rules, for any particular business on that day. The Committee on the District of Columbia have some measures of consequence to be considered, one of which will probably increase the revenues of the District about $200,000 this year if we can get the bill through, and I ask unanimous consent that next Monday be devoted to business reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia the same as if it were the fourth Monday in the month.

Mr. BLOUNT. I hope the gentleman will add to that the provision that it shall not interfere with the appropriation bills.

Mr. HEMPHILL. That is not the rule of the House with reference to District day.

Mr. BLOUNT. We are not talking about the rules of the House. The gentleman from South Carolina is requesting unanimous consent now.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will submit the request.

Mr. BLOUNT. I shall object unless that modification is made.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Then I will have to make that modification.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will submit the request as modified. The gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. HEMPHILL] asks unanimous consent that Monday next, being the fifth Monday in the month, be assigned to the consideration of such business as may be reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia, subject to the right to consider general appropriation bills. Is there objection?

Mr. CRAIN. Is not that suspension day?

The SPEAKER. No; it is the fifth Monday in the month. Is there objection to the request?

Mr. BELTZHOVER. I object.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The following reports of committees were handed in at the Clerk's desk, referred to their appropriate Calendars, and otherwise disposed of, as indicated below:

TRESTLE ACROSS THE SHOAL WATER BETWEEN CEDAR POINT AND DAUPHIN ISLAND.

Mr. CRAIN, from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, reported favorably the bill (H. R. 10289) to amend an act entitled "An act to grant to the Mobile and Dauphin Island Railroad and Harbor Company the right to trestle across the shoal water between Cedar Point and Dauphin Island," approved September 26, 1890; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

PUBLIC WORKS ON RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Mr. WILLIAM A. STONE, from the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, reported back with amendments the bill (H. R. 10241) to amend "An act making appropriations for the construction, repair, and preservation of certain public works on rivers and harbors, and for other purposes," approved July 13, 1892; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

CARACAS AWARDS.

Mr. CHIPMAN, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported back favorably the bill (S. 2451) for the application of the accretions of the Caracas rewards of 1838 to the new awards made in 1889 and 1890; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

PUBLIC BUILDING, SAVANNAH, GA.

* Mr. BANKHEAD, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported back favorably the bill (H. R. 9756) to provide for the amendment of act of Congress approved January 21, 1891, in regard to the sale of the old site of the public building at Savannah, Ga.; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

ADMISSION OF UTAH AS A STATE.

Mr. MANSUR, from the Committee on the Territories, reported back favorably the bill (H. R. 10190) to enable the people of Utah to form a constitution and State government, and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying reports, ordered to be printed.

INVESTIGATION OF CERTAIN BANKS.

Mr. BACON submitted a report from the Committee on Banking and Currency under a resolution directing the investigation of certain banks; which was laid on the table, and the accompanying report ordered to be printed.

POSTAL MONEY-ORDER SYSTEM.

Mr. HENDERSON of North Carolina, from the Committee on the Post-Office and Post-Roads, reported back favorably a bill (H. R. 10245) to modify the postal money-order system; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

PROTECTION OF PERSONS FURNISHING MATERIALS AND LABOR FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Mr. LAYTON, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported back favorably the bill (H. R. 9491) for the protection of persons furnishing materials and labor for the construction of public works; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

REPRINT OF A BILL.

Mr. CON of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, I wish to ask that there be a reprint of the bill (H. R. 10143) and the reports upon it. The copies in the document room having been exhausted. I have that 500 copies of the bill and report be printed.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the title of the bill concerning which the request is made.

The Clerk read as follows:

A bill (H. R. 10113) to increase the circulation of national banks, and for other purposes.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman asks for a reprint of this bill and the report accompanying it, containing the views of the majority and minority. Is there objection?

Mr. SIMPSON. I object.

Mr. OATES. Mr. Speaker, a few moments ago I asked unanimous consent that Thursday be substituted for to-day for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, and objection was made. I desire to know if I can not now submit a motion to that effect, to be voted on by the House?

The SPEAKER. It is not in order.

Mr. OATES. Well, then, Mr. Speaker, it is perfectly apparent that if the time which has been set apart for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill be not allowed, there is very little chance of bankruptcy legislation at this session of Congress, and I raise the question of consideration.

Mr. HOLMAN. Will the gentleman allow me a word?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state to the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. OATES] that the motion of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN] is to go into Committee of the Whole for the consideration of an appropriation bill, and the question of consideration can not be raised on that motion.

Mr. HOPKINS of Illinois. But it can be voted down.

The SPEAKER. It is with the House.

Mr. OATES. If the motion should not be agreed to, then it will be in order to proceed to the consideration of the bankruptcy bill?

The SPEAKER. Unless some other appropriation bill antagonizes it.

Mr. HOLMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a suggestion to the gentleman from Alabama, and it is this: That if to-morrow the measure of the gentleman shall develop sufficient strength to go through the House he can get a recess until the next day. It is of the highest importance that this appropriation bill should be passed at the earliest moment.

Mr. REED. Why have you not had it in before, then?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana moves that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the consideration of general appropriation bills.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is in doubt.

The House divided; and there were—yeas 92, noes 82.

Mr. LODGE. The yeas and nays, Mr. Speaker.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken; and there were—yeas 107, nays 128, not voting 94; as follows:

The result of the vote was then announced as above recorded.

Mr. DICKERSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a recapitulation of the vote.

The SPEAKER. After the announcement, the Chair thinks it would not be in order unless the gentleman states that he was rising for that purpose.

Mr. DICKERSON. I was attempting to do so as quick as I could, but I shall not insist.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. PLATT, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed without amendment the bill (H. R. 10189) relating to proof of citizenship of applicants for Indian war pensions under the act of Congress, approved July 27, 1892.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

Mr. SCOTT, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that they had examined and found truly enrolled bills and joint resolutions of the following titles: when the Speaker signed the same:

A bill (S. 1631) to establish a life-saving station at Gay Head, on the coast of Massachusetts;

A bill (S. 317) relating to post traderships;

A bill (S. 3581) to amend an act entitled "An act to forfeit certain lands heretofore granted for the purpose of aiding in the construction of railroads, and for other purposes;" and Joint resolution (S. R. 137) making an appropriation of $5,000 for clearing the Potomac River of ice.

DEATH OF MR. JUSTICE LAMAR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will lay before the House a communication from the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

sion act, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. McMILLAN, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3531) to amend the charter of the Brightwood Railway Company, reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom the subject was referred, reported a bill (S. 3765) to provide for annual reports by certain corporations in the District of Columbia: which was read twice by its title.

Mr. MANDERSON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 6649) to extend the provisions of an act to provide for the muster and pay of certain officers and enlisted men of the volunteer forces, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3506) for the relief of John Palmier, Pine Ridge, Shannon County, S. Dak., reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. BUTLER, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 66) for the relief of Commodore Oscar C. Badger, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. BLACKBURN. I desire to state that this is not a unanimous report from the Committee on Naval Affairs; and I shall be obliged to the Senator making the report if he will advise me before he calls up the bill for action by the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. HARRIS. The Committee on the District of Columbia directed the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON], who is now necessarily absent from the Chamber, to report an amendment making an appropriation for the collection and removal of garbage and dead animals, to be proposed to the appropriation bill providing for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia. The Senator from Virginia requested me for him and in his name to report the amendment, which I do. I move that the amendment be printed, and that it, with the accompanying papers, be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. HALE, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment providing for a further increase of the naval establishment of the United States to be proposed to the naval appropriation bill, reported it with amendments and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. SAWYER, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom were referred the following bills, reported them severally without amendment, and submitted reports thereon:

A bill (H. R. 7234) granting a pension to Mary Millard;

A bill (H. R. 9220) granting a pension to Mrs. Caroline Hardee Dyall, widow of James R. Dyall, veteran of the Florida war, 1836;

A bill (H. R. 1318) granting a pension to Martha A. Harris; and

A bill (H. R. 7257) granting a pension to Alonzo D. Barber.

Mr. WALTHALL, from the Committee on Public Lands, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 7625) for relief of certain settlers on public lands in the Tucson land district in Arizona, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 8268) to amend chapter 559, page 1095, volume 26, United States Statutes at Large, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. TURPINE, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 6272) to pension Susan S. Murphy, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. PLATT, from the Committee on Territories, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. DOLPH on the 21st instant, providing for an appropriation of $5,000 for the protection of the salmon fisheries of Alaska under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported it favorably and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and printed; which was agreed to.

ELECTRIC RAILROADS.

Mr. MORRILL. I am directed by the Committee on Finance to ask to have referred to that committee the bill (S. 3561) to encourage the construction of electric railroads, to facilitate the rapid transportation of the mails, to promote the interests of commerce and travel, and to aid in demonstrating the feasibility of the distribution of electrical power for agricultural and other purposes along the line of electric roads, and especially to aid in the construction of a pioneer electric railroad between the cities of Chicago and St. Louis, by the Chicago and St. Louis Electric Railroad Company, and to secure to the Government the use of the same for postal, military, and other purposes at the existing rates.

Mr. FRYE. I call the attention of the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] to the request which has just been made by the Senator from Vermont.

Mr. MORRILL. I have already called the attention of the Senator from Missouri to it.

Mr. VEST. Let the bill go to the Committee on Finance.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go to the Committee on Finance, in the absence of objection.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COURT OF APPEALS.

Mr. HOAR. I am directed by the Committee on the Judiciary, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 10010) to establish a court of appeals for the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, to report it favorably with an amendment. I desire to ask unanimous consent that the amendment may be adopted in order that a conference may be had.

I will explain the matter, if the Senate will permit me. The other House, by an inadvertence, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee having been kept away by illness of his family, instead of passing the Senate bill with two or three amendments, passed a new bill, which is substantially the Senate bill.

There are two or three differences. One of them is the provision in regard to the power of the court of appeals over injunctions. We provided that the court of appeals might revise the action of a single judge in granting or dissolving injunctions. The House expression is "in granting injunctions and the like," which is very vague, like the old term "and so forth," which sometimes used to creep into legislation.

Then the other House used a very inexact expression in regard to the granting of appeals in interference cases. I think all the members of the Senate committee agree that in such cases where there is a judgment in regard to an interference, there ought to be an appeal to the higher court.

The third difference, which is a trifling one, is that the House bill has made no distinction between the salary of the chief justice and the associate justices. The chief justice has some special duties, and in the bill as it passed the Senate there was an addition of $500 to his salary.

So, in substance, I make the ordinary request, which is always granted by the Senate, that the Senate reconsider its bill, a conference with the other House. I suggest that the House bill be passed with the Senate amendment as a substitute, and that a conference be had.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 10010) to establish a court of appeals for the District of Columbia, and for other purposes.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment of the committee will be read.

The CHIEF-CLERK. The committee report to strike out all after the enacting clause of the House bill and insert a substitute, the substitute being Senate bill 1187.

Mr. HOAR. If any Senator thinks the substitute should be read, that course had better be taken.

Mr. COCKRELL. It is not very long.

Mr. HOAR. It is not very long. The bill has already passed the Senate without any substantial dissent. If Senators desire to have it read again it can be read.

The amendment was read, it being to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

That there shall be, and there is hereby established, in the District of Columbia a court, to be known as the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, which shall consist of one chief justice and two associate justices, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the consent and advice of the Senate, and shall hold office during good behavior.

SEC. 2. That the said justices shall each receive an annual salary of $26,000 payable quarterly at the Treasury of the United States, except the chief justice, who shall receive $67,500.

SEC. 3. That each of said justices before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall take the oath prescribed by law to be taken by the judges of the courts of the United States.

SEC. 4. That there shall be a clerk of said court of appeals, to be appointed by the court, who shall receive as compensation for his services, the compensation of the court, an annual salary not to exceed $10,000, payable quarterly at the Treasury of the United States, and such other allowances as the court may determine to be necessary for the proper performance of his duties; and his duties shall be such as the court may prescribe. The court shall regulate the time and manner of the holding of its sessions, which shall be held on the first day of January, and shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States. The court shall receive such allowance for clerical assistance, for the purchase of books, for the conduct of his office as the court may determine, not to exceed $10,000 per annum, but not to exceed the sum of $500 per annum for the purchase of books, at the Treasury of the United States.

SEC. 5. That said court of appeals shall have jurisdiction of appeals from the decisions of the district courts of the District of Columbia, and shall perform such duties as may be assigned them by the President.

SEC. 6. That the said court of appeals shall establish such terms of the court, not less than three in each year, as to it may seem proper and expedient; and it shall make such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for the transaction of the business to be brought before it, and for the time and method of the entry of appeals and for giving notice of appeals therefrom to the supreme court of the District of Columbia, and such other rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper in the premises.

If any member of the court shall be absent on account of illness or other cause during the session thereof, or shall be disqualified from hearing and determining any particular case by having been of counsel therein, or by having been a justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia previously tried up on the merits thereof, or for any other reason whatever, or if for any reason whatever it shall be impracticable to obtain a full court of three judges, the member or members of the court who shall be present shall designate a justice or justices of the supreme court of the District of Columbia to temporarily fill the vacancy or vacancies so created, and the justice or justices so designated shall sit in said court of appeals and perform the duties of a member thereof while such vacancy or vacancies shall exist. Provided, That no justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia shall, while on the bench of said court of appeals, sit in review of any judgment, decree, or order which he shall have himself entered or made.

SEC. 7. That any party aggrieved by any final order, judgment, or decree of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, or of any justice thereof, may appeal therefrom to the court of appeals hereby created; and upon such appeal the court of appeals shall review such order, judgment, or decree, and affirm, reverse, or modify the same as shall be just: Provided, however, That all cases now pending before the said supreme court in general term shall, by appropriate orders duly entered of record be transferred and delivered to the court of appeals hereby created, which said court of appeals is hereby vested with authority and jurisdiction to hear and determine the cases so transferred. The appellate power and jurisdiction of said general term is hereby abrogated and abolished and no cases shall hereafter be heard in the said general term. Appeals shall also be allowed to said court of appeals from all interlocutory orders of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, or by any justice thereof, whereby the possession of property is changed or affected, such as orders for the appointment of receivers, granting or dissolving injunctions, dissolving writs of attachment, and also from any other interlocutory order, in the discretion of said court of appeals, whenever it is made to appear to said court upon petition that it will be in the interest of justice to allow such appeal. In all cases of appeal to the court of appeals and in the causes transferred to the court of appeals under this section the original papers and duly certified copies of the necessary record entries shall be transferred and delivered to the court of appeals under such regulations as the court of appeals shall from time to time prescribe.

SEC. 8. That any final judgment or decree of the said court of appeals may be reexamined and affirmed, reversed, or modified by the Supreme Court of the United States, upon writ of error or appeal, in all cases in which the matter in dispute, exclusive of costs, shall exceed the sum of $5,000, in the same manner and under the same regulations as heretofore provided for in cases of writs of error on judgment or appeals from decrees rendered in the supreme court of the District of Columbia; and also in all cases, without regard to the sum or value of the matter in dispute, wherein is involved the validity of any patent or copyright, or in which is drawn in question the validity of a treaty or statute of or an authority exercised under the United States.

SEC. 9. That the determination of appeals from the decision of the Commissioner of Patents, now vested in the aforesaid general term of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, in pursuance of the provisions of section 780 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to said District, shall hereafter be, and the same is hereby, vested in the court of appeals hereby created.

SEC. 10. That the opinion of the said court of appeals in every case shall be reduced in writing, duly authenticated, and filed with the clerk of said court before any judgment, decree, or order shall be entered in pursuance thereof.

SEC. 11. That the said court of appeals shall have power to issue all necessary and proper remedial and prerogative writs in aid of its appellate jurisdiction.

SEC. 12. That the Attorney-General is hereby empowered and directed to provide suitable rooms and accommodations in the city of Washington for the court of appeals hereby created, and for the transaction of its business.

SEC. 13. That the marshal of the United States for the District of Columbia shall execute the orders and processes of the court of appeals hereby created in the same manner as he now executes those of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

SEC. 14. That the justices of the supreme court of the District of Columbia shall hereafter receive an annual salary of $5,000 each, payable quarterly at the Treasury of the United States, except the chief justice, who shall receive $5,500.

SEC. 15. That whenever the number of the justices of the supreme court of the District of Columbia is, by death, resignation, retirement, or otherwise, reduced to five, the said supreme court of the District of Columbia shall thereafter consist of one chief justice and four associate justices, who shall be assigned by the said court annually, or as often as may be deemed expedient, to the several special terms thereof.

SEC. 16. That the justices of the court of appeals hereby created and of the supreme court of the District of Columbia shall be deemed to be justices of the courts of the United States within the meaning of the law providing for the retirement of such justices upon their attaining the age of 70 years and having been in commission ten years or upward. And when any justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia shall be appointed a justice of the court of appeals hereby created the terms of service of such justice in both courts shall be deemed continuous and as under one commission for the purposes of said law.

SEC. 17. That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

MR. HOAR. I move that the Senate request a conference with the House of Representatives on the bill and amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Vice-President was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. HOAR, Mr. WILSON, and Mr. FUGH were appointed.

PARIS EXPOSITION REPORTS.

MR. MANDERSON. I am directed by the Committee on Printing, to whom was referred a concurrent resolution for printing extra copies of the reports of the commissioners of the United States to the Paris Exposition of 1889, to report it with amendments, and I ask for its present consideration.

The Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the concurrent resolution, submitted by Mr. MANDERSON on the 16th instant, which was read, as follows:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring). That in addition to the usual number there shall be printed 5,000 extra copies of the reports of the commissioners of the United States to the Paris Exposition of 1889, 1,000 copies for the use of the Senate, 3,000 copies for the use of the House, and 2,000 copies for the use of the Department of State.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendments will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. In line 3, strike out "5,000" and insert "5,500;" in line 6, strike out "1,000" and insert "1,500;" in line 6, strike out "2,000" and insert "3,000;" and in line 7, strike out "2,000" and insert "1,000;" so as to make the resolution read:

That in addition to the usual number there shall be printed 5,500 extra copies of the reports of the commissioners of the United States to the Paris Exposition of 1889, 1,500 copies for the use of the Senate, 3,000 copies for the use of the House, and 1,000 copies for the use of the Department of State.

The amendments were agreed to.

The concurrent resolution as amended was agreed to.

DISTRICT BOARD OF CHARITIES.

MR. GALLINGER. I am instructed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3539) to create a board of charities for the District of Columbia, to report it favorably without amendment, and submit a report thereon. As it is important that speedy action should be taken on this measure, which is recommended by the District Commissioners and the commissioner of charities, I ask that it be immediately considered. I think there will be no objection to it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be read for information.

MR. MITCHELL. I shall reserve the right to object if it leads to any debate.

MR. GALLINGER. I think the bill will not be objected to when it is read.

MR. COCKRELL. Let the bill be read for information.

The Secretary proceeded to read the bill.

MR. MITCHELL. I am quite sure the bill will lead to debate. I ask the Senator from New Hampshire to let it go over until to-morrow.

MR. GALLINGER. I will withdraw the report, by unanimous consent.

MR. COCKRELL. This is an important bill. I hope the Senator will have the report printed and that we may see the bill just as it is proposed to be passed. Otherwise it may be delayed another morning, for I shall certainly want to see the report before I agree to the passage of the bill.

MR. GALLINGER. Then let the report be printed and the bill be placed on the Calendar.

MR. COCKRELL. Let the bill lie on the table, subject to be called up, and not be placed on the calendar.

MR. GALLINGER. Very well.

MR. VEST. I desire to make a single remark before the bill goes over. I wish to call the attention of the Senate, or a majority of it, to the fact that during the closing hours of the last session of Congress a bill was passed through the Senate, the contents of which I undertake to say not ten Senators knew, establishing a board of charities in the District of Columbia with most extraordinary powers, giving them authority which I am satisfied a majority of the Senate would never have committed to them. Therefore it becomes a matter of the greatest importance that the contents of this bill, which I do not know, should be well known to the Senate before any additional action is taken.

MR. GALLINGER. The committee of which I am a member are very desirous that the Senate shall understand everything they report. I am quite willing the report shall be printed and examined before the bill is considered.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will lie on the table.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLER, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the bill (S. 3727) to amend an act entitled "An act authorizing the construction of a railway, street railway, motor, wagon, and pedestrian bridge over the Missouri River, near Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, Neb., and to extend the time for the completion of the bridge therein provided for."

The message also announced that the House insisted upon its amendments to the bill (S. 1933) concerning testimony in criminal cases or proceedings based upon or growing out of alleged violations of an act entitled "An act to regulate commerce," approved February 4, 1887, as amended March 2, 1889, and February 10, 1891, disagreed to by the Senate, agreed to the conference asked by the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and had appointed Mr. WISE, Mr. PATTERSON

The result of the vote was then announced as above recorded.

The question was taken on the approval of the Journal: and the Speaker declared that the ayes seemed to prevail.

Mr. KILGORE. I ask for a division.

The House divided: and there were—ayes 168, noes none; so the Journal as read was approved.

PAYMENT OF NOTARIAL FEES.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a communication from the Commissioner of Customs in relation to the estimate for payment of notarial fees: which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

CATALOGUE OF LIBRARY, SURGEON-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Acting Secretary of War, calling attention to the omission in the sundry civil appropriation bill of the usual appropriation bill for printing the next volume of the index catalogue of the library of the Surgeon-General's Office: which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

POTOHUNK RIVER, NORTH CAROLINA.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of War, transmitting a letter of the Chief of Engineers with accompanying report of preliminary examination of Potohunk River, North Carolina: which was referred to the Committee on River and Harbors, and ordered to be printed.

NAVAJO INDIAN RESERVATION.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Interior, transmitting, pursuant to House resolution, information relative to the opening of the Navajo Indian Reservation: which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands, and ordered to be printed.

ADJUDICATED LAND ENTRIES.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Interior, transmitting a list of public entries adjudicated by the Commissioner of the Land Office and confirmed by the Board of Equitable Adjudication during the fiscal year 1892: which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands, and ordered to be printed.

AMENDMENT TO INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Interior, transmitting an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1894, submitted by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs: which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

PUBLIC PROPERTY ON INDIAN RESERVATIONS.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Interior, transmitting a statement prepared by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, showing property transmitted from one reservation to another also property sold at the various Indian agencies and schools during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892: which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

Mr. SCOTT, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that they had examined and found truly enrolled the bill (H. R. 19189) relating to proof of citizenship of applicants for Indian war pensions under the act of Congress, approved July 27, 1892: when the Speaker signed the same.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. PLATT, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed with an amendment the bill (H. R. 10010) to establish a court of appeals for the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, asked a conference with the House on the bill and amendment, and had appointed Mr. HOAR, Mr. WILSON, and Mr. PUGH as the conferees on the part of the Senate.

It also announced that the Senate had passed the following resolution: in which the concurrence of the House was requested:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring). That in addition to the usual number there shall be printed 5,500 copies of the reports of the commissioners of the United States to the Paris Exposition of 1889, 1,500 copies for use of the Senate, 3,000 copies for use of the House, and 1,000 copies for use of the Department of State.

BIG HORN AND SOUTHERN RAILROAD.

Mr. PEEL. I ask unanimous consent that the bill (S. 3317) extending the time for the construction of the Big Horn and Southern Railroad through the Crow Indian Reservation be recommended to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

There being no objection, it was so ordered.

RAFT-TOWING ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Mr. LOCKWOOD. By request of the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. WISE], chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the joint resolution (S. R. 124) directing the Secretary of War to investigate the subject of raft-towing on the Great Lakes and their connecting waters. This resolution carries no appropriation whatever, but simply proposes that an inquiry may be made under the direction of the Secretary of War, with a view to the adoption of regulations for the towing of rafts on the Great Lakes.

The joint resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives (concurring). That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, directed to appoint a board, to consist of three officers of the Engineer Corps of the Army, to investigate the subject of raft-towing on the Great Lakes and their connecting waters, and to report to Congress as to what restrictions, if any, should be placed upon the size and manner of constructing and towing rafts upon said Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

There being no objection, the House proceeded to the consideration of the joint resolution.

The question being taken on ordering the joint resolution to a third reading, there were on a division: called for by Mr. KILGORE—ayes 130, noes none.

Mr. KILGORE. No quorum.

Tellers were ordered: and Mr. LOCKWOOD and Mr. KILGORE were appointed.

The House again divided: and the tellers reported—ayes 167, noes 1.

So the joint resolution was ordered to a third reading: and it was accordingly read the third time.

The question being taken on the passage of the joint resolution, there were on a division: called for by Mr. KILGORE—ayes 119, noes 1.

Mr. KILGORE. No quorum.

Tellers were ordered: and Mr. LOCKWOOD and Mr. KILGORE were appointed.

The House again divided: and the tellers reported—ayes 165, noes 2.

So the joint resolution was passed.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

Mr. SCOTT, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that they had examined and found truly enrolled the bill (S. 3727) to amend "An act authorizing the construction of a railway, street railway, motor, wagon, and pedestrian bridge over the Missouri River near Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Omaha, Neb., and to extend the time for the completion of the bridge therein provided for:" when the Speaker signed the same.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. OATES. I demand the regular order.

The SPEAKER. The regular order is the call of standing and select committees for reports.

Mr. HOLMAN. I ask unanimous consent that the regular call of committees be dispensed with, and that gentlemen be permitted to file their reports with the Clerk.

Mr. KILGORE. I object.

The SPEAKER. Objection being made, the Clerk will call the standing and select committees for the presentation of reports.

REBUILDING OF LOCK NO. 2, GREEN RIVER.

Mr. BLANCHARD, from the Committee on Rivers and Harbors, reported back as a substitute for House bill 10173, a bill (H. R. 10318) providing for rebuilding Lock No. 2, Green River, at Ramsey, Ky.; which was read a first and second time, referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

By unanimous consent, House bill 10173 was laid on the table.

REORGANIZATION OF ARTILLERY AND INFANTRY.

Mr. OUTHWAITE, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back, with an amendment in the form of a substitute, the bill (S. 2170) to reorganize the artillery and infantry of the Army and to increase its efficiency; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

PROTECTION OF FUR SEALS, ETC.

Mr. BLOUNT, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported back the bill (S. 3629) to extend to the North Pacific Ocean the provisions of the statutes for the protection of fur seals and other fur-bearing animals; which was referred to the House Calendar.

ERIE, PA., WATERWORKS.

Mr. AMERMAN, from the Committee on the Public Lands, reported back the bill (H. R. 9826) granting certain rights and privileges to the commissioners of waterworks in the city of Erie, Pa.; which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

The SPEAKER. This completes the call of the standing and select committees.

Mr. HOLMAN. I believe it is in order now to move that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to consider general appropriation bills?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the House has adopted a resolution under which yesterday and to-day were assigned to the Committee on the Judiciary for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, subject to the right of the House to take up and consider general appropriation bills.

Mr. HOLMAN. I wish to move that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole to further consider general appropriation bills, if now in order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has the right to make the motion.

Mr. HOLMAN. I make that motion.

Mr. OATES. Pending that I desire to ask of the House, in view of the fact that yesterday was disposed of—

Mr. KILGORE. Debate is not in order.

Mr. OATES (continuing). One of the days set apart for the consideration of this special order—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Texas, as the Chair understands, makes the point of order that debate is not in order.

Mr. OATES. The gentleman from Texas, Mr. Speaker, is a little previous. I am not debating this question. If he will wait until my request is submitted then it will be time to object.

Mr. KILGORE. But the debate is not in order on a motion to go into Committee of the Whole.

Mr. OATES. The Chair will decide that question and not the gentleman from Texas. I am stating my request, but have not yet been permitted to do so by the gentleman from Texas.

The SPEAKER. The motion is not debatable, and if the gentleman from Texas makes the point of order the Chair must take notice of it.

Mr. OATES. I am not indulging in debate and do not propose to, but simply rise to submit a request.

I ask unanimous consent, in order that the appropriation bill may go on and be completed, that to-morrow and the next day be substituted for the two days which, by the order of the House, were given to the Judiciary Committee for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will submit the request of the gentleman from Alabama.

Mr. HOLMAN. I hope that will be agreed to, as it is eminently fair.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Alabama asks unanimous consent that to-morrow and the next day be set apart for the consideration of the bankruptcy bill, in place of the two days heretofore given for that purpose. Is there objection?

Mr. KILGORE. I object.

Mr. OATES. Then I hope the motion of the gentleman from Indiana will be voted down.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Indiana, that the House resolve itself into Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union to further consider appropriation bills.

The question was taken; and on a division there were—ayes 54, noes 102.

Mr. KILGORE. No quorum has voted.

Mr. OATES. I ask for the yeas and nays.

Mr. BURROWS. We can save time by having tellers.

Mr. OATES. Very well; I will withdraw the demand for the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER. The point of no quorum being made, the Chair will appoint tellers.

Mr. HOLMAN and Mr. KILGORE were appointed tellers.

Mr. KILGORE. I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were not ordered, there being 27 rising in favor thereof and 124 against; the affirmative vote not being one-fifth of the whole.

Mr. KILGORE. The point of no quorum has not been withdrawn, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thinks that point is waived, however, by the gentleman when he demands the yeas and nays. [Laughter and applause.] Such has been the practice of the House.

Mr. KILGORE. I am not aware of any such practice.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will invite the attention of the gentleman from Texas and the House to an authority which the Clerk will read from the Digest.

The Clerk read as follows:

When a rising vote is taken, and the Chair announces the result, it is in order for any member, if no quorum has voted, to make the point, and it then becomes the duty of the Chair (under Rule I, clause 5) to appoint tellers. But if tellers are demanded and refused by the House (or committee) it is then too late, under the practice, to make the point of no quorum.

Mr. KILGORE. I move that the House take a recess until 11 o'clock to-morrow.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman in one moment, as soon as he declares the result of the vote that is pending. On the motion of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN] the vote was 56 in the affirmative and 102 in the negative. Therefore the House refuses to go into Committee of the Whole on general appropriation bills.

Mr. KILGORE. And now the Speaker rules, does he, that it is too late for me to make the point of no quorum?

The SPEAKER. The Chair holds that, under the practice of the House, it is too late.

Mr. KILGORE. This is the first time the result has been announced on that vote.

The SPEAKER. Oh, no, the Chair begs the gentleman's pardon. The Chair announced the result. The gentleman made the point of no quorum, and then, as the Chair understood, demanded the yeas and nays.

Mr. KILGORE. The gentleman from Alabama [Mr. OATES] demanded the yeas and nays, and then withdrew the demand.

The SPEAKER. Under the practice, it is the right of any member to make the point of no quorum; but as the Chair understands it, when a member does not choose to do that, and demands the yeas and nays or demands tellers, the practice is that it is then too late to go back and make the point of no quorum.

Mr. KILGORE. Why should the Speaker announce the result twice if it was announced before the demand for the yeas and nays?

The SPEAKER. The Chair announced it twice because, when the Chair first announced it, the gentleman demanded the yeas and nays. The yeas and nays are now refused. The Chair had to determine what had become of the motion of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN].

Mr. KILGORE. I modify my motion to take a recess until to-morrow at 11 o'clock, and move that the House take a recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The SPEAKER. The yeas have it. The motion of the gentleman from Indiana [Mr. HOLMAN] is not agreed to. The gen-

Mr. MITCHELL, from the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 746) to settle and adjust the claims of any State for expenses incurred by it in defense of the United States, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. TURPIE, January 25, intended to be proposed to the deficiency appropriation bill, reported it without amendment, and moved that, with the accompanying report, it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. McMILLAN, from the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, to whom were referred two amendments submitted by Mr. CAREY on the 21st instant, one intended to be proposed to the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill, and the other to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported them favorably, and moved that they be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. CULLOM, from the Committee on Interstate Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 10163) to amend an act entitled "An act to regulate commerce," approved February 4, 1887, reported it with amendments.

WILLIAM SMITH AND OTHERS.

Mr. DAVIS. I am directed by the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 5597) for the relief of William Smith and others, to report it favorably, without amendment. I ask unanimous consent that the bill be now considered.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill. It directs the proper accounting officers of the Treasury to credit Lieut. Col. William Smith, deputy paymaster-general, United States Army, in the settlement of his public accounts, with $3,015.15; to credit Maj. William F. Tucker, paymaster, United States Army, with $5,461.61; to credit Assistant Surgeon John O. Skinner, United States Army, with $199.14; to remove the charge of $2,185.92 standing against Maj. John S. Billings, surgeon, United States Army; and remove the charge of $1,029.60 standing against George M. Wheeler, captain on the retired list of the Army; and to remove the charge of $634.42 standing against Lieut. P. Henry Ray, Eighth Regiment of Infantry, United States Army; these amounts having been paid out and received in accordance with the orders of the Secretary of War or the provisions of the regulations for the government of the Army of the United States prescribed by the President.

Mr. CULLOM. There seem to be a good many items proposed to be discharged by the bill. I do not know anything about the bill, but I should like to have it explained before we pass it.

Mr. DAVIS. The items were paid out by these various paymasters under the explicit orders of the Secretary of War. These amounts were stopped against them by the accounting officers of the Treasury. The bill is based upon the recommendations of the War Department after a careful examination by the Committee on Military Affairs. A counterpart of this bill passed the Senate a few days ago, but the other House instead of passing the Senate bill passed one of its own, which is the bill now under consideration.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. DAVIS. I move that the House of Representatives be requested to return to the Senate the counterpart of the bill just passed, being the bill (S. 1678) for the relief of William Smith and others.

The motion was agreed to.

COUNT OF ELECTORAL VOTES.

Mr. TELLER, from the Committee on Privileges and Elections, to whom was referred the following concurrent resolution of the House of Representatives, reported it without amendment, and it was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring): That the two Houses of Congress shall assemble in the Hall of the House of Representatives on Wednesday, the 8th day of February, 1893, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, pursuant to the requirement of the Constitution and laws relating to the election of President and Vice-President of the United States, and the President of the Senate shall be the presiding officer; that two persons be appointed tellers on the part of the Senate and two on the part of the House of Representatives, to make a list of the votes as they shall be declared; that the result shall be delivered to the President of the Senate, who shall announce the state of the vote and the persons elected to the two Houses assembled as aforesaid, which shall be deemed a declaration of the persons elected President and Vice-President of the United States, and, together with a list of the votes, be entered on the journals of the two Houses.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States by Mr. O. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on the 25th instant approved and signed the joint resolution

(S. R. 135) making an appropriation of $5,000 for clearing the Potomac River of ice.

The message also announced that the President of the United States had on the 26th instant approved and signed the following acts:

An act (S. 2345) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi River above New Orleans; and

A joint resolution (S. R. 128) to authorize the Secretary of War to grant permits for the use of reservations and public spaces in the city of Washington for other purposes.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. CALL introduced a bill (S. 377) for the construction of works to render the Bight of Chameval, in the State of Florida, available for the use of the Navy, which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying paper, referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Mr. CULLOM introduced a bill (S. 3778) granting a pension to Mrs. Elisha Kent Kane, widow of Dr. Elisha Kent Kane, the Arctic explorer; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. SHERMAN introduced a bill (S. 3779) authorizing the purchase of oil paintings for the Executive Mansion, which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying paper, referred to the Committee on the Library.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas introduced a bill (S. 3780) to authorize the loyal Creek Indians, Indian Territory, to bring suit in the Court of Claims for damages committed upon the property; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. PETTIGREW introduced a bill (S. 3781) to establish a military post at or near the city of Pierre, Hughes County, in the State of South Dakota; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

He also introduced a bill (S. 3782) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the St. Louis River between the States of Minnesota and Wisconsin, near the village of West Duluth; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. HISCOCK introduced a bill (S. 3783) to amend the several acts of Congress relating to the acquisition of property for a site and for the construction of a building for the custom-house in the city of New York; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

Mr. WASHBURN, by request, introduced a bill (S. 3784) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the St. Louis River, between the States of Minnesota and Wisconsin, near the village of West Duluth; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas introduced a bill (S. 3785) to provide for the condemnation of land for a military post near the city of Little Rock, Ark.; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. HISCOCK introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 142) authorizing the control of matters pertaining to the assignment, occupation, etc., of rooms occupied by officers and employees of the Government to be vested in the Secretary of the Treasury; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

LOAN OF THE LIBERTY BELL.

Mr. CULLOM introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 141) requesting the municipal authorities of Philadelphia to loan to the United States Government the Liberty Bell for exhibition as the reinstated; which was read the first time by its title.

Mr. CULLOM. I ask that the joint resolution be considered at this time.

The joint resolution was read the second time at length, as follows:

Whereas it is desirable that the Liberty Bell be placed on exhibition at the forthcoming World's Columbian Exposition to give it an opportunity to see this historic medium through which liberty was proclaimed to the American people; and

Whereas this bill is under the charge and in the care of the municipal authorities of Philadelphia. Therefore,

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring): That the municipal authorities of Philadelphia be, and they are hereby, requested to permit the Liberty Bell to be moved by a representative of the Board of Commissioners of the Government of the United States to be on exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition on such conditions as the said municipal authorities of Philadelphia and the Board of Management may deem proper.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the report and consideration of the joint resolution?

Mr. CULLOM. I hope there will be no objection to it. It is simply a request to the authorities of the city of Philadelphia, which they can comply with if they desire. I wish to state that the proposition is to allow the managers of the Government exhibit to take charge of the bell, and that there is a place provided in the Government building at the World's Columbian Exposition where the bell can be hung, so that all the people attending that great Exposition in this country may have an opportunity to see it. I do not see that there ought to be any objection to it by the Government, and I anticipate that there will not be by the city of Philadelphia, from what I have heard, although I do not know certainly as to that.

Mr. HOAR. The joint resolution certainly puts the Congress of the United States in a very remarkable position, that of a petitioner to a municipal body in one of the States. I do not think that Congress ever took that position before. If we set such a precedent, I do not see why we may not be asked to petition municipal bodies, or a State Legislature, or county commissioners, or the selectmen of a town, or constables in particular States, or individuals.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let the joint resolution be referred.

Mr. HOAR. I think the joint resolution had better be referred to a committee. I presume the United States can undertake the custody of this bell if it is desired; but I shall very strongly resist this particular mode of accomplishing the result. I move that the joint resolution be referred to the Select Committee on the Quadro-Centennial.

Mr. CULLOM. Or the Committee on the Library.

Mr. QUAY. It is a matter of no consequence to me to which committee the joint resolution is referred. I was merely about to say that I have no objection to the joint resolution, and if it shall be referred to the Library Committee, as the chairman of that committee I shall be disposed to make a favorable report upon it.

Mr. CULLOM. I hope the joint resolution will be referred to the Committee on the Library.

Mr. QUAY. I think the Government will have no difficulty in procuring the bell from the municipal authorities of Philadelphia.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will be referred to the Committee on the Library, if there be no objection.

Mr. CULLOM. One word further before the joint resolution is referred. While it is true that it is a request by the Government, yet I do not see myself how we can procure the bell unless the authorities of Philadelphia see proper to send it to Chicago without any request. It occurred to me that in relation to such a matter it is not out of place for the Congress of the United States to make a request of the city of Philadelphia, which great city has had charge of the bell since the announcement by it that the Declaration of Independence had been adopted; therefore the joint resolution was put in this form. I hope, however, if it goes to a committee that it will not be delayed long, to whatever committee it may be referred, and I am not particular as to the reference.

Mr. QUAY. I repeat that I have no doubt, unless the Senator from Illinois is acquainted with something to the contrary, that upon application by the directory of the Exposition the bell will be furnished by the municipal authorities of Philadelphia for exhibition at Chicago without any difficulty.

Mr. CULLOM. Without any action by Congress?

Mr. QUAY. I should think so, unless the Senator from Illinois knows something to the contrary.

Mr. CULLOM. I do not know anything to the contrary. A gentleman who is somewhat connected with the Exposition brought me this joint resolution, and it occurred to me that it is a proper thing to do, and I took pleasure in introducing it. The only purpose is to secure the presence of the bell at the great Exposition, and however it may be gotten there is a matter of indifference to me, if it is agreeable to the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. HAWLEY. I wish to say just one word about this matter. I concur with the Senator from Massachusetts in rather criticising the joint resolution. There will be no practical difficulty, it seems to me. I know the bell went to New Orleans. I think a simple communication from the Columbian Commission will obtain the bell, under proper safeguards. The city of Philadelphia takes good care of it, and will take it there and bring it back.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will be referred to the Committee on the Library, if there be no objection. It is so referred.

LOAN OF FLAGS, ETC., FOR INAUGURATION PURPOSES.

Mr. GORMAN. I introduce a joint resolution and ask unanimous consent for its present consideration.

The joint resolution (S. R. 140) authorizing the Secretaries of War and of the Navy to loan to the committee on inaugural ceremonies, flags, and so forth, was read the first time by its title, and the second time at length, as follows:

Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of War and the Secre- tary of the Navy be, and they are hereby, authorized to loan to the committee on inaugural ceremonies such ensigns, flags, and so forth (except battle flags), that are not now in use, and may be suitable and proper for decoration, and may be spared without detriment to the public service; such flags to be used by said committee under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by the said Secretaries, or either of them, in decorating the fronts of public buildings and other places on the line of march between the Capitol and the Executive Mansion, and the interior of the reception hall: Provided, That the said committee shall indemnify the said Department, or either of them, for any loss or damage to such flags not necessarily incident to such use.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

Mr. SHERMAN. I will ask the Senator from Maryland if the joint resolution is in the usual form when this courtesy is extended in cases of the inauguration of a President?

Mr. GORMAN. It is substantially in the usual form. I will state to the Senator from Ohio that the resolutions heretofore passed at the time of the inauguration of Presidents have specified that the Secretaries of War and the Navy shall loan the flags from practically all the navy-yards, naming the yards in the District of Columbia, at Norfolk, League Island, Portsmouth, &c. This has been changed so as to permit the Secretaries to loan such flags where it is convenient to do so. It is framed after the resolution which was passed in the matter of the Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic held in this city. It was objected at that time that the navy-yards ought not to be specified. Otherwise, it is exactly the usual measure.

Mr. SHERMAN. All right.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the joint resolution.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. GALLINGER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the naval appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. PLATT (by request) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed to the fortification appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. VOORHEES submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on the Library, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HOAR submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, and ordered to be printed.

WITHDRAWAL OF PAPERS.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, it was Ordered, That Aden Benedict be permitted to withdraw his papers from the files of the Senate.

INAUGURATION ARRANGEMENTS.

Mr. GORMAN submitted the following resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That a committee of three Senators be appointed by the Vice-President to make the necessary arrangements for the inauguration of the President-elect of the United States on the 4th day of March next.

LIQUOR TRUST.

Mr. CHANDLER submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Finance:

Resolved, That the Committee on Finance is hereby directed to make inquiry whether or not a trust exists to control and monopolize the business of producing and selling high wines and alcohol or other distilled liquors, and to restrain the freedom of trade and commerce therein, which trust is maintained in violation of the laws of the United States; whether the purpose of said trust is accomplished in whole or in part by giving rebate certificates for the payment of 5 cents per gallon on all such liquors sold by the persons or company maintaining the trust, payable only on condition that the purchasers and their successors and assigns, shall make all their future purchases solely from said persons or company, and if so, what amount of rebate certificates have been issued from time to time and how many are now outstanding unpaid;

Whether any portion of such liquors produced or handled by said trust has been at any time adulterated with any poisonous or deleterious drugs or other additions and thereafter sold or used as a beverage;

What portion of such liquors produced or handled by said trust is used as a beverage and what portion in the arts or for medicinal purposes;

Whether such adulteration is practiced under licenses issued to rectifiers under the internal-revenue laws or under the protection of special taxes imposed by said laws; and

Whether any legal proceedings have been commenced against the persons or company maintaining said trust, and to investigate any and all other facts connected with said trust which the committee may deem material, said committee to have power to send for persons and papers and examine witnesses, and to act as a full committee or by a subcommittee or subcommittees during the present session of Congress and after its expiration, and until the next regular meeting of Congress on the first Monday in December next, the expenses of making said inquiry to be paid from the appropriation for the contingent expenses of the Senate.

ATTORNEYS' FEES IN INDIAN CLAIMS.

Mr. DAWES submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved, That the copies of contracts made with Indian tribes or Indians since January 1, 1889, by which compensation was agreed to be paid to attorneys, agents, or other persons for obtaining the recognition, allowance, or payment of claims in favor of such tribes or Indians against the United States, and other papers furnished to the Senate by the Secretary of the Interior, January 5, 1893, in response to the Senate Resolution of June 1, 1892, be printed.

MARITIME OFFENSES.

Mr. HOAR submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the President be requested to return to the Senate the bill (S. 2625) to provide for the punishment of offenses on the high seas.

WORLD'S COLUMBIAN COMMISSION REPORT.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States; which was read, referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select), and ordered to be printed:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith, for the information of Congress, the third regular report of the World's Columbian Commission, and the report of the president of the Board of Lady Managers, with the accompanying papers.

BENJ. HARRISON

EXECUTIVE MANSION, January 26, 1893.

NOTE.—The documents referred to accompanying the message have been sent to the House of Representatives.

MILITARY POST AT FORT WAYNE, MICH.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 985) to provide for the enlargement of the military post at Fort Wayne, Mich., which was to add to section 2 the following proviso:

Provided, That said land shall be acquired without cost to the United States.

Mr. HAWLEY. There is no objection on this side to that amendment. I move that it be concurred in, and that passes the bill.

The motion was agreed to.

SUPERVISORS OF ELECTIONS AND SPECIAL DEPUTIES.

Mr. BATE. I move that the bill (S. 3504) to repeal all statutes relating to supervisors of elections and special deputies be taken from the table and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The motion was agreed to.

UNITED STATES CANALS, ETC.

Mr. DOLPH. I ask leave to call up the bill (S. 3568) providing for the establishment and enforcement of rules and regulations for the use and navigation of United States canals and similar works of navigation, and for other purposes. The bill was prepared by the Chief of Engineers and relates to an important and urgent matter.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on Commerce with amendments.

The first amendment of the Committee on Commerce was, in section 2, line 3, after the word "misdemeanor," to strike out "for which the owner or owners, agent or agents, master or pilot of the vessel offending shall be separately and collectively responsible;" and in line 8, after the word "committed," to insert "the person or persons so offending;" so as to make the section read:

SEC. 2. That any willful violation of any rule or regulation made by the Secretary of War in pursuance of this act shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, in any district court in the United States within whose territorial jurisdiction such offense may have been committed, the person or persons so offending shall be liable to punishment by a fine not exceeding $500 or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, at the discretion of the court, for each offense.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, in section 3, line 1, after the word "that," to strike out "it shall be the duty of all persons using or navigating such canals or similar works, their channels and approaches, or using any of the piers, breakwaters, docks, wharves, or other improvements belonging to the United States, to observe the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War as aforesaid;" in line 9, after the word "failure," to strike out "or neglect;" in line 18, after the words "regulations, shall," to strike out "be liable" and insert "in addition;" in line 19, after the word "act," to strike out "and shall, in addition thereto," and insert "in cases of willful violations of such rules and regulations;" and after the word "thereby," at the end of line 23, to strike out "or by any unlawful acts, to said United States or such aggrieved person;" so as to make the section read:

SEC. 3. That any person who shall willfully or negligently strand or sink any steam vessel, boat, or craft in such canals or similar works, or in the channels or approaches, or who shall willfully or negligently, or by failure to observe the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War for the use thereof, obstruct or impair such canals or similar works, or cause any impediment, injury, hindrance, or shedding thereon, or in the approaches thereto, tending to obstruct or impair their navigation, or who shall willfully damage or injure the piers, breakwaters, wharves, docks, or other improvements of such canals or similar works belonging to the United States, or who shall fail to obey or observe any of the regulations shall, in addition to the penalty provided by section 2 of this act, be liable to willful violations of such rules and regulations, or to the United States or to any person aggrieved by such violation, of injury, or of unlawful acts or omissions, in addition to the penalty provided by section 2 of this act.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

OSAGE RIVER BRIDGE, IN BENTON COUNTY, MO.

Mr. VEST. I ask the Senate to take up and pass a bill for which there is immediate necessity. It has been reported by the Committee on Commerce and is upon the Calendar, being House bill 10062. It is an ordinary bridge bill, but the work has been stopped until this legislation can be had.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 10062) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Osage River, between the mouths of Pomme de Terre River and Bulla's Creek, in Benton County, Mo.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

LUCIUS L. DYER.

Mr. PLATT. I ask unanimous consent of the Senate for the present consideration of House bill 5049, to remove a charge of desertion.

Mr. MITCHELL. I shall make no objection to the taking up of the bill referred to by the Senator from Connecticut, but after it has been considered I shall object to taking up any other bill until we proceed with the Calendar.

Mr. PLATT. There is a special reason for the passage of this bill.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 5049) to remove the charge of desertion against Lucius L. Dyer.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Military Affairs with an amendment to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

That the Secretary of War be, and hereby is, authorized to revoke and set aside special Orders Numbered 67, dated February 10, 1864, War Department, dismissing Lucius L. Dyer, late second lieutenant of company C, 1st South Regiment of Connecticut Volunteers, to date January 11, 1864, and restore his military record accordingly, and to issue to him a certificate of discharge as of date January 11, 1864. Proviso. That no pay, bounty, or emoluments of any kind shall be due or payable by reason of the passage of this act.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

The title was amended so as to read: "A bill to amend the military record of Lucius L. Dyer."

MRS. S. A. FARQUHARSON.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 137) to increase the pension of Mrs. S. A. Farquharson, which was on page 1, line 4, before the word "dollars," to strike out "twenty-five" and insert "fifteen."

Mr. TURPLE. I move that the Senate concur in the amendment of the House of Representatives, and ask for a committee of conference.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Vice-President was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. DAVIS, Mr. TURPLE, and Mr. PALMER were appointed.

MRS. MARY P. C. HOOPER.

Mr. KYLE. I wish to call up at this time the bill (S. 219) for the relief of Mrs. Mary P. C. Hooper.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill named by the Senator from South Dakota?

Mr. MITCHELL. I have given notice that I should ask for the regular order. What does the Senator wish to do?

Mr. KYLE. I wish to secure the consideration and passage of a short bill, to which I think there will be no objection.

Mr. MITCHELL. I gave notice at a moment ago that I should insist on the Calendar after the passage of the bill then proposed to be considered.

Mr. HISCOCK. After the passage of two or three other bills, I hope the Senator will say.

Mr. MITCHELL. It seems to me that we ought to take up the Calendar. We have not been on the Calendar now for about two weeks, I think. Such action will give everyone a chance and be fair to all. Let us go to the Calendar for awhile, and perhaps later on we can take up bills on the application of individual Senators.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made to the consideration of the bill named by the Senator from South Dakota.

Mr. HALE. I hope the Senator from Oregon will not insist upon his objection.

Mr. MITCHELL. Why not?

Mr. HALE. Most of the bills on the Calendar have nothing but the public interest behind them, while there are a good many Senators who personally desire to have bills passed.

Mr. MITCHELL. There are some bills at the head of the Calendar which I personally desire to have passed which have been laid over.

Mr. HALE. I have not any that I myself desire to have passed, but I see that several other Senators have. I hope the Senator from Oregon will give way to Senators who desire to have their bills passed.

Mr. MITCHELL. The Senator is disposed to be a little iconical, I am afraid.

Mr. HALE. Never.

Mr. MITCHELL. I insist on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made to the request of the Senator from South Dakota, and the first bill on the Calendar will be stated.

HIRAM SOMERVILLE.

The bill (S. 88) for the relief of Hiram Somerville was announced as first in order, and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to its consideration.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in line 1, after the words "sum of," to strike out "six hundred and fifty-five" and insert "two hundred and fifty;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That the sum of $250 be, and the same is hereby, appropriated to Hiram Somerville, of Marion County, Ill., for supplies furnished by him to the United States.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the report be read in that case.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The report will be read.

The Secretary read the following report submitted by Mr. SANDERS May 27, 1892:

The Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 88) for the relief of Hiram Somerville, for certain property of his to the value of $655, taken for the use of the army of Gen. Hunter, in Jackson County, W. Va., has had the same under consideration and report:

Five hundred and five dollars' worth of this property seems to have been taken by irresponsible persons and without furnishing the possessor or claimant or owner any voucher therefor, and although the owner at the time was an enlisted man in the United States Army, and a prisoner in Libby Prison, so much of his claim must be attributed to depredations of an army in the field, and upon well-defined principles of public policy and law placed beyond the demand for remuneration.

Two hundred and fifty dollars' worth of this property consisted of one horse and five horses, and was taken and von her or memorandum receipt given for the same with the intent that it should be paid out of the Treasury. Paid voucher was given to the wife of the claimant, and by her to Col. Frost, of the Eleventh West Virginia Regiment, with a view to his forwarding it to the proper authority and obtaining thereon money therefor for the claimant. Shortly thereafter Col. Frost was killed at Snicker's Gap and the voucher lost.

Your committee are of the opinion that that debt should be paid, and they recommend where the words "six hundred and fifty-five dollars" occur they shall be struck out and that "two hundred and fifty dollars" be inserted in lieu thereof, and that as so amended the bill pass.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

THOMAS ANTISELL.

The bill (S. 1790) for the relief of Thomas Antisell was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in line 3, after the words "sum of," to strike out "ten thousand" and insert "two thousand five hundred;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That the sum of $2,500 be, and is hereby, appropriated, to be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to Dr. Thomas Antisell, late surgeon and brevet lieutenant-colonel of volunteers, in compensation for the use and occupation of his land near Port Albany, Va., by the troops of the United States during the war of the rebellion, and for property taken by said troops, used and destroyed by reason of said occupation.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the report be read in that case.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The report will be read.

The Secretary read the following report, submitted by Mr. SANDERS May 27, 1892:

The Committee on Claims, to which was referred the bill (S. 1790) for the relief of Thomas Antisell, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave respectfully to report as follows:

The bill proposes an appropriation of $10,000 to Dr. Thomas Antisell for injury to his real property, situated at the west end of Long bridge near the bank of the Potomac River in Virginia, where at the breaking out of the war Dr. Antisell resided. Of his loyalty to the Government of the United States in those troublous times there can be no doubt. He was in the service of the Government and he remained a loyal, intelligent, and efficient officer, and in every action acquitted himself in a manner wholly creditable to himself and to the great advantage of his country. At the breaking out of the war troops occupied his place, a fort was built upon it, his home was broken up, and he was compelled to remove to the District of Columbia, where he has ever since resided. The orchard and forest and fencing was taken by the troops and used for firewood, or in the construction of a fort thereon, or for other military uses.

Your committee have repeatedly held that damage in the form of depredation or injury, to real property within the limits of the States in rebellion or where war was flagrant are not such damages as the Government is called upon under any circumstances to pay. The Government is in such places engaged in such work upon its own lawful business, and can not be required to compensate for injuries resulting therefrom, unavoidably or otherwise, on any principle of law or equity.

Nor does your committee recognize that always quartermaster and commissary stores used by the Army in time of war call for compensation, but instances have occurred where it has seemed not inappropriate to pay for timber used in the construction of forts or for firewood, or for other military uses, where there are circumstances indicating that it was the purpose of the officers of the Government so to pay for the same.

Many cases justify such a payment, it seems to your committee the case at bar is one. The place occupied was in sight of the Capitol, the officers of the Government seem to have entered upon a consideration and negotiation as to the value of the property taken by them, but in the excitement and mutations of the time did not give to Dr. Antisell the proper vouchers whereby he could be paid for the same, but your committee do not believe that the value of the orchard, the forest trees, and the fencing used for military purposes by the Army exceeds in value the sum of $2,500, and believing that that sum, upon the principle heretofore stated, is due Dr. Antisell, your committee recommend that the words "ten thousand dollars" where they occur in the bill be stricken out, and that the words "two thousand five hundred dollars" be inserted in lieu thereof, and as so amended your committee recommend that the bill do pass.

Mr. MITCHELL. I move to amend the bill by inserting the word "and" before the word "used," in the last line, and also by striking out all after the word "used" and inserting "by them."

Mr. COCKRELL. I ask the Senator to accept an amendment to his amendment by adding to the words he proposes to insert the words "for military purposes."

Mr. MITCHELL. I accept the amendment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment of the Senator from Oregon [Mr. MITCHELL] as modified by the Senator from Missouri [Mr. COCKRELL] will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 10, after the word "troops," it is proposed to insert the word "and;" and in the same line, after the word "used," to strike out "and destroyed by reason of said occupation," and insert "by them for military purposes;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That the sum of $2,500 be, and is hereby, appropriated, to be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to Dr. Thomas Antisell, late surgeon and brevet lieutenant-colonel of volunteers, in compensation for the use and occupation of his land near Port Albany, Va., by the troops of the United States during the war of the rebellion, and for property taken by said troops and used by them for military purposes.

Mr. MITCHELL. The object of the amendment is to get rid of the word "destroyed," which has crept into the bill evidently through mistake, as it is not the habit of the Committee on Claims to report in favor of paying for property destroyed, but only for its use and occupation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HARRIS in the chair). The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Oregon as modified.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT. I do not quite understand the bill and I should like some further explanation of it than has yet been given or than is given in the report of the committee before I give it my support.

Mr. MITCHELL. As this bill was reported from the Committee on Claims by a Senator who is now absent from the city, I ask that it may go over until he returns, without losing its place on the Calendar.

Mr. PLATT. Let me simply state what the line is on which I should like an explanation.

When the war broke out nearly all the land in Virginia near the Potomac River and extending several miles inward from the river was occupied by the troops. Dr. Antisell, it appears, was a loyal citizen who lived on the other side of the Long bridge near to the river; the military authorities occupied his land and undoubtedly did him damage, but are we to stop with Dr. Antisell? There undoubtedly were many loyal citizens all through eastern Virginia whose land was occupied and whose property was destroyed; and I do not see how the case of Dr. Antisell is to be made an exception. It does not appear from the report that any receipt was given him by the quartermaster or any other officer which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. HIGGINS presented memorials of the Gilbert Presbyterian Church, of Wilmington; of the Covenant Reform Episcopal Church, of Wilmington; of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, of Wilmington, and of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of Bridgeville, all in the State of Delaware, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE presented petitions of citizens of Adrian, Mich.; of the Journeymen Tailors' Union, No. 88, of Saginaw, Mich.; of Union No. 170, International American Machinists of Michigan; and of Westside Union, No. 793, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of Grand Rapids, Mich., praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of the Crosby Street Christian Reformed Church, of Grand Rapids, Mich., praying for the closing of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented the petition of John H. McEvoy and other citizens of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., praying for the passage of legislation retiring enlisted men of the United States Army and Navy after twenty-five years' service; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. VOORHEES presented a petition of the Board of Managers of the Home for Incurables of the District of Columbia, praying for the opening in connection therewith of California avenue in the city of Washington, D. C.; which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

He also presented a joint resolution, adopted by the General Assembly of Indiana, instructing the Senators from that State to vote in favor of opening the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. VEST presented a petition of the Kansas City (Mo.) Live Stock Exchange, praying for the passage of legislation opening the Cherokee Strip to settlement; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented petitions of Cigar-Makers' Union, No. 95, of St. Joseph; Iron Molders' Union, No. 142, of Hannibal; of Success Lodge, No. 33, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, of Trenton; of Journeymen Tailors' Union, No. 76, of Springfield, and of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, Division 221, of Sedalia, all in the State of Missouri, praying for the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. COCKRELL presented a petition of the Commercial Exchange of Kansas City, Mo., and a petition of the Live Stock Exchange of Kansas City, Mo., praying for the passage of legislation opening the Cherokee strip to settlement; which were ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a memorial of the Commercial Club of Kansas City, Mo., remonstrating against the passage of the Washburn-Hatch antiopium bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. COCKRELL. I present three of the peculiar stereotyped petitions which come to us praying for the opening of the World's Fair on Sunday, originally addressed with pen and ink to Hon. JOHN C. TARSNEY, of the Fifth Congressional district of Missouri. His name has been stricken out and mine inserted in pencil. I move that the petitions be referred to the Select Committee on the Quadro-Centennial.

The petitions were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select), as follows:

Petition of Cigar-Makers' Union, No. 102, of Kansas City, Mo.; Petition of Local Union, No. 17, Machine Woodworkers' International Union, of Kansas City, Mo.; and Petition of Local Union, No. 2, Tin, Sheet Iron, and Cornice Workers' International Association, of Kansas City, Mo.

Mr. IRBY presented a memorial of citizens of Clinton, S. C., remonstrating against the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. FAULKNER, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 6922) to amend section 452 of the Revised Statutes relating to the District of Columbia, concerning conveyance of real estate, reported it without amendment.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3080) supplementary to an act entitled "An act to provide a government for the District of Columbia," approved February 21, 1871, and also to an act entitled "An act for the government of the District of Columbia, and for other purposes," approved June 20, 1874, reported it with amendments.

Mr. STEWART, from the Committee on Appropriations, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 9825) making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. MANDERSON, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 2782) to restore Fort Wells to the Army, reported it without amendment and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3696) for the relief of Brig. Gen. John R. Brooke, United States Army, reported it with amendments and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. CHANDLER, from the Committee on Immigration, reported back the bill (S. 3963) establishing additional regulations concerning immigration to the United States, with a substitute. I ask that the substitute be printed and not the original bill, and also that a thousand extra copies of the substitute be printed for the use of the Senate.

The bill (S. 3786) establishing additional regulations concerning immigration to the United States, was read twice by its title.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bills will be placed on the Calendar, and 1,000 extra copies of the substitute will be ordered printed, in the absence of objection.

Mr. DOLPH. By direction of the Committee on Public Lands I report favorably an amendment intended to be proposed to the bill (H. R. 10331) making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes. The amendment proposes to increase the amount of the appropriations for clerk hire in the office of the surveyor-general of Oregon. I move that the amendment be printed, and that, with the accompanying letter of the surveyor-general of Oregon, it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. FRYE, from the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 9176) relating to contracts of common carriers and to certain obligations, duties, and rights in connection with the carriage of property, reported it with amendments.

Mr. DAWES. I am directed by the Committee on Appropriations, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 9923) making appropriations for fortifications and other works of defense, for the armament thereof, for the procurement of heavy ordnance for trial and service, and for other purposes, to report it with amendments, and to submit a written report thereon. I give notice that I shall call the bill up at an early day.

I am further instructed by the committee to report that two amendments intended to be proposed to the bill, one submitted by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. TELLER] providing for the construction of a disappearing gun carriage after the pattern of Mr. A. H. Emery, and the other submitted by the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON], providing for the making of 10-inch and 12-inch guns after the pattern of R. J. Gatling, have been under consideration by the committee, but they have not been able, for want of time to come to any conclusion upon the same. They hope to be able to make a report upon them in the form of amendments to the bill before its consideration, which they will present if they are able to come to any conclusion upon the amendments.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. COKE, from the Committee on Commerce, reported an amendment intended to be proposed to the bill (H. R. 9955) providing for sundry light-houses and other aids to navigation; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3660) for the establishment of a light-house, fog signal, and line lights at or near the mouth of the Brazos River, Texas, reported it without amendment.

Mr. PROCTOR, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 2592) for the relief of Andrew B. Knapp, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon.

HARBOR OF CHICAGO.

Mr. CULLOM. I am directed by the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3753) relating to the anchorage and movement of vessels in the port of Chicago, to report it favorably, with amendments, and I ask that it be now considered.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Council, the whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The first amendment of the Committee on Commerce was, in section 1, line 3, after the word "Treasury," to strike out "is" and insert "be;" in line 4, after the word "anchorage," to strike out "ground in Lake Michigan" and insert "grounds;" in line 5, after the word "the," to strike out "harbor" and insert "harbors;" and in the same line, after the word "Chicago," to insert "and waters of Lake Michigan adjacent thereto;" in line 6, after the word "relation," to strike out "thereto" and insert "to the same;" and in line 8, after the word "inshore," to strike out "channel ways" and insert "channels;" so as to make the section read:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized and directed to define and establish anchorage grounds for vessels in the harbors of Chicago and waters of Lake Michigan adjacent thereto, to adopt suitable rules and regulations in relation to the same, and also to adopt suitable rules and regulations governing the use of marked inshore channels in Lake Michigan in front of the city of Chicago, and to take all necessary measures for the proper enforcement of such rules and regulations.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, to strike out the last section of the bill, in the following words:

Sec. 3. That this act shall take effect immediately.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the concurrent resolution of the Senate requesting the President of the United States to return to the Senate the enrolled bill (S. 2625) to provide for the punishment of offenses on the high seas.

The message also returned to the Senate, in compliance with its request, the bill (S. 1678) for the relief of William Smith and others.

The message further announced that the House had agreed to the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 5049) to remove the charge of desertion against Lucius L. Dyer.

The message also announced that the House had passed the bill (S. 3115) for relief of Clement Reeves.

The message further announced that the House had passed the bill (S. 509) granting an increase of pension to Thomas J. Matlock, with an amendment, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message also announced that the House had passed the following bills, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate:

A bill (H. R. 2850) for the relief of E. Y. Ramsey, the heir at law and distributee of Joseph Ramsey; and

A bill (H. R. 10146) to authorize the Oklahoma Midland Railway Company to construct and operate a railway, telegraph, and telephone lines through the Indian and Oklahoma Territories, and for other purposes.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the enrolled bill (H. R. 5567) for the relief of William Smith and others; and it was thereupon signed by the Vice-President.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. PASCO introduced a bill (S. 3787) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the St. Marys River, between the States of Florida and Georgia; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. TELLER introduced a bill (S. 3788) granting right of way to the Colorado River Irrigation Company through the Yuma Indian Reservation in California; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. HARRIS introduced a bill (S. 3789) to authorize the investigation by the Attorney-General of certain claims alleged to be due the late proprietors of the Knoxville Whig for advertising, and authorizing the payment therefor by the Secretary of the Treasury of any amounts found by the Attorney-General to be legally or equitably due; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. CHANDLER introduced a bill (S. 3790) for the relief of William Dillon; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

He also introduced a bill (S. 3791) to define and to provide for the execution of the provisions of sections 1390, 1476, and 1480, of the Revised Statutes of the United States relative to the commissions of naval officers; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Mr. PROCTOR introduced a bill (S. 3792) to incorporate the American University; which was read twice by its title.

I ask that the bill be referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. DOLPH. I should like to ask the Senator from Vermont if the bill should not go to the Select Committee to establish the University of the United States, of which the Senator is chairman?

Mr. PROCTOR. This is not a bill concerning the National University, but the American University, an institution under the auspices of the Methodist Church. It is a mere act of incorporation.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. DIXON (by request) introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 143) for the more effectual carrying out of a provision of the act approved March 3, 1891, entitled "An act making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, and for prior years, and for other purposes;" which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying paper, referred to the Committee on Claims.

AMENDMENTS TO BILLS.

Mr. HIGGINS submitted sundry amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill (S. 2870) to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Cherokee Nation of Indians, of the Indian Territory, to make appropriation for carrying out the same, and for other purposes; which were ordered to lie on the table, and be printed.

Mr. PETTIGREW submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. TELLER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CULLOM submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill (H. R. 10258) making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for prior years, and for other purposes; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HOAR submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CAREY submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the bill (H. R. 7135) to enable the people of New Mexico to form a constitution and State government and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States; which were referred to the Committee on Territories, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill (H. R. 7024) to protect settlement rights where two or more persons settle upon the same subdivision of agricultural public lands before survey thereof; which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands, and ordered to be printed.

MEMORIAL OF C. C. MERRICK.

On motion of Mr. CULLOM, it was Ordered, That the Committee on the Judiciary be discharged from the further consideration of the memorial of C. C. Merrick, to inquire into the legality of the disposition of the 2 per cent fund by the Legislature of the State of Maryland, and that he have leave to withdraw the same from the files of the Senate.

PREVENTION OF CONTAGIOUS OR INFECTIOUS DISEASES.

Mr. CHANDLER submitted the following resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to inform the Senate what rules and regulations, if any, are now in existence and in force at the port of New York for the prevention of the introduction into this country of contagious or infectious diseases; and to specifically state what precautions against such diseases are prescribed to be observed at the ports of departure, upon the vessels on their voyages and in the harbor of arrival; and also to inform the Senate by what authority of law such rules and regulations have been established.

INVESTIGATION BY COMMITTEE ON COMMERCE.

Mr. DOLPH submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed:

Resolved, That the Committee on Commerce be, and they are hereby, authorized to sit, by subcommittee or otherwise, during the recess of Congress, at such places in the United States as they may deem proper; and that they be, and they are hereby, authorized to inquire into the laws and regulations

Mr. FELTON presented a petition of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, Cal., praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law: which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. SAWYER presented a resolution, Wis., praying for the peace of the world.

free entry of wearing apparel of foreign manufacture; which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

He also presented a petition of South Greenville Grange, No. 225, Patrons of Husbandry, of Wisconsin, praying for the passage of the Washburn-Hatch antioption bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. HARRIS presented a petition of citizen of Davidson County, Tenn., praying for the passage of House bill 3698, for the classification of post-office clerks and fixing the salaries of the same; which was referred to the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads.

Mr. HARRIS. I present a memorial of sundry quarrymen of Tennessee, remonstrating against the importation of building material for the Library of Congress or other public buildings in the country. I am not sure to what committee this memorial should go, but I presume the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The memorial will be referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, unless there be a request for other reference.

Mr. VEST. Does the memorial refer to the Library building? The PRESIDENT pro tempore. And other public buildings.

Mr. VEST. Does it apply to all public buildings?

Mr. HARRIS. It applies especially to the Library building.

Mr. VEST. Our Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds never has had anything to do with the Library building. By the action of the Senate that building was put under the Select Committee on Additional Accommodations for the Library of Congress. If the memorial applies to all public buildings of course it ought to go to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, but if it applies to the Library building it ought to go to the select committee.

Mr. HARRIS. Then let it go to the select committee, if the Senator from Missouri thinks that a better reference. It applies especially to that building, although it refers to other public buildings as well.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The memorial will be referred to the Select Committee on Additional Accommodations for the Library of Congress.

Mr. BUTLER presented a memorial of citizens of York County, S. C., remonstrating against the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. COCKRELL presented a petition of the Commercial Club of Kansas City, Mo., praying for the establishment of a road bureau in the Department of Agriculture; which was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Mr. HAWLEY presented a petition of the Connecticut State Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, praying for the passage of the Washburn-Hatch antioption bill; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of the State Board of Trade of Connecticut, praying for the immediate and unconditional repeal of every act authorizing purchases of silver by the Government; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented a petition of the State Board of Trade of Connecticut, praying for the repeal of the so-called Geary Chinese-exclusion act; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. VEST, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported an amendment intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. KYLE, from the Select Committee on Indian Depredations, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3582) for the relief of Robert McGee, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon, and asked that the bill lie on the table; which was agreed to.

Mr. MORRILL, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 9592) authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to obtain plans and specifications for public buildings to be erected under the supervision of the Treasury Department, and providing for local supervision of the construction of the same, reported it with amendments.

Mr. ALLISON. From the Committee on Appropriations I report back, with sundry amendments, the bill (H. R. 10038) making appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes, accompanied by a brief report.

I desire to give notice at this time that immediately after the conclusion of the consideration of the fortification appropriation bill and the Army appropriation bill I shall ask that this bill may be considered by the Senate.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill will be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. ALLISON. I will also state, if the Chair will allow me, that as soon as the pending order is disposed of, being the antioption bill, the Committee on Appropriations will ask the Senate to consider all three bills in the order I have named.

PRESERVATION OF ORDER AT THE INAUGURATION.

Mr. McMILLAN. I am instructed by the Committee on the District of Columbia to report a joint resolution to provide for the maintenance of order during the inaugural ceremonies in March, 1893. It is a short matter and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The joint resolution (S. R. 141) to provide for maintenance of order during inaugural ceremonies in March, 1893, was read the first time by its title, and the second time at length, as follows:

Resolved, etc., That $8,200, or as much thereof as may be necessary, payable from any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and from the revenues of the District of Columbia, in equal parts, is hereby appropriated to enable the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to maintain public order and protect life and property in said District from the 25th of February to the 9th of March, 1893, both inclusive. Said Commissioners are hereby authorized and directed to make all reasonable regulations necessary to secure such preservation of public order and protection of life and property, and fixing fares by public conveyances during said period. Any person violating any such regulations shall be liable for each such offense to a fine not to exceed $100 in the police court of said District, and in default of payment thereof to imprisonment in the workhouse of said District for not longer than sixty days.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

By unanimous consent, the joint resolution was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. WASHBURN introduced a bill (S. 3793) to authorize the construction of a bridge over the St. Louis River between the States of Wisconsin and Minnesota; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill (S. 3794) for the relief of Enoch Davis; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. HUNTON introduced a bill (S. 3795) to authorize the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway Company to construct a bridge across the Potomac River, and to construct a railroad over the same and through certain streets and reservations of Washington; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. FAULKNER introduced a bill (S. 3796) to amend "An act to prevent the manufacture and sale of adulterated food or drugs in the District of Columbia," and transfer the execution thereof to the Department of Agriculture; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Mr. SAWYER introduced a bill (S. 3797) establishing a fog signal at Kewaunee, Wis.; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. PLATT submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CAMERON submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Public Building and Grounds, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. DAVIS submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the Indian appropriation bill; which were referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. KYLE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor, and ordered to be printed.

MATERIAL IN LIBRARY BUILDING.

Mr. HARRIS. I submit a resolution and ask for its present consideration.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the Chief of Engineers of the Army be, and he is hereby, directed to inform the Senate whether or not he has used or is using, has contracted for or is contracting or is proposing to contract for any building material from foreign countries to be used in the construction of the Library building now in course of construction, and if such material is being used or intended to be used, he will inform the Senate the character, quantity, and actual or probable cost of such imported material, and the reasons for such importation.

The Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. PETTIGREW. To whom is the resolution addressed?

Mr. HOAR. To what officer is the direction given?

Later, Mr. President, this doctrine was invoked in order to destroy the principle of protection by Mr. Calhoun. Later, again,

Mr. PALMER, who his name was called, answered that he the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I understand that if he were present he would vote "nay" on the amendment to the amendment. I should vote "yea" if I were not paired.

Mr. CAMERON (when Mr. QUAY's name was called). My colleague [Mr. QUAY] is ill and not able to be present to-day. He is paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. GORDON. May I inquire whether the pair of my colleague [Mr. COLQUITT] was announced?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. His pair was announced with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON].

Mr. WILSON. I understand that the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT] has been paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BRICE]. If that be the case, I shall vote. I vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 50; as follows:

YEAS—21

So the amendment to the amendment was rejected.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question recurs on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE].

Mr. GEORGE. I ask for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN], who is not here. I do not know how he would vote on this question if he were present, and therefore I withhold my vote. If I were not paired I should vote for the substitute.

Mr. CARLISLE (when his name was called). On this bill I am paired with the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. PADDOCK], but on this amendment I am advised that, if present, he would vote the same as I do. I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. CHANDLER (when his name was called). On this amendment I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. FAULKNER (when Mr. COLQUITT's name was called). I desire to say in reference to the vote upon this bill and its amendments that the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT] is paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BRICE].

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY]. I do not know how he would vote on this amendment if present, and therefore I withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is necessarily absent. He is paired upon the pending amendment with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. CHANDLER]. If my colleague were present he would vote "nay."

Mr. PETTIGREW (after having voted in the negative). I am paired on this question with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN], and therefore I withdraw my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 19, nays 51; as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, I do not propose to debate this bill further than to put on record some of the reasons which will control my vote.

The bill upon its face is a tax bill, but every Senator knows that not one cent of revenue will ever be raised under its provisions.

It is frankly admitted by its chief advocates and supporters that no revenue is expected or desired from it; and with equal frankness they admit that the taxing power is resorted to for no other purpose than that of taking legislative jurisdiction of a subject over which the Constitution has granted to Congress no power whatever.

The bill proposes to suppress, by Congressional enactment, a character of business carried on by the people of the several States with each other, and generally between citizens of the same State—a business which is lawful under the laws of the several States where it is carried on.

The excuse offered for this prostitution of the taxing power is, that gambling or betting, in the form of a contract for the sale of certain articles at a named price, to be delivered on a named future day, where the seller does not intend to deliver, and the buyer does not intend to receive and pay for the articles, but where the parties intend to settle on the day named for delivery, at the difference between the market price of that day and the price named in the contract.

Such contracts are denounced as injurious to the producer of the article which is the subject of the contract, and immoral because it is a system of gambling.

Mr. President, I am by no means certain that this form of dealing depresses prices or injures the producer of the article. For there are in these transactions as many buyers as sellers, as many bulls as bears, and, if the influence of the bull and the bear are equal, the market price is not affected.

But I admit that such contracts constitute a system of gambling, and as immoral and vicious as any other form of gambling, and for that reason, and the additional reason that I should be glad to gratify the wishes of the producers of the country at all times and in every way consistent with my official duties, I would cheerfully aid, to the extent of my constitutional power, in suppressing these mere betting contracts, while I would protect the right of every actual producer or dealer to sell for future delivery.

Mr. President, these are transactions within the several States, between the people of the several States, and generally between the people of the same State. They are, under the Constitution, exclusively within the reserved powers of the States.

Each State has the absolute and exclusive power to prohibit this character of dealing if it chooses to do so. But if Congress can, by a palpable and admitted fraud upon the Constitution, by prostituting the taxing power to this wholly illegitimate purpose, take legislative jurisdiction of this matter, there is not a single reserved right of the States that Congress may not invade and usurp in the same manner.

There is not a business in the States lawful under State laws, not a crime or misdemeanor punished by State laws, that Congress may not take jurisdiction of and control according to its own sweet will.

Mr. President, establish the principle upon which this bill rests and home rule, local self-government, and the last vestige of the reserved rights of the States are gone. Congress has but to resort to the taxing power to take jurisdiction of any or all legislative subjects, local and domestic, as well as national.

Our Revolutionary fathers who framed the Constitution, recognizing the fact that we were thirteen independent States or nationalities, independent of each other, as of all the balance of the world, and recognizing that we had many interests in common, and were sufficiently homogeneous to make common cause against all other nationalities, undertook to create a Federal agency, called the Government of the United States, and to delegate to it certain specific and limited powers, and charge it with the performance of certain specific duties, purely national and inter-

The power of Congress over internal affairs is unlimited and unrestricted in measure. It is the duty of Congress in the wise discretion of Congress to provide the best remedy for such objects and purposes as Congress shall deem expedient and most appropriate to promote the good of the whole people. The amendment or substitution of a bill introduced from Mississippi [Mr. GORDON, who introduced the bill] is proper and for which I voted, in my opinion, for the best and most effectual remedy for this evil, reported to the committee.

public outcry, and in a constitutional manner declares "options" and "futures" to be "obstructions to and restraints upon commerce among the States."

Congress is fully empowered to make that "regulation," and in the exercise of its power over commerce Congress is authorized to declare such deals to be "null and void," and to punish parties convicted of dealings therein. I can not discover either the wisdom or the morality of licensing this evil and throwing around such gambling transactions the panoply and protection of law, provided the taxes are paid. The Treasury of the United States does not need taxes raised by "options" and "futures," if those dealings are destructive of the agricultural interest, and if those taxes when paid are not to raise revenue, then they are in violation of the revenue power of the Constitution.

For that I can not vote, but I favor the amendment or substitute of the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE], because it brings the restraining provisions of law within the power of Congress to regulate commerce, and legislates upon a great evil in a constitutional and orderly manner—and in my opinion, in the most effective way—for it substitutes punishment for the unconstitutional tax resorted to in the Hatch bill, merely to give jurisdiction to Congress over the subject-matter.

Mr. VANCE. Mr. President, inasmuch as I voted for the substitute proposed by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] and shall vote against the bill, I ask the indulgence of the Senate for a few minutes to explain briefly my reasons for so doing.

There is a public sentiment in my State, which is chiefly an agricultural State, that the dealings in futures and options, as they are called, constitute an evil, a restraint upon and an injury to commerce between the States.

Whether that be true or not, I shall not of course at this late hour undertake to say; but in deference to that sentiment, I determined that I should vote for any bill which would restrain or correct this evil which I thought to be in conformity with the Constitution of my country. I believe that the substitute of the Senator from Mississippi was such a measure, though I confess I was not free from doubt even about that.

There can be no doubt, however, Mr. President, it seems to me, that the perversion of the taxing power of the Government to any purpose except that of raising revenue to support the Government is a violation of the Constitution, palpable and unmistakable, and it is all the worse and all the meaner in this case, because this bill is so framed as to prevent the decision of the Supreme Court in regard to it being based upon the taxing power, whereas the substitute of the Senator from Mississippi was based fairly and squarely upon the commerce clause of the Constitution, and was in the exercise of the right of Congress to regulate commerce between the States.

Therefore it could have been speedily and easily determined, if necessary, by the Supreme Court of the United States, whether or not the power existed in Congress under the Constitution to pass this legislation; but this attempt to suppress an evil by the use of the taxing power is cowardly, mean, false, fraudulent, and felonious, and I shall not vote for it. It constitutes a greater crime against the Constitution of our country than do all the dealings of all the boards of all the cotton and wheat exchanges in America constitute an offense against the commerce of the country. I shall not assist in the perpetration of a crime in order to redress an evil in commerce, even if that evil were well established.

For those reasons I voted for the substitute of the Senator from Mississippi and shall vote against what is called the Hatch bill. Although I have no doubt it will pass this body, no gaunt specter of the future can shake its gory locks at me and say, "Thou didst it." [Laughter.]

Mr. CALL. Mr. President, I will ask the indulgence of the Senate for just five minutes.

I propose to vote for this bill. I do it not because I prefer it, not because I should not prefer a different bill, but because the taxing power has been used to the extent of confiscation from the very first year of this Government until to-day. Congress has discriminated in the exercise of the taxing power in this country for objects other than that of raising revenue; and to-day the revenue laws of this country, even within the limits of a revenue tariff, have been imposed for other objects than the simple one of obtaining revenue.

It is known to every one that there is a penalty attached in the exercise of the taxing power to every tax law, and that the penalty is a part of the taxing power, and as much a part of it as the tax actually levied, and that the taxing power therefore, in the imposition of every penalty, is exercised to the point of destroying property and for objects other than the simple one of raising revenue.

There is no difference in the powers of the Constitution considered as powers: there is no argument which can be made of that kind. A power to do one thing and a power to do another, a power to perform one function and a power to perform another, as a power is precisely the same and must be governed by the same law.

If, under the exertion of the power to regulate commerce, you can destroy an obstruction to commerce for the purpose of regulating commerce, then, under the taxing power, you can exercise that power for some other object than the direct object of raising taxes. All powers have an incidental effect, but to say that you can not discriminate in the exercise of them is to affirm an untenable proposition.

It is certainly true that to-day the taxing power is exercised in matters of revenue to the point of destroying property as a penalty for the enforcement of the law, and in my own State, when I was there recently at the port of Tampa, there was a large quantity of goods taken under the taxing power, the revenue power, being destroyed under the law, and it is a constant feature of the exercise of the taxing power.

Therefore, while as a matter of policy it might be preferred that this bill should be in some other shape, as a matter of argument there is in my judgment no ground for the assertion that it has not been the constant practice of the Government, and is to-day the practice, to exercise the taxing power to the extent of the destruction of property, and for objects other than that of raising revenue. The oleomargarine law and the interstate-commerce law are both instances of this kind, and so are all the revenue laws.

Mr. BULLER. Mr. President, I am very sorry that I shall not be able to join my friend from Florida [Mr. CALL] in the view which he takes of the constitutional power of Congress in regard to taxation, and if what he says is correct I think we have about reached that period of the history of this country when it should be checked and a halt called in the exercise of the powers to which he referred.

I, however, do not agree with the Senator in the version which he gives of the exercise of the taxing power to which he has just referred. Be that as it may, I can not consent, with my view of the constitutional power of Congress, to vote for a bill which in my judgment is a clear, open, and undisguised abuse of that power.

I voted for the amendment of the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] because I felt profoundly anxious, as no doubt has every Senator upon this floor, to find some remedy within the power of Congress to correct abuses which unquestionably exist. I voted for that amendment, however, with some misgivings as to the power of Congress to confer jurisdiction upon the Federal courts under it.

I yielded my doubts, however, in deference to the opinion of the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE], the Senator from Texas [Mr. COKE], and the Senator from Alabama [Mr. PRATT], members of the Judiciary Committee, having great confidence in their judgment and in their professional skill, ability, and experience. But, sir, when I voted for that amendment I went to the full extent of providing remedial measures for the evils of which complaint is justly made. I can not, however, with my views of the Constitution, vote for a measure which uses the taxing power to destroy a business within the limits of the States.

I do not hold that Congress may do whatever it pleases; I do not hold that Congress may do what a very large number of the people of the United States wish shall be done. This is not a body of unlimited power. It must legislate, if it legislate honestly, in accordance with the limitations imposed upon its powers by a written constitution.

Entertaining these views, I say with regret, Mr. President, that I shall be compelled to vote against the bill now that the amendment of the Senator from Mississippi, for which I voted, has been defeated.

Mr. VEST. Mr. President, I have no arguments to make against this bill in addition to those I have already presented to the Senate; but on the 24th of this month the house of representatives of the General Assembly of Missouri instructed the Senators from that State, by a vote of 116 to 13, to support this bill. I have the greatest respect for that feature of our Government which makes the public servant a representative of the intelligent opinion of his constituents; but there is a limit to the right of instruction, and no Legislature can make me violate the Constitution of my country which I have sworn to support. No General Assembly has the right to make me commit perjury and trample upon my own judgment and conscience.

It may be that this expression of opinion by the house of representatives of the General Assembly of Missouri is the deliberate and fixed sentiment of an immense majority of my constituents. If so, I shall bow to the inevitable result and accept their arbitrament and action with pleasure. Much as I appreciate the honor they have done me, much as I am attached to the personal associations which so long have surrounded me here, there is,

Mr. President, sunshine in other places besides Washington City, and the air of the prairies is purer than that in this Chamber. I prefer my own self-respect to personal or political applause, and I shall, therefore, with the greatest pleasure imaginable, vote against this bill. [Laughter.]

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The hour of 4 o'clock having arrived—

Mr. PEPPER. I am in receipt of a concurrent resolution passed by the Legislature of the State of Kansas—

Mr. HOAR. Is debate in order, Mr. President?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Debate is not in order. The hour of 4 o'clock has arrived, and it is the duty of the Chair to remind the Senator that the time agreed upon for the expiration of debate and taking the vote is at hand.

Mr. PEPPER. Mr. President, I only desire to make a very brief statement.

Mr. HOAR. I do not object.

Mr. PEPPER. I wish to state that I am in receipt of a copy of a concurrent resolution passed unanimously by the Legislature of Kansas in support of the pending bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator can only proceed by unanimous consent.

Mr. PEPPER. That is all I desire to say.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the bill.

Mr. MILLS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. I wish to know if it is now in order to offer amendments?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is before the Senate as in Committee of the Whole, and is open to amendment.

Mr. MILLS. Then I offer an amendment, to add as an additional section, what I send to the desk. It is to be inserted before the section prescribing when the bill shall take effect.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to insert, after section 11, the following as a new section:

Sec. —. That all railroad corporations, associations, or companies engaged in interstate commerce shall, within six months after the passage of this act, provide at all stations established or that may be established on their roads, side-track facilities for all persons or parties to erect and maintain private elevators or warehouses, of a capacity of not less than 5,000 bushels each, for the storage of grain while waiting shipment on such lines of railroad, and to permit such elevators and warehouses to be erected, maintained, controlled, and operated by any person or corporation desiring to erect, maintain, control, and operate the same for said persons. And it is hereby made the duty of said railroad companies to receive and carry over their lines all grain offered for shipment to and from such private elevators and warehouses, and they shall receive in their cars and carry over their lines of railroad all grain offered in car-load lots at such stations without previous storage, and shall transport the same at the same rates charged for transporting grain for elevator and miller companies. And every railroad company that shall fail or refuse to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined the sum of $10,000 for each offense.

Mr. BERRY. I wish to make a parliamentary inquiry. The original agreement was to take the vote on the amendment of the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] at 1 o'clock, and on the bill and other amendments at 2 o'clock. By unanimous consent the time was extended until 3 and 4 o'clock instead of 1 and 2 o'clock. Thereafter, while the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS] was speaking, I understood the Senator from Ohio [Mr. SHERMAN] to ask that the time be extended fifteen minutes further. I think under that arrangement the Senator from Kansas [Mr. PEPPER] ought to have an opportunity to make his remarks any time before fifteen minutes to 4 o'clock.

Mr. HOAR. I understood the Senator from Kansas to have said all he desired to say. I waived my objection.

Mr. BERRY. I understood that the Senator from Kansas had been cut off in the remarks he desired to submit.

Mr. HOAR. Oh, no; I waived my objection to the Senator from Kansas speaking.

Mr. PEPPER. I only asked permission to state the fact, which I did state, that I was in possession of a concurrent resolution of the Legislature of Kansas asking for the passage of this bill. I did not intend to say anything further.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS], which has just been read. [Putting the question.] The yeas seem to prevail.

Mr. MILLS. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. If he were present I should vote for the amendment. I do not know how he would vote.

Mr. CARLISLE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. PADDOK].

Mr. GORDON (when Mr. COLQUITT'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. COLQUITT] is paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BRICE].

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am generally paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY]. I do not know how he would vote on this amendment, and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DUNN].

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WATKINS]. I do not know how he would vote on this bill, and I therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. HANSHROUGH (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SWEENEY]. I do not know how he would vote on this question. We will suppose that I should vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASSIDY]. I believe we are all in favor of "yea."

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMERON]. I wish to transfer my pair to the Senator from California [Mr. SHERMAN]. If the Senator from California were here he would vote for this amendment. I vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. GORDON. I understand that the pair I had with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WATKINS] is relieved by his being paired with another Senator. I vote "yea."

Mr. HOAR. I desire to say that I have not voted upon this amendment, because in the last it was offered and read before the Senate I was unable to understand it.

Mr. VANCE (after having voted in the affirmative). I voted under a misapprehension. I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WATKINS] and I withdraw my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 46; as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. POWER. I offer an amendment, which I send to the desk. The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to add to section 5 the following:

And all silver bullion purchased by or for the United States shall be delivered and payment made therefor on the day of its purchase or on the next day thereafter.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment. The amendment was rejected.

Mr. MILLS. I offer another amendment, which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed, after section 11, to insert a new section, as follows:

Sec. 15. Any person, corporation, or company who shall enter into any combination or agreement to fix the price at which grain shall be bought or sold in any market in the United States, or to prevent competition in the sale and purchase of grain or cotton, or other agricultural product in any market in the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined the sum of $10,000 for each offense so committed.

Mr. BUTLER. I move to insert after the word "grain" where it appears in the amendment, the words "or cotton."

Mr. MILLS. I accept that amendment.

Mr. HARRIS. I move to add after the word "cotton" the words "or other agricultural product."

Mr. MILLS. I accept that also, Mr. President.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment as proposed to be amended by the Senator from Tennessee is now stated.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Any person, corporation, or company who shall enter into any combination or agreement to fix the price at which grain or cotton or other agricultural product shall be bought in any market in the United States, or to prevent competition in the sale and purchase of grain or cotton or other agricultural product in any market in the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined the sum of $10,000 for each offense so committed.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment as modified.

Mr. BUTLER. I call for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. WASHBURN (when the name of Mr. ALDRICH was called). I desire to announce the pair of the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY].

Mr. DIXON. When my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] left the Chamber he informed me that he was paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR].

Mr. WASHBURN. I understood from the Senator from Rhode Island that that pair had been transferred.

Mr. DIXON. I did not have any such understanding.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. If he were present I should vote "yea." I do not know how he would vote.

Mr. CARLISLE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. Paddock].

Mr. CLERGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH].

Mr. HANSBROUGH (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS]. I do not know how he would vote on this amendment. Were he present I should vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I again announce my pair with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY].

Mr. VANCE (when his name was called). I reannounce my pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. PROCTOR. The pair I had with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] I understand has been transferred to the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY]. I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. DIXON. When my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] left he informed me that he was paired against this bill with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. When the announcement was made by the Senator from Minnesota [Mr. WASHBURN] that my colleague was paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY] I had no information of such a pair, and have had no information now of such a pair. The announcement made by the Senator from Minnesota I understand to apply to this particular vote.

YEAS—26

Berry.	Cullom.	Hiscock.	Ransom.
Blackburn.	Daniel.	Huntton.	Vest.
Butler.	Frye.	Jones of Ark.	Vilas.

Carlisle.	George.

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. POWER. I wish to move an amendment. In section 3, line 4, after the word "bacon," I move to insert the words "and silver bullion;" so as to make the section read:

That the articles to which the foregoing sections relate are raw or unmanufactured cotton, hops, wheat, corn, flour, oats, rye, barley, pork lard, and bacon, and silver bullion.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment submitted by the Senator from Montana [Mr. POWER].

Mr. POWER. On that I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). On this question I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I do not know how he would vote. I should vote "yea" if he were here.

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I desire to understand whether there has been any transfer of the pair of the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY], who has been heretofore paired with myself. If not, I will observe my pair.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON] can answer the question of the Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. DIXON. I did not hear the question of the Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. FAULKNER. I ask the Senator from Rhode Island whether there has been any transfer of the pair which has existed heretofore between the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY] and myself. If not, of course I will observe the pair. If there has been a transfer I will vote.

Mr. DIXON. I do not know of any transfer. All the information I have is that received this morning from my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH], requesting me to announce the pair existing between him and the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR].

Mr. PROCTOR. When the pair was made with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] the matter of transfer was mentioned, and in accordance with what I understood, I transferred the pair to the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY].

Mr. SHERMAN. Then the Senator from West Virginia has a right to vote.

Mr. FAULKNER. I should like to know whether that is satisfactory to the colleague of the Senator from Rhode Island. If so, I shall vote.

Mr. DIXON. I understood that the arrangement between my colleague and the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR] was simply on the passage of the bill. We have not reached that point yet.

Mr. FAULKNER. Then on this question, as there seems to be some doubt, I will withhold my vote.

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I again announce my pair with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. VANCE (when his name was called). I announce my pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

The roll call having been concluded, the result was announced—yeas 21, nays 44; as follows:

YEAS—21

Carey.	Hansbrough.	Power.	Washburn.
Chandler.	Jones of Ark.	Sawyer.	White.
Daniel.	Mills.	Shoup.	Wolcott.

Brice.	Faulkner.	Jones of Nev.	Vance.
Candeen.	George.	Paddock.	Warren.
Carlisle.	Gibson.	Pasco.

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I move to add at the end of section 3:

And, in addition to the products of petroleum, or certificates representing the same, and dealt in on the exchanges of the United States, also high wines, spirits, and whiskies.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment submitted by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT].

The amendment was rejected.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is, Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WHITE. On that I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DIXON (when Mr. ALDRICH'S name was called). Upon this question my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. If my colleague were present, he would vote "nay."

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I do not know how he would vote, but I understand he would vote for the bill. If he were here, I should vote "nay."

Mr. BLANKBURN when Mr. CARLISLE'S name was called. My colleague [Mr. CARLISLE] is paired with the junior Senator from Nebraska [Mr. PADDOCK]. I do not know how the Senator from Nebraska would vote, if present. If my colleague were present, he would vote "nay."

Mr. GORDON when Mr. CALVERT'S name was called. My colleague [Mr. CALVERT] is paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BRICE]. Were my colleague present and relieved of the pair he would vote "yea."

Mr. FAULKNER when his name was called. I desire to know whether there has been any transfer of the pair between the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY] and myself.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair will state that the junior Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON] has announced that his colleague [Mr. ALBION] is paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR].

Mr. PROCTOR. I wish to state that pair has been transferred to the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY].

Mr. FAULKNER. I recognize the right where two Senators are paired and both would vote the same way to have a transfer made on the floor of the Senate under the rules and regulations which govern the question of pairs. Under the circumstances I vote "yea."

Mr. GEORGE when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH].

Mr. HANSBROUGH when his name was called. I again announce my pair with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS]. I transfer my pair to the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES], and vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO when his name was called. I again announce my pair with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. CAMERON when Mr. QUAY'S name was called. If my colleague [Mr. QUAY] were present he would vote "yea."

Mr. VANCE when his name was called. I announce my pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. If he were present he would vote "yea." I am informed, and I should vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. MANDERSON. My colleague [Mr. PADDOCK] is paired with the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. CARLISLE]. The pair has been announced, but I desire to state that my colleague, if present, would vote "yea."

The result was announced—yeas 49, nays 29, as follows:

So the bill was passed.

Mr. WASHBURN. I move that the Senate request a conference with the House of Representatives on the bill and amendment.

Mr. HOAR. Is that motion in order?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Minnesota moves—

Mr. HOAR. Let that motion go over.

Mr. WASHBURN. Why should it go over?

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. DAWES and Mr. SHERMAN addressed the Chair.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is informed that the Committee on Appropriations has the right of way.

Mr. SHERMAN. I hope the Senator from Massachusetts will give way to me.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. DAWES. I move that the Senate suspend the consideration of the bill H. R. 22,000, so that the Committee on Appropriations, and other committees, may have the right of way for the purpose of reporting bills and amendments to the Senate, and for the purpose of conducting the business of the Senate.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN. I move that the Senate suspend the consideration of the bill H. bill being made the unfinished business, if there can be an understanding that when taken up it is to be laid aside to allow the measure to be completed the consideration of which has been already commenced.

Mr. HARRIS. If the Senator from Connecticut has rights of way he shall hold them, because it is not probable that he could get unanimous consent of the kind he suggests.

Mr. SHERMAN. The Senator from Connecticut can call up his bill in the morning hour, I have no doubt, by common consent. I have made this motion not in my own interest, but in the interests of others.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from Ohio.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I desire to make an inquiry. The first motion made by the Senator from Ohio was a request that the Nicaragua bill be the unfinished business to follow immediately upon the appropriation bill which is brought forward by the Senator from Massachusetts. Then upon the Senator from Illinois said he would not object provided it would take only two days, and the Senator from Missouri said if it meant only that there should be two speeches, one by the Senator from Alabama and the other by the Senator from Maine, he would agree to it.

I understand that if the Nicaragua bill comes up it comes up for serious consideration until it is finished and completed, whether it be one day or ten days, that it may be followed by such business as the Senate shall see fit to follow it with; and that during the time it is before the Senate it is up for general discussion. If I am misinformed I should be glad if the Chair would inform me correctly.

Mr. SHERMAN. I have already stated that I desire to have the bill made the unfinished business, according to the rule of the Senate, that whenever it is desired to call up an appropriation bill it shall give way, as it ought to give way to it; and that every effort will be made to assist the Senator from Connecticut, who has charge of another bill, which is of public interest. I have no doubt we can get along harmoniously, but I desire to have the Nicaragua bill made the unfinished business, so that Senators who desire to speak upon it may do so; and I hope in a very brief period, as soon as possible, to get a vote on the passage of the bill one way or the other.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Ohio. The debate proceeds by unanimous consent.

Mr. VEST. I have not the slightest disposition to be guilty of an act of discourtesy towards any Senator who desires to discuss the measure; I utterly disclaim that; but this is an extraordinary motion.

Mr. SHERMAN. It is the usual motion.

Mr. VEST. Of course it is permissible by the rules; but the Senator from Ohio, with his long experience, knows that at this late day in the session he should not seek to bring that bill forward when another bill, which is of very great importance to a large portion of the people of this country, has been partially considered and is now pending—must be thrust aside in order to take up the measure, and when every intelligent man knows that there can be no finality in the action of Congress upon it during the present session. I do not say that the other measure has the right of way, but it has been partially considered, and the understanding was that we were to take it up and finish it as soon as the appropriation bill was disposed of.

Mr. SHERMAN. What bill does the Senator refer to?

Mr. VEST. The bill in regard to the Cherokee Strip.

Mr. SHERMAN. I have already stated that I have no objection to having that bill disposed of, and the Senator from Connecticut says he hopes to dispose of it in the morning hour tomorrow.

Mr. VEST. The Senator from Ohio stated that that bill might be considered in the morning hour.

Mr. SHERMAN. I hope so.

Mr. VEST. It can not be finished in the morning hour. The result will be that at the conclusion of the morning hour that bill, if unfinished, will go over and the Nicaragua bill will then come up as the unfinished business after the appropriation bill is out of the way.

Mr. SHERMAN. If the Nicaragua bill is taken up I do not think Senators will have any difficulty in arranging in regard to the Cherokee Strip bill. I have no desire to impede that measure. That is a bill of public importance; and as to the appropriation bills, the rules give them priority.

Mr. VEST. Mr. President, we might as well be entirely frank about the matter. Every hour and every minute remaining of this session should be devoted to measures that we believe can be perfected into law by the present Congress. I assert what all of us know, I think, that this Nicaragua bill can not become a law during this Congress. If the Senate were to pass it, it would not become a law. That is an open secret. But there are bills here which some of us consider of equal or more importance, that are pressing upon the attention of Congress, and why should we not take them up and dispose of them? The result of the action of the Senator from Ohio will be simply to delay other measures and cause the Nicaragua bill to be no nearer becoming a portion of the statutes of the country. I hope that the motion will not prevail.

Mr. PEPPER. Mr. President—

Mr. FRYE. I rise to a point of order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Maine will state his point of order.

Mr. FRYE. Is there not a rule of the Senate which provides that a motion to proceed to the consideration of any bill on the Calendar is not debatable?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Certainly there is. The debate has proceeded by unanimous consent.

Mr. FRYE. The rule was made in order to prevent what has been going on here for the last half hour.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair has several times attempted to put the motion of the Senator from Ohio and will put it again. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from Ohio to proceed to the consideration of Senate bill 1218.

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. HARRIS. Now, if the Senator from Ohio will ask unanimous consent that the Senators he has named may have the privilege of calling up the Nicaragua Canal bill and addressing the Senate on to-morrow or any other day, I shall be very glad to see that consent given.

Mr. BUTLER. I submit to the Senator from Tennessee that that is not at all necessary.

Mr. COCKRILL. Not at all.

Mr. BUTLER. Any Senator has a right to take the floor and address the Senate on that or any other bill.

Mr. HARRIS. The Senator from South Carolina is quite right about that.

Mr. BUTLER. I do not see that any unanimous consent is necessary.

Mr. MORGAN. If I can have unanimous consent I should like to say a word about this matter. I have not asked that the Senate should grant me any indulgence in the discussion of the Nicaragua Canal bill. If the bill comes up for consideration I desire to make some observations upon it, but not extended at all. I am very much more interested in hearing what other Senators have to say than in anything that I have to say about it, and I do not care to have the bill brought up just as a courtesy to me that I may make a speech upon it.

If the Nicaragua Canal bill does not recommend itself to the Senate of the United States upon its merits in such a way as to gain the support of this body, I do not want to have it considered for my part. I think it is a great measure, in which the country is immensely interested, and just at this moment of time a vote upon the bill in the Senate of the United States, which I think would be in favor of its passage, would perhaps be of greater significance and more important than any vote the Senate of the United States will cast during this session.

The Senator from Missouri says it is an open secret that the bill can not be passed. I do not know where the Senator gets his open secret from. I am quite of a different opinion from the Senator from Missouri. If the Senate of the United States, after a very brief discussion, say of a day or two days, should pass the bill, my opinion is that it would pass the House of Representatives. My opinion is that the country has brought such a pressure to bear upon the bill from all quarters and from all circles of business men and persons interested in the welfare and prosperity of the country that the House of Representatives would find itself unable to resist. That is my judgment about it. So if a movement is made here for the passage of the Nicaragua Canal bill, it will be in perfect good faith and with the expectation of passing it through the House of Representatives. I am not asking any courtesy from the Senate.

Mr. HALE. I call for the regular order, Mr. President.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The regular order is the fertilization appropriation bill.

Mr. DAWES. Let the bill be read, and I ask that the amendments of the Committee on Appropriations be acted upon as they are reached in the reading of the bill.

Mr. DOLPH. I ask the Senator from Massachusetts to allow me to conclude my remarks commenced this morning, that they may appear in to-morrow's Record.

Mr. HALE. I call for the regular order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The regular order is called for.

Mr. DAWES. I would be very glad to yield to the Senator from Oregon, but we must go on with the appropriation bill.

Mr. DOLPH. I do not intend any discourtesy to the Senator

The next amendment was under the head of "For the fire department," page 31, after line 14, to insert:

For new engine and house, lot and furniture for same, $29,500.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 31, line 21, to increase the total appropriations for "the fire department" from $32,300 to $61,800.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was under the head of "Telegraph and telephone service," page 32, line 13, to increase the appropriation "for general supplies, repairs, etc.," from $8,000 to $10,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 32, after line 13, to insert:

To make present lines secure, $5,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, under the head of "Health department," page 32, line 16, before the word "sanitary," to strike out "eight" and insert "ten;" in line 17, before the word "food," to strike out "and;" and in the same line, after the word "food," to insert "and garbage;" so as to read:

Ten sanitary, food, and garbage inspectors, etc.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, under the head of "Health department," on page 33, line 2, after the word "messenger," to insert "and janitor;" so as to read:

One messenger and janitor, $510.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 33, line 6, to increase the total appropriations for the health department from $25,710 to $28,140.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 33, line 10, before the word "and" where it occurs the second time, to strike out "garbage" and insert "garbage."

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 33, after line 11, to insert the following proviso:

Provided, That the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may, in their discretion, allow an additional sum, not exceeding 50 cents per ton, for the removal of said garbage in steel tanks or carts, and its immediate destruction within the limits of the District, and the sum of $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated for such purposes, and the appropriation for the current fiscal year of $2,500, or so much thereof as may be necessary, may be expended in the same way for the same purposes.

Mr. McMILLAN. I offer an amendment to the amendment of the committee. I move to add the following additional proviso:

Provided further, That said Commissioners may in their discretion, in case the safety and health of the District in their judgment requires it, allow for the daily collection of garbage during the months of May, June, July, August, and September of the year 1893 an additional sum not exceeding $10.00 per month during the time when such daily collection is made to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and the sum of $5,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated for such purpose.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Michigan to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. COCKRELL. I should like to have some explanation of the amendment to the amendment.

Mr. McMILLAN. The people of the District of Columbia are complaining very much in regard to the collection of garbage. As now arranged, during the very hot months the garbage will be collected about two or three times a week, and it is not collected as often as that in some cases.

A great many of the houses in the District have very little back premises, and in case we should have an extremely warm season, as we are likely to have, the people here are afraid of the consequences, especially if we should be visited by cholera. They have asked for this additional service with practical unanimity. They ask that the Commissioners shall have power given them to have a daily service in removing garbage if they find it is necessary, and the work is put in their charge. If the weather is extremely hot and we have a great deal of sickness here, the Commissioners will have the power under my amendment to have the garbage removed daily. That is all there is of it.

Mr. SHERMAN. How much is proposed to be appropriated?

Mr. McMILLAN. Five thousand dollars or $1,000 a month.

Mr. HARRIS. It is to be wholly discretionary with the Commissioners. If absolutely necessary they may exercise the power, and if it is not necessary they will not do it.

Mr. COCKRELL. Will it give anything for garbage inspectors?

Mr. McMILLAN. It will give nothing at all for garbage inspectors. It is simply to remove the garbage, which ought to be removed every day in hot weather.

Mr. COCKRELL. I think some appropriation ought to be made for this purpose, but the garbage collections ought to be reduced to a system and a method. The sanitary and food and garbage inspectors ought to go around with their eyes open so as to see anything deleterious to health or to food, or any garbage. The sanitary or food inspectors should not pass along and see garbage collected and say nothing about it. They ought to perform all such duties.

When this city shall have been divided into districts properly into garbage districts, the police, in the discharge of their official duties as conservators of the peace, should make the most efficient garbage inspectors that can be found, they can perform this duty while they are performing their other duties. They can go through the alleys and they can report the collection of garbage. They ought to be a force constant to correspond with the districts of the police and upon their beats, and the policemen ought to be required to make a report whenever the garbage is not collected.

If they are made to do what they can do without any great increase of their labors, the present system of collection three times a week will preserve this city and save it a cent. If the policeman do not do it, if there is not a division of the District into garbage districts to correspond with the others and these officers are not put over them, the chances are that even if we make this appropriation the garbage will not be collected as efficiently as it ought to be.

I hope, however, the system which has been adopted will secure the collection of garbage. We have reversed the policy heretofore prevailing in this city, where it was to the interest of the contractor to collect no garbage, and the less garbage he collected the less he expended, the greater was his profit. We are now trying to reverse that so as to make it to the interest of the parties to collect every bit they can, because they are to get paid for it by the ton.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment to the amendment.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The reading of the bill was resumed.

The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, under the head of "courts," page 33, line 7, after the word "dollars," to strike out "one deputy clerk, $1,000" and insert "two deputy clerks, at $1,000 each;" in line 13, before the word "dollars," to strike out "heaterman, four hundred and twenty" and insert "engineer, nine hundred;" and in line 14, before the word "dollars," to strike out "sixteen thousand seven hundred and sixteen" and insert "eighteen thousand one hundred and sixty-six;" so as to make the clause read:

For the police court. For two judges, at $3,000 each, compensation of two justices of the peace acting as judges of the police court during the absence of said judges, not exceeding $200 a month each, $2,000; one deputy clerk, $1,500; two deputy clerks, at $1,000 each, three hundred and sixty-six; $2,516; one deputy marshal, at $4 per day, $30; one messenger, $200; one doorkeeper, $40; one engineer, $900; and $18,166.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 35, after line 22, to insert:

MUNICIPAL BUILDING.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized and directed to obtain by a formal contract, detailed plans and specifications for a fire-proof municipal building, to be erected on the site to be located on the reservation north of the Washington Monument, between Seventh and Ninth streets NW, in the City of Washington.

The Commissioners shall select from the plans submitted, the one best received, one for which $20,000 is hereby appropriated. To be paid out of said sum to the successful competitor, in the form of a cash award, or pension whatever.

Mr. GORMAN. This amendment provides practically for the construction of a building for the District of Columbia to accommodate all the offices, the police court and everything connected with the District, the building to be erected on the Government reservation upon Pennsylvania avenue, between Seventh and Ninth streets, immediately in front of the present market house. I know that it comes with the recommendation of the majority of the Committee on Appropriations. Personally, I think it would be very unfortunate to have the building erected on that square, particularly for such a purpose.

It is a central point in the matter of the location of the building there, with the police court and all the offices, where the people who gather daily immediately in front of the building, as soon as the city goes to market, all the huts, shops, and all the things. I think would be most unfortunate, outside of the fact that it would be the destruction of the market. I would want to register my protest against it here. I think the Senate will have to vote me that while this building is being put on, it is to be placed at that point.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment to the committee.

Mr. HOAR. Let the amendment go over until the next bill is reached.

Mr. CALL. I wish to indorse the observations of the Senator from Maryland. I think it would be very unfortunate to destroy the beauty of the city, and its healthfulness by filling up the parks with edifices of any kind. I hope the amendment will not become a law.

Mr. ALLISON. As suggested by the Senator from Massachusetts, I hope the amendment will be passed over without a vote upon it at this time. The Senate is not very full at present, and I do not expect to get a final vote upon the bill to-day. I think it due to Senators who are absent that they should have some opportunity to vote on amendments to-morrow.

I will say to the Senator from Maryland and other Senators, that this space has been set apart for a good many years in the minds of the people of the District of Columbia as the proper place for the erection of such a public building. If it is not erected there it must be erected on ground to be purchased by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

Mr. HARRIS. Does the space referred to begin on Seventh street, running west and north of Pennsylvania avenue?

Mr. GORMAN. South of the avenue.

Mr. ALLISON. South of Pennsylvania avenue.

Mr. RANSOM. Between Pennsylvania avenue and the Washington Market building.

Mr. ALLISON. I will state that this space was originally leased to the market company a number of years ago for a term of ninety-nine years. The term of the lease was changed and the rent reduced, with a view to the erection of a public building at this spot.

I have no wish about the matter myself. Of course, we can not provide for plans and specifications for a public building without knowing where the building is to be erected and the character of the ground upon which it is to be placed.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to ask the chairman of the committee if the amendment would not absolutely fix the building at that point by the provision as to plans and specifications?

Mr. ALLISON. If we are to have plans and specifications for a municipal or District building it is necessary that we shall know where it is to be erected. As I said, I have no wish about the matter; I am entirely willing, so far as I am concerned, that the whole provision shall be stricken out and that the question shall be postponed until another time. Certainly I do not wish to press it against the opinion of many Senators. I ask that the amendment may be passed over for the time being.

Mr. HOAR. If the Senator consents to have it stricken out I shall not ask that it be passed over.

Mr. ALLISON. I do not want to have it stricken out at this moment. Let it be passed over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be passed over, and the reading of the bill will be proceeded with.

Mr. PASCO. Before we pass from the subject I should like to ask the Senator from Maryland, through the Chair, whether he has any other location to suggest in place of this in case the objection should seem good?

Mr. GORMAN. No, I have no other location in the city in mind. I have not myself been charged with the duty of looking up one. But I protest against the use of this particular lot for such a purpose. I should be very loath indeed to use one of the public squares on the avenue for a building for any purpose whatever; but the point I make is that we should not locate the municipal building immediately on Pennsylvania avenue at the most public place on the avenue between here and the President's house, in front of the main market of the town, where all the ladies go, for it is the custom of the ladies of this city, the wives of members of Congress and Senators and all the residents, to go to market.

I say to add to the straggling crowd that already collects around the market all the criminals of this city, and bring them there and have them on exhibition, and have our wives and daughters pass by them and see them as they are manacled and brought in and out, would be a great outrage. I am opposed to it, and I trust the Senate will never permit such a structure and such a nuisance to be erected at that place.

Mr. PASCO. This matter has been discussed occasionally before our Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and this seemed to be a suitable location. I admit that the arguments advanced by the Senator from Maryland are good, but I wish he had carried his investigation further so as to suggest a more suitable site where the objections he has mentioned would not exist. There is certainly great force in what he says.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be passed over informally and the reading of the bill will proceed.

The reading of the bill was resumed.

The next amendment was, on page 36, after line 10, to insert:

ROCK CREEK PARK.

For care of and preparing plans for the improvement of Rock Creek Park, $10,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 37, line 21, after the word "almshouse," to insert "and repairs;" so as to read:

For renewal of plumbing in the almshouse and repairs, $3,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, in the appropriations "for Reform School," page 39, line 1, after the word "apparatus," to strike out "and so forth;" so as to read:

For one additional brick family building, including heating apparatus, $29,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 40, after line 16, to insert: For the Industrial Home School: For reconstructing the garret of the old central building so as to make it into a story of the regular height, $1,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 41, line 11, after the word "for," to strike out "and management of;" so as to read:

And hereafter the expenditures for the Freedmen's Hospital and Asylum shall be under the supervision and control of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 3, to insert:

For the Church Orphanage Association of St. John's Parish, maintenance, $1,400.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 5, to insert:

For the German Orphan Asylum, maintenance, $1,400.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 7, to insert:

For the National Association for the Relief of Destitute Colored Women and Children, maintenance, including its care of colored foundlings, $9,100.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 10, to insert:

For St. Ann's Infant Asylum, maintenance, $1,550.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 12, to insert:

For St. Joseph's Asylum, maintenance, $1,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 14, to insert:

For the Woman's Union Christian Association, maintenance, $175.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 16, to insert:

For the Association for Works of Mercy, maintenance, $1,400.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 18, to insert:

For House of the Good Shepherd, maintenance, $2,100.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 20, to insert:

For the Industrial Home School, maintenance, $9,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 42, after line 22, to insert:

For St. Rose's Industrial School, maintenance, $3,500.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 43, line 4, before the word "thousand," to strike out "six" and insert "five;" in line 9, before the word "dollars," to strike out "forty-seven thousand" and insert "nineteen thousand eight hundred and seventy-five;" and in line 11, before the word "dollars," to strike out "fifty-three thousand" and insert "twenty-four thousand eight hundred and seventy-five;" so as to read:

For the Board of Children's Guardians, created under the act approved July 26, 1892, namely: For administrative expenses, including salaries of agents, expenses in placing and visiting children, and all office and sundry expenses, $5,000, to be immediately available; for care of feeble-minded children, for the care of children under three years of age, white and colored, for the board and care of all children over three years of age, and for the temporary care of children pending investigation or while being transferred from place to place, $16,875; in all, $21,875: Provided, That the authority for placing feeble-minded children of the District of Columbia, heretofore given to the Secretary of the Interior, is hereby transferred to the Board of Children's Guardians.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 43, line 16, after the words "that the," to strike out "institution" and insert "institutions."

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 44, line 1, after the word "appropriation," to insert "and the inmates of each of such institutions, on the 30th day of June, 1893."

Mr. ALLISON. That amendment should be disallowed to.

The amendment was rejected.

The next amendment was, on page 44, line 3, after the word "remitted," to insert "except as herein specifically appropriated for;" so as to make the additional proviso read:

As provided further, That the institution for children, including industrial and reformatory, namely, the Church Orphanage of St. John's Parish, the German Orphan Asylum, the National Association for the Relief of Des-without pre-arranging the terms of the sale. The court said that to pay money out of the fund for the sale of the property in the matter will have to take its course.

Court of Claims or else go to the Committee on Indian Affairs. It seems to me. At least I want to look into it.

Mr. KYLE. I sincerely hope there will be no objection to the bill which has been brought up at the request of the Senator from Missouri. It had a very thorough discussion before the Select Committee on Indian Depredations, to which it was referred, and an amendment has been placed on the bill to the effect, I believe, that the Secretary of the Interior shall first consult with the leaders of the Sioux Nation and after having consulted with them and given them a hearing, if in his judgment this amount should be paid from the interest due them then it shall be done, but not until then.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I shall insist on my objection. The bill can go over without prejudice. I wish to have an opportunity to look into it. After I have had an opportunity to look at it I may withdraw my objection.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection being made, the bill goes over.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILLS.

Mr. COCKRELL. I suggest, if the Senator from Connecticut does not wish to proceed with the Cherokee Outlet bill, that we devote ten or fifteen minutes to the consideration of unobjected House bills on the Calendar.

Mr. PLATT. I have no objection to that course. I simply desire to keep the Cherokee Outlet bill before the Senate as the unfinished business.

Mr. COCKRELL. I ask that the Senate proceed to the consideration of unobjected House bills upon the Calendar reported favorably.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Missouri? The Chair hears none, and the first House bill on the Calendar favorably reported will be announced.

ARKANSAS RIVER BRIDGE AT LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

Mr. ALLISON. Before we proceed with the order just made I ask unanimous consent for the consideration of a bridge bill. I objected this morning on account of some misunderstanding to a bill of local importance to Arkansas. I did not know that unanimous consent had been given for the consideration of the bill. I think it will take but a moment to put the bill on its passage. The Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] is entirely familiar with it.

Mr. VEST. It is a bill simply extending the limitation as to the construction of a railroad bridge at Little Rock.

Mr. COCKRELL. What is the order of business?

Mr. VEST. The bill was reported this morning, and is not on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill was reported to-day from the Committee on Commerce. Is there objection to its present consideration?

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (S. 3798) to authorize the building of a railroad bridge at Little Rock, Ark., which had been reported from the Committee on Commerce with an amendment, to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

"That section 7 of an act entitled 'An act to authorize the building of a railroad bridge at Little Rock, Ark.,' approved March 2, 1891, be amended so as to read as follows:

"This act shall be null and void, if construction on said bridge shall not be commenced on or before January 1, 1894, and completed on or before January 1, 1896; and all the benefits of this act shall inure and belong to the Little Rock Bridge and Terminal Railway Company, a corporation existing under the laws of Arkansas, its successors or assigns, provided, the navigation of the Arkansas River shall not be obstructed by false work during the construction of said bridge.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The title was amended so as to read: "A bill to amend an act entitled 'An act to authorize the building of a railroad bridge at Little Rock, Ark.'"

SETTLEMENT RIGHTS ON PUBLIC LANDS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The first House bill on the Calendar will be stated.

The bill (H. R. 7028) to protect settlement rights where two or more persons settle upon the same subdivision of agricultural public lands before survey thereof, was announced as first in order, and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to its consideration.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I am instructed by the Committee on Public Lands to offer as an amendment, to be added as additional sections to the pending bill, Senate bill 3393, entitled "A bill to amend an act approved March 3, 1891, entitled 'An act to repeal timber-culture laws, and for other purposes.'"

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK proceeded to read the amendment, but before concluding was interrupted by—

Mr. PASCO. Before the reading proceeds further, I desire to say that if the amendment is to be pressed I hope the subject will go over until to-morrow without prejudice. I do not recollect that the Committee on Public Lands consented to the amendment proposed by the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PETTIGREW] at any committee meeting. It is certainly not so reported by the Senator who reported the bill.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I will say that the committee did unanimously agree to this amendment and authorized me to offer it as an amendment to the pending bill.

Mr. PASCO. My recollection is that there was objection made by some Senators whom I do not now see in the Senate.

Mr. PETTIGREW. There were no objections.

Mr. PASCO. It will not prejudice the matter to call it up under the same understanding upon which we have acted for several days.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go over without objection, as the Chair understands.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I should like to have the amendment read through and printed.

Mr. PASCO. I shall not object to that.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the amendment be printed. I do not see why we should consume time by reading it through now.

Mr. PETTIGREW. Very well, let the amendment be printed.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment proposed by the Senator from South Dakota will be printed.

Mr. CAREY. I have an amendment which I desire to offer to the bill, to be printed together with that of the Senator from South Dakota.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That order will be made in the absence of objection.

ADMISSION OF NEW MEXICO.

The bill (H. R. 7136) to enable the people of New Mexico to form a constitution and State government, and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let that be passed over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

PROTECTION OF RAILROAD EMPLOYEES, ETC.

The bill (H. R. 9350) to promote the safety of employes and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers and continuous brakes and their locomotives with driving-wheel brakes, and for other purposes, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let that bill be passed over without prejudice, retaining its place on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It will be so ordered.

UTAH COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION EXHIBIT.

The bill (H. R. 7827) to enable the people of the Territory of Utah to provide for the collection, arrangement, and display of the products of said Territory at the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893 was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let that bill go over. I did not hear the title fully. Does it provide for the admission of a Territory into the Union as a State?

Mr. PLATT. No, it does not. The bill is simply to enable the people of the Territory of Utah to provide for a display at the World's Columbian Exposition.

Mr. COCKRELL. I had not observed that.

Mr. PLATT. I do not think it is necessary, however, to consider the bill now. I understand a sufficient amount has been subscribed from private sources in the Territory to enable the exhibition to be made.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

STOCKBRIDGE AND MUNSEE INDIANS.

The bill (H. R. 3594) for the relief of the Stockbridge and Munsee tribe of Indians, in the State of Wisconsin, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. SAWYER. Let that bill go over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

DAVID RYAN.

The bill (H. R. 3894) to confer jurisdiction upon the Court of Claims to hear and determine the claim of David Ryan against the United States was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. FRYE. That is objected to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

FOG SIGNAL AT TIBBETS POINT, LAKE ONTARIO, NEW YORK.

The bill (H. R. 8956) establishing a fog signal at Tibbets Point, Lake Ontario, New York, was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It proposes to establish a fog signal at Tibbets Point tee on Public Lands is disposed to do any injury to any persons who have obtained title from the United States, or to do any injustice to persons who have instituted proceedings for the obtaining of titles under the public land laws.

If the report is to be printed for the information of the Senate I have nothing further to say about it. If it is insisted that it shall go to a committee, I insist that it shall go to the committee which has always had jurisdiction and which is entitled to jurisdiction of the subject-matter.

Mr. FELTON. In order that the report may not "sleep the sleep that knows no waking," I suggest to my colleague upon the committee whether it would not be better to have it referred to some committee which may take such action as it may see fit or such action as we have reported, so that something may come out of it.

There is no doubt but that there are two sides to this question, nor is there any doubt but that there is a difference of opinion between the settlers who have suffered upon that coast and the Interior Department. I apprehend it will be found that the report of the special committee will not be in accordance with the opinion of the Interior Department, but we would like to have it considered, and we would like to have the sense of the Senate as to whether the views of the Interior Department or the views of the special committee shall prevail, whether justice shall be refused or be done; and it will require some action by a regular committee to bring that about in the next Congress, as there will hardly be time in which to consider it at the present session.

Mr. DOLPH. Why does not the special committee report with their evidence a bill which can go on the Calendar? If that were done, I would not insist that the matter shall go before the Committee on Public Lands, but if it is proposed to refer it now to a standing committee I must insist on the jurisdiction of that committee.

Mr. FELTON. The committee did not report a bill for the reason that it thought nothing possibly could be accomplished in this Congress, and a portion of the membership of the committee will not be in the next. The committee earnestly desire that the matter shall have as early consideration as is possible, so that the wrong may be righted.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let the report be printed and lie on the table.

Mr. PASCO. As there seems to be great difference of opinion as to what course this matter should take, I suggest that for the present the report be allowed to lie on the table and be printed. It can then be inspected by different Senators and at some proper occasion action can be agreed upon without consuming so much time in considering it at present. Then the matter would come before Senators at length and some proper action could be based upon the report. A motion to refer would then be in order. I suggest that for the present, without any prejudice to the matter, the report be allowed to lie on the table and be printed.

Mr. KYLE. It seems to me that is the correct course to take in regard to this matter.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That course will be adopted, if there be no objection. The Chair hears none.

OBSERVATIONS OF NAVAL OBSERVATORY.

Mr. MANDERSON, from the Committee on Printing, to whom was referred the concurrent resolution submitted by him January 9, 1893, reported it without amendment; and it was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to, as follows:

Resolved by the Senate of the United States (the House of Representatives concurring). That the annual volumes of the observations of the Naval Observatory, commonly known as the Washington Observations, for the years 1889, 1890, 1891, and 1892, be printed, and that 1,000 additional copies of each volume be printed, of which 300 shall be for the use of the Senate, 500 for the use of the House, and 800 for the use of the Naval Observatory; and, furthermore, that 1,200 separate copies of each of the astronomical appendices, and 1,000 separate copies of the meteorological and magnetic observations, extracted from each of the above volumes, be printed for the use of the Naval Observatory.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. DAWES introduced a bill (S. 3812) to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Apsa and other bands of Indians located upon the Siletz Reservation in the State of Oregon, and to make appropriation for carrying the same into effect; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. SHERMAN introduced a bill (S. 3813) granting an honorable discharge to John Russell; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. DUBOIS introduced a bill (S. 3814) to establish a port of delivery at Bonners Ferry, Idaho; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. PEPPER introduced a bill (S. 3815) to readjust the salary and allowances of the postmasters at Guthrie, Oklahoma City, and Kingfisher, in Territory of Oklahoma; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads.

Mr. McPHERSON introduced a bill (S. 3816) granting a pension to Ella Hatfield, invalid daughter of Maj. David Hatfield, First Regiment New Jersey Infantry Volunteer; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Pensions.

AMENDMENT TO APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. BUTLER submitted an amendment introduced to be proposed by him to the naval appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

COUNT OF ELECTORAL VOTES.

Mr. TELLER. Some time since a concurrent resolution was passed by both Houses for the counting of the electoral votes on the 8th day of the present month. In that resolution there is a provision that tellers shall be appointed on the part of the two Houses. The other House has appointed tellers. I suggest that tellers be now appointed on the part of the Senate. The resolution does not specify how they shall be appointed, and I suggest that the appointment be made by the Vice-President.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Colorado. The Chair hears none. The Chair appoints as tellers on the part of the Senate the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALLE] and the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN].

ANNEXATION OF HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

Mr. CHANDLER. I ask that the resolutions submitted by me in reference to the Hawaiian Islands be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The resolution will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. A concurrent resolution by Mr. CHANDLER, requesting the President to enter into negotiations with the present provisional government of Hawaii for the admission of the islands as a Territory of the United States.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The resolution will be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

AIDS TO NAVIGATION.

Mr. DOLPH. If there is no further pending business.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there further morning business? If not, that order is closed, and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. DOLPH. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 9955) providing for sundry light-houses and other aids to navigation. The bill was under consideration by the Senate several days ago, and I think it will not take long to dispose of it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Oregon moves that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill introduced by him.

Mr. DOLPH. I do not wish to discuss the motion to take up the bill or the bill itself. I simply want to get up the bill and let the reading proceed, and if the Senator from Missouri [Mr. COCKRELL] wishes to discuss it, he will have an opportunity to do so.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from Oregon.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on Commerce, with amendments.

Mr. DOLPH. I ask that the amendments of the committee be acted upon as they are reached in the reading of the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Such will be the order, in the absence of objection. The bill will be read.

Mr. DOLPH. Let the reading proceed from the point reached when the bill was under consideration several days ago.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That course will be pursued.

The Secretary resumed the reading of the bill.

Mr. COCKRELL. What bill is now being read? Let me understand what is up for consideration. Did I correctly understand the Senator from Oregon to move a substitute for the bill?

Mr. DOLPH. No; I moved that the bill be taken up for present consideration, and the motion was carried.

Mr. COCKRELL. Did not the Senator then move to substitute the Senate bill?

Mr. DOLPH. I simply asked that the reading of the bill might proceed from the point reached when it was under consideration before.

Mr. COCKRELL. I thought the Senator asked that a substitute bill be substituted.

Mr. DOLPH. No; I do not wish to substitute the bill. This is substantially the Senate bill; but the other House introduced its own bill instead of the Senate bill and sent it here.

Mr. BUTLER. My understanding has been that the bill for the ratification of the agreement with the Cherokee Indians would come up this morning.

Mr. PLATT. That is the unfinished business and will come up at 2 o'clock, unless there is an appropriation bill in the way.

Mr. BUTLER. I was going to suggest that we had better take that bill up in the morning hour. Why should we be going along in a haphazard way with the Calendar?

Mr. DOLPH. This bill will only take the time to read it. The Senator from Missouri wishes to make a speech, but that will not take five minutes.

Mr. BUTLER. That is the case with a good many bills, and I do not know that one of them is entitled to preference over a good many others.

Mr. DOLPH. The Senate has agreed to take this bill up.

Mr. BUTLER. The Cherokee Outlet bill has been partially considered by the Senate, and I am extremely anxious to have it disposed of, if possible.

Mr. PLATT. I should be very glad to take that bill up at the present time if it were not that I understand the Senator from Iowa, the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, proposes to go on with the District of Columbia appropriation bill at 2 o'clock, which would almost undoubtedly break into the consideration of the bill relating to the Cherokee Outlet. As the Cherokee Outlet bill is the unfinished business and has the right of way, I thought it better to wait until we could consider it without interruption and dispose of it.

Mr. BUTLER. I have no doubt we should be able to finish the bill by 2 o'clock.

Mr. DOLPH. I call for the regular order. I ask that the reading of the bill before the Senate be proceeded with.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The reading of the bill will proceed.

The Secretary resumed the reading of the bill and read to line 78, on page 4.

The first amendment of the Committee on Commerce was on page 4, line 75, after the word "on," strike out "north end;" and in the same line, after the word "island," to insert "at a point to be determined by the Light-House Board;" so as to make the clause read:

"On North Manitou Island, at a point to be determined by the Light-House Board, a light and fog signal, at a cost not exceeding $20,000."

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 6, beginning in line 114, to insert:

"On or near Butler Flats, entrance to the lower harbor of New Bedford, Mass., a light and fog signal station, at a cost not to exceed $10,000."

Mr. DOLPH. The House of Representatives has passed a bill for this light, which the Senate committee has reported favorably. The amendment was agreed to.

The reading of the bill was resumed.

The next amendment of the Committee on Commerce was, on page 6, after line 126, to insert:

"At Tibbets Point light, foot of Lake Ontario, New York, a fog signal at a cost not exceeding $4,000."

Mr. DOLPH. The Senate last evening passed a House bill which covers this item, and therefore this amendment may be disagreed to.

The amendment was rejected.

The reading of the bill was resumed and continued to the end of line 136, on page 6.

Mr. COKE. I am directed by the Committee on Commerce to propose at this point an amendment, which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. After line 136, on page 6, it is proposed to insert:

"At near the mouth of Brazos River, Texas, at such a point as the Light-House Board may determine, a light-house fog signal and line light at a cost not to exceed $10,000."

The amendment was agreed to.

The reading of the bill was resumed. The next amendment of the Committee on Commerce was, on page 7, line 146, after the word "point," to insert "which amount may be used for said light-house and fog signal;" so as to make the clause read:

"Eighty-seven, At Grays Harbor, Washington, a first order light-house and fog signal, at a cost not to exceed $60,000 in addition to the appropriation of $20,000 made in the act approved July 7, 1881, for a harbor light at this point, which amount may be used for said light-house and fog signal."

The amendment was agreed to.

The reading of the bill was resumed and concluded.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is still before the Senate as in Committee of the Whole, and open to amendment.

Mr. SAWYER. I have an amendment which I desire to offer, to come in after line 102, on page 5.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. After line 103, on page 5, it is proposed to insert:

"That there shall be a fog signal at Kewaunee, Wis., at a cost not exceeding $5,000."

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

Mr. DOLPH. The Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] has an amendment which he has been authorized by the Committee on Commerce to offer to the pending bill. When I called the bill up heretofore the Senator was here, and I thought he was present to-day, but I observe that he is not, and I ask that the further consideration of the bill be postponed until he is present, so as to leave it open to him to offer his amendment, after which the bill can be put on its passage without delay. I will call it up for that purpose as soon as the Senator from Maryland is here.

Mr. FRYE. Is the bill now in the Senate?

Mr. DOLPH. The bill is now in the Senate. It has gone as far as we can go with it without cutting off amendments. I ask now to have its further consideration postponed.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over at the request of the Senator from Oregon.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Mr. SHERMAN. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business. After 3 hours and 59 minutes spent in executive session, the doors were reopened.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. ALLISON. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10038) making appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HARRIS in the chair). The reading of the bill has been completed.

Mr. ALLISON. The bill was read through yesterday. I desire now to turn to page 17, line 1. An amendment was agreed to yesterday relating to the limitation of cost of the laboratories in connection with the gas works. That amendment should be inserted in line 5 after the word "Commissioners." I ask unanimous consent that it may be transposed to that point and inserted there, with the word "total" inserted before the word "cost;" so that it will read "at a total cost not to exceed $1,000 each."

Mr. HUNTON. Is that a committee amendment?

Mr. ALLISON. It is.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Iowa will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 1, on page 17, after the word "laboratories," it is proposed to strike out "at a cost not to exceed $1,000 each;" and in line 5, after the word "Commissioners," to insert "at a total cost not to exceed $1,000 each;" so as to read:

"That for securing a better fulfillment of the intent of an act entitled 'An act to improve gas works,' approved June 23, 1874, two additional laboratories shall be provided and fitted up by the Washington Gaslight Company, subject to the approval of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and shall be furnished with suitable apparatus, to the satisfaction of the said Commissioners, at a total cost not to exceed $1,000, for inspecting and testing the illuminating gas manufactured and distributed by the said Washington Gaslight Company and the gas meters used for measuring the gas supplied to consumers by the said Washington Gaslight Company."

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. The same words, which were inserted in line 15, on page 17, after the word "laboratory," should be transposed to line 20, and the word "total" also inserted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 17, line 15, after the word "laboratory," it is proposed to strike out "at a cost not to exceed $1,000," and in line 20, after the word "Commissioners," to insert "at a total cost not to exceed $1,000;" so as to read:

"And for securing a better fulfillment of the intent of the said act, a laboratory shall be provided and fitted up by the Georgetown Gaslight Company, subject to the approval of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and shall be furnished with suitable apparatus, to the satisfaction of the said Commissioners, at a total cost not to exceed $1,000, for inspecting and testing the illuminating gas manufactured and distributed by the said Georgetown Gaslight Company and the gas meters used for measuring the gas supplied to consumers by the said Georgetown Gaslight Company."

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. On page 18, line 22, after the word "necessary," I move to insert "additional."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 18, line 22, after the word "necessary," it is proposed to insert "additional;" so as to read:

"A sum sufficient to pay the salary of an inspector of gas-fitting, to be appointed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, at $1,000 per annum, and also the necessary official expenses of maintaining the service of inspecting and testing illuminating gas and gas meters, etc."

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. In line 23, after the word "meters," I move to insert "herein provided for."

ture use of the City Hall building for court purposes. It was provided in that act that the $75,000 should be devoted to securing ground for the erection of a municipal building between Seventh and Ninth streets on Pennsylvania avenue, and that the government of the District of Columbia should negotiate with what is known as the Washington Market Company, which has a lease of the large space below for ninety-nine years, for the space described in the amendment, which had already been leased for ninety-nine years to the Market Company.

The Market Company, I understand, released this space of ground to the District of Columbia. Of course there was no mention of the purposes for which it might be used. In consideration of that lease there was a large rebate made in the annual rental.

We find the situation as we have found it for a good many years; and when we are seeking to make an appropriation for a municipal building we always find an objection here and there to the location. The District of Columbia as has been truly said by the chairman of the committee, has been for some ten or twelve years without a municipal building. I know if this beginning is not made and if this space is not used for such a purpose, whilst it may be in the dreams of Senators a wise thing to acquire a lot upon Pennsylvania avenue for this purpose, that dream will not be realized in the near future, in my belief.

Under the guidance of the distinguished Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] we did procure a square for the purpose of a post-office building in this District and for the General Government. We condemned ground for a site for that building at a cost, I believe, of $1,201,000, or at least $1,200,000, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. It is true that when that was adopted in the Senate it was stated that a portion of the ground could be used for governmental purposes for the District, but afterwards when the plan came to be made for a city post-office it was decided that the whole ground space would be required for the city post-office.

Thereupon the two Houses in their wisdom, if it was wisdom, provided for the erection of an eight story building there, to be paid for out of the funds of the United States Government, and for the erection of a building which is to cost $2,200,000 when completed; and every portion of that space will be used by the Government of the United States, because it is hardly possible that we shall agree to allow the District of Columbia to enter a building belonging exclusively to the United States when the United States itself is paying $130,000 or $140,000 per annum for rented buildings in this city.

Now, the Committee on Appropriations have no pride about this matter. In fact, I may say in the confidence of the Chamber, if I can do so in the presence of our reporters, there was a division in the committee as respects the policy of providing for this plan of a building. I leave the whole matter, so far as I am concerned, to the Senate, and if Senators believe that this is an unwise thing to do, I am perfectly willing that it shall vote the amendment down.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Committee on Appropriations.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. STEWART. I desire to call the attention of the Senator from Iowa to a provision on page 15 concerning the contagious diseases hospital. Several gentlemen have spoken to me since that provision was inserted in the bill by the committee, and have suggested that it is placed in the discretion of the Commissioners to locate the hospital wherever they may find a place which they deem suitable; that this is a very wide discretion; and that they fear it might be located where it would be injurious to the people of the District.

It is always very desirable that the location for a hospital of such a character shall be where it will not affect the health of the inhabitants. These gentlemen suggested that if it were located anywhere to the north or northwest in any such direction, the prevailing winds are from that quarter, and it would be dangerous to the health of the city. They appeared to be very much concerned about the location of the hospital. I should like to have the chairman make some statement as to the understanding, if there is any understanding, where the hospital will be located if the provision is adopted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will state to the Senator from Nevada that the amendment having been already agreed to as in Committee of the Whole, the Senate had better take action as in Committee of the Whole on the bill, and when it comes into the Senate the amendment can be reserved, and any modification will then be in order.

Mr. STEWART. I merely want an explanation from the chairman of the committee at present.

Mr. ALLISON. If the Senate will indulge me for a moment, I hope the Senator from Nevada will see that there need be no reservation of this amendment. When the amendment was first prepared it was stated to us by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia that they believed there was a site available belonging to the District, but we asked the Commissioners to make a careful examination of that site. They did make such an examination and reported to the committee that the site they had in view, property belonging to the District, was not an available site, first, because there were no roads leading to it, and secondly, because it was, I think, 6 miles at least from Pennsylvania avenue, on the very edge of the District. It would of course, be impossible to transport sick persons that distance over roads not very good in some places.

But there is property belonging to the United States connected with the Insane Asylum, 350 acres, a portion of it in quite a remote locality, distant from the asylum, in the direction of the Potomac, which the Commissioners believe may possibly be used. However, we had not time to make the examination to see if it is available, and the provision was inserted in the bill leaving to the Commissioners the discretion as to the selection of a site.

I can not believe that the Commissioners would under any circumstances locate a hospital of this character in a place dangerous to the health of the people of the District. I think this discretion is safely lodged in them. We therefore added a provision authorizing them to purchase a site, which they believe they can purchase at a reasonable rate within the District for the $12,000 appropriated.

This hospital is so necessary to the health of the city that I trust no one will interfere with the appropriation here made, because I think it is a wise one, and I think it will be wisely administered by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill is before the Senate as in Committee of the Whole and open to amendment.

Mr. McMILLAN. I offer an amendment, to come in after the last line on page 50, at the end of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be read.

The SECRETARY. At the end of the bill insert:

That from and after the passage of this act it shall not be lawful for any person or persons in the District of Columbia to engage in the trades, business, and professions specified in the act of the late legislative assembly of the District of Columbia entitled "An act imposing a license on trades, business, and professions practiced or carried on in the District of Columbia," approved August 23, 1871, and the amendment thereto approved June 20, 1872, except such parts thereof as have been repealed, without first having obtained a license therefor in accordance with the provisions of said act of assembly and said amendment; and any person engaging in any of said trades or in the business and professions specified in said act and the said amendment thereto within the District of Columbia, without first having obtained a license therefor in accordance with the provisions of said act and the said amendment thereto, or who shall engage in any business in any part of the said District where by existing law a license is prohibited, shall, on conviction thereof in the police court of the District of Columbia, be fined not less than $10 nor more than $100, or a like fine or penalty for each subsequent offense, and in default of payment of such fine he or she shall be imprisoned in the common jail of said District not to exceed twelve months: Provided, That whenever the approval of the Commissioners is required to any application for a license under existing law or under regulation adopted by said Commissioners according to law, no person shall be deemed to have such license until he or she shall have obtained such approval.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment submitted by the Senator from Michigan [Mr. McMILLAN].

Mr. ALLISON. I think the amendment is in the nature of legislation and that there should be some explanation to go upon the record respecting it. I have been appealed to by the Committee on the District of Columbia to allow the amendment to go on the bill, because of its pressing necessity. I hope some member of the District will state the purport of the proposed amendment.

Mr. McMILLAN. I ask the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON], who had charge of the bill in the Senate, which is now offered as an amendment, to make an explanation. The bill was passed by the Senate. The Senator from Virginia is thoroughly familiar with the law of this District.

Mr. HUNTON. According to the law as it now stands all licenses upon trades, professions, and business in the District of Columbia depend upon the validity of the act of the legislative assembly approved August 23, 1871, and the amendment thereto, approved June 20, 1872. The licenses which have been issued in the District of Columbia since August 23, 1871, have been regulated by the provisions of that act of the legislative assembly. The act has recently been before the supreme court of the District of Columbia in the case of The United States vs. Noah, and the supreme court of the District decided in that case that the act of the legislative assembly regulating licenses in the District of Columbia was a revenue act and that the penalties denounced in the act were against the failure to pay the revenue. Consequently the court decided that where a party applying for a license paid the money necessary to obtain such license, whether the Commissioners approved or disapproved of the place or anything of that kind, the party had a right to go on recommendation be referred to the Committee on Appropriations with a view that the amounts reported be inserted by that committee in the deficiency appropriation bill if, in the judgment of the committee, that course should be taken. I accompany the bill with a report.

I will say one word, with the consent of the Senate, with reference to the report. The amount of claims included in the bill is precisely the same that was incorporated by the Senate at the last session in the deficiency appropriation bill—the same claims, the same amounts, and nothing else.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be referred as an amendment to the Committee on Appropriations and will be printed.

Mr. MORRILL, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, reported an amendment intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, the amendment providing for an appropriation for post-office building at San Francisco, Cal., and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations; which was agreed to.

He also, from the same committee, reported an amendment intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, the amendment providing for an appropriation of $800,000 for a custom-house building in New York City, N. Y.; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3783) to amend the several acts of Congress relating to the acquisition of property for a site and for the construction of a building for the custom-house in the city of New York, reported it with amendments.

Mr. DAWES, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3812) to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Alsea and other bands of Indians located on the Siletz Reservation, in the State of Oregon, and to make appropriation for carrying the same into effect, reported it with an amendment.

Mr. FRYE, from the Committee on Commerce, reported an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which, with the accompanying paper, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. VANCE introduced a bill (S. 3817) for the relief of W. W. Rollins, collector of internal revenue for the fifth collection district of North Carolina; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. HARRIS introduced a bill (S. 3818) for the relief of the trustees of the Presbyterian Church of Bethel Springs, Tenn.; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying House report, referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. BLODGETT introduced a bill (S. 3819) granting a pension to Mary Doubleday, widow of Bvt. Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. PETTIGREW introduced a bill (S. 3820) authorizing the purchase of certain of the school lands in the Territory of Oklahoma for cemetery purposes; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. SHERMAN (by request) introduced a bill (S. 3821) to authorize the construction of bridges across the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, their navigable tributaries, and other navigable rivers in the United States; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas introduced a bill (S. 3822) to extend the lease to the big iron bath house at Hot Springs, Ark.; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. MITCHELL introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 145) authorizing the issue of duplicate medals where the originals have been lost or destroyed; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Library.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. PEPPER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CALL submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Post-Office appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

WITHDRAWAL OF PAPERS.

Mr. CULLOM. I submit an order and ask unanimous consent for its adoption.

The order was read, as follows:

Ordered, That the rules be suspended, and that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to withdraw from the files of the Senate for exhibition in the World's Columbian Exposition, at the request of the Department of State, a memorial of Maria Hooper Anderson Vestal praying a pension of $100, and that she be admitted to the rank of widow.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the order.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it go over.

Mr. CULLOM. It is simply an order for the withdrawal of a paper that is on file here, and has been read several times. The purpose is to exhibit it at the World's Fair, and to give control of the State Department. That is all there is of it.

Mr. HARRIS. Still, under the rules, we cannot suspend the rules without giving one day's notice, except by unanimous consent.

Mr. CULLOM. I agree to that, and therefore I have asked unanimous consent.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the order?

Mr. COCKRELL. I should like to see it in print, and I should like to know why this person wants to get a little notoriety.

Mr. CULLOM. Let it go over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Missouri objects, and the order will go over.

CHARTERS AND STATE CONSTITUTIONS.

Mr. QUAY submitted the following resolution, which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Library be, and it is hereby, authorized and instructed to print, and report to the Senate the accuracy of preparing a new compilation of the various colonial charters and State Constitutions of each State of the United States, together with amendments thereto at any time in force.

TESTIMONY ON FAILED NATIONAL BANKS.

Mr. CHANDLER submitted the following concurrent resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Public Printer be, and he is hereby, directed to print and bind in cloth 7,000 copies of the testimony taken by the Senate Select Committee on Failed National Banks, together with the report of the committee of 4,000 copies shall be for the use of the House, 1,000 copies for the use of the Senate, and 1,000 copies to be distributed by the Comptroller of the Currency.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 10910) to establish a court of appeals for the District of Columbia, and for other purposes.

The message also announced that the House had agreed to the concurrent resolution of the Senate to print extra copies of Part I of the report of the Superintendent of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892.

The message further announced that the House had passed a bill (H. R. 10238) making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, and for other purposes; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message also announced that the House had passed a concurrent resolution providing for the printing of 4,500 copies of Report No. 2278, relating to combinations between the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company and other railroads; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had appointed Mr. CHIPMAN and Mr. LOVELL, clerks on the part of the House to count the electoral vote at the joint session of the two Houses, February 8, 1893.

The message also announced that the House had disagreed to the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 10038) making appropriations for the expenses of the Government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, and for other purposes, asked a conference with the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and had appointed Mr. DO KERY, Mr. CAMPBELL, and Mr. HENDERSON of Iowa managers at the conference on the part of the House.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills, and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (S. 509) granting an increase of pension to Thomas J. Matlock.

A bill (S. 3311) to refer claim of Jesse A. Carter for Private and certain lands, and the improvements thereon, in San Francisco, Cal., to the Court of Claims.

A bill (S. 3753) relating to the archery and medals in the Games of the Olympiad.

A bill (H. R. 5012) to increase the pension of Thomas J. Matlock.

A bill (H. R. 3752) to amend the act approved July 1, 1888, entitled "An act to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Arkansas River."

A bill (H. R. 8092) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Mobile River by the Chicago, Mobile and Gulf Ports Railroad Company.

A bill (H. R. 8554) establishing a fog signal at Tibbets Point, Long Island Sound, New York.

A bill (H. R. 9423) granting a pension to Mrs. Ann Mercer Searles and

A bill (H. R. 10063) to amend "An act authorizing the construction of a high wagon bridge across the Missouri River at or near Sioux City, Iowa," etc.

KICKAPOO INDIAN LANDS.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. If there be no further morning business that order is closed and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. TELLER obtained the floor.

Mr. DAWES. The Senator from Colorado has kindly yielded to me to ask the consideration by the Senate of a bill before he proceeds with his remarks. There is a bill upon the Calendar similar to one passed a day or two ago in my absence, which is in a peculiar situation. It will not cause any debate. The Senate has passed one bill and the other House has passed another. The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs have reported back the House bill with the substance of the Senate bill put in place of the House bill. I understand that the bill is satisfactory to everybody and I want to get it into conference. It relates to the Kickapoo agreement. I hope the Senate will indulge me long enough to get this bill passed through its different stages. If it causes any debate I will withdraw it.

Mr. TELLER. I yield for that purpose.

Mr. DAWES. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 7023) to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Kickapoo Indians in Oklahoma Territory, and to make appropriations for carrying the same into effect. If it causes any expenditure of time beyond the reading I will not ask the indulgence of the Senate at this time.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on Indian Affairs, with an amendment to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

"That said agreement be, and the same hereby is, accepted, ratified and confirmed, except as to article 3, which is modified and changed on the part of the United States so as to read as follows:

"In addition to the allotments above provided for, and the other allotments to be received under the preceding articles, and as to the other consideration, to be paid for the cession and relinquishment of title above referred to the United States agree to set apart and deposit in the Treasury of the United States the sum of $1,570, for the use of said Kickapoo Indians, which shall bear interest while so deposited at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. Provided, That the number of allotments of land provided for shall not exceed three hundred; but if the number of allotments shall exceed three hundred, then there shall be deducted from the said sum of $1,570 the sum of $30 for each allotment in excess of the three hundred, and one-third of the principal thereof shall be distributed by the Secretary of the Interior pro rata among the Indian allottees under said agreement, over and above the sum of the same to be paid to John T. Hill for services rendered said Indians by him in such sum and exceeding $5,474, as shall alter the principal of this act, be determined upon by said Indians in an agreement entered into for that purpose. The balance of the said sum shall be expended by the Secretary of the Interior, from time to time, and as he may deem proper, as he shall deem best, in the construction of roads and bridges, the building of school houses, the maintaining of schools, and in such other expenditures as he shall deem to be deemed necessary for the promotion of civilization and self-support among such of said Kickapoo as he may deem fit to tax, and in aid in carrying out said agreement under the laws of the United States."

And as so modified said agreement is accepted, confirmed and ratified. Provided, That this act shall take effect only upon the acceptance and consent to the modification and changes made by the United States to said agreement by the said Indians, in manner and form as said agreement was agreed to, to which acceptance and consent shall be made in writing by proclamation of the President of the United States, and in conformity with the said agreement and plan as set forth hereinafter in such manner and form as may be necessary.

"Section 2. That for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of the foregoing article, the Secretary of the Interior shall set out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States appropriated the sum of $1,570, to be used by him in aid of said Indians, as herein provided in article 5 of said agreement, as amended. Provided, That any portion of said sum which may be deposited in the Treasury of the United States shall bear not more than the rate of 5 per cent per annum, said interest to be expended annually for the benefit of said Indians in such manner as herein before provided.

"Section 3. That for the purpose of making the allotments and payments provided for in said agreement, including the preparation of a complete roll of said Indians, the pay and expenses of a special agent, and the necessary expenses necessary to appoint one for the purpose, and the necessary surveys or resurveys, there be, and hereby is appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $5,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

"Section 4. That whenever any of the lands acquired by this agreement shall, by operation of law or proclamation of the President of the United States, be set apart for settlement or entry, they shall be disposed of except sections to be set apart for homestead or town-site laws except section 2301 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which shall not apply. Provided, however, That each settler on said lands shall, before making a final proof and receiving a certificate of entry, pay to the United States for the land so taken by him, in addition to the fees provided by law, and within five years from the date of the first original entry, the sum of $1.50 an acre, one-half of which shall be paid within two years; but the rights of honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors, as defined and described in sections 2301 and 2305 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, shall not be abridged, except as to the sum to be paid as aforesaid. Until said lands are open to settlement by proclamation of the President of the United States, no person shall be permitted to enter upon or occupy any of said lands; and any person violating this provision shall never be permitted to make entry of any of said lands or acquire any title thereon. Provided, That any person having attempted to but for any cause failed to acquire a title in fee under existing law, or who made entry under what is known as the commuted provision of the homestead law, shall be permitted to make homestead entry upon said lands.

Mr. DAWES. I desire to offer an amendment to the amendment of the committee. At the end of section 2, line 11, on the twenty-first page, I move to add the following additional proviso:

Provided further, That none of the money or interest thereon which is by the terms of said agreement to be paid to said Indians shall be applied to the payment of any judgment that has been or may hereafter be rendered under the provision of the act of Congress approved March 3, 1891, entitled "An act to provide for the allocation and payment of claims arising from Indian depredations."

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

The preamble was agreed to.

Mr. DAWES. I move that the Senate request a conference with the House of Representatives on the bill and amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Vice-President was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate; and Mr. DAWES, Mr. PLATT, and Mr. JONES of Arkansas were appointed.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on this day approved and signed the following act and joint resolution:

An act (S. 3115) for the relief of Clement Reeves; and

A joint resolution (S. R. 124) directing the Secretary of War to investigate the subject of raft-towing on the Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

SETTLEMENT RIGHTS ON PUBLIC LANDS.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I ask unanimous consent at the present time to call up the bill (H. R. 7028) to protect settlement rights where two or more persons settle upon the same subdivision of agricultural public lands before survey thereof.

Mr. TELLER. If it will not take any time I will yield for that purpose. However, I wish to submit a few remarks to the Senate.

Mr. PETTIGREW. The bill has been read through, and it will take no time, I think, to dispose of it.

Mr. COCKRELL. I wish to say to the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT] and also to the Senator from Colorado [Mr. TELLER], that three or four very important amendments have already been offered to this bill. Two additional amendments are to be proposed, I understand. I am certain the bill will lead to discussion and will consume all the morning hour.

Mr. BERRY. I will state that I do not think it will require any discussion, with due respect to the Senator from Missouri. The Committee on Public Lands have agreed on the amendments.

Mr. COCKRELL. Have the committee agreed upon the amendment?

Mr. BERRY. The committee have agreed on the amendment reported by the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PETTIGREW]. There may be additional amendments; I do not know about that. They have not agreed on the additional amendments, but the amendment proposed by the Senator from South Dakota, the principal amendment, was agreed on. I do not know whether there are other amendments or not.

Mr. COCKRELL. I think the bill ought to be passed, but I ought to be considered. Let us go on with it. I interpose no objection.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 7028) to protect settlement rights where two or more persons settle upon the same subdivision of agricultural public lands before survey thereof, the pending question being on the amendment of Mr. PETTIGREW.

Mr. PASTOR. I wish to say that I objected to the consideration of this amendment the other day because some action had been taken in the committee during my absence, but I am informed by other members of the committee that it meets their views substantially. I therefore make no objection now to the consideration of the amendment.

of the Senator from Missouri [Mr. COCKRELL]. I concurred in the unanimous consent given a day or two ago that this hour should be devoted to unobjected House bills, but I wish to say that I think the practice which is growing up in the Senate of making such orders towards the close of a session is being carried too far, and I do not propose to give my consent hereafter to such arrangements being made as extensively as heretofore.

Such an arrangement gives to the other House a great advantage in legislation over the Senate, because it enables the House of Representatives during the last month or two of a Congress to send up and demand our attention to their bills (which are not passed under their rules with anything like the care bills are passed here, because they have the previous question), and to prevent the Senate from sending to the other House and getting like consideration for matters which it has carefully investigated.

I know of several bills which are ready to be reported to this body by committees of the Senate, bills clearly desirable for the public interest, which I think will not have a single dissent when they are brought to the attention of the Senate, and which ought to be taken up and passed here and go down to the other House and be passed there; but if we give all our time to unobjected House bills that can not be accomplished.

I propose hereafter in making these arrangements to see, if I can, that some proper time is reserved also for business originating in the Senate, which is now mature and ready for our consideration and which ought to go down to the other House and be passed there. But I make no objection to the pending order.

Mr. FRYE. Let us have the regular order.

Mr. COCKRELL. I think the Senator from Massachusetts is eminently right; but some of these House bills were reported from our committees at the last session, and if we now simply dispose of the cases which have been waiting we can make the others take a back seat.

Mr. CULLOM. Let the bill now reached on the Calendar be proceeded with.

SAFETY OF LIFE ON RAILROADS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill (H. R. 9350) to promote the safety of employes and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers and continuous brakes and their locomotives with driving wheel brakes, and for other purposes, is before the Senate as in Committee of the Whole; and the amendment reported by the Committee on Interstate Commerce as a substitute will be read.

Mr. HARRIS. I beg to make a suggestion to the Senator from Illinois, the chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce. He will remember, as I do, that this was a pretty seriously controverted point in committee, and the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN], the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BRICE], and the Senators from New York, all of whom took more or less interest in the matter, are absent now. I ask him to let the bill go over. I do not want to object to it, but let it go over for the present until at least some of those Senators may be present.

Mr. CULLOM. I was not aware, until the Senator from Tennessee called my attention to the fact, that these members of the committee are not present. I think, however, that I shall not object to the suggestion of the Senator from Tennessee in view of the actual absence of those members of the committee; but I think there became very little opposition to the bill as the Senate committee finally agreed upon it. So I anticipate that when those Senators are present they will not oppose it. But still, without knowing definitely about that, if the Senator from Tennessee thinks the bill ought to go over, I have no objection to its going over.

Mr. HARRIS. I do not want to make the objection, but I will remind the Senator of the fact that I was a member of the committee who voted against reporting the bill, not because I thought the provisions of it unwise, but I must confess to the Senate that I was controlled largely, if not absolutely, by the fact that the passage of the bill at this time would put into the hands of a receiver a great majority of the Southern railroads.

Mr. CULLOM. In answer I will say that the Senator and I are so nearly always together on these questions that I had actually forgotten he took the other side. But so far as this bill is concerned there was very little objection made to it, because of the extension of time the committee sought to give to enable the railroad companies to comply with the proposed act. There is some objection on the part of some gentlemen representing Southern roads especially, and possibly some others, but generally my recollection is that the common carriers of the country thought it a reasonable bill, and that if anything at all is to be passed there could not be a much more liberal measure than the one proposed by the committee.

While I am upon the floor and will allow the bill to go over, I desire to say that the committee has had such a bill before it for three or four years, and in the meantime there have been constant appeals to us to legislate on the question, the appeals coming from the people, from the President of the United States, from the railway commissions of States, &c. I am very anxious that the Senate shall take up the bill very early and dispose of it.

Mr. COCKRELL. The order of the day is on the Calendar of House bills was "On Calendars of H. R. 9350, the House bill 5795, and of just received bills from the other House."

Mr. FRYE. I hope we shall not be so long in disposing of this as has been a waste of fifteen minutes ago.

Mr. HUNTON. I desire to say to our Senators that the bill of the bill that has just been called out has been passed by the House.

Mr. CULLOM. I understand objection has been made, but I have no discretion about it, under the rules. I must let the bill keep its place on the Calendar, however long it may take.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The order of the day is on the Calendar.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

A messenger from the President of the United States, Mr. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on this day approved and signed the bill for the purpose of the engagement of the military road at Fort Wadsworth.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is now in session, and whether it is the desire of the Senate to entertain a resolution of the House bills on the Calendar at this time, or to proceed with the first House bill favorably reported, as we have seen.

Mr. PLATT. When we were before the Senate, the first House bills on Wednesday, I want to know the time when we were far as page 15.

Mr. COCKRELL. We got to Order of Business, H. R. 9350, page 16. That is exactly where we stopped.

Mr. PLATT. I believe that was the place where we should start now.

Mr. COCKRELL. I insist on that course.

Mr. FRYE. Why not go ahead and make a motion in this manner?

Mr. PLATT. We want to know where we are now.

Mr. FRYE. Fifteen minutes have been consumed in this.

Mr. FELTON. I understand the agreement to go back to the Calendar and go through the bills.

Mr. COCKRELL. Very well, let us go back to the Calendar where anyone wants to begin. We shall go ahead, beginning hereafter.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The call of House bills is on the Calendar, according to the order of the day.

BILLS PASSED OVER.

The bill (H. R. 7827) to enable the people of the Territory of Utah to provide for the collection, arrangement, and disposal of the products of said Territory at the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893 was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. I object to the consideration of that bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made, and the bill is passed over.

The bill (H. R. 3394) for the relief of the Stock of the Mescalero tribe of Indians in the State of Wisconsin was announced as next in order.

Mr. SAWYER. I object to the consideration of that bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made, and the bill is passed over.

The bill (H. R. 9256) to create the California hydraulic mining commission and regulate hydraulic mining in the State of California was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let that be passed over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made, and the bill is passed over.

The bill (H. R. 1036) for the relief of the citizens of the counties of Sumner and Davidson Counties, Tennessee, was announced as next in order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The call of House bills is on the Calendar, according to the order of the day.

Mr. PLATT. It was passed over, and the bill is passed over.

Mr. COCKRELL. I object to the consideration of that bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made, and the bill is passed over.

Mr. CHANDLER. House bills are now on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. I wish to say to our Senators that the bill of the committee is ready to be taken up.

Mr. COCKRELL. It has been objected to.

Mr. CHANDLER. And I withdraw the objection.

Mr. COCKRELL. It is objected to now.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made, and the bill will go over.

Mr. CHANDLER. I do not understand that it is objected to. The remark was made by the Senator that it was objected to the other day. I withdraw that objection.

Mr. HARRIS. The Senator from Missouri asked that it be passed over within the last half minute and upon his request it goes over.

Mr. CHANDLER. I did not understand that.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That was the understanding of the Chair.

Mr. COCKRELL. Nobody knew how much was involved or anything about the amount. If the Senator from Oregon can make an explanation let us take it up.

Mr. CHANDLER. He can. That is the reason why I asked to have it taken up.

Mr. MITCHELL. I think during the day I can explain the amount. I ask that the bill may go over for the present and retain its place.

Mr. COCKRELL. That is right. Let it retain its place in order that the chairman of the committee may get some information.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go over informally.

AMELIA GRAHAM.

The bill (H. R. 5705) to increase the pension of Amelia Graham was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It proposes to place the name of Amelia Graham, widow of Francis Graham, late a private in Capt. J. Morris's Company, Pennsylvania Militia, in the war with Great Britain, upon the pension roll at $25 per month.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

HARVEY LYON.

The bill (H. R. 8925) to increase the pension of Harvey Lyon was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It proposes to increase the pension of Harvey Lyon, a veteran of the Mexican war, wounded in the storming of Chapultepec, and who served as captain of Company B, Tenth Michigan Infantry, in the civil war, from $8 to $15 per month.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

SAMUEL S. ANDERSON.

The bill (H. R. 7099) granting an increase of pension to Samuel S. Anderson was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Pensions with an amendment, in line 8, before the word "dollars," to strike out "twenty-five" and insert "twenty;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc. That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he hereby is authorized and directed to place on the pension roll, subject to the limitations and restrictions of the pension law, the name of Samuel S. Anderson, of Louisville, Ky., a soldier in the war with Mexico, and pay him at the rate of $20 a month, in lieu of the amount he is now receiving.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT. Let the report be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The report will be read.

The Secretary read the following report, submitted by Mr. SAWYER January 13, 1893:

The Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 7099) granting a pension to Samuel S. Anderson, have examined the same, and report:

Your committee hereby adopt the report of the House of Representatives with an amendment. It is hereby amended by striking out the word "five" at the end of line seven so as to read "twenty;" and that the bill do pass as amended.

HOUSE REPORT.

The Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 7099) granting an increase of pension to Samuel S. Anderson, have considered the same, and report:

The claimant was a first lieutenant in Capt. Luther's company of the Second United States Artillery in the war with Mexico. He was a graduate from the United States Military Academy and appointed brevet second lieutenant Second Artillery July 1, 1841; promoted second lieutenant January 4, 1842; first lieutenant March 3, 1847; and captain March 8, 1855. He resigned, to take effect April 27, 1861. The records further show that he served in Mexico during the entire war with that country, and he is now in receipt of the pension of $8 per month provided by law for such service.

In his petition for an increase of his pension the claimant states that he was brevetted captain and major, respectively, for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battles of Molino del Rey and Chapultepec, and that while so serving he contracted hernia, from which he has suffered ever since. He further states he is now 73 years old, penniless, and dependent upon charity for support.

Hons. Walter Evans, S. B. Bachner, J. Proctor Knott, and several other distinguished citizens of Kentucky join the claimant in petitioning Congress to grant an increase of the pension. The gentlemen signing the petition state that they know the claimant well, and sincerely hope his prayer will be granted.

Dr. D. W. Yandell, of Louisville, Ky., certifies to the long-continued suffering of the claimant from an incurable rupture, and also to his penniless and helpless condition.

Mr. PLATT. When does the report state this officer resigned from the United States Army?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. April 27, 1861.

Mr. PLATT. That is about the date when Fort Sumter was fired upon. The probability is that he resigned to go into the Confederate army. I do not exactly see why we should increase the pension of a soldier of the Mexican war who was a captain in the United States Army and undoubtedly resigned to go into the Confederate army, who has been pensioned under the law which pensions soldiers of the Mexican war generally at $8 a month and who can not get an increase of pension upon the ground of wounds or disease contracted in the service of the Mexican war. I think I will object to this case.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made and the bill will go over.

Mr. PLATT. If there is no objection to it, I will move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Pensions for further examination. I do not wish to do anybody an injustice.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Connecticut to recommit the bill to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. VEST. I should like to ask the Senator from Connecticut what evidence he has that the officer went into the Confederate army.

Mr. PLATT. I have none. There is nothing said about it in the report except the day on which he resigned, which was the 27th day of April, Fort Sumter having been fired upon, I believe, on the 19th.

Mr. VEST. I know some officers of the United States Army who resigned and did not go into the Confederate army.

Mr. PLATT. Let the bill go back to the committee. I think we ought to have a fuller report upon the subject. I do not wish to do any one an injustice.

Mr. BERRY. When this bill has been regularly reported from the Committee on Pensions I can not see why it should be recommitted unless there is some kind of testimony showing that it is not a just claim. As is well known, I have not been much of an advocate of pensions in this Chamber, but I think the distinction the Senator from Connecticut attempts to draw at this late day and time is hardly just or hardly fair.

I do not know that the man is any worse—he is certainly not in my estimation—for having resigned on the 27th of April or any other time. I think that unless something can be produced to show that it is an unjust claim there is no reason for recommending the bill to the committee.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from Connecticut to recommit the bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. If an objection is made, the bill goes over.

Mr. FELTON. I think we would proceed with business faster and in better order if we would take the Calendar as it stands. It is assumed that many of the bills, being pension bills, may be disposed of rapidly. I have in charge one or two local measures which are of vital importance to the people whom I represent, and I apprehend if we do not reach them to-day we shall not reach them at this session. Therefore I am constrained to insist as far as the rules will permit that we shall keep to the Calendar and let each bill take its chance as we reach it. I thought that was the understanding when the order was made.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Connecticut that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. HARRIS. The bill had gone over under the objection of the Senator from Connecticut. The Senator from Connecticut asks unanimous consent, I understand, that the bill be recommitted.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair understood the Senator from Connecticut to make a motion.

Mr. PLATT. I will enter an objection to the consideration of the bill.

Mr. HARRIS. Very well; and the objection carries it over.

Mr. COCKRELL. That ends it.

Mr. HARRIS. Is it to hold its place on the Calendar or go over under Rule IX?

Mr. PLATT. Let it retain its place on the Calendar?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go over without prejudice.

Mr. MITCHELL. I ask leave to submit an amendment intended to be proposed to the Indian appropriation bill.

Mr. HARRIS. I shall object to any routine morning business until after the morning hour has expired. Then routine business can come in.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection is made to the reception of any routine morning business at this time.

fender of the flag that floated over his people, and which was sent forth to battle. I respect him for it. He entered the naval service just before the close of the civil war with the enthusiasm of the ingenious youth who throughout this land heard the drum beat and instinctively sought the ranks.

As he laid aside the sword and the echoes of strife died away, he took up the general tasks, the love, the hope of peace, and its constructive duties. A clerk, a druggist, stenographer, a lawyer, an author, a politician, a State legislator, twice a member of Congress, the choice of his party for United States Senator and receiving its support—these successive rounds of the ladder he mounted—and while his face full of hope still looked upward, and his strong hand was stretched upward, lo, death touched him and he fell. Warm affections and great interests and high hopes concentrated their dreams around him, which now alas! can only pour their sorrows upon his all too early tomb.

I can not speak of Mr. Ford from the standpoint of intimate association with him. To recite his private virtues is the pleasing part of those who knew him better than myself and it has been well performed. But this I observe in his career that discloses his character on his marked and stronger features. Success had rewarded his efforts—he had been a member of the State Legislature, and then of the House of Representatives in the Fiftieth Congress. In that Congress he took decided positions upon public issues.

Some of his views were unpopular. He was defeated and relegated to private life. The spell of his successive victories was broken. But, nothing daunted, he reentered the political field in 1890. He firmly and boldly advocated the doctrines which commanded his loyal convictions. The people discovered in him the staunch, true leader; and now triumphing upon the field that he had lost, he was reelected a member of the Fifty-second Congress of the United States. Well, might we apply to him the warrior's boast:

Call me not shamed who am but overthrown.
Thrown have I been, not once but many a time.
Victor from vanquished issues at the last,
And overthrower from being overthrown.

Before that Congress assembled the victor was dead upon his shield. This I observed in Mr. Ford while he was in the public service here.

He was full of push and energy, and grasped his duties with a comprehending mind and a firm industrious hand.

He seemed tireless in his efforts to press to success the measures confided to his care. I saw him on his appearance before committees and in his tasks upon the floor of the House. I realized that there was a man in earnest, no trifter with things he had to deal with, a spirit resolute and restless, determined to do or die.

I shall not prolong this poor and imperfect tribute save to add this thought: Mr. Ford belonged to that class of thoughtful, courageous, industrious men—well informed, justly ambitious, with high ideals, and patriotic purposes, who correctly interpret the genius of this day and generation, and who are destined to lead and mold it.

The freshness of youth was in his mind and heart. He bore upon his soul no burdens from the past which so lacerated it as to impair its generous impulses; and he entertained no prejudices which belittled his stature, clouded his reason, or impeded his pathway.

Had he lived his career would have shed larger honor upon the State which gave him to the service of the nation, and grown into greater brightness around his name.

Cut off even as he ripened for the great tasks that kindled his genius and his ambition, we can but bow to the wisdom and power of our Maker who has so decreed and say "Thy will be done." Yet we take to heart the lesson that is left to enrich our annals in the life of this noble young American statesman, who followed his faith with fidelity, who did his deed with courage, and who now released from labor, sleeps well.

MR. McMILLAN. Mr. President, at the capital of the nation and in the halls of Congress more than anywhere else the fact of man's mortality is impressed upon the mind. Seemingly few and brief are the intervals when from all the public buildings and from the doors of both the House and the Senate the black badge of mourning is absent. To-day the Senate has been called to pay its tribute of respect to the memory of a young man, a man who was apparently just entering on a career of large usefulness to his State and nation. Trained at the Naval Academy for service in the great struggle, the war was ended before he could see active duty.

The return of peace led Mr. Ford to seek success in civil life. His brightness and industry were sufficiently indicated when it is said that he attained a high reputation in the difficult and laborious profession of stenography. His popularity led to his election as a member of the Michigan State Legislature, and his service there was of so satisfactory a character as to lead the people of the Fifth district, which includes the great manufacturing and commercial city of Grand Rapids, to send him to the House of Representatives.

During his first term in that body he attracted the attention of the country to his work in investigating the subject of immigration. Defeated for reelection after an interval of two years he was again elected to Congress, but died before he could take his seat. The esteem in which he was held by his own party throughout the State was shown by the fact that four years ago he was the caucus nominee of the Democratic members of the Legislature for the office of United States Senator.

Such in brief is the record of a man who had crowded into the forty-two years of his life experiences remarkably varied. The death of such a man is a loss to his State, and in Michigan the mourning for him was widespread. In the beautiful city of Grand Rapids, where Mr. Ford made his home, the grief was deep and sincere.

It is fitting, therefore, that the Senate put on record its appreciation of Mr. Ford's services in behalf of his State and his country; and although my own personal acquaintance with him was slight, I appreciate the opportunity to pay this tribute to the worth of one whose reputation is a source of pride to every citizen of Michigan.

MR. President. I move the adoption of the resolutions.
The resolutions were unanimously agreed to.

MEMORIAL ADDRESSES ON REPRESENTATIVE STACKHOUSE.

MR. BUTLER. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the resolutions of the House of Representatives announcing the death of Hon. Eli T. Stackhouse, of South Carolina.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair lays before the Senate the resolutions of the House of Representatives, which will be read.

The Secretary read as follows:

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
January 28, 1893.

Resolved, That the business of the House be now suspended that opportunity may be given for tributes to the memory of the Hon. Eli T. Stackhouse, late a Representative from the State of South Carolina.

Resolved, That as a particular mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, and in recognition of his eminent abilities as a distinguished public servant, the House, at the conclusion of these memorial proceedings, shall stand adjourned.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate.

Resolved, That the Clerk be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased.

MR. BUTLER. I submit the resolutions which I send to the desk.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolutions will be read.

The Secretary read the resolutions, as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate has received with deep regret the announcement of the death of the Hon. Eli T. Stackhouse, late a Representative from the State of South Carolina, and tenders to the family of the deceased the assurance of its sympathy in their bereavement.

Resolved, That the Secretary be directed to transmit to the family of Mr. Stackhouse a copy of the foregoing resolution.

MR. BUTLER. Mr. President, the Hon. Eli T. Stackhouse, late a member of Congress from the Sixth Congressional district of South Carolina, was born on the 27th day of March, 1821, in the district of Marion, in that State. He died on the 11th of June, 1892, in this city, and was buried near the place of his birth and home, at Little Rock.

Except when absent in the military service of his State during the civil war, Col. Stackhouse spent his entire life where he was born and buried. The high estimate of his neighbors, the many manifestations of their esteem and confidence in his integrity and ability, furnish the best tribute to his sterling qualities.

He was reared on his father's farm without the advantages which wealth and opportunity afford, but he had that which was better, an honest heart, a clear head, and great tenacity of purpose. During the period of his youth his environments did not furnish many facilities for liberal education. This, however, did not deter him from individual exertions in the acquirement of knowledge, and at 19 years of age he devoted himself to teaching for the four following years, meanwhile studying hard for his own advancement.

He returned then to the farm and for the remainder of his life confined himself to the pursuits of agriculture. Residing in a section peculiarly favored with a most salubrious and healthful climate, and a soil well adapted to the highest state of cultivation, he improved these natural advantages, and by the application of enlightened methods and advanced ideas achieved a success rarely reached in the business of farming. In fact he may ter, I trust we shall have unanimous consent not to take a test vote this morning, but let us agree that on Thursday, or any other day—I do not care when it is—the matter shall come up and be discussed.

Mr. SHERMAN. If the Senator will allow me, the whole matter turns upon the question whether the Senator from New York moved to proceed to the consideration of the bill referred to. If he did, he can, as a matter of course, withdraw that motion; but if he made the motion, it is the duty of the Chair, without debate, to put the question.

Mr. GORMAN. It is true that the Senator from New York made a motion to make the bill a special order for Thursday next, in deference to gentlemen wishing to discuss the question.

Mr. SHERMAN. Not at all.

Mr. DAWES. The only possible motion the Senator from New York can make is one to take up the bill, and every Senator knows that the Senator from New York can not make a motion to make the bill a special order before it is taken up. The only motion the Senator can make is one to take up the bill, and after it is taken up we can dispose of it as a majority shall determine.

Mr. MITCHELL. The Senator from New York made that motion a few moments ago.

Mr. DAWES. If the Senator from New York does not desire to make that motion, then we are perfectly willing to go on now with the unfinished business.

Mr. GORMAN. If that be the case, there is only one way in which the general understanding can be carried out—and such an understanding has never been violated in this body—that the motion to take up the bill will not be considered a test vote, but it is done with the distinct understanding that a motion will follow to postpone the consideration of the bill until Thursday next. Therefore there can be no test vote on the question of taking the bill up.

Mr. CULLOM. Let us settle it now by a vote.

Mr. MORGAN. I wish to set myself right about this matter. I understood when the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] took the floor that it was by the consent of the Senate that he might violate the uniform usage in this body in speaking on a motion to take up a bill, and that he would not press that motion to-day, but at some future time. I have no right to get up here and speak against his motion to take up the bill, and yet the Senator was heard here for nearly two hours in support of his motion.

I desire, Mr. President—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair would remind the Senator from Alabama that the Senator from New York addressed his remarks upon the reference of a petition which he had presented, as the Chair understood.

Mr. MORGAN. Very good. Then, having the floor upon that petition, he changed his tactics, I suppose, and converted his motion from the consideration of that petition into one to take up the bill, and everybody else was choked down; he had the opportunity to speak.

Mr. PLATT. I should like to inquire what has become of the petition?

Mr. MORGAN. Yes; what has become of the petition?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The petition was laid on the table.

Mr. HILL. Mr. President—

Mr. HOAR and others. Regular order!

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair will hear the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL].

Mr. HILL. Mr. President, there was no misunderstanding on my part in regard to this measure. I distinctly made the motion to proceed to the present consideration of the silver bill. However, I yielded to suggestions from the other side and all around the Senate, as it was said Senators desired to debate the bill, and only for that reason did I suggest a special order; but under the circumstances I pressed the original motion of which I gave notice last Friday to have the bill taken up. If it shall be taken up, then I will follow it by another motion.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The yeas and nays have been ordered, and the Secretary will call the roll.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll, and called the name of Mr. ALDRICH.

Mr. HILL and Mr. VOORHEES addressed the Chair.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Debate is not in order.

Mr. VOORHEES. I know debate is out of order, and that nothing which has occurred for the last half hour has been in order; but allow me just a moment to say, that during my long service in this body no one ever knew me to object to a Senator who desired to speak doing so. I thought, however, this morning on a measure of such importance as this that the Senator from New York had no right to proceed to discuss the question and then force the rest of us to vote upon it in total silence, without a word.

I moved around a little myself, as the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] well knows, anxious to hear the Senator from New York, for whose ability I have great respect, but at the same time determined, if it was in my power, that no vote should be taken until other Senators, myself included, might give explanations of their views upon this subject.

I have listened with the greatest possible interest to the speech of the Senator from New York, not agreeing with a good deal, but agreeing with some of it, and I am glad he has made a speech. Had I supposed, however, that after that speech was made the rest of us would not have an opportunity to say a word, that speech would not have been made this morning, and I am in consent; I say that with the utmost respect for the Senator from New York, for, had it been necessary to have done so, I might have interposed an objection, a thing I never did before, for the Senator has the right to monopolize the exclusive privilege of discussing a great question like this and then force a vote upon the rest of us in dumb silence. Such a spectacle has never before been presented here, and it ought not to be presented now. I trust the Senator from New York will see the propriety of withdrawing his motion if it is to result in a vote being taken upon this matter.

Mr. DAWES. The only way for the Senator and everybody else to express their views is to take the bill up. That is the only way in which it can be done.

Mr. VOORHEES. I am not going into that question now. All the Senators who have spoken have been out of order, and all this debate has been by unanimous consent.

Mr. STEWART. I should like to inquire of the Senator from Indiana if there is any difficulty, whatever may be the result of this motion, in the Senate in the usual way giving unanimous consent for any speech that will not interfere with a vote on this motion?

Mr. VOORHEES. We can go on in that way if the Senate so choose, but we had better go on under our rules.

Mr. STEWART. There is no trouble about that.

Several SENATORS. Regular order! Regular order!

Mr. HILL. I desire simply to say a word in answer to the suggestions of the Senator from Indiana [Mr. VOORHEES].

I have known the Senator from Indiana long, and have too much respect for him to endeavor to deprive him of the opportunity to present his views upon this or any other subject. I do not suppose, however, that a mere vote to take up a bill for consideration would deprive any Senator of ample opportunity to debate the bill at the proper time. The question now is to take up the bill. Those who favor the bill and those who intend to vote against it equally, and with equal propriety, when the bill shall have been brought up for consideration and is before the Senate, can have ample opportunity to debate it.

Mr. VOORHEES. I am not contending for the right to speak myself. I expect I could get that right; but I am speaking for the general, universal, proper treatment of the Senate, with the understanding we have here.

Mr. HILL. I gave notice last Friday that I intended to-day to make the motion which I have submitted. I have made it, and it is before the Senate. I do not wish to deprive a single Senator on either side of the Chamber of an opportunity to discuss the bill; and I do not understand that I am depriving any Senator of that opportunity by simply moving that the bill shall be brought up for consideration. If taken up it can then be debated at full length.

Mr. BLACKBURN. Will the Senator from New York permit a question?

Mr. HILL. I call for the regular order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The regular order is called for, which is the call of the yeas and nays.

Mr. VOORHEES. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Indiana will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. VOORHEES. What is the question before the Senate?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion made by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill the title of which has been read.

Mr. VOORHEES. I move to say that the bill shall be taken up and on that I call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. HOAR. That cannot be done.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair will not entertain that. Is the demand for the yeas and nays on the bill to be considered?

The demand was seconded and the yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. HILL. Will the Chair again state the motion made by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill the title of which has been read?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The motion made by the Senator from Indiana [Mr. VOORHEES] is that the bill shall be taken up.

Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] to proceed to the consideration of the bill the title of which has been read shall be laid on the table.

Mr. HOAR. I rise to a question of order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator will state his point of order.

Mr. HOAR. My point of order is that this is one of the special motions provided for in Rule IX among the four motions which may be put when a subject is pending, and that no incidental or other motion in regard to it is in order. I call for the reading of Rule IX.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The rule will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

RULE IX.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

First. A motion, after the consideration of a case, not objected to upon the Calendar is completed, and not later than two o'clock, if there shall be no special order, for that time, the Calendar of General Orders shall be taken up and proceeded with in its order, beginning with the first subject on the Calendar, and so on with the last subject disposed of in proceeding with the Calendar; and in such case the following motion shall be in order at any time as privileged motions, save as against a motion to adjourn or to proceed to the consideration of executive business, or questions of privilege, to wit:

First. A motion to proceed to the consideration of an appropriation or revenue bill.

Second. A motion to proceed to the consideration of any other bill on the Calendar, which motion shall not be open to amendment.

Third. A motion to pass over the pending subject, which if carried, shall have the effect to leave such subject without precedence in its place on the Calendar.

Fourth. A motion to place such subject at the foot of the Calendar.

Fifth. The foregoing motions shall be decided without debate, and shall have precedence in the order above named, and may be submitted as in the nature and with all the rights of questions of order.

Mr. MANDERSON. Mr. President—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that the point of order made by the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR] is well taken. The pending question, therefore, is on the motion made by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL].

Mr. MANDERSON. Mr. President, I desire to ask that Rule XXII might be read before the decision upon this subject. It certainly seems to me, if the Chair is to hold that a motion of this character is not in order, the Chair might as well hold that a motion to adjourn is not in order pending this question under Rule XXII.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The rule will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

RULE XXII.

PRECEDENCE OF MOTIONS.

When a question is pending no motion shall be received but—

- To adjourn.
- To adjourn to a day certain or that when the Senate adjourn, it shall be to a day certain.
- To take a recess.
- To proceed to the consideration of executive business.
- To lay on the table.
- To postpone indefinitely.
- To postpone to a day certain.
- To commit.
- To amend.

which several motions shall have precedence in, they stand arranged, and the motions relating to will arrange to take a recess, to proceed to the consideration of executive business, to lay on the table shall be decided without debate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is of the opinion that the motion made by the Senator from Indiana [Mr. VOORHEES] is not at this point or time in order. The pending question before the Senate is on the motion made by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL], on which the yeas and nays have been ordered. The roll will be called.

Mr. VOORHEES. I beg pardon. I did not catch the decision of the Chair.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is of opinion that the motion made by the Senator from Indiana at this point of time is not in order, and that the pending question is on the motion made by the Senator from New York.

Mr. VOORHEES. Then, I simply say that I hope the friends of the bill will vote down the motion of the Senator from New York.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on the question to proceed to the consideration of the bill.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. ALFORD (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD].

Mr. WHITE. May I interrupt the roll call to make a parliamentary inquiry of the Chair?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair will hear the Senator.

Mr. WHITE. Do I understand if the motion is carried and the bill is taken up that then all further debate will be cut off?

Several SENATORS. No; no; it will be open to debate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will then be open to debate.

Mr. FAULKNER (when Mr. CAMDEN'S name was called.) My colleague [Mr. CAMDEN] is necessarily detained from the Senate to-day. He is paired with the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. PARDON] on this motion.

Mr. GULLOM (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], but his secretary informed me this morning that he had paired with some other Senator. I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL], who is absent this morning. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is also absent, and I transfer my pair with the Senator from Mississippi to my colleague, and I vote "yea."

Mr. GORDON. Mr. President, I have a general pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. If his colleague or any other Senator can inform me how the Senator from Wyoming would vote on this question I shall then be able to decide whether or not I am at liberty to vote.

Mr. CAREY. My colleague [Mr. WARREN], if present, would vote "nay."

Mr. GORDON. Then I vote "nay."

Mr. WHITE (when Mr. GRAY'S name was called). I wish to announce that the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY] is paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. BUTLER].

Mr. HIGGINS (when his name was called). On this subject I have a general pair with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS]. If he were present, he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. HISCOCK (when his name was called). I am paired on this question with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES]. If he were present, he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN], but I have transferred that pair to the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. PARDON], and vote "nay."

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). On this question I am paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON]. If he were present, I should vote "yea" and the Senator from Iowa, I understand, would vote "nay."

Mr. SAWYER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. GEORGE (when Mr. WALTHALL'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is detained from the Senate by sickness. He has a general pair with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON], who has transferred it to his colleague [Mr. ALDRICH]. My colleague, if present, would vote "nay" on this question.

The roll on I was concluded.

Mr. CHANDLER (after having voted in the affirmative). I voted inadvertently, forgetting that I had arranged a pair with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I therefore withdraw my vote.

Mr. MANDERSON. I desire to announce the pair between my colleague [Mr. PARDON] and the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN]. My colleague, if present, would vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 23, nays 42; as follows:

YEAS—23
Black	Frye	Hill	Proctor
Cabery	G. Hanger	Hoar	Sherman

So the motion was not agreed to.

TAXATION OF INDIAN CITIZENS.

Mr. COCKRELL. Regular order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senate resumes the consideration of the unfinished business, being Senate bill 2048.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the con-

The next amendment of the Committee on Indian Affairs was to add as a new section the following:

Sec. 4. That this act shall in no particular, except in so far as it confers authority to enter upon the reservation for the purpose of surveying and locating the grantee's line of railroad, take any effect whatever until the Secretary of the Interior shall certify in duplicate writings (one copy whereof shall be delivered to the said company and one copy filed in the office of said Secretary) that the said company has so far graded its line of railroad and constructed its track upon the same as that, in the due and proper prosecution of the work, it has become necessary for the said company to proceed to grade and construct its road upon the lands within said reservation, and that he is satisfied that the company intends in good faith and with reasonable diligence to proceed to the completion of said road across the reservation and put the same in operation for public use.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The title was amended so as to read: "A bill granting to the Midland Pacific Railway Company the right of way through the Crow Creek Indian Reservation, in the State of South Dakota."

COURT OF PRIVATE LAND CLAIMS.

Mr. TELLER. I reported this morning from the Committee on Private Land Claims House bill 8340. That bill had the examination of the Judiciary Committee, receiving a favorable report, and also of the Committee on Private Land Claims. It went on the Calendar this morning. I ask that it may be taken up as the other House bills on the Calendar have been and passed.

By unanimous consent the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 8340) to amend an act establishing a court of private land claims and to provide for the settlement of private land claims in certain States and Territories, approved March 3, 1891.

Mr. COCKRELL. I should like to ask the Senator reporting the bill to state the material changes it makes in regard to the rights of claimants.

Mr. TELLER. The object of the bill is to correct the act of March 3, 1892, or rather to meet a construction put upon it in the Department. An attempt was made in that act to give the people who had occupied small pieces of land in the Territories of New Mexico and Arizona under the Spanish custom, occupying perhaps one place of five acres, another of 10, and another of 20, some of them from time immemorial, an opportunity to make homesteads by taking 160 acres of land. The act provided that they should reside upon the land. It was found that the homesteader would have 5 acres in one place and 10 acres in another, and under the construction put upon the act by the Department he was confined to the 5 acres on which he lived. This is to extend the act so that if he has 160 acres in five or six parts or more he may take 160 acres and no more. That is all there is in that part of the bill.

Then the last provision extends the time for filing claims under the act to 1894, two years from last January.

Mr. STEWART. I should like to inquire at what time the twenty-year limit expires. Is it twenty years previous to the passage of the original or the amended act?

Mr. TELLER. Previous to the passage of the original act. The bill does not interfere with that at all.

Mr. STEWART. It leaves that feature as it was?

Mr. TELLER. So I understand.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, and was read the third time.

Mr. MORGAN. Mr. President—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is, Shall the bill pass? [Putting the question.] The bill is passed.

Mr. MORGAN. I desire to interpose an objection to the passage of the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair will put the question again. The question is, Shall the bill pass?

Mr. MORGAN. I wish to submit some remarks upon the bill. I desire to have the floor upon it.

Mr. CULLOM. Let the bill go over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go over.

Mr. MORGAN. I wish the bill to go over until the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. RANSOM], the chairman of the Committee on Private Land Claims, can be present.

Mr. SAWYER. The Senator from Alabama can enter a motion to reconsider the vote on the passage of the bill.

Mr. MORGAN. No, I want the bill to go over until the Senator from North Carolina comes in.

Mr. TELLER. What bill does the Senator from Alabama ask may go over?

Mr. MORGAN. The bill the Senator from Colorado has been discussing.

Mr. TELLER. Until what time?

Mr. MORGAN. Until the Senator from North Carolina [Mr.

RANSOM], the chairman of the committee, can have an opportunity to be heard.

Mr. TELLER. The Senator from North Carolina examined the bill and the committee agreed upon it. He understood that I was to call it up and put it on its passage.

Mr. MORGAN. I understood from a conversation with him the other day that he had some serious objection to it; but I objected to the bill on my own account.

Mr. HOAR. I did not hear the statement of the Senator from Alabama.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection being made, the bill will go over without prejudice.

Mr. RANSOM entered the Chamber.

Mr. TELLER. The Senator from North Carolina is now here.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair had announced the passage of the bill, and the Senator from Alabama moves that the vote be reconsidered.

Mr. MORGAN. I beg leave to say very respectfully that the Chair should not have pronounced the passage of the bill when I took the floor upon it and objected to it before it was passed.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair begs pardon; he did not hear the Senator's objection.

Mr. MORGAN. That was my exact purpose in rising. I had the right, I understand, under the rule to do it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will stand as having been read three times and as being before the Senate.

Mr. HOAR. Why not let it stand as passed? The Senator from Alabama has a right to enter a motion to reconsider.

Mr. MORGAN. I do not wish the bill to have that attitude.

Mr. TELLER. I do not desire to pursue a course in regard to the measure that any Senator objects to. If the Senator from Alabama wants to let the bill stand as if it had not been before the Senate I shall not object, because I am sure he will not find anything objectionable in the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will stand as having been read the third time and as being still before the Senate.

SAFETY OF LIFE ON RAILROADS.

Mr. CULLOM. I ask that the unfinished business be laid before the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The hour of 1 o'clock having arrived, it is the duty of the Chair to lay before the Senate the unfinished business, which will be stated.

The SECRETARY. A bill (H. R. 9350) to promote the safety of employes and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers and continuous brakes and their locomotives with driving-wheel brakes, and for other purposes.

HUDSON RIVER BRIDGE.

Mr. BLACKBURN. I move that the bill now under consideration be laid aside in order to take up the bill (S. 2624) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Companies to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York City and the State of New Jersey.

Mr. CULLOM. The motion, I believe, is not debatable.

Mr. BLACKBURN. It is not debatable, because if it were I should wish to say something.

Mr. CULLOM. So should I.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion made by the Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. CULLOM. I hope the motion will not prevail.

Mr. BLACKBURN. I trust the motion will prevail, as the consideration of the bill has been asked several times before.

Mr. MITCHELL and others. Regular order!

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Kentucky to proceed to the consideration of the bill he has indicated.

Mr. PLATT. I wish to inquire whether it is in order to ask that the bill be read at length before the vote is taken?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on taking up the bill.

Mr. BLACKBURN. The bill is not before the Senate.

Mr. PLATT. I wish to inquire whether it is in order to have the bill read for information?

Mr. HISCOCK. The bill is not before the Senate.

Mr. BLACKBURN. The bill is not before the Senate until the Senate shall take it up. However, by unanimous consent the bill could be read.

Mr. PLATT. I wish to inquire of the Chair whether it is in order, the motion of the Senator from Kentucky having been made to have the bill read for information before the motion is acted upon?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is of opinion that it is not in order until the bill is before the Senate.

Mr. BLACKBURN. That is right.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN] to proceed to the consideration of the bill indicated by him.

Mr. BLACKBURN. On that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL], who is detained from the Chamber by sickness, and therefore I withhold my vote.

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY].

Mr. HIGGINS (when his name was called). I am paired with the senior Senator from New Jersey [Mr. McPHERSON]. He is not present. I do not know how he would vote on this question. In his absence I withhold my vote for the present.

Mr. FRYE. The Senator from New Jersey [Mr. McPHERSON] is against taking up the bridge bill.

Mr. HIGGINS. In that case I will vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY].

The roll call having been concluded, the result was announced—yeas 22, nays 34: as follows:

YEAS—22.

SAFETY OF LIFE ON RAILROADS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senate resumes the consideration of the unfinished business.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 9350) to promote the safety of employes and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers and continuous brakes and their locomotives with driving-wheel brakes, and for other purposes, the pending question being on the amendment of Mr. GEORGE to the amendment reported by the Committee on Interstate Commerce.

Mr. CULLOM. Mr. President, I see that the pending bill is to have a tolerably hard road to travel in the Senate of the United States, but I am inclined to think that if we can ever get to a vote upon the question such a bill will receive the sanction of the Senate.

When the Senate went into executive session yesterday evening and I yielded the floor to the Senator from Ohio [Mr. SHERMAN] for the purpose of making such a motion I had not entirely concluded my remarks. As there was some confusion yesterday as to the exact terms of the bill under consideration, I think it perhaps well enough to refer to it again this morning.

I will state that the first section of the amendment reported by the committee as a substitute for the House bill simply provides that after the 1st of January, 1895, it shall be unlawful for a common carrier engaged in interstate commerce by railroad to use on its lines locomotive engines in moving interstate traffic not equipped with power driving-wheel brakes and appliances for operating the trains, etc., the section requiring only a sufficient number of cars, to be so equipped as will enable the engineer to control the train.

There is nothing in the section that has any reference to the Interstate Commerce Commission or to any board outside in determining anything about it. The naked proposition is that it shall be unlawful after a given date to run locomotives not equipped with power brakes, or to run any train in interstate traffic which has not a sufficient number of cars in it so equipped with power brakes that the engineer can control it.

Then, as to the second section of the bill, that section has reference only to what are usually called automatic couplers. It was the intention and purpose of the committee, and I think it is carried out in the substitute, to simply require a uniform coupler, the testimony showing that such a coupler must be put in use by direction of the National Government in order to protect the lives of the people operating the trains, taking care of the cars, coupling them, etc.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. President, I have a question. Does the Senator from Colorado mean to say that the law in Colorado?

Mr. CULLOM. Certainly.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I ask the Senator to go back to the testimony. It is my own fault that I have to ask this question. I am familiar with the testimony as I should be, but I am not sure I leave the first question before us as to whether or not the money taken so that the Senate can carry out only one question as to what proportion of the locomotive engines of the great railroads are now equipped with air brakes, and how many of them are now being a topped, and how great a proportion of them will be such a law may be? I have been in a hurry to finish my testimony.

Mr. CULLOM. It has been some time since the testimony was taken that has been submitted to the Senate, and I am not very certain in my mind whether there is anything in the testimony which explains that inquiry.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I could not find anything.

Mr. CULLOM. But I desire to say, and I want to be perfectly frank with the Senator and the Senate, that since the bill was reported to the Senate I have given attention to the first section of the bill, and that is the section, I believe, the Senator inquires about.

Mr. WOLCOTT. That is the one.

Mr. CULLOM. The question has suggested itself to my mind whether in a requirement that the power brakes shall be applied to locomotives and cars between now and the 1st of January, 1895, and the coupler shall be on the trains between now and the 1st of January, 1898, there was not a gap of three years in time that was hardly justifiable.

In other words, it occurred to me that possibly, owing to the necessity on the part of the railroads to incur the expense of putting power brakes on the locomotives and upon a sufficient number of cars to enable the engineer to control the train, the time, possibly, was fixed too early. I desire the Senator from Colorado to hear what I have to say on this subject. I want him to know exactly what has controlled me.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I am listening. I asked the question for information on the subject.

Mr. CULLOM. After that question was suggested to my mind, I made inquiry of several gentlemen familiar with railroad subjects, and the testimony to me was that the section is all right, because nearly all of the locomotives already have these power brakes, and that as a great many have been placed upon the cars it would not be so great an expense in that as in putting the automatic coupler on every car. Therefore, after time can be fixed for the equipment of the locomotive and a sufficient number of cars to control the train than in putting the couplers on the cars generally, and I followed the section to start, as it is without calling the attention of the committee to it.

I am ready to say now that I have never had an impulse that led me to desire to do an injustice to any corporation or railroad in the country, and if it can be shown by any gentleman familiar with the subject that the time is too short as to the power brake, I would, so far as I am individually concerned, be willing to extend it for a year and possibly longer. If, however, with the information I have now I would not be willing to do so, that is the explanation I make to the Senator from Colorado.

I have called the attention of the Senate to the first section, because there was some confusion yesterday as to the section in which that section should be enforced.

Now, as to the second section, that applies exclusively to what we call automatic couplers. An automatic coupler for a car costs about $25, while the power brake to equip a car, according to the testimony, costs from $45 to $75. There is a very large difference between the two, and that is why I called attention to the question whether the time as to the power brake was too short. There is no outside force to be applied to the cars, nothing to do with the demand for only a sufficient number of cars to be used except the railroad itself. The testimony of the committee section provides that the cars must be so equipped that a sufficient number of the cars in use, or of the whole of the train, shall be so equipped that about 1,100,000 freight cars in the country.

Mr. HARRIS. There are more than 1,100,000.

Mr. CULLOM. More than 1,000,000.

Mr. HARRIS. I thought the Senator said 1,100,000.

Mr. CULLOM. No, 1,100,000. When we say more than 1,100,000 investigate this question there were about 1,000,000, but now there are something over 1,100,000 freight cars in the country. The only provision in the bill in reference to what kind of a coupler shall be used, is that the roads themselves shall determine it by a vote or whatever means they may arrive at a determination, and when those controlling 75 per cent of the cars vote or report to the Commission that a certain coupler is adopted, then the Interstate Commerce Commission proclaims that fact, and that is the standard coupler.

The Committee on Interstate Commerce has been desirous all the time of avoiding all legislation that would look as though Congress was determining any specific type of coupler.

We have kept patent owners away from us. We have kept every one who ever it was away from us who desired that any specific patent should be adopted by the Congress of the United States. The committee thought that the scheme specified in the bill was as simple and as just and as fair a way to arrive at what the standard coupler should be as any other.

Mr. COCKRELL. Right on the coupler question, I want to ask the Senator, if it will not disturb him—

Mr. CULLOM. No, sir; not at all.

Mr. COCKRELL. Would not the bill compel all the companies practically to adopt one particular patent for coupling?

Mr. CULLOM. Not at all. I understand and I think the Senator, if he will read the Interstate Commerce Commission report, will see that there are about forty different patent couplers which work together, that is to say, either one of which will couple with the other automatically. So we have avoided, as near as we could possibly do it, the proposal of any legislation that would fasten upon the country the necessity of taking any particular patent the owner of which might have a monopoly in the premises.

Mr. COCKRELL. Suppose that the larger corporations, the larger mileage of road, and I believe we go by mileage—

Mr. HARRIS. No; by the number of freight cars.

Mr. COCKRELL. Well, having the larger number of freight cars—it is just the same thing. The longer the road the more freight cars there will be. Suppose they should combine and agree upon one coupler, would not that compel all the others either to take that one particular kind or those so similar to it as to be interchangeable with it?

Mr. CULLOM. Of course if 75 per cent of the companies should vote for a particular coupler, that is to say, a particular type of coupler, the balance under the bill would have to adopt a type that would couple with it. It would not necessarily be the same patent, but whatever device coupled with that car without making it necessary that the switchman should go between the cars I understand the bill would allow to be used.

Mr. COCKRELL. Would it allow the introduction of anything very recently granted that has not been used at all? Could they consider that under the bill?

Mr. CULLOM. I assume they could; and whether they did or not, if a railroad should put a coupler on its cars that coupled with the coupler adopted by the carriers controlling 75 per cent of the cars, my judgment is that it would comply with the law.

Mr. COCKRELL. There is no doubt there is great progress being made in these inventions, and necessarily so.

Mr. CULLOM. Unquestionably.

Mr. COCKRELL. Quite a distinguished gentleman handed me a little provision in regard to this feature, and that is the reason I want to bring it up just at this point, suggesting an amendment, as follows:

That any automatic car coupler lately invented or patented and not now in use which does not disengage itself vertically and is safer than the present car couplers in use, may be given the preference on examination by the Interstate Commerce Commission, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding.

Now, as I understand the provision regarding the Interstate Commerce Commission, the question is not left to them?

Mr. CULLOM. Not in the first instance.

Mr. COCKRELL. It is left to this railroad association.

Mr. CULLOM. Not a railroad association, but if the railroads themselves, representing 75 per cent of the cars of the country, say that a particular type of coupler is the type adopted, the Interstate Commerce Commission would proclaim that that was the coupler to be used. However, any other coupler in use, of the same type substantially, so that it could couple with these couplers, I understand the carrier would have a right to use. The great desire and purpose of the committee has been to secure the adoption of what we call a uniform coupler, of which, as I say, there are about forty patents or types which are substantially the same as far as coupling is concerned.

Mr. HARRIS. In this exact connection I should like to ask my friend from Illinois if he is not satisfied by the testimony which has been given before his committee that the railroad companies of this country are adopting the automatic coupler, the self-coupler, as rapidly as in their financial condition they can afford to do. Such is my recollection of the testimony which has been given before the committee.

If that be true, while all of us desire safer appliances of every description that will protect life and limb, still it is a question as to exactly how far we should coercively go to compel companies to adopt one particular thing, and while the thing adopted may be regarded as the best to-day it may be utterly discarded day after to-morrow.

Mr. CULLOM. In response to the inquiry of the Senator from Tennessee, I will state that most of the railroads, and I might say all of them, insist that they are doing the best they can. I agree that they say that, but while they are saying that, not one-third of the freight cars of the country are equipped with these brakes or coupler. While that is true, and while the railroads are going forward at their own gait putting some on every year, the laboring men, the employes of the roads, the switchmen, the yardmen, the men upon the tops of the cars, are complaining that the roads are not putting them on as rapidly as they ought to be put on.

Mr. VILAS. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator from Illinois yield to the Senator from Wisconsin?

Mr. CULLOM. I do.

Mr. VILAS. I should like to ask the Senator from Illinois, who has given a good deal of attention to this subject, if he has known any instance in which any of the railroad companies deferred paying dividends in order to add these facilities to protect the lives of their employes?

Mr. CULLOM. I am obliged to the Senator from Wisconsin for asking me that question. The truth is, Mr. President, that while the railroad companies insist that they are doing the best they can, they are looking to their finances more than to the protection of life and the security to limb of the men operating their trains.

Mr. WOLCOTT. May I ask the Senator from Illinois a question?

Mr. CULLOM. Certainly.

Mr. WOLCOTT. The Senator stated with great warmth and a good deal of feeling the unfortunate situation of the railroad employes. I desire to ask him if it is not a fact that the Association of Switchmen, in convention assembled, protested against the adoption of anything except the link and pin coupling. I also desire to ask whether that fact does not appear in the testimony of our committee?

Mr. CULLOM. I will state what I think the testimony does show. Some link-and-pin men came before our committee, as I remember, and said if we were going to allow this matter to drag along, making only a little improvement each year, it would result in making confusion worse confounded, and they would rather go back to the old link-and-pin arrangement, for then they would know what they had to deal with.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I know the Senator from Illinois is extremely anxious to state the fact as it really exists. If he will turn to page 106 of the testimony, which was taken under the supervision of the chairman of the committee, he will find the following statement, made under date of September 24:

BUFFALO, September 24, 1900.

The switchmen's convention last night selected Philadelphia as the next place of meeting. On the question of car couplers the vertical plane or car-builders' type was almost unanimously condemned, the members citing the crippled delegates as a result of the many patent couplers used, and a motion was made and carried endorsing the link and pin type with a recess on the flange that affords protection to the operator.

I ask the Senator if I have not fairly stated the testimony.

Mr. CULLOM. Of course, if the Senator reads it.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I ask if that does not look as if there was some objection to this proposed legislation by the switchmen themselves?

Mr. CULLOM. I do not raise any question about the testimony being as the Senator has read it.

Mr. HISCOCK. I wish to interject a question which is somewhat in response to the question asked by the Senator from Wisconsin [Mr. VILAS] and also pertinent in view of the remarks which have been made. Is it not true that committees of mechanics connected with the railroad companies have absolutely failed in any such committee or conference—whether of three or five I do not know—to secure a majority, even, of any commission appointed in favor of any one device?

Mr. CULLOM. Referring to the testimony as read by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT] and suggested by some other Senator, it is true that there was more or less confusion or difference of judgment as expressed to the committee by the witnesses coming before us. For instance, Mr. Crocker, of Boston, who for a number of years was one of the railroad commissioners of Massachusetts, had a bill of a particular kind and came the passage of the so-called Chandler immigration bill; which was referred to the Committee on Immigration.

He also presented a petition of Council No. 46, United American Mechanics, of Navarre, Ohio, praying for the passage of legislation to prevent the introduction into this country of the vicious, dependent, and criminal elements of the Old World; which was referred to the Committee on Immigration.

Mr. TELLER presented a memorial of 450 citizens of Denver, Colo., remonstrating against the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. MITCHELL presented a petition of the Legislature of Oregon, praying for the passage of legislation looking to the restriction of the indiscriminate immigration of foreign laborers to the United States; which was referred to the Committee on Immigration.

Mr. McHERSON presented the petition of A. C. Barber and 60 other influential citizens of Lambertville, N. J., praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

He also presented petitions of W. Scott Chufey and 30 other citizens of Ocean County, N. J., and of sundry citizens of New Jersey, praying for the passage of legislation amending the immigration laws and the appointment of a commission to investigate immigration; which were referred to the Committee on Immigration.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills and joint resolution; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 929) granting a pension to Mrs. Mary E. Donaldson;

A bill (H. R. 2532) for the relief of Andrew B. Knapp;

A bill (H. R. 5649) for the relief of Lieut. F. W. Davis and granting him an honorable discharge;

A bill (H. R. 6797) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Cahaba River, in Bibb County, Ala., by the Montgomery, Tuscaloosa and Memphis Railway;

A bill (H. R. 8268) to amend chapter 559, page 1095, volume 26, United States Statutes at Large;

A bill (S. 1933) in relation to testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission and in cases of proceedings under or connected with an act entitled "An act to regulate commerce," approved February 4, 1887, and amendments thereto;

A bill (S. 3798) to authorize the building of a railroad bridge at Little Rock, Ark.; and Joint resolution (S. R. 144) to provide for maintenance of order during inaugural ceremonies, March, 1893.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. HARRIS, from the Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3561) to encourage the construction of electric railroads, to facilitate the rapid transportation of the mails, to promote the interests of commerce and travel, and to aid in demonstrating the feasibility of the distribution of electrical power for agricultural and other purposes along the line of electric roads, and especially to aid in the construction of a pioneer electric railroad between the cities of Chicago and St. Louis, by the Chicago and St. Louis Electric Railroad Company, and to secure to the Government the use of the same for postal, military, and other purposes at the existing rates, reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. PETTIGREW, from the Committee on Public Lands, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by himself on the 24th ultimo, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported it with amendments, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. BLODGETT, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3819) granting a pension to Mary Doubleday, widow of Bvt. Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. MITCHELL, from the Committee on Claims, reported an amendment intended to be proposed to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 5564) to permit the withdrawal of certain papers and the signing of certain receipts by John Finn or his attorney, reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. McMILLAN. I am instructed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 8815) to extend North Capitol street to the Soldiers' Home, to report it with amendments. I ask that it take the place on the Calendar of Senate bill 2637 on the same subject, which is Order of Business 687.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That order will be made. The absence of objection, and the bill, S. 2637, to extend North Capitol street to the Soldiers' Home, will be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. SQUIRE, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by him on the 7th instant, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. CAREY, from the Committee on Territories, reported an amendment intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MANDERSON, from the Committee on Printing, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by him on the 4th instant, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

SMITHSONIAN AND NATIONAL MUSEUM REPORTS.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am directed by the Committee on Printing, to whom was referred the Senate companion of a resolution submitted by the Senator from Vermont [Mr. Morrill], to report it back favorably, and I ask for its prompt consideration.

The Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the concurrent resolution; which was read as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate do hereby authorize the printing and the publication of the reports of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum for the year ending in 1892, in two columns of regular monthly printing, of which two copies shall be furnished to the Senate for the use of the Library of the Senate, and two copies for the use of the Smithsonian Institution and two copies for the use of the National Academy.

Mr. MANDERSON. This is the regular report of the Smithsonian Institution and the National Museum, and the number provided for agrees with the public printing bill, which has passed both Houses of Congress.

Mr. COCKRELL. Would there be any real obstacle of course of getting these publications issued a little closer to the time they pretend to represent; that is, to bring them up with a short time of the current year?

Mr. MANDERSON. I hope it may be so. Of course that depends very largely upon the amount of labor which may be thrown upon the Government Printing Office. The Senator must be aware of the fact that the Public Printer is the head of that concern and not the Committee on Printing. The amount of work thrown upon the Government Printing Office during the sessions of Congress is very great, and of course matter of this character must step to one side while that which is more pressing is printed. The amount of work performed at the Public Printing Office for the Executive Department grows with every succeeding day, and naturally so, because the work of the Department grows with the increase of the country.

I have simply to say of the present management of the Government Printing Office that I think it has made some very great improvements, and that matter is issued more promptly than has been the case heretofore. This is not only because of the pressure upon the Public Printer by Congress and by members of Congress, but because of the efficiency of that officer, as I think all must recognize.

I realize that there is great trouble in this direction, but I do not see how it can be remedied unless we make a very large increase in the force of the Government Printing Office and give it greater facilities than it now possesses. The loss to the Government in the output of the establishment caused by the existing system against which I have no objection, and I only mention it as producing a result in the slowness of work and the thirty days' leave granted to all employees, which is due to about 19 per cent of their labor as well as the payment of excessive protracted delay in the printing of important matters. The work of the Joint Committee on Printing has been to procure attention in printing these publications, and I hope there may be some bettering of the condition as we run along during the remainder of the present fiscal year.

The concurrent resolution was agreed to.

REPORT ON SWEATING SYSTEM.

Mr. MANDERSON, from the Committee on Printing, to whom was referred the following concurrent resolution of the House of Representatives, reported it without amendment, and it was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the House do hereby authorize the printing and the publication of the report of the Committee on Printing, of which two copies shall be furnished to the Senate for the use of the Library of the Senate, and two copies for the use of the Smithsonian Institution.

PROHIBITION OF CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

Mr. SHERMAN. I am directed by the Committee on Foreign Relations to report back to the Senate the following concurrent resolution of the Government of China with the United States relative to the acts of Congress forbidding the immigration of Chinese and the treaty stipulations between the two countries, and to ask that this, being in the nature of a legislative document, be printed and be recommitted to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. COCKRELL. What is the document? We could not hear upon this side one solitary word that was said.

Mr. SHERMAN. It is the correspondence between the Government of China and the United States in respect to the recent law in regard to Chinese immigration, and being of a legislative character the committee report it back so that it may be printed for the use of the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The correspondence will be printed as a document, if there be no objection, and recommitted to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. MORGAN introduced a bill (S. 3415) to provide for the provisional government of foreign countries and places acquired by treaty or otherwise; which was read the first time by its title.

Mr. MORGAN. I ask that the bill be read at length.

The bill was read the second time at length, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That whenever the United States shall acquire dominion over any foreign country or place, by treaty of annexation, or otherwise, the President of the United States, with the advice and consent of the Senate, may appoint a governor for the same and a legislative council to consist of any number of persons, not less than five, nor more than twenty-five, whose acts shall be subject to revision or repeal by Congress, and unless the treaty of annexation, or cession, shall otherwise provide, said governor and council shall constitute and conduct a provisional government for such country, or place, until Congress shall otherwise provide by law.

Mr. MORGAN. I move that the bill be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. VANCE introduced a bill (S. 3446) for the relief of G. M. Woodruff; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. DAVIS introduced a bill (S. 3847) granting a pension to Sturgis, widow of Brig. Gen. Samuel Davis Sturgis; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. CAREY introduced a bill (S. 3848) to increase the pension of Juliet W. Hart; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. PERKINS introduced a bill (S. 3849) granting a pension to Henderson H. Boggs; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

Mr. PETTIGREW introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 148) authorizing the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution to send articles illustrative of the life and development of the industries of women to the World's Columbian Exposition; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Quadricentennial (Select).

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. DOLPH submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. McMILLAN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. VOORHEES submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Territories, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CAREY submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. HILL submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. TELLER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Territories, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. POWER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Territories, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MANDERSON submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. BLACKBURN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. FRYE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. PASCO submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. DANIEL submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

THE ELECTORAL COUNT.

On motion of Mr. HOAR, it was Ordered, That at 5 minutes before 1 o'clock to-day the Senate, in pursuance of the concurrent resolution of the two Houses, proceed to the Hall of the House of Representatives, to take part, under the Constitution and laws, in the count of the electoral votes for President and Vice-President of the United States.

SEAL ISLAND FISHERIES.

Mr. TELLER submitted the following resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to transmit to the Senate copies of all reports made by special agents to the Seal Islands during the years 1891 and 1892.

EMPLOYMENT OF ADDITIONAL PAGES.

Mr. SHERMAN submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate:

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint two additional pages for the balance of the present session, to be paid at the rate of $250 per day each, to be paid from the miscellaneous items of the contingent fund of the Senate.

SETTLERS IN TUCSON LAND DISTRICT, ARIZONA.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there further morning business?

Mr. COCKRELL. The Calendar, Mr. President.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If not that order is closed, and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. DOLPH rose.

Mr. COCKRELL. I hope we shall be allowed to go on with the Calendar.

Mr. DOLPH. A bill was passed over on my objection in regard to settlers in the Tucson land district in Arizona Territory. I asked that it might go over until Tuesday. It is a House bill and was entitled to consideration under the order. If nobody objects I ask that the bill be taken up and disposed of. I am not personally interested in it; I merely want to do justice to the parties who are interested in it.

The bill (H. R. 7625) for the relief of certain settlers on public land in the Tucson land district in Arizona was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It provides that any person having filed for or entered lands within the Tucson land district in Arizona who shall prove to the satisfaction of the register and receiver of the Tucson land office and the Commissioner of the General Land Office that he has paid any money in fees, commissions, or for the land more than once, or where he has paid double minimum price for land after it was proclaimed for purchase at single minimum by the General Land Office, such excess so paid shall be repaid to the person who so paid the same, or to his heirs or personal representatives.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

JOHN W. WACKER.

Mr. COCKRELL. The Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The first bill on the Calendar will be announced.

The bill (S. 3113) to remove the charge of desertion standing against John W. Wacker was announced as first in order, and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to its consideration.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Military Affairs with amendments: In line 5, after the name "Wacker," to strike out "late" and insert "who enlisted under the name of John Walker as a" in line 6, after the word "private," to insert "in" and in the same line, after the word "company," to insert "L" and transferred to Company I;" and in line 8, after the word "infantry," to strike out "and issue to him an honorable discharge from said Company I, Ninth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry," and insert—about without leave from Company I, Ninth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, after September 9, 1863, he having had twenty-five years of faithful service since his absence without leave under his original enlistment.

act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States," approved May 5, 1892, was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. The Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH], who reported that bill, is not present.

Mr. HAWLEY. Let the bill go over. The Senator from Oregon is not here.

Mr. HOAR. I should like to move an amendment before the bill goes over and let it and the amendment go over together.

Mr. COCKRELL. Certainly.

Mr. HOAR. I move to amend by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting these words:

That the act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States, approved May 5, 1892, is hereby repealed.

Mr. SHERMAN. That is in the nature of an objection.

Mr. HOAR. I should think it was.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over.

Mr. DOLPH subsequently said: May I inquire what disposition was made of the bill (S. 3360) to amend section 9 of an act entitled "An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States," approved May 5, 1892?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It was passed over on account of the absence of the Senator from Oregon.

Mr. DOLPH. Was there objection to its present consideration? The only effect of the bill is to strike out the word "white" where white witnesses are required in the act, so as to make it read "at least one credible witness, not a Chinese person or person of Chinese descent."

Mr. COCKRELL. There was no specific objection made to the bill, except that it was not to be considered in the absence of the Senator from Oregon, who reported it.

Mr. DOLPH. I should like to call up the bill, if there is no objection, that it may be put on its passage.

Mr. COCKRELL. The Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR] proposed an exceedingly important amendment to the bill, which was to strike out the entire bill and substitute a clause repealing the law of 1892.

Mr. DOLPH. I am ready for a vote on that amendment, if it is in order.

Mr. HOAR. Let the bill go over.

Mr. DOLPH. This is the second time the bill has gone over, first upon the objection of the Senator from Illinois on the other side of the Chamber [Mr. PALMER], and now by the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR]. The colored people complain about the law because the word "white" is used.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over.

EAST WASHINGTON CROSSTOWN RAILWAY.

The bill (S. 1876) to incorporate the East Washington Cross-town Railway Company of the District of Columbia was announced as next in order.

Mr. McMILLAN. I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

The motion was agreed to.

ESTATE OF EZEKIEL T. KEEL.

The bill (S. 2940) for the relief of James A. Richardson, administrator of Ezekiel T. Keel, deceased, of Shelby County, Tenn., was the next in order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill having been adversely reported will be placed under Rule IX, if there is no objection.

Mr. COCKRELL. Yes; let it go over under Rule IX.

EXEMPTION FROM COMPETITIVE EXAMINATIONS.

The bill (S. 3024) to exempt veterans from competitive examinations in the classified service of the United States was announced as next in order.

Mr. TURPIE. I ask the unanimous consent of the Senate that that bill may be considered.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let us hear it read for information first, and then we can tell.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There has been no objection made to its consideration that the Chair has heard. The bill will be read at length.

The Secretary read the bill, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc. That persons who are in the classified civil service of the United States, and who were honorably discharged from the military or naval service of the United States, shall have the right to be promoted in such service without being subjected to the compulsory competitive examination now required of applicants for promotion, except such examination as may be required by the appointing power to test the fitness of the applicant for promotion.

Mr. TURPIE. I hope the bill will be passed. It applies to ex-soldiers of the Union who are in the classified service and relates to them only so far as to exempt them from competitive examinations for promotion. I express the hope again that the bill may be passed.

Mr. COCKRELL. No one has objected to the bill.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole House, proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. TURPIE. The bill relates to a very small class of ex-soldiers of the Union who are in holding positions in the classified service, and it only operates to exempt that comparatively small class from competitive examinations, in their names are presented for promotion. The bill does not change and relax the rule of what is called the civil or domestic service, which a man is presented for or comes in for promotion, and is subject to a competitive examination.

Many of these persons are men who have been in the army in their youth did not have the opportunity of receiving a military education, and although they have been in the army and have received the duties both of the military and civil service, and have been promoted, they might not be promoted in the civil service. The bill is for the benefit of the persons in the civil service, and the class from the operation of the bill is a very small class. The bill is a competitive service and the bill is for the benefit of the persons in the civil service.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

IMPERIAL VALLEY.

The bill (S. 3141) to amend an act approved May 12, 1892, entitled "An act to repeal the law of May 12, 1892, relating to the Imperial Valley," was announced as next in order.

Mr. PEFFIGREW. Let that bill go over without prejudice.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

GULE, COLORADO, AND SANTA FE RAILWAY.

The bill (S. 3147) to authorize the Gule, Colorado, and Santa Fe Railway Company to purchase certain lands situated on parcels in the Chickasaw Nation, Indian Territory, was reported to the Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

THEOPHILUS PERK MILLS.

The bill (S. 330) for the relief of Theophilus Perk Mills was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let that be passed over after the passage of the Senator reporting it not being in order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

SAMUEL J. HAYNES.

The bill (S. 1344) to make payment to Samuel J. Haynes of money erroneously and by mistake paid to his nearest relative, was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It provides to pay Samuel J. Haynes $100, less such debts as the Commissioner of the General Land Office shall certify and determine to have been properly due the Government on his honest and entry in Kimball County, Neb., on which he made claim prior to January, 1890, at the Sidney land office.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. COCKRELL. I move to strike out the preamble. The preamble was rejected.

GEORGE C. TANNER.

The bill (S. 2586) to reimburse George C. Tanner, late Commissioner and so forth, the sum of $200, paid by him for rent of rooms, was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It provides to pay $200 to George C. Tanner, late Commissioner and so forth, for the rent of rooms paid by him.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

BILLS PASSED OUT.

The bill (S. 337) to fund the outstanding claims of Arkansas and other States under the Savage and Grant land acts for other purposes, was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. That bill will be passed over after the Senator who reported it is not present.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

The bill (S. 2116) for the relief of John C. Banks, late Commissioner of the General Land Office, was announced as next in order.

Mr. HAWLEY. The bill will be passed over after the Senator who reported it is not present.

Mr. COCKRELL. The bill will be passed over after the Senator who reported it is not present.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

The bill (S. 671) for the relief of John C. Banks, late Commissioner of the General Land Office, was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. That bill will be passed over after the Senator who reported it is not present.

Mr. HOAR. I wish to bring up the bill for the relief of John C. Banks, late Commissioner of the General Land Office.

tion of the rule, that merely because there is an adverse report, a bill goes over under the rule. The objection is not to the bill, but to the consideration of the bill at the present time. A committee may very well have made an adverse report and everybody be willing to settle it now. I do not see why the matter should not be settled unless there is some objection to its being dealt with now.

Mr. COCKRELL. When an objection is made I think a bill goes over under the rule, and I made a specific objection in each one of these cases in order to save the very point the Senator is making.

Mr. HOAR. That is all very right. I do not object to the bill going over; it is the right of any Senator to object; but what I object to is an interpretation of the rule that a mere adverse report or a difference of opinion about a bill sends it over.

Mr. COCKRELL. Not at all.

Mr. HOAR. The Senate might desire to have it settled now.

Mr. COCKRELL. Certainly.

The bill (S. 459) for the relief of Alexander Stoddart, of New York, was announced as next in order.

Mr. COCKRELL. That is quite a long bill, and the Senator reporting it is not present. It may lead to discussion. I ask that it be passed over without losing its place on the Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

CATHERINE E. WHITALL.

The bill (S. 3399) for the relief of Catherine E. Whitall was considered in Committee of the Whole. It authorizes the accounting officers of the Treasury, in the settlement of the accounts of Maj. John A. Whitall, deceased, late paymaster in the United States Army, to pass to the credit of his legal representatives whatever amounts may be shown by satisfactory evidence to have been paid by him, the vouchers for which payments have been stolen from him.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

TIME PENALTIES ON THE CONCORD AND BENNINGTON.

The bill (S. 3395) to remit the penalties on gunboat numbered 3, the Concord, and gunboat numbered 4, the Bennington, was considered in Committee of the Whole. It authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to remit to N. F. Palmer, jr., & Co., of New York City, the time penalties exacted by the Navy Department under the contracts with that company for the construction of gunboat numbered 3, known as the Concord, and gunboat numbered 4, known as the Bennington, the United States having suffered no damage by the delay in the construction of the gunboats.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the report be read in that case.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The report will be read.

The Secretary read the following report, submitted by Mr. BLACKBURN July 16, 1892:

The Committee on Naval Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3395) to remit the time penalties on gunboat No. 3, the Concord, and gunboat No. 4, the Bennington have considered the same and report as follows:

The contracts for building these vessels required that they should be completed and ready for delivery within eighteen months from the date of the contracts, and in case of failure in that respect that the contractors should be liable to the imposition of penalties for each day's delay.

In the case of the Concord the delay was sixty-five days and the penalties amounted to $3,250, and in the case of the Bennington there was a delay of ninety-two days and the penalties amounted to $5,350.

The bill having been referred to the Secretary of the Navy for a report on the facts, the Secretary, after a full statement of the case, says:

"While it was required by the contracts for the construction of the Concord and the Bennington that those vessels should be constructed of steel of domestic manufacture, the manufacture of steel of the requisite quality was, at the time of the execution of said contracts, but little understood in this country and but few companies were possessed of a plant adequate to its production, and as the construction of several other steel vessels had recently been contracted for by this Department with other firms the steel manufacturers throughout the country were, during the period for which the contracts for the Concord and Bennington experienced delays in obtaining materials, as stated above, taxed beyond their capacity to supply, within the time limited therefor, materials for all of such vessels which would meet the requirements of the Department."

"This cause of delay, though it could not be considered by the Department as a basis for extending the time for the completion of said vessels, was due to circumstances beyond the control of the contractors, and the Government has sustained no loss by reason of the delay."

It appearing from the report of the Secretary that the delay for which the penalties were imposed was due to circumstances beyond the control of the contractors, and that the Government has sustained no loss by reason of the delay, your committee report back the bill and recommend its passage.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, and was read the third time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Shall the bill pass?

Mr. CHANDLER. I will content myself with voting in the negative on the passage of the bill. I am not in favor of it.

The bill was passed.

M. S. HELLMAN.

The bill (S. 2142) for the relief of M. S. Hellman, of Canyon City, Oregon, was considered in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in line 5, after the word "directed," to strike out the following words:

To cause to be paid to M. S. Hellman, of Canyon City, State of Oregon, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and which amount is hereby appropriated, the amount of $5,542.55, the balance due him on a contract of May 23, 1871, with the Quartermaster's Department, for the delivery of grain at Camp Harney; and the further sum of $550.72, currency, due him for flour furnished at Camp Harney under a contract with the Commissary Department of date of July 5, 1871. And he is further instructed to cause to be canceled all claims for damages held by the Commissary Department against said Hellman by reason of his failure to deliver flour at Camp Harney, as per contract of date of July 5, 1871, said Hellman having been prevented from complying with such contract by reason of unforeseen and unavoidable accident.

And to insert:

To charge to M. S. Hellman, of Canyon City, Oregon, the sum of $1,000 damages, as in full for all damages sustained by the United States for the breach of his contract made July 5, 1871, with Capt. W. H. Bell, commissary of subsistence, United States Army, for the supply of flour at Camp Harney, Oregon, remitting all further claims of damage under said contract, and to settle and adjust his unsettled accounts with the Government, after the deduction of said sum of $1,000, and the Secretary of the Treasury is directed to pay this balance found due said Hellman upon the proper vouchers therefor. Provided, That the said Hellman shall accept the amount so found due in full and final settlement of all claims upon the Government.

So as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of War and the proper accounting officers of the Government be, and they are hereby, authorized and directed to charge to M. S. Hellman, of Canyon City, Oregon, etc.

Mr. BATE. What is the amount involved?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. One thousand dollars.

Mr. PEPPER. There is no reason why the bill should be passed over.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There has been no objection made to the consideration of the bill. The inquiry has been made as to how much is involved in it.

Mr. PEPPER. The report will show. I think about a thousand dollars.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The report will be read, if it is desired.

Mr. BATE. The amount is what I wished to ascertain.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the committee.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on the 6th instant approved and signed the act (S. 3753) relating to the anchorage and movement of vessels in the port of Chicago.

The message also announced that the President of the United States had on the 7th instant approved and signed the act (S. 539) granting an increase of pension to Thomas J. Matlock.

EMPLOYMENT OF ADDITIONAL PAGES.

Mr. JONES of Nevada, from the Committee to Audit and Control the Contingent Expenses of the Senate, to whom was referred the following resolution, submitted by Mr. SHERMAN, reported it without amendment, and it was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms be, and he is hereby, authorized to appoint two additional pages for the balance of the present session, to be paid at the rate of $2.50 per day each, to be paid from the miscellaneous items of the contingent fund of the Senate.

EQUESTRIAN STATUE OF MAJ. GEN. JOHN STARK.

The bill (S. 2158) for the erection of an equestrian statue of Maj. Gen. John Stark in the city of Manchester, N. H., was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let that be passed over for the present.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

Mr. CHANDLER. I hope the Senator from Missouri will let the bill be passed. As he knows, a similar bill was passed at a former Congress by a very large majority, and I hope he will allow it to pass.

Mr. COCKRELL. This is the ornamentation statue we once discussed here?

Mr. CHANDLER. This is the one. Will not the Senator be kind enough to withdraw his objection and let the bill pass?

Mr. VOORHEES. I rise to inquire of the Senator from New Hampshire whether there is any other statue erected to Gen. Stark? Is there any other monument or statue to his memory?

Mr. CHANDLER. Certainly; in the Statehouse yard at Concord, N. H., erected by the State.

The VICE PRESIDENT: The Senate is in session. On the motion made by the Secretary, the yeas and nays are ordered. The yeas are 54, and the nays are 46. The motion is agreed to.

CIRCUIT COURT JURISDICTION.

Mr. HOAR. I am instructed by the Committee on the Judiciary to report a bill to amend the act approved August 13, 1888, in relation to the jurisdiction of the circuit courts of the United States.

The bill (S. 3851) to amend the act approved August 13, 1888, in relation to the jurisdiction of the circuit courts of the United States, was read the first time by its title.

Mr. HOAR. I ask leave to have the bill read for information, as it is very short, and to have the letter of the Attorney-General read, and then I shall ask the Senate to put the bill on its passage.

The bill was read the second time, at length, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That section 1 of the act approved August 13, 1888, defining the jurisdiction of the circuit courts of the United States, and for other purposes (chapter 895, 25 Statutes at Large, page 433), be, and the same is hereby, amended by inserting after the word "defendant," in the ninth line from the bottom of said section, the following proviso, to wit:

Provided, That any foreign corporation may be sued in any district where it may be found, process to be served upon said corporation as in like cases under the laws of the State, Territory, or district where said suit or action is brought, and in all suits or actions brought since August 13, 1888, process heretofore or hereafter so served on such corporation shall be held valid to give said circuit court jurisdiction; so that said section will read as follows:

"That the circuit courts of the United States shall have original cognizance, concurrent with the courts of the several States, of all suits of a civil nature, at common law or in equity, where the matter in dispute exceeds, exclusive of interest and costs, the sum or value of $2,000, and arising under the Constitution or laws of the United States, or treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority, or in which controversy the United States are plaintiffs or petitioners, or in which there shall be a controversy between different States, in which the matter in dispute exceeds, exclusive of interest and costs, the sum or value aforesaid, or a controversy between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, or a controversy between citizens of a State and foreign states, citizens or subjects, in which the matter in dispute exceeds, exclusive of interest and costs, the sum or value aforesaid, and shall have exclusive cognizance of all crimes and offenses cognizable under the authority of the United States except as otherwise provided by law, and concurrent jurisdiction with the district courts of the crimes and offenses cognizable by them. But no person shall be arrested in one district for trial in another, in any civil action before a circuit or district court; and no civil suit shall be brought before either of said courts against any person by any original process or proceeding in any other district than that whereof he is an inhabitant, but where the jurisdiction is founded only on the fact that the action is between citizens of different States, suit shall be brought only in the district of the residence of either the plaintiff or the defendant. Provided, That any foreign corporation may be sued in any district where it may be found, process to be served upon said corporation as in like cases, under the laws of the State, Territory, or district where said suit or action is brought, and in all suits or actions brought since August 13, 1888, process heretofore or hereafter so served on such corporation shall be held valid to give said circuit court jurisdiction; nor shall any circuit or district court have cognizance of any suit except upon foreign bills of exchange, to recover the contents of any promissory note or other instrument payable to bearer and not made by any corporation, unless such suit might have been prosecuted in such court to recover the said contents if no assignment or transfer had been made, and the circuit courts shall also have appellate jurisdiction from the district courts under the regulations and restrictions prescribed by law."

Mr. HOAR. I ask to have the letter of the Attorney-General read.

Mr. HARRIS. I beg to suggest to the Senator from Massachusetts that this seems to me to be a very important bill, and somewhat voluminous. The Senate certainly can not intelligently consider it unless it be in print.

Mr. HOAR. I propose to act upon that suggestion.

Mr. HARRIS. Then let the letter be printed in the Record, without reading at present.

Mr. HOAR. I should like to have the letter read. It is very brief.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The letter will be read.

Mr. HOAR. I will say to the Senator from Tennessee that the bill seems to be voluminous because it is in the form of repealing and amending an existing law, but in reality it only adds half a dozen words to the existing law.

Mr. HARRIS. It seems to me it deals with the question of jurisdiction and is therefore important.

Mr. HOAR. I think it quite reasonable that the bill should go over after the letter of the Attorney-General shall have been read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, Washington, D. C., February 6, 1891.

Sir: I beg to call your particular attention to what seems to me to be the urgent necessity for an amendment of the statute as to the jurisdiction of the United States courts against corporations.

For the purpose of explaining my meaning more fully, I ask you to read what is said in my report for the current year on page 17, of which I enclose a copy with this letter.

As the law now stands, in any district, foreign corporations are a favored class. A corporation of Connecticut or Michigan might cut off the Government timber in California or Oregon, and unless a special exception is made in favor of the Government, the case of Shaw vs. Quincy Mining Company (45 U. S. 415) would prevent the maintenance of a suit against such corporation in either of the districts where the trespasses were committed.

A private citizen of Connecticut who goes into Oregon and commits a wrong upon one of its citizens can be sued there by the citizen injured, a corporation of Connecticut doing the like thing can not.

The Chicago Stock Yards Company, a corporation, I am informed, of New Jersey, owning $50,000,000 of property and doing an immeasurable business in Illinois, can not be sued in the Federal courts in that State, notwithstanding that, by reason of its enormous local influence, every reason why the Federal court should have jurisdiction is intensified.

If there is any good reason why corporations should thus be made the favorites of the law it is not apparent to me.

I beg to say further that, in view of the suits pending by the Government against the subsidized railroads, referred to in the report, it would be desirable that any amendment of the law should cover existing litigation.

I hope this matter will have attention.

Respectfully yours,

W. H. H. MILLER, Attorney-General.

Hon. GEORGE F. HOAR,

Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, United States Senate.

Mr. HOAR. I ask to have another letter of the Attorney-General printed in the Record without being read.

The letter was ordered to be printed in the Record, as follows:

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

Washington, D. C., February 6, 1891.

Sir: Your note of February 1, asking that I draft a bill for an amendment of the statute as to the jurisdiction of the United States courts against corporations, is received.

I enclose a draft herewith. The importance of the last part of the amendment, making it apply to existing suits, is that under the act of August 7, 1888 (25 Statutes at Large, page 389), requiring the Attorney-General to commence suits to compel subsidized railroad and telegraph companies to operate their own lines, suits have been commenced in the circuit courts against the Southern Pacific Railroad, the Central Pacific Railroad, and the Western Union Telegraph Company, etc. These several corporations are necessary parties in such cases. They are corporations and the inhabitants of different States, and unless the Supreme Court shall hold that a different rule applies in the case of a suit by the Government from that which applies in a suit by a private party (45 United States, page 445), the courts are without jurisdiction and the suits must fail. In that event it is impossible to carry out the requirements of the statute requiring such suits to be brought unless the Government goes as a litigant into the State courts, as heretofore suggested. On pages xvi, xvii, and xviii of my annual report this matter receives attention.

Very respectfully,

W. H. H. MILLER, Attorney-General.

Hon. GEORGE F. HOAR,

United States Senator.

Mr. COKE. I desire to ask the Senator from Massachusetts a question. Is the point made in the letter of the Attorney-General the only point covered in this bill?

Mr. HOAR. Yes; the only point covered in the bill. If I can have the attention of the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS] one moment, I think he is quite right in his suggestion that the bill should be printed and go over. I do not want to have any hasty action upon it; but the Senator is wrong in supposing that it is a voluminous bill.

The bill was drawn by the Attorney-General. Instead of simply adding three or four words to the jurisdiction section of the law, it is in the form of enacting, after adding the three or four words, that the section shall read so and so. The bulk of the bill is now the existing law. The only thing which the bill seeks to accomplish is that when a foreign corporation performs an act in any State it shall be responsible for the consequences of that act in that jurisdiction as a private individual would be who was found there. It seems to me a matter about which there can not possibly be any difference of opinion in the Senate.

The Supreme Court of the United States seem to have indicated an opinion both ways. I am not at all certain that the Supreme Court of the United States will not hold the law to be in the end as this proposed statute makes it without the statute, but it manifestly ought to be settled one way or the other. Let the bill go over.

Mr. HARRIS. I suppose when the bill shall have been printed there will be no trouble in the Senate calling it up to-morrow.

Mr. HOAR. Let it go over.

Mr. DOLPH. I desire to call the attention of the Senator to what, in listening to the bill, appeared to be its provision, that it is retrospective, goes back to 1888 and makes a service good which was not good under existing laws. If a court has acted upon insufficient service and rendered a judgment under existing law that is void, this bill seems to be an attempt to validate it and make that a good service.

Mr. HOAR. Only as to pending actions.

Mr. DOLPH. I suggest to the Senator whether the provision is not too broad in that respect.

Mr. HOAR. We will settle that hereafter.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GALLINGER in the chair). The bill, having been read twice, will be placed on the Calendar.

COLORADO RIVER IRRIGATION COMPANY.

Mr. DAWES. I am instructed by the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3788) granting right of way to the Colorado River Irrigation Company through the Yuma Indian Reservation in California, to report it without amendment. It will be impossible for me to be in the Chamber much of the time during the remainder of the session. The bill is exactly like one which passed the Senate in the last Congress, and I ask the indulgence of the Senate to put it on its passage now.

WILLIAM SMITH AND OTHERS.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

SAFETY OF LIFE ON RAILROADS.

Mr. DOLPH. As I said yesterday, this is an amendment to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Alabama. The amendment of the Senator from Alabama proposes to add a provision that if a brake or a coupling device is selected under the bill upon which there is a patent it shall be condemned for the public use by the United States. I suggested yesterday that the amendment did not go far enough, because a suit might be pending to condemn the device at the time when the law took effect, and therefore the railroad companies might be required to proceed to purchase the patentable device before it was condemned. I offered my amendment with a view of perfecting what I thought was an omission in the amendment of the Senator from Alabama, providing that the common carrier should not be required to adopt and use the patented device until it had been condemned.

The PRESIDENT [Mr. JAMES M. MORRIS] will introduce the amendment proposed by Senator [JAMES A.] HANCOCK.

Mr. CULLOM. I do not think we had better agree to anything until we get to a vote upon this question.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Then the question will be on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Oregon to the amendment of the Senator from Alabama.

Mr. PALMER. I understand the question now before the Senate is upon the amendment proposed by the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN] as amended by the amendment moved by the Senator from Oregon.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will state to the Senator from Illinois that the amendment proposed by the Senator from Oregon to the amendment of the Senator from Alabama has not yet been adopted by the Senate.

Mr. PALMER. If adopted, I understand the whole scheme would amount to this: That the United States Government shall purchase for the use of the railways of the country the device for any coupler that may be ultimately adopted by them; that out of the Treasury there shall be paid for the benefit of the railroad corporations of the country whatever the device is to cost, and the Senator from Oregon proposes that until the work of condemnation is completed and the United States has paid for it the railroads shall not be under obligation to adopt the device contemplated by the bill.

I often admire the Senator from Alabama for his great learning, but these are marvelous conceptions both in theory and in results. One is that the United States Government shall assume that the improvement of the railroad interests of the country is a matter of public concern; that whatever is done for them is done as for public use. Hence we take property for public use upon just compensation, and make the application of this doctrine to a mere personality.

Then I admire very much the public that is intended to be benefited by it. These mere money interests, worthy of all proper encouragement, are to be aided out of the Treasury of the United States. I commend that view very forcibly to my friends from the West—from the granger States. They have demanded that the Government shall control the railroads. This scheme proposes to subsidize them all; to engage in trade in the device and make a present of it to the public as that public is represented by the railroads.

Mr. President, I imagine that age has something to do with my conservatism. I am exceedingly anxious to keep within the lines of rational progress. Perhaps I find it somewhat difficult to do so, but I am not prepared to go to the extent proposed here. I should hesitate about adopting this new policy. If the principle is established I do not know, if there are improved cars, why the Government should not buy that improvement for the benefit of the railroads; and when any improvement is made that would benefit them, make them more useful or safer, and by consequence, more profitable to those who own them, that the Government should step in and gratuitously furnish the needed improvement. Thus after awhile it would be impossible to limit the application of the idea.

I have maintained always, and now maintain, that the railways of the country are public highways. I grant that. I have supposed that they are to a limited extent under public control. But I have always opposed the idea of the Government acquiring any interest in them. I have rejected the idea of Government ownership. I can think of nothing that would be more serious than the United States Government attempting to own and manage the railways. However, I believe if I were driven to the necessity of choosing between Government ownership with the consequent control and Government gratuities, I would prefer the logical result of owning that which was aided by public money.

It must be apparent that such a scheme, if adopted, would produce no beneficial results to the public. Every experiment which has been made that I know anything about in the way of investing public monies in aid of enterprises like this has failed. I know that the people of the State of Illinois have been burdened year after year, though not lately, because happily by one of our more recent revised constitutions the State was prohibited from lending its aid to public corporations, and municipalities were prevented from lending their aid to railroads, except under very peculiar circumstances. The experience I have had is that all attempts at serving the public by the appropriation of money to private corporations or private individuals (I prefer to use that term) have resulted in imposing burdens upon the people without any corresponding advantage.

Suppose this principle is adopted and becomes a part of the permanent policy of the country, and this new method of tapping the public treasury is recognized by the American Congress, can anybody anticipate the results it would reach? It would be an illustration of what I think was very sagely observed by a public man a few years ago, that as the constitutions of the States have been improved and new constitutional restrictions in the way of protections thrown around private property, the corporations are coming to the seat of the National Government and taking advantage of the flexible interpretations which are given to the Federal Constitution until new methods have been devised to reach the property of the people of the country. I protest that it would be fatal policy to open a new avenue to the Federal Treasury, such as is proposed by this amendment.

I have said these railways are highways. The right of Congress to regulate them seems to be settled not so much by the opinion of the courts as by the judgment of the National Legislature and of all departments of the Government. To control does not imply to subsidize. I can not infer the power to take the public money and appropriate it to the use of the controllers of these highways as a consequence of the right claimed to control them. There is no connection between the two propositions.

I think also another suggestion that I hear is most unreasonable. It is said by gentlemen that the railway companies would find it very expensive to adopt these new devices. An improved coupler (using that term in the concrete for the item) is shown to be a necessity and is as much the duty of the railway as to use the improved rail. It would have been complained no doubt at one time that it would be excessively burdensome to require the railway companies to use the steel rail, and yet the greater economy and safety and all the other considerations that suggested the necessity for the steel rail overcame all objections, and the courts have since recognized the principle that these corporations must use the best devices, the best methods to insure public safety.

The claim, therefore, that it is burdensome and that the burden ought to be transferred from the property from which individual profit is derived to the public, in the more general sense, has no foundation. I have spoken of it as a matter of policy. It has no foundation in justice. When persons engaged in a particular employment are required to adopt a device which is essential to the safety of those whom they employ, why should they demand assistance from the public in the discharge of this plain duty, so important to those who are engaged in the service?

The Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT] yesterday stated another view of this case. He spoke of the fact that the men engaged in this service substantially with a knowledge of the risks and were paid for the risks. That is certainly a fair rule when its application is properly limited. But economy would then suggest that as the risks are diminished the expenses would be less; that the element of danger would cease to be an element in the compensation, and economy would suggest to the railroads the adoption of these improved couplers.

But there is an aspect of cruelty and of wrong in that view. When you tell me that the men who have been trained for years in the service of the railway companies, until they have become familiar with that business, have acquired habits adapted to it, have bought homes where they can live convenient to the discharge of this duty, may decline such risks and have some discretion, I say it is certainly a purely imaginary discretion. These men have their employment, their business. They are trained to it, and as they become fitted for pursuits of this kind they become less fitted for other pursuits.

They have become a distinct class of employes, and to invite them to go into some other business as a means of escaping these hazards is as cruel as it is impolitic. Their skill and experience become a part of the property of the country. They are trained men, familiar with these duties. Their experience, their education, contribute to the safety of persons and property, and as they are thus trained and have become efficient and skillful, it is the policy of the Government to continue them in the employment they have selected, and it is the duty of the Government to render that employment as little hazardous as possible.

I direct my attention now particularly to the remarks made by Senators who insist that legislation like this is in favor of what are termed the strong roads as against the weaker ones. My observation is that there is no such thing as a weak railroad in this country. There may be short lines, and there are some, which have been improvidently constructed, and which, standing by themselves, have not been profitable to their owners; but the extent of my information is that the weak roads of the country are those that have been plundered by their managers. The road itself has the capacity of earning all that is necessary to keep the equipment in perfect order. There is no trouble about the earning capacity of a road, as I understand it, but the difficulty is in most cases that the earnings have taken a direction not in harmony with the interests of the public or those who are in the service of the corporation.

I have in my mind now railroad property which is earning, which must and will earn money, but which has been enormously and wrongfully involved in debt, and by the efforts of those who hold the debts and who control the property, at the same time the road is milked of its earnings, until its track is in poor condition, following titles; which were severally read twice and referred as follows:

The bill (S. 3218) relating to acknowledgments of instruments affecting real estate within the District of Columbia—to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

The bill (S. 3236) authorizing the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to refuse applications for water connections in certain cases—to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

The bill (S. 3147) to authorize the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company to purchase certain lands for station purposes in the Chickasaw Nation—to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

The bill (S. 3081) to authorize the issue of a duplicate to Addison A. Hosmer of a certificate of location of certain land therein described which has been lost or destroyed—to the Committee on Private Land Claims.

GUNBOATS CONCORD AND BENNINGTON.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the act (S. 3395) to remit the penalties on gunboat No. 3, the Concord, and gunboat No. 4, the Bennington.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that that be laid on the table until to-morrow.

Mr. KEM. I object, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

SENATE BILLS REFERRED.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House Senate bills of the following titles; which were severally read twice and referred as below:

An act (S. 3024) to exempt veterans from competitive examinations in the classified service of the United States—to the Committee on Reform in the Civil Service.

An act (S. 2158) for the erection of an equestrian statue of Maj. Gen. John Stark in the city of Manchester—to the Committee on the Library.

REPORT OF SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a Senate concurrent resolution to provide for printing the annual reports of the Smithsonian Institution and of the National Museum for the year ending June 30, 1892.

The resolution was read.

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Printing have considered that resolution and reported it favorably. I move that it be concurred in.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tennessee, the chairman of the Committee on Printing, asks unanimous consent that this Senate resolution be concurred in.

Mr. RICHARDSON. It does not require unanimous consent, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Why not? It is a Senate resolution.

Mr. RICHARDSON. It does not require an appropriation.

The SPEAKER. But it is not a House resolution, and under the rule it can be considered at this time only by unanimous consent.

Mr. RICHARDSON. The House has already provided for printing the identical number provided for in this Senate resolution, and the adoption of this resolution simply prevents a waste of time.

Mr. DINGLEY. What does it provide for the printing of?

Mr. RICHARDSON. The regular annual report of the Smithsonian Institution. As I have said, we have already in the printing bill passed a provision to print this number.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. RICHARDSON] asks unanimous consent for the present consideration of this Senate resolution. Is there objection?

Mr. KEM. I object.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be referred to the Committee on Printing.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

By unanimous consent, Mr. WILLIAMS of North Carolina obtained leave of absence for ten days, on account of important business.

LEAVE TO PRINT DOCUMENTS.

The SPEAKER. The special committee to investigate the Panama Canal Company desire leave to have printed such documents as may be necessary in connection with the subject referred to them for investigation. Without objection leave will be granted.

There was no objection, and it was so ordered.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

Mr. SCOTT, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that they had examined and found truly enrolled bills of the following titles; when the Speaker signed the same:

A bill (H. R. 2427) granting a pension to Margaret Byron;

A bill (H. R. 2493) granting a pension to Jesse Cleaveland;

A bill (H. R. 3713) for increase of pension of Francis P. Gardner;

A bill (H. R. 3845) to increase the pension of Edward R. Chapman;

A bill (H. R. 4215) to correct the military record of Capt. William C. Knowlton;

A bill (H. R. 4375) for the relief of Charles S. Blood;

A bill (H. R. 6194) to commission David P. Cordray as second lieutenant, to date from June 12, 1892;

A bill (H. R. 7625) for relief of certain settlers on public land in the Tucson land district in Arizona;

A bill (H. R. 8054) to increase the pension of Mary L. Bacon, widow of the late George B. Bacon, late lieutenant-commander of the United States Navy;

A bill (H. R. 8298) to pension Emma Johnson, blind and dependent daughter of Daniel D. Johnson, Company B, One hundred and forty-second New York Volunteers;

A bill (H. R. 8727) for the relief of S. J. Brooks;

A bill (H. R. 8780) to restore to the pension roll Mary Eleanor White, as former widow of Capt. George W. Hazzard;

A bill (H. R. 8784) granting a pension to Edward Smitherman;

A bill (H. R. 8924) granting a pension to the widow of James A. Kelly;

A bill (H. R. 8969) to grant a pension to Lydia Eollman, a dependent sister;

A bill (H. R. 9011) to grant a pension to Ida A. Taylor;

A bill (H. R. 9437) for the removal of the charge of desertion against William H. Holloway; and

A bill (H. R. 9557) granting additional quarantine powers and imposing additional duties upon the Marine Hospital Service.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. McCook, its Secretary, announced that the Senate had insisted upon its amendments to the bill (H. R. 9527) to restore to the public domain a portion of the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation, in the Territory of Arizona, and for other purposes, disagreed to by the House of Representatives, had agreed to the conference asked by the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and had appointed Mr. JONES of Arkansas, Mr. PLATT, and Mr. MANDERSON as the conferees on the part of the Senate.

It also announced that the Senate had passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary be directed to request the House of Representatives to return to the Senate the bill (H. R. 9555) providing for sundry light-houses and other aids to navigation.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. DOCKERY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the call of committees be dispensed with, and that gentlemen having reports to submit have leave to file them with the Clerk.

Mr. TRACEY. I object.

The SPEAKER. Objection is made, and the Clerk will call the standing and select committees for reports.

The Clerk proceeded with the call.

LOAN OF FLAGS FOR INAUGURAL CEREMONIES.

Mr. LAPHAM, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back with a favorable recommendation the joint resolution (S. R. 140) authorizing the Secretaries of War and of the Navy to loan to the committee on inaugural ceremonies flags, etc.; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

ARMY AND NAVY UNION BADGE.

Mr. LAPHAM, also from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back with a favorable recommendation a joint resolution (H. Res. 57) authorizing the wearing of the distinctive badge of ceremony; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

TIMBER-CULTURE LAWS.

Mr. AMERMAN, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported back with a favorable recommendation the Senate bill (S. 2564) to amend section 6 of the act approved March 3, 1891, entitled "An act to repeal the timber-culture laws and for other purposes," which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

WASHINGTON AND GEORGETOWN TERMINAL RAILROAD COMPANY.

Mr. RUSK, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, reported back, with a favorable recommendation, a bill (H. R. 9229) to incorporate the Washington and Georgetown Terminal Railroad Company; which was referred to the House Calendar, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

should dissolve, like the mists of the morning, and cease to exist, what shall we do about it?

Mr. CULLOM. The Interstate Commerce Commission would then settle the matter under the terms of the bill. If the American Railway Association do not act within a given time, ninety days, the matter is relegated to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mr. GRAY. Does the American Railway Association consist of officers and representatives of all the railroads in the United States?

Mr. CULLOM. Not all, I think.

Mr. GRAY. How many?

Mr. BUTLER. I think perhaps I can give a little information. As I understand, there are two associations, the Eastern and the Western association. The Eastern association has its headquarters at Washington; the Western association at Chicago. They are composed of gentlemen who are generally attorneys at law, who examine all railroad patents. When a patent is sent to a railroad company it is referred to one of these associations, examined with a view of determining whether or not it infringes any other patent, and also, as the Senator from Illinois says, whether it is valuable or not; that is, to say, the members of these associations are appointed by a certain number of the railroad companies. I do not know how many. They are purely voluntary associations.

Mr. GRAY. But there are two such associations?

Mr. BUTLER. Practically they are the same; but their headquarters are in different parts of the country.

Mr. CULLOM. The Senator is laboring under a misapprehension. This section only refers to the height of the drawbar of the car, and there is no controversy about that. It is only a question of whether the companies will put it on or not.

Mr. GRAY. The Senator from South Carolina says that this association is composed of lawyers.

Mr. BUTLER. That is my understanding.

Mr. GRAY. Then they can not be railroad men.

Mr. BUTLER. I know that when there was a vacancy in one of the positions here, a gentleman from the Patent Office—I forget his name now—was appointed to fill the vacancy. He is an expert in patents, and I suppose he is a patent lawyer, although I do not know that he is a lawyer in the full sense of the term.

Mr. GRAY. A patent lawyer is a pretty good sort of lawyer.

Mr. WHITE. I understand the situation to be this. The railroads of the United States, as the Senator says, have two associations. These associations are composed of officers selected by the railroad companies to represent them in the matter of railroad patents. The American Railway Association, resulting from the two associations, as the Senator says, has attorneys here. Of course the attorneys are not the association; the attorneys represent the association.

If a patent is taken out for a railroad appliance, the office of that association in order to determine, first, whether it is an infringement and whether they can safely consider it, refer it to their attorneys, who are skilled patent attorneys, and they examine and report not on the fact of utility, but on the fact of infringement. Then, the practical common sense of this aggregation of railroad men in the United States, learning that the use of the patent will not subject them to a suit for infringement if they use the thing patented, determine its applicability, its utility, and it passes into the great volume of railroad traffic, depending upon their judgment on that question.

Mr. GEORGE. The Senator will allow me to ask one question. Is the business of this association confined exclusively to patents?

Mr. WHITE. That is my understanding.

Mr. CULLOM. Allow me to read some testimony bearing on this point. Mr. Haines, a gentleman who came before us, and who is the head of the association, said to the committee:

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the committee, I appear before you to-day on behalf of what is known as the American Railway Association, an organization of the railway corporations of this country, with a mileage of 122,000 miles out of perhaps one hundred and seventy-odd thousands miles that there are in this country. I am personally connected with what is known as the Plant Railroad system, a system of railroads in South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama. I am the vice-president of that system, having been at times superintendent, chief engineer, and general manager.

The association for which I speak has a definite purpose. Its purpose is the development and the solution of problems connected with railroad management, and it would therefore seem eminently proper that in a question of the character you have now under consideration, this particular association of railroad corporations should be heard with reference to what is confessedly a most important problem connected with railroad management.

This association will perhaps be more familiar to you under its former title of general time convention, under which title it succeeded in establishing in this country what is known as standard time. It has also established a uniform set of hand and lamp signals for the use of train men, and also a uniform code of train rules, and we shall hope before we get through with this question that probably we shall have contributed something to the solution of this problem also.

I am here with some of my colleagues at the request of our executive committee, which is composed of Mr. Royce, general superintendent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway, the general manager of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, the vice-president of the New York, Lake Erie and Western, the general superintendent of the West Shore, and the general manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio. I only mention this to show what a representative body we are.

The CHAIRMAN. About how long will you be here?

Mr. HAINES. No less, we would like to hear the gentleman.

The CHAIRMAN. We will have to hear a gentleman who has been the men who are engaged with it.

Mr. HAINES. Our organization is made up of representatives of the following roads: Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, New York, New Haven and Hartford, Lake Erie and Western, St. Louis, Atlantic and Texas, New York, Lake Erie and Western, Eastern Virginia, West Shore, Chesapeake and Ohio, and the Baltimore and Ohio.

Mr. GRAY. Is the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company represented there?

Mr. CULLOM. I do not think the Baltimore and Ohio Company is named.

Mr. GRAY. Is the Pennsylvania Railroad Company represented?

Mr. CULLOM. I do not think that is named; but the association practically represents all the railroads as a matter of fact.

Mr. CALHOUN. Mr. President, I will say to the Senator from Illinois that the gentleman who is named as mentioned to me, Mr. Haines, is one of the most accomplished lawyers in the United States, or in any other country, one of the most extensive experience and knowledge and of the highest character. This whole question with respect to a large matter will be left to him alone.

Mr. CULLOM. I think we had better let the section stand as it is.

Mr. HUNTON. It seems to me from the provisions of the bill that the American Railway Association figures very largely in it and it becomes a very important factor in the execution of the scheme proposed by the distinguished Senator from Illinois. As I understand, it is a limited one, but as to the American Railway Association is a voluntary association and, of course, it may be dissolved on any given day. I ask the Senator from Illinois in case the American Railway Association should be dissolved in the next thirty or sixty days or six months, it would not interfere seriously with the scheme provided for in the bill reported from the Committee on Interstate Commerce.

Mr. CULLOM. In that case, the question would simply be devolved upon the Interstate Commerce Commission. The bill provides that the American Railway Association shall act within ninety days, but if they fail to do so, the Interstate Commerce Commission shall act.

The PRESIDENT OFFICER. Mr. CHANDLER is in the chair. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Mississippi (Mr. GEORGE) to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. GEORGE. Mr. President, I wish to say a word or two about this amendment. The first thing I wish to say, and I want to impress it upon the Senate, is that there is no precedent for this kind of legislation in any free country in the world. If my amendment is not adopted, I want the Senate to understand what they are doing. We have proposed to make a patent association, having no connection with the Government, to have no oath to discharge their duty, but they are subject to one punishment by the Government in case they are found guilty and found guilty, the absolute judge of who? Of that, the lawyers in this case shall do. We allow them to combine their affairs in business to a point a device which, as I show by the figures, may cost in the aggregate from fifty to one hundred million dollars.

That kind of legislation is unprecedented, there is no precedent anywhere, for any legislative body to say to any man or corporation that that man or that corporation shall transact business according to a rule prescribed by a private individual.

In order to show the true character of this provision, I have but to adopt the suggestion made by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLFE], the other gentleman, as I shall have a right to presume that the railroad companies of this country shall conduct any part of their business as John Smith may direct?

Mr. CULLOM. But John Smith belongs to the railroads in this case.

Mr. GEORGE. It does not make any difference whether John Smith is a member of a railroad company or not.

Mr. McMILLAN. Will the Senator from Mississippi stand to me a moment?

Mr. GEORGE. Yes, sir.

Mr. McMILLAN. I ask the Senator if he is not aware that at the present time the railroads of this country are managed just in that way? They have what is called the Master Car Builders' Association. All the main lines practically belong to it. The Master Car Builders' Association meets once a month and agrees upon certain changes to be made on the cars. They agree upon certain parts of the cars so as to make them interchangeable, for instance, brasses, axles, etc. That has been done for a great many years. One railroad company prescribes what another shall do before it will haul the cars of the other company. This legislation is really in the same line so far as the coupler is concerned.

Mr. GEORGE. Does not the Senator perceive a vast difference between an agency voluntarily selected by the railroad companies, they by agreement binding themselves to adopt what that chosen agent shall do, and a law of Congress which compels the railroad companies who do not agree to that arrangement, who do not enter into that association, to conduct their business according to rules prescribed by the association? I think that the distinction is a very broad one. Here the Senator seems to be mistaken also as to the facts, but that is not very material. It is well, however, to correct him.

Only 120,000 miles of railroad, according to the information furnished us by the Senator from Illinois, the chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce, out of 170,000 miles are represented in this association. So, if we pass this bill as it now stands we provide that a voluntary association of railroad companies, representing 120,000 miles of road, shall dictate not only to the members of that association representing 120,000 miles of railroad, but to all others a rule by which they must transact their business.

Mr. President, I do not think it is necessary to argue a proposition of that sort. I should like anyone, however, who thinks we can do that to name the principle of law or of constitutional liberty under which we have the power to do it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the adoption of the amendment proposed by the Senator from Mississippi to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. CULLOM. I hope the Senate will stand by the original amendment as reported by the committee.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will report the amendment to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Mississippi.

The SECRETARY. In section 5, line 2, after the word "act," it is proposed to strike out "the American Railway Association is authorized hereby to designate to;" in line 3, after the word "Commission," to insert "shall designate;" in line 8, after the word "cars," to strike out "upon their determination being certified to the Interstate Commerce Commission" and insert "and;" in line 14, after the word "standard," to strike out "but should said Commission fail to determine a standard as above provided, it shall be the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to do so;" so as to read:

Sec. 5. That within ninety days from the passage of this act the Interstate Commerce Commission shall designate the standard height of drawbars for freight cars measured perpendicular from the level of the tops of the rails to the centers of the drawbars, and shall fix a maximum variation from such standard height to be allowed between the drawbars of empty and loaded cars; and said Commission shall at once give notice of the standard fixed upon to all common carriers, owners, or lessees engaged in interstate commerce in the United States by such means as the Commission may deem proper, and thereafter all cars built or sent to the shops for general repairs shall be of that standard.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, I wish to say that I have been impressed by the statement made by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] that this delegation of a judicial power in the bill to a private association is at war with the traditions of our legislation, and seems to controvert the very fundamental principles of American jurisprudence.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is a judicial body, directed by the legislative power of the United States under the commerce clause of the Constitution to exercise its judgment, and, under the responsibility of the acceptance of that position, to determine questions which may arise, which have been committed to it by Congress lawfully under the commerce clause. To commit, however, the determination of a matter which is important to these railroad interests to the judgment of a private association or to the judgment, which is the same thing, of a private individual, whoever he may be, seems to be entirely a different thing, and one which does not stand upon the same principle or the same footing.

The American Railway Association may be composed, as the Senator from Illinois says it is composed, of expert railroad men, but that does not affect the principle. The Senator from South Carolina [Mr. BUTLER] says it is composed of lawyers; but however it may be composed, it is precisely the same as if the conduct of these railroad companies and the management of their property were committed to a private individual, John Smith or John Jones, to determine, without the responsibility of judicial interposition or responsibility under the law, to exercise it by will or caprice or not at all. How can we compel this railway association to exercise the function which we seek to impose upon it? How can we by mandamus compel it to exercise this judicial function?

Mr. CULLOM. This bill does not provide that the association shall do it unless they wish to. If they do not want to act, then the Interstate Commerce Commission will act.

Mr. GRAY. But then we are submitting, in the first place, the conduct of the business of these corporations to an irresponsible and private determination by individuals who are not exercising any legal function, who are not proceeding to perform any judicial function, who are not responsible to Congress, and who can not be punished for malfeasance, or misfeasance, or nonfeasance of any duty which is here sought to be prescribed.

Therefore, the objection, as it occurs to me, made by the Senator from Mississippi is well taken. Without impugning at all the respectability of these gentlemen, which is vouched for by the Senator from Illinois, it seems to me a dangerous precedent, for, if we can do this, we can in other things within the wide domain which the commerce clause of the Constitution opens up for legislation of Congress, prescribe that the business of this country shall be conducted according to the determination of some private individual, who has or has not, as the case may be, a private interest in the way in which it shall be performed.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. President, referring generally to section 5, for the moment, the very serious question raised by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] and coincided with by the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], I desire to call the attention of the Senate to one or two facts.

There was absolutely no testimony before the Committee on Interstate Commerce and there is no sort of evidence before this body as to what proportion of the freight cars of the United States is properly equipped, and how long a time it will necessarily take to equip them with drawbars of the proper height.

Nobody knows how extensive these preparations may be, and the time is limited to July of this year. If this bill becomes a law in the next two weeks, between then and ninety days from that time anywhere from three hundred thousand to a million cars must be changed so as to comply with certain provisions of the law as to the height of drawbars, etc. I apprehend that no sane body of men would desire, without any sort of testimony, without any sort of knowledge as to what this legislation means, to dump this requirement on the railroads of the United States.

Whenever we ask a question as to some pertinent fact, the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee hauls out from under his desk a petition from 10,000 brakemen, constituting a small percentage of the brakemen of the country—

Mr. CULLOM. If the Senator will allow me, he has stated—I will not say what is not true, but he has certainly misstated the fact. The chairman of the committee has never but once hauled out any such petition and presented it to the Senate. If the Senator from Colorado objects to the presentation of the petition of these 10,000 men he has a right to do so, and he has a right to disregard it, but the chairman of the committee does not propose that the Senator from Colorado shall misstate the facts as to his action.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. President, possibly I was so much impressed by the dramatic force with which the petition was hauled out by the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee that I considered it rather a continuous operation as affecting the deliberations of the last two or three days.

I do not object to the chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce presenting the petition as often as he may like, or in gathering for himself or his section all the political capital he thinks he can make out of the handling of that petition, which represents a very small percentage of the railroad employees, and which, upon investigation, I have no doubt would disclose the fact that less than 25 per cent of the people who signed the petition are brakemen engaged in the railroad business.

I have not charged the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee with any wrongdoing, but I do say the facts and proceedings of the last three days bear me out in the statement that as to the first section of the bill, which is a requirement that will cost in the neighborhood of from fifty to seventy-five million dollars, we have not one word of testimony, and nobody has been able to tell us how many cars have to be equipped and how much it will cost. No single item has been given to the Senate upon which it may intelligently act. We are proceeding entirely in the dark.

Upon another section we are asked between now and ninety days from now to require the railroads to do this great thing, and when we ask for the testimony, we are said to prefer capital to blood, and we are reminded of the fact that 10,000 brakemen out of 150,000 have petitioned for immediate action. That is no answer when people who are legislating on behalf of vast and important interests here come and ask for some intelligent knowledge as to the questions upon which they are called to vote. I say that nobody in the Senate knows what we are called upon to vote for.

Leaving out those words, the section would read:

SEC. 2. That on and after the 1st day of January, 1898, it shall be unlawful for any such common carrier to haul or permit to be hauled or used on its line any car used in moving interstate traffic not equipped with couplers, coupling action directly by impact, and which can be uncoupled without the necessity of men going between the ends of cars.

I think we shall have accomplished by the amendment all that we may legitimately seek to accomplish, and shall not impose upon the railroad companies a condition which may have no reference at all to the end we have in view, but may very materially impair their ability to carry on the traffic which may be brought to their road.

For instance, suppose a railroad company receives every day, as all our great trunk lines are receiving, a lot of cars from another road, and though they may have the automatic couplers coupled by impact, which will not make necessary the interposition of the body of the brakeman to couple, they should not be uniform, what do we care whether they are uniform or not, if we accomplish the end that, in the language of this bill under my amendment, prescribes that they shall be automatic couplers, coupling by impact, and which shall not make necessary the interposition of the body of the brakeman?

Suppose a road, from caprice, from one of those antagonisms which come from the fierce competition for traffic, should refuse cars which come from another road, even though they may have an automatic coupler, one that will couple by impact, one that will not make necessary the interposition of the body of the brakeman, and say, "This train is not uniform in the character of the coupler, in type or action, and therefore we refuse to receive it."

I think that every extraneous and unnecessary condition should be eliminated from this bill, and that only those provisions should remain which are necessary to accomplish the great and humane end which this bill unquestionably has in view; that is, the protection of the life and limb of the brakemen on the railroads.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment of the Senator from Delaware to the amendment of the committee will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In section 2, line 5, after the word "couplers," it is proposed to strike out "uniform in type and action," so as to read:

That on and after the 1st day of January, 1898, it shall be unlawful for any such common carrier to haul or permit to be hauled or used on its line any car used in moving interstate traffic not equipped with couplers coupling automatically by impact, and which can be uncoupled without the necessity of men going between the ends of the cars.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment to the amendment.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. President, I do not know that it is possible to improve this bill in the minds of the majority of the committee, but I make this suggestion to the Senate. We have no sort of authority on earth to say what a railroad shall do with cars which are exclusively destined for State business. I think, perhaps, that will be conceded by the chairman of the committee. We can not provide as to cars to be used upon a railroad exclusively within a State, for, unfortunately for that railroad company, the Interstate Commerce Commission can not regulate it or the Interstate Commerce Commission can not manage so much of the company's property.

Now, we have a provision here in section 5, which reads as follows:

Upon their determination being certified to the Interstate Commerce Commission, said Commission shall at once give notice of the standard fixed upon to all common carriers, owners, or lessees engaged in interstate commerce in the United States by such means as the Commission may deem proper, etc.

This applies to all railroads engaged in interstate commerce, and almost all the railroads of the country more or less are engaged in interstate commerce.

And thereafter all cars sent or sent to the shops for general repairs shall be of that standard.

I should like to know upon what assumption, if the chairman of the committee will explain, he propose to legislate that every car that a railroad company sends to its shops for general repairs shall have a certain height of drawbar. I should like to know upon what theory of law we can compel a company that operates its cars exclusively within a State to do that, because that company may have some of its cars engaged in interstate commerce, and that we can say as to all other cars whenever they are sent to the shops they shall be built of a certain standard.

Mr. BRICE. If the Senator will allow me a moment, I understand that many of the roads have different gauges and some of them have the narrow standard.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Yes.

Mr. BRICE. Does the Senator understand from the language of the bill what the height of the drawbar is to be above the rail?

Mr. WOLCOTT. I am entirely ignorant as to that. I think it is known probably to the chairman of the committee.

Mr. BRICE. Does it provide for the same height for the narrow as for the broad gauge?

Mr. WOLCOTT. As a matter of fact, of course not; but as a matter of theory, as this bill is constructed, of course yes. This bill is being constructed on a theory.

One further suggestion in connection with the same clause, which possibly the chairman of the committee having this subject in charge will explain. We make the time 1895 when this uniform drawbar shall come into use. We say that at any time prior to that, if a railroad company sends its cars to its shops for general repairs it shall put in that drawbar. Is the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine what constitutes the general repairs of a car? You may knock it all to pieces, it may have its sides staved in, it may have the springs and brakes out of fashion; but who is to decide that that makes general repairs, and that the railroad company shall do what is here prescribed?

If you put a provision in your law that by 1895 they shall all be improved, why should not a railroad company between now and 1895 have the right to send its cars to its shops for general repairs and not equip them? Before I venture to submit any amendment on this subject to the approval of the chairman of the committee, I should like to have these matters explained.

Mr. TURPIE. Mr. President—

Mr. GRAY. At the top of page 9—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognized the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

Mr. GRAY. I beg the Chair's pardon.

Mr. TURPIE. I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. CULLOM. I am inclined to think that we can get through with the bill in a little time if we remain in session. It is now only a few minutes after 5 o'clock, and I should be glad if the Senate would remain and complete the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Indiana.

The motion was agreed to; and (at 5 o'clock and 5 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until to-morrow, Friday, February 10, 1893, at 12 o'clock m.

CONFIRMATIONS.

Executive nominations confirmed by the Senate February 6, 1893.

JUDGES OF PROBATE FOR UTAH.

Lilleston B. Bartlett, of Utah Territory, to be judge of probate in the county of Grand, in the Territory of Utah.

Joseph B. Blair, of Utah Territory, to be judge of probate in the county of Salt Lake, in the Territory of Utah.

Alexander C. Bishop, of Utah Territory, to be judge of probate in the county of Weber, in the Territory of Utah.

PROMOTIONS IN THE ARMY.

Adjutant-General's Department.

Capt. John B. Babcock, Fifth Cavalry, to be assistant adjutant-general.

Pay Department.

Lieut. Col. Theobald H. Stanton, deputy paymaster-general, to be assistant paymaster-general.

Maj. George W. Chandler, paymaster, to be deputy paymaster-general.

Cavalry.

Second Lieut. Joseph C. Byron, Eighth Cavalry, to be first lieutenant.

POSTMASTERS.

Hezekiah B. Smith, to be postmaster at New London, in the county of New London and State of Connecticut.

Harvey S. Clark, to be postmaster at Lodi, in the county of San Joaquin and State of California.

Benard Billings, to be postmaster at Newton Upper Falls, in the county of Middlesex and State of Massachusetts.

Green R. Lamb, to be postmaster at Enterprise, in the county of Dickinson and State of Kansas.

George W. Akers, to be postmaster at Stafford, in the county of Stafford and State of Kansas.

John D. Jones, to be postmaster at Yale, in the county of St. Clair and State of Michigan.

William H. Sherman, to be postmaster at Ayer, in the county of Middlesex and State of Massachusetts.

Loring N. Fowler, to be postmaster at Concord Junction, in the county of Middlesex and State of Massachusetts.

Joseph G. Fietam, to be postmaster at Weimar, in the county of Colorado and State of Texas.

Harry F. Hawkins, to be postmaster at Beaver Falls, in the county of Beaver and State of Pennsylvania.

Justus Piekitt, to be postmaster at Fergus Falls, in the county of Otter Tail and State of Minnesota.

Mr. HOPKINS of Illinois (to Mr. WILLIAMS of Massachusetts). You have no right to instruct the Clerk. Mr. Speaker, a member comes up here in front of the desk, dictating how the Clerk shall read the roll. I submit to the Chair that the Clerk is not to be dictated to as to how he shall read.

Mr. CABLE. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that I was out of the Hall for a moment when my name was called. I should have voted against sustaining the demand for the previous question.

Mr. RICHARDSON. I rise to a question of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. RICHARDSON. There is so much disorder that it is impossible for us to hear what is being said. I ask that members be requested to take their seats.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is trying to preserve order. The vote will be recapitulated, so there will be no mistake about it, and no erroneous record of a vote. The Clerk will recapitulate the vote so that members may hear how they are recorded.

Mr. BURROWS. Would it not be well to have members resume their seats, under the rule?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has appealed to members to preserve order. The Clerk will recapitulate the vote in such a manner that gentlemen can hear how they are recorded.

The Clerk recapitulated the names of those voting.

The SPEAKER. On this question the ayes are 153 and the noes 142. [Applause.] The ayes have it, and the previous question is ordered. The question now is upon agreeing to the report of the Committee on Rules.

Mr. COX of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, I move that the report of the committee be recommitted to the Committee on Rules without instructions.

The question was taken; and the Speaker announced that the ayes seemed to have it.

Mr. DINGLEY. Division.

The House divided; and there were—ayes 150, noes 83.

Mr. PENDLETON. I call for the yeas and nays. [Cries of "Oh, no!"]

The question was taken on ordering the yeas and nays.

The SPEAKER. Forty-five gentlemen have arisen in support of the demand for the yeas and nays—not a sufficient number; and the yeas and nays are refused. The ayes have it, and the report is recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. BLAND. I move to reconsider the vote just taken.

The SPEAKER. Under the rules the report of the committee can not be brought back on a motion to reconsider.

Mr. BLAND. I move to reconsider the vote just taken, and to lay that motion on the table.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the vote to recommit a bill can not be reconsidered so as to bring the bill back.

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LONG. Would it be in order to offer a resolution to set aside a day for eulogies on the death of this bill and the effort to defeat free silver? [Laughter.]

Mr. BOUTELLE. Mr. Speaker, where does this result leave the proposition to carry out the pledges of the Democratic platform? [Laughter on the Republican side.]

Mr. ENLOE. It will leave it to the members of the next Congress elected on that platform.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States: which, with the accompanying documents, was referred to the Committee on Labor:

REPORT OF SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House a Senate concurrent resolution to provide for printing the annual reports of the Smithsonian Institution and of the National Museum for the year ending June 30, 1892.

The resolution was read.

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Printing have considered that resolution and reported it favorably. I move that it be concurred in.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tennessee, the chairman of the Committee on Printing, asks unanimous consent that this Senate resolution be concurred in.

Mr. RICHARDSON. It does not require unanimous consent, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Why not? It is a Senate resolution.

Mr. RICHARDSON. It does not require an appropriation.

The SPEAKER. But it is not a House resolution, and under the rule it can be considered at this time only by unanimous consent.

Mr. RICHARDSON. The House has already provided for printing the identical number provided for in this Senate resolution, and the adoption of this resolution simply prevents a waste of time.

Mr. DINGLEY. What does it provide for the printing of?

Mr. RICHARDSON. The regular annual report of the Smithsonian Institution. As I have said, we have already in the printing bill passed a provision to print this number.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Journal of yesterday's proceedings will be read.

Mr. QUAY. I desire to inquire whether there is a quorum of the Senate present.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called.

The Secretary called the roll, and the following Senators answered to their names:

Alason,	Doyle,	Hoke,	Spencer,
Bate,	Duff,	Hoots,	Stewart,
Berry,	East,	Kyle,	Sheep,
Budgett,	Gallinger,	McMillan,	Stewart,
Butler,	George,	McPherson,	Stewart,
Caffery,	Gibson,	Merrill,	Teller,
Call,	Gorman,	Packer,	Tilden,
Carry,	Hale,	Packer,	Wadsworth,
Chandler,	Hansbrough,	Pence,	White,
Cockrell,	Harris,	Parkins,
Cullum,	Hawley,	Pugh,
Dawes,	Hiscock,	Quay,

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Forty-five Senators have answered to their names. A quorum is present. The Journal of yesterday's proceedings will be read by the Secretary.

The Journal of yesterday's proceedings was read and approved.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a supplemental list of judgments rendered by the Court of Claims, which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered to be printed.

He also laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a statement of the work of the division of warrants, estimates, and appropriations, and requesting that a provision of law be enacted authorizing the use of any unexpended balances of appropriations for the work performed in that division which, with the necessary papers, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations and ordered to be printed.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT presented resolutions adopted by the Tacoma (Wash.) Chamber of Commerce, February 2, 1893, regarding the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States, which were referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. QUAY presented a petition, of Council No. 76, of the Order of United American Mechanics, of Danbury, Conn., for the passage of the so-called Chandler bill, which was referred to the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I present a petition of the citizens of North Dakota, praying that the national monument of Abraham Lincoln millage be donated to the State of North Dakota, the benefit and use of a State monument.

I desire to state that Chicago, Illinois, has won the prize in the matter by reason of the fact that the State of Illinois has the State wishes to acquire a new and improved Chicago and North Western Railroad grant. I move that the petition be referred to the Committee on Public Land.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN presented a memorial of the Presbyterian Church of Beech Springs, Ohio, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of Iron Moulders' Beneficial Society, No. 28, of Columbus, Ohio, praying for the establishment of a permanent Census Bureau and the collection of statistics showing the distribution as well as the production of wealth; which was referred to the Committee on the Census.

Mr. CULLOM presented petitions of 28 farmers of Massac County, Ill., and of sundry citizens of Marion County, Ill., praying for the establishment of a commission to investigate the combine formed to depreciate the price of grain, etc.; which were referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Mr. CHANDLER. I present a petition of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, in convention assembled at Denver, Colo., in November, 1892, signed by Frances E. Willard, president, and the other officers of the union, praying for a further and more stringent restriction of immigration at our ports of entry.

The petitioners state that they believe the safety and welfare of our nation and Government are imperiled by the admission of such a large number of aliens, especially as nearly half of our Commonwealths, either by statutory or constitutional enactments, permit male immigrants over 21 years of age to vote at all elections within twelve months after their arrival in our borders by filing their intention to become citizens. They respectfully urge that a larger restriction be placed upon the number, the character, or the power of those coming to our shores, that they may not practically hold upon their arrival, far greater power over our morals and even the very life of the nation than the women who are born of American parents, and who have all their lives lived as good and faithful citizens in our midst.

I move that the petition be referred to the Committee on Immigration.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. KYLE presented a memorial of West Union Farmers' Alliance, No. 599, of Day County, S. Dak., remonstrating against the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. PERKINS presented a petition of sundry citizens of Kansas, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. POWER presented petitions of citizens of Helena, Butte City, Great Falls, Musselshell, and Missoula, in the State of Montana, and petitions of Eagle Butte Lodge, No. 328, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of Forsyth; of Union No. 123, Journeymen Bakers and Confectioners' International Union of America, of Butte City; of Bonanza Lodge, No. 191, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, of Missoula, and of Union No. 43, Journeymen Tailors' Union of America, of Great Falls, in the State of Montana, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. CAREY presented a memorial of citizens of Sheridan County, Wyo., remonstrating against the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. HOAR presented the petition of George Parsons Lathrop and other citizens of the United States, praying for the passage of legislation incorporating the National Historical Society; which was referred to the Committee on the Library.

Mr. QUAY presented a joint memorial of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, remonstrating against the adoption of any amendment to the pension laws decreasing pensions; which was read, and referred to the Committee on Pensions, as follows:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Harrisburg, January 27, 1893.

Resolved by the house of representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (of the senate will concur), That we view with alarm the proclaimed purpose to strike down the pensions of the patriotic men who saved this country from disruption, and declare that, instead of the reduction of pensions, we are in favor of placing every honorably discharged soldier on the pension rolls, under the terms of the Pennsylvania service pension bill, introduced into the United States Senate by Senator J. D. CAMERON, or a modification thereof, whereby every honorably discharged soldier of the war of the rebellion shall be treated as the veterans of all other wars of the United States have been.

We furthermore enter our solemn protest against the effort now being made to deprive the armless and legless veterans of their right, under the present law, to an exchange of their artificial limbs. We believe the preservation of this nation is worth all it cost in blood and treasure, including the money heretofore paid and to be paid to its veteran soldiers as pensions, and we earnestly request the Pennsylvania Senators and members of the House of Representatives to use their best efforts to secure the immediate pensioning of every honorably discharged soldier, and to prevent the threatened injustice to our armless and legless veterans.

CHARLES E. VOORHEES,
Chief Clerk House of Representatives.

In the Senate, January 31, 1893, the foregoing resolution concurred in.

E. W. SMILEY,
Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Approved the 6th day of February, 1893.

ROBT. E. PATTISON.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. McMILLAN, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom were referred the memorial of M. Ashford, J. B. Wilson, and 27 others, owners and dealers in real estate in the District of Columbia, and the memorial of S. J. Fague & Son, Easterday & Haldeinan, Allen O. Dart, and 57 others, owners and dealers in real estate in the District of Columbia, remonstrating against the proposition in the District of Columbia appropriation bill to authorize the District Commissioners to reassess special assessments and taxes which have been or shall hereafter be declared void by the courts, asked that the committee be discharged from the further consideration of the memorials, and moved that they be referred to the Committee on Appropriations; which was agreed to.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 2177) to provide for the re-assessment and relieving of taxes declared illegal and void, and for other purposes, reported adversely thereon, and the bill was postponed indefinitely.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 8125) to provide for the regulation of the equipment and operation of street railroad lines within the District of Columbia by the Commissioners of said District, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3792) to incorporate the American University, reported it with amendments.

Mr. BATE, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 1922) for the relief of George M. Henry, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. PALMER, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 3181) correcting the master of Lieut. Gilman L. Johnson, reported adversely thereon, and the bill was postponed indefinitely.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 5319) for the relief of Daniel Eldridge, Company D, Fifteenth Illinois Volunteers, reported it without amendment.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 4671) for the relief of George W. Schachleifer, reported it without amendment.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 1968) for the relief of Dr. James Madison, reported it with an amendment.

Mr. HUNTON, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3795) to authorize the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Electric Railway Company to construct a bridge across the Potomac River, and to construct a railroad over the same and through certain streets and reservations of Washington, asked to be discharged from its further consideration, and that it be referred to the Committee on Commerce; which was agreed to.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the following bills:

A bill (S. 3788) granting right of way to the Colorado River Irrigation Company through the Yuma Indian Reservation, in California; and

A bill (S. 3843) to authorize the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company to renew its railroad bridge across the Big Sandy River upon such plans and location as may be approved by the Secretary of War.

The message also announced that the House had passed a joint resolution (H. Res. 214) providing for additional telegraphic and electric light facilities in the city of Washington during the inaugural ceremonies on the 4th day of March, 1893; in which the concurrence of the Senate was requested.

AIDS TO NAVIGATION.

Mr. DOLPH. By direction of the Committee on Commerce, I obtained the recall from the House of Representatives of the bill (H. R. 9955) providing for sundry light-houses and other aids to navigation, and the bill was returned last evening. I ask that between the first plate and the corresponding drawing is sufficient to show that in practice no error in this course is likely to occur.

On the second plate there was no difference between the scale of the plate and that of the drawing. On the stationing of the soundings was found to be exact. The stationing of the work on the first plate is such as to make the engraving of it difficult alike by hand and by machine, while that on the second plate is convenient alike for execution by hand and by machine. The performance of the machine under average circumstances can thus be fairly defined and compared with the results attained by hand.

The services of two men are required to operate the machine. They would be paid at the rate of $4 and $2 per day, respectively.

On the first plate 2,500 soundings were stationing and engraved in a period extending over four days and amounting to twenty hours. On the second plate 3,200 soundings were stationing and engraved in six consecutive hours. On both plates 6,100 soundings were engraved in twenty-six hours or four working days.

A skilled engraver required seven and three-quarter hours to trace and lay down the soundings on the first plate. He would require nine hours to gauge and mark them in, and seven days to engrave them according to the present standard, or ten days for the stationing and engraving of the 2,500 soundings on the first plate. Similarly for the second plate, nine days would be required to station and engrave the 3,200 soundings. For both plates nineteen days would be required to station and engrave the 6,100 soundings. Thus 1 skilled engraver working nineteen days, or 19 skilled engravers working one day, or approximately 5 skilled engravers working four days will accomplish as much as the machine does in four days.

The cost of operating the machine one year, exclusive of the interest on the investment, is $5 (365 - 52) = 6 = 313. $1,875
The services of five skillful engravers for one year will cost 7,875

Annual gain in the capacity of the office 5,947

It appears also that this machine will station and engrave soundings at the rate of 40 cents per 100. The average cost of this work in the office is $1.50 per 100, and by contract $2 per 100. The cost of engraving soundings by this machine is one-fourth of the usual cost.

It should be clearly stated that part of this advantage is involved in the change of the character of the figure engraved, and, inasmuch as engravers have not generally been engaged under the supervision of the Government in engraving figures consisting of lines of invariable breadth, such as are engraved by this machine, it becomes difficult to state the advantage of the machine in exact terms.

After the second plate was removed from the machine an engraver was employed one and one-half hours in finishing the 4's and 8's. It is our opinion, however, that it is unnecessary to modify the figure 4 as it is engraved by the machine.

The board finds itself unable to fix a price for a machine involving so much skill, genius, and labor, but is of the opinion that if a price is submitted judgment could be formed as to whether it is fair.

Respectfully submitted.

G. W. LITTLEHALES,

Assistant, U. S. Hydrographic Office.

The HYDROGRAPHER, U. S. NAVY.

U. S. Hydrographic Office, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Mr. COCKRELL. In line 6, after the word "machine," I move to insert "and the right to manufacture and use the same and any improvements which have been or may be made in the same without the payment of any royalty therefor." That is the express recommendation of the board.

Mr. CHANDLER. That amendment should be made. I had drawn a similar amendment, but it is entirely complete in the language used by the Senator from Missouri and should be adopted.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. COCKRELL. After the words "Navy Department," in line 4, I move to insert "or any other Government Department."

Mr. CHANDLER. That is correct.

Mr. COCKRELL. Perhaps it would be better to strike out the words "Navy Department" and insert "for the use of the Government."

Mr. CHANDLER. Say "for the use of the United States."

Mr. COCKRELL. I move, in line 4 and line 7, to strike out the words "Navy Department" where they occur and insert "United States."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Mr. Hawley in the chair. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 4, it is proposed to strike out "Navy Department" and insert "the United States;" and in line 7, to strike out "Navy Department" and insert "United States;" so as to read:

That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, authorized to purchase for the use of the United States, at a cost not exceeding the sum of $25,000, the Oliver & Kolb letter-engraving machine, for the use of the United States.

Mr. GALLINGER. I have no disposition to delay the consideration of this bill, if it is a good one, but I have not had time to examine it; and remembering that the Government has reversed its policy in reference to presses in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and returned to hand work, I ask that the bill go over until I can look into it.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the last amendment be adopted, and then let the bill go over.

Mr. GALLINGER. I have no objection to that.

The amendment was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill goes over under objection.

Mr. CHANDLER. I ask that the bill be printed as amended. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill will be printed as amended in the absence of objection.

WHITE MOUNTAIN APACHE INDIAN RESERVATION.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas submitted the following conference report, which was read:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 3525) to restore to the public domain a portion of the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation in the Territory of Arizona, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendments of the Senate numbered 1, 2, and 3, and agree to the same.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 4 and agree to the same, with an amendment as follows: In line 2 thereof strike out the word "Colville" and insert in lieu thereof the words "White Mountain Apache Indian;" and the Senate agree to the same.

LIBRARY OF HUBERT HOWE BANCROFT.

The joint resolution (S. R. 108) directing the appraisal of the library of Hubert Howe Bancroft was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. COCKRELL. I see there is no report accompanying this joint resolution.

Mr. QUAY. This is not the original proposition for the purchase of the Bancroft library, which I think, as submitted, involved an expenditure of $500,000, but merely provides for an appraisal. It is a subject in which the late Mr. Elaine took a deep interest. It was brought to my attention by Mr. Curtis, of the Bureau of Pan-American Republics, who has examined the documents in the library of Mr. Bancroft, and believes they are of the greatest value to the Government and ought to be in our possession.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

WASHINGTON AND ARLINGTON RAILROAD COMPANY.

The bill (S. 3448) to amend the charter of the Washington and Arlington Railroad Company was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. PERKINS. I ask that that bill may be temporarily passed, retaining its place on the Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It will be so ordered.

Mr. HUNTON subsequently said: I desire to inquire what was done with the bill to amend the charter of the Washington and Arlington Railroad Company?

Mr. PERKINS. It was passed over, retaining its place on the Calendar.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill was temporarily laid aside.

Mr. HUNTON. Why was it passed over?

Mr. PERKINS. The Senator from Michigan [Mr. McMillan], the chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia, requested me to have the bill passed over. I did so at his request. I do not know why he made the request.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

Mr. PERKINS. I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of Senate bill 3702. I think the bill will take no time.

By unanimous consent the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (S. 3702) granting to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company the use of certain lands at the Chickasaw Station, and for a "Y" in the Chickasaw Nation, Indian Territory.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Indian Affairs with an amendment, in line 9, before the word "station," to strike out "Chickasaw" and insert "Chickasha;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company, a corporation created under and by virtue of the laws of the States of Illinois and Iowa, is hereby granted the right to use for railroad purposes two additional strips of land, each 100 feet in width, lying on each side of the ground selected for station purposes, under act of Congress, Chickasha Station, in the Chickasaw Nation, Indian Territory; and said railway company is also granted a right of way 1,500 feet in length for a "Y" in sections 21 and 22, township 7 north, range 7 west of Indian meridian, said right of way to be of a width of 300 feet for a distance of 100 feet, and for the remaining 1,100 feet the width shall be 100 feet. ## SENATE.

SATURDAY, February 11, 1893.

The Senate met at 12 o'clock m.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. J. G. BUTLER, D. D.

The Journal of yesterday's proceedings was read and approved.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate communications from the Secretary of State transmitting, in pursuance of the provisions of the act of Congress approved February 3, 1887, certified copies of the final ascertainment of the electors for President and Vice President appointed in the States of North Dakota and Montana at the elections held therein on the 8th of November, 1892, as certified by him by the governors of those States; which were ordered to lie on the table.

INDIAN DEPREDAATION CLAIMS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Attorney-General of the United States, transmitting, in pursuance of law, a list of the final judgments rendered in Indian depredation cases since June 30, 1891, in favor of claimants and against the United States and not paid; which, with the accompanying papers, was referred to the Select Committee on Indian Depredations, and ordered to be printed.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT presented a joint resolution of the Legislature of South Dakota, favoring the passage of the bill to establish a military post at or near the city of Pierre, S. Dak.; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. BUTLER presented a memorial of the Charleston Ministerial Union, remonstrating against the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday, transmitted in a note from Mr. J. L. Stokes, the secretary of that organization; which was referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented a petition of the Lumber Trade Association of New York City, praying for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal under Government supervision; which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. GALLINGER presented a petition of Washington Council, No. 3, Order United American Mechanics, of Goldstown Centre, N. H., praying for the passage of legislation restricting immigration; which was referred to the Committee on Immigration.

Mr. KYLE presented a joint resolution of the Legislature of South Dakota, favoring the passage of the bill to establish a military post at or near the city of Pierre, S. Dak.; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. FELTON presented a petition of the trustees of the San Francisco (Cal.) Bar Association, praying for the establishment of a law library in San Francisco for the circuit court of appeals; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

He also presented a petition of citizens of Flagstaff, Arizona Territory, praying for the construction of a deep-water harbor at San Pedro, Cal.; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. CAREY presented the petition of Rev. D. A. Snow and 28 other citizens of the District of Columbia, praying for a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation, and sale of all alcoholic liquors as a beverage in the District of Columbia; which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. QUAY presented a petition of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, Pa., praying for the passage of an act to place the quarantine at all our frontiers under national control, the prohibition for one year of the entrance into this country of steerage passengers, and the establishment at Washington of a national health commission; which was referred to the Committee on Epidemic Diseases.

Mr. PLATT presented a petition of sundry citizens of Connecticut, praying for the passage of legislation restricting all immigration for one year; which was referred to the Committee on Immigration.

Mr. HOAR presented a memorial of the Evangelical Alliance, of Boston, Mass., remonstrating against the sale of intoxicating liquors on the New Hebrides Islands; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. FRYE presented petitions circulated by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and signed by Mrs. A. C. Clark, Miss A. A. Hicks, Mrs. H. B. Cook, and 16 other citizens of Maine; by Rev. C. W. Foster, H. L. Leonard, G. M. Morgan and 67 other citizens, of Maine; by James W. Clark, John Moore, Hattie A. Burkett, and 8 other citizens of Maine; and by F. C. Pendleton, H. C. Mahoney, Sallie Durham and 31 other citizens of Maine, praying for the passage of the bill providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the social vice; which were referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.

He also presented petitions circulated by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and signed by C. H. Prey, J. W. Deering, Lucy C. Pitcher, and 11 other citizens of Maine; by Caleb Fuller, C. E. Baeden, Lizzie E. Marshall, and 17 other citizens of Maine, and by F. C. Pendleton, H. C. Mahoney, Eunice B. Giles, and 29 other citizens of Maine, praying for the passage of the bill prohibiting the importation, exportation, and interstate transportation of alcoholic beverages; which were referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. QUAY, from the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3857) authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Monongahela River, at the foot of Main street, in the borough of Bellevue, in the State of Pennsylvania, reported it without amendment.

Mr. McMILLAN, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom were referred the following bills, submitted adverse reports thereon, which were agreed to; and the bills were postponed indefinitely.

A bill (S. 679) to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the settlement of all outstanding claims against the District of Columbia, and conferring jurisdiction on the Court of Claims to hear the same, and for other purposes."

A bill (S. 1102) referring to the Court of Claims the claims of Elias E. Barnes and others; and

A bill (S. 603) referring to the Court of Claims the claims of James W. Walsh and others.

Mr. SHOUP, from the Select Committee on Indian Depredations, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by himself on the 10th instant, intended to be proposed to the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill, reported it favorably and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

He also, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 3743) granting a pension to Julia E. Look, formerly widow of the late Gen. Daniel McCook, reported it with amendments and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. HAWLEY, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. POWER on the 10th instant, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by himself on the 10th instant, intended to be proposed to the Military Academy appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. CHANDLER: I am directed by the Select Committee on Failed National Banks, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3730) in amendment of the provisions of the Revised Statutes relative to national banks, to report it without amendment and to submit a report thereon. I desire to state that the Senator from Kentucky, Mr. Carlisle, was a member of the committee, but he is not now in the Senate. The Senator from Ohio [Mr. BURKE] consents that the report may be made, reserving the right to himself at a latter period to dissent from the whole or any portion of the report.

The PRESIDING OFFICER: Mr. PERKINS in the chair. The bill will be placed on the Calendar.

Mr. QUAY, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. CAMERON on the 30th ultimo, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills and joint resolution; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 8349) to amend an act establishing a Court of Private Land Claims, and to provide for the settlement of private land claims in certain States and Territories, approved March 3, 1891.

A bill (S. 3787) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the St. Marys River, between the States of Florida and Georgia;

A bill (S. 3826) authorizing Velasco and Surfside Terminal Railway Company to construct a bridge across the Galveston and Brazos Canal;

A bill (S. 3825) to authorize the Homestead and Pittsburg Bridge Company to construct a bridge over the Monongahela River from Pittsburg to Homestead; and

A joint resolution (S. R. 134) authorizing the exhibition at the World's Columbian Exposition of the picture entitled "The Recall of Columbus," by Augustus G. Heaton.

SETTLERS ON FOREST RESERVATIONS IN CALIFORNIA.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If there is no further morning business, that order is closed, and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. FELTON. I ask unanimous consent to call up the joint resolution (S. R. 159) to provide for the appointment of a commission by the Secretary of the Interior to appraise the improvements made by actual settlers upon public lands, holding in good faith, under the United States in the Sequoia and Yosemite reservations in California, and for other purposes.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from California?

Mr. DOLPH. I object.

Mr. FELTON. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the joint resolution.

Mr. DOLPH. On that motion I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. KYLE. Is a remark in order?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Remarks are not in order.

Mr. MORGAN. I ask that the Senator from South Dakota have unanimous consent to make an explanation of the joint resolution.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Alabama?

Mr. DOLPH. What is the request?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Alabama asks unanimous consent that the Senator from South Dakota may be permitted to make some remarks with reference to the motion which has just been made.

Mr. DOLPH. I shall not object to that, but I shall myself ask unanimous consent to be heard.

Mr. MORGAN. Of course, the Senator can have it.

Mr. DOLPH. It will consume some time.

Mr. MORGAN. Everybody wants to hear the Senator from Oregon.

Mr. DOLPH. The joint resolution has not been to the Secretary of the Interior nor to the Committee on Public Lands, and I do not propose that it shall be railroaded through the Senate if the Senate chooses to take it up.

Mr. PALMER. I desire to make an inquiry. If the joint resolution is taken up would it supersede House bill 9559, the railroad bill? What would be the effect of taking up the joint resolution at this time?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. House bill 9559, which is the unfinished business, does not come up until after the expiration of the morning hour, at 2 o'clock. The Senator from South Dakota will proceed.

Mr. KYLE. I do not wish to make extended remarks at this time, as if the measure is taken up, I expect to talk for a little while. I wish to say, however, that this is one of the most important measures now pending upon the Calendar, and I hope we shall have the unanimous vote of the body to take the joint resolution up. It can be disposed of in a very short time, I think.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from California to proceed to the consideration of the joint resolution.

The Secretary called the roll.

Mr. GEORGE. My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is detained from the Senate by indisposition. He is paired generally with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON]. I make this announcement for the day.

The result was announced—yeas 42, nays 3, as follows:

So the motion was agreed to; and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the joint resolution (S. R. 159) to provide for the appointment of a commission by the Secretary of the Interior to appraise the improvements made by actual settlers upon public lands holding in good faith, under the United States, in the Sequoia and Yosemite reservations, in California, and for other purposes.

Mr. DOLPH. Mr. President, I opposed the taking up of this joint resolution, because I knew that it would necessarily occupy a good deal of time of the Senate, and probably consume the morning hour for more than one day, and also because I do not think it is a meritorious measure, or at least we have not sufficient information before the Senate to justify us in adopting it.

I have been honored by the Senate by being made the chairman of the Committee on Public Lands. I wish to say for that committee that I think it is one of the most painstaking and industrious committees in this body. It has promptly taken up and disposed of every measure referred to it that any member of the committee desired to have disposed of. It has reported a great many bills which have been passed by the Senate, and many of them by both branches of Congress.

On the 15th of February, 1892, the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. KYLE] introduced Senate bill 2198, entitled "A bill to amend an act entitled 'An act to set apart certain tracts of land in the State of California as forest reservations,' approved October 1, 1890."

That bill proposed that the provisions of an act of Congress withdrawing from settlement a certain tract of land described in the bill should be amended so as to contain the following provision:

"That nothing in this act shall be construed as in anywise affecting the grant of lands made to the State of California by virtue of the act entitled 'An act authorizing a grant to the State of California of the Yosemite Valley, and of the land embracing the Mariposa Big Tree Grove,' approved June 30, 1861; or as affecting any bona fide entry of or filing on land made within the limit above described under any law of the United States prior to the approval of this act."

This bill of the Senator from South Dakota was introduced and referred to the Committee on Public Lands on the 15th of February, 1892. On the 2d of March, 1892, probably at the next meeting of the committee, before this bill was referred to the senior Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL] for examination, and as other measures relating to this reservation and the rights of these parties came in, as has always been the custom of the committee, they were referred to that Senator as a subcommittee.

Mr. President, I am extremely desirous, although I shall necessarily speak somewhat at length in discussing this bill of having the attention of the Senate. I think I have something of sufficient importance to present to justify their attention and something which requires their consideration.

As I have said, the bill introduced by the Senator from South Dakota was referred to the Committee on Public Lands and contained a provision intended to protect the supposed settlers upon this reservation. The subject-matter of that bill was again brought before the Committee on Public Lands.

The senior Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD] introduced at the last session, March 23, 1892, a bill (S. 2765) for the relief of settlers upon certain land within recent reservations in the county of Tulare and State of California, which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands and which provides:

"That the said bona fide settlers (settlers upon this reservation) may make a claim for said land for said indemnity upon the passage of this bill, and it is hereby provided that a sufficient amount of money be and is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, to carry out the provisions of this bill."

Mr. COCKRELL. Will the Senator please tell us from what he is reading?

Mr. DOLPH. I am reading from a bill introduced by the senior aminer of November 29, 1891 (Exhibit V). I called special attention to the fact that in this article, instead of blaming the Government for "crushing out the life of the colony," as he has so often in high-sounding and malignant language done before, he now places the whole blame for the failure of the scheme upon the colonists themselves.

I transmit herewith (Exhibit W), a statement prepared by a resident member, purporting to show the colony possessions and the number and names of the resident members. While I believe the member intended to be an entire good faith, yet I have information from several sources that the printing press, engine, and other machinery referred to has either never been paid for or has been paid for in "time checks," and that most of the horses and mules belong to private individuals and not to the colony.

If everything that the colony really owns was placed in the market to-morrow I doubt if it would realize $5,000 at the outside figure, and this is all they have to show for some $100,000 to $200,000 contributed. The list of 117 resident members is also inaccurate, as I know of several named therein who do not reside within 30 miles of the settlement. A significant fact is that the names of only 3 of the resident members appear in the original lists of "member files."

To show the serious straits to which the colony is now reduced, I transmit copy of a notice posted on the side of their hall (Exhibit X), calling for volunteers to go outside the colony and work and "turn in all their earnings in excess of personal needs," to buy food and provisions for the others. The colony is now in extremis; they have no home resources what-over with which to furnish the necessities of life to 147 souls, or even 77 souls; contributions from outside sources have almost ceased, and how they are to keep body and soul together is a serious question.

Before leaving Kaweah I requested the new board of trustees to submit a statement of their case from their own point of view, for transmission with my report, and I particularly requested that they would specifically state how the colony had been "crushed by the despotic heel of the Government," as has been so often claimed in various so-called workmen's organs published throughout the country.

This statement (Exhibit Y) is simply a rehash of what has been published so many times, and is, in brief, to the following effect:

In 1884 a number of people, "earnest believers in the theory of co-operation, wishing to make a practical test of the same," located on Government lands in the "Giant Forest," and filed their timber-land claims thereon "in accordance with law." Commissioner Sparks suspended action on these claims on suspicion of fraud. "Conscious of the rectitude of their intentions," they "proceeded to build a road to communicate with their timber lands, and to improve their homesteads." Their claims, however, were canceled, and by this action of the Government they were "robbed of their houses, and reduced to penury and want," and they ask that their claims be restored and the timber lands be patented to them. The evident impression they desire to create by their well-guarded statements is, that they had settled on these timber lands in "Giant Forest," and solely for the purpose of making homes thereon, and not for speculation in the timber.

The actual facts are, that the lands in the "Giant Forest" were not suitable for homestead or other entry under the settlement laws; as shown by their own sworn statements, in which they swear that "said land is unfit for cultivation and valuable chiefly for its timber." They made no attempt to acquire said lands for homes under any of the settlement laws. They filed timber land applications therefor under the act of June 3, 1878 (20 Stat., 389), under the provisions of which settlement or residence on the land is not required.

In fact, the "Giant Forest," even if it had been suitable for entry under the homestead laws, was inaccessible at that time for residence purposes, and even to-day, after the completion of the wagon road to the edge of the forest, that portion of the forest upon which these men filed timber-land applications can only be reached by a circuitous, difficult, and dangerous narrow trail, up and down precipitous mountains for a distance of about 5 miles. The efforts of these men have been directed solely toward securing possession of the valuable timber lands in the "Giant Forest," with the object of making in the lumber business on a large scale, and the colonization project for the purpose of acquiring homes, etc., was simply a side show for the purpose of drawing attention from their real object and creating sympathy.

Had the management of the colony expended one-half their efforts and one-third of the money received in a bona fide attempt to establish homes for the members of the colony and acquire lands valuable for agriculture, orchard, or grazing purposes, as a recompense from which to secure subsistence, instead of expending all of their efforts and money in an endeavor to secure timber lands for speculative purposes, there might possibly have been some chance for the colony to have become a success.

The Kaweah colony is now virtually dead, and I can see no object anyone can have in keeping up the agitation regarding it, except possibly for the purpose of airing political aspirations and booning themselves for office. I transmit a letter dated December 5, 1891, received by me from J. J. Martin, who is the secretary of the association (Exhibit Z), and call attention to the following paragraph therein, showing the effort they are now making to create a political issue on their demands:

"Our people have joined the Farmers' Alliance in a body, and that party are anxious to take up our case in the next Presidential campaign."

The entire history of the "Kaweah Cooperative Colony" can be summed up in a few words.

It was conceived in illegality, born in fraud, and nurtured in falsehood and deception; but as it grew in years, and acquired knowledge by experience it endeavored to shake off the evil influences which had governed its life, and is now perishing from exhaustion.

In substantiation of the statements made by me in this report, I transmit the affidavit of Mr. Robert T. Van Norden, of San Francisco, Cal. (Exhibit AA), who accompanied and assisted me in my investigation, and was present at every interview held by me with members of the colony and others.

Regarding the charges of timber trespass by members of the colony, I desire to state that in my opinion there has been much more agitation on that subject than the facts in the case warranted.

Upon the completion of the wagon road to the borders of the forest in 1890, the colonists erected a small sawmill on section 3, township 16 south, range 20 east, cut a few trees from lands adjoining, and saved them up into lumber, which was used in the construction of houses, etc., for the use of members of the colony.

When the special agent attempted to stop them from cutting, they assumed a defiant attitude and refused to desist unless compelled by law, therefore the arrest of the trustees was necessary. This stopped the cutting and caused them to remove the sawmill; and it seems to me that the further and continued prosecution of the case against them was unwise, as it gave them a handle with which to work up sympathy by claiming that the Government was persecuting them; and they worked it to the best advantage possible to them.

The colonists subsequently leased a sawmill on the S. 1 of NE. 1 sec. 11, and S. 1 of NW. 1 sec. 12, T. 17 S., R. 20 E., which was patented to Isham Mulenix April 9, 1890, and is now assessed to the estate of T. J. Atwell, and during last year sawed some 200,000 feet of lumber. A country road runs through the Atwell claim, and they hauled a few loads of lumber there on to the valley and Mr. J. K. Miller, who reside at Mendocino, but Messrs. Miller and Martin, connected with the sawmill at 1418 Buchanan street, San Francisco, Cal., and who handle the lumber, sold it by the "Kaweah Colony."

I submit the following photographs:—
Exhibit BB—A view of the sawmill and the cooperative colony.
Exhibit CC—A view of the sawmill and the cooperative colony.

While the colonists were at work on the sawmill, they were engaged in the business of buying and selling lumber, and were in the habit of hauling lumber to the sawmill, and then hauling it to the market, and selling it at a profit.

The business of the colony was conducted in a very irregular manner, and was not in accordance with the laws of the State of California, and the Government.

There is no doubt that the colony was engaged in a business which was illegal, and that the Government was entitled to seize the property of the colony.

Subsequent National Fair, San Francisco, Cal., 1892. I am satisfied that the colony was engaged in a business which was illegal, and that the Government was entitled to seize the property of the colony.

Those who have a right to the timber lands in the "Giant Forest" are the people who have been living on the lands for many years, and who have been paying taxes on the lands.

The action of the Government in canceling the claims of the colonists is a very proper one, and is in accordance with the laws of the State of California, and the Government.

It is clear that the colonists were engaged in a business which was illegal, and that the Government was entitled to seize the property of the colony.

The action of the Government in canceling the claims of the colonists is a very proper one, and is in accordance with the laws of the State of California, and the Government.

Very respectfully,
G. A. VAN DUNN,
District Attorney, Fresno County, Cal.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PRUDEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on the 9th instant approved and signed the joint resolution (S. R. 141) to provide for the maintenance of order during the inaugural ceremonies, March, 1897.

The message also announced that the President had on the 10th instant approved and signed the act (S. 3311) to refer the claim of Jessie Benton Fremont to certain lands, and the improvements thereon, in San Francisco, Cal., to the Court of Claims.

The message further announced that the President had this day approved and signed the act (S. 3798) to amend an act entitled "An act to authorize the building of a railroad bridge at Little Rock, Ark."

HOUSE BILL REFERRED.

The bill (H. R. 10363) to remove the disabilities of William F. Robinson, a citizen of the State of Alabama, was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

FORTIFICATIONS APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. DAWES submitted the following report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 9923) "making appropriations for fortifications and other works of defense, for the armament thereof, for the procurement of heavy ordnance for trial and service, and for other purposes," having met, after full and free conference have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its amendments numbered 3, 6, 7, 8, and 9.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendments of the Senate numbered 1 and 5, and agree to the same.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 2, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows. In lieu of the sum proposed in said amendment insert "$175,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 4, and agree to the same with amendments as follows. In lines 3 and 4, page 1, of said amendment, strike out the words "or so much thereof as may be necessary" and insert in lieu thereof the following: "Of the several sums available for allotment by the Board of Ordnance and Fortification for experimental and other purposes under the several acts making appropriations for fortifications and other works of defense, for the armament thereof, for the procurement of heavy ordnance for trial and service, and for other purposes," which several acts were approved September 22, 1888, March 2, 1889, August 18, 1890, February 4, 1891, and July 23, 1892, and this act, all of which sums are hereby set aside to the extent necessary and made available and continued in force for this purpose."

And strike out the words "eighty-five" where they occur in lines 16 and 20, page 2, of said amendment and insert in lieu thereof the word "sixty," and the Senate agree to the same.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 10, and agree to the same with amendments as follows. Strike out all of lines 17 to 24, inclusive, except the word "Provided" in line 24, on page 2, of said amendment, and at the end of said amendment add the following: "Or who is connected with or in the employ of any manufacturer who has or shall have contracts with the United States for any ordnance material;" and the Senate agree to the same.

H. L. DAWES,

WILLIAM M. STEWART,

A. P. GORMAN,

Managers on the part of the Senate.

WILLIAM C. P. BRECKINRIDGE,

L. F. LIVINGSTON,

WILLIAM COGSWELL,

Managers on the part of the House.

Mr. HAWLEY. Senators are well aware that the reading of the report gives not the slightest imaginable idea of what has been done by the conferees. I should be very glad if the Senator in charge would mention some of the chief recessions made by the committee of conference on the part of the Senate.

Mr. DAWES. The first amendment of the Senate is for the construction of gun and mortar platforms, $50,000. That is agreed to. By the second, sites for fortifications and sea-coast defenses, the Senate appropriated $300,000 and the House conferees receded with an amendment reducing the amount to $175,000.

Mr. HAWLEY. What was the original House proposition?

Mr. DAWES. There was none.

Mr. HAWLEY. None at all?

Mr. DAWES. None at all. The third amendment is for the protection, preservation, and repair of fortifications. The House of Representatives appropriated $45,000. The estimate was $81,600, I think. It appeared that there was of the $60,000 appropriated last year an unexpended balance remaining in the hands of the Government of a little less than $20,000. The officials were very desirous of having it increased to $60,000 for the sake of having a fund on hand to meet exigencies which they could not of course foresee; whether any or how great was all in the future. The Senate conferees have receded from the Senate amendment adding $10,000 to that fund, which leaves on hand over and above what they had last year a surplus of about $18,000.

The next is the amendment authorizing the Board to make a contract with A. H. Emery for a disappearing gun carriage. That amendment is agreed to by the conferees with the modification that only 60 per cent instead of 80 per cent shall be advanced to Mr. Emery during the construction upon the bond given by him to repay that sum if the carriage is not satisfactory and accepted by the Department, and it appropriates a balance in the Treasury under the appropriations of years past of enough money to meet the payment for the carriage provided it is accepted. The legal effect of the whole provision is that Mr. Emery undertakes to construct a disappearing carriage on the plan proposed by him, and the Government advance to him 60 per cent of what it costs upon his giving a bond to reimburse the Government all that sum if his carriage does not meet the stipulations of the contract.

The sixth amendment is for steel breech-loading rifled mortars of 12-inch caliber, $300,000. The Senate conferees have receded from that amendment on the ground that we have already eighty mortars of all sizes, and that other parts of the progressive work as a whole were more behind than this particular feature. As it was not possible for the Senate to carry out their views of obtaining appropriations up to what they thought the requirements of the service demanded, the conferees felt justified in dropping, if they must drop anything, the mortars, because that feature of the plan has been heretofore advanced more than some others.

The tenth amendment is a change of phraseology in the appropriation for the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications, the phraseology in the bill having been inserted by the House committee by mistake and they themselves wishing to have the correction made. It stands in precisely the language of the fortification appropriation acts heretofore.

The amendment providing for one more civilian member of the Board, who should be either a civil or a mechanical engineer, eminent in his profession and well acquainted with the general properties of steel and in the construction and use of machines, the Senate conferees found it impossible to hold, and therefore they have receded.

Mr. HAWLEY. There is one defect in the bill that is greatly to be regretted. The plans for the fortification of the coast are thoroughly matured by the engineers. They can tell just what land they require around the coast from Maine to California and Oregon, just where the land is, just what is the area required, and can give a pretty good guess as to what they may be obliged to pay for it. Of course no progress can be made at any of those places designated until the land shall have been purchased. That is the first step. Then the engineers and ordnance officers know precisely what guns they wish to place, just where to place them, and the approximate cost of them. But it may as well be understood that not one step can be made towards the real fortification of the thousands of miles of coast of this great country without any appropriation for the purchase of sites.

Mr. DAWES. What the Senator says is scriptural—it is all true—but nevertheless the bill in its present shape is the best possible thing attainable under the circumstances. The other House made no appropriations for sites. Gen. Casey, who has charge of this matter, appeared before the House committee and urged a large appropriations. He appeared before the Senate committee after the bill came here and said that there is one particular place—he did not care to mention it in the hearing of speculators—which is a strategic point of immense value to the Government that it was in his opinion the paramount duty of the Government to obtain.

All these matters have been considered by the committee of conference. The suggestions of the committee on the part of the Senate that these necessary sites were falling into the hands of speculators and the price would be enhanced greatly unless they were taken at the earliest possible moment were met with the answer that the rise in value could not exceed the interest on the money, and that we should always be able to fall back upon the power of condemnation, to which the Senate conferees replied that all experience showed that by condemnation process we paid more than we did by private purchase.

When the conference committee came together the conferees on the part of the Senate found the committee on the part of the House resolved to stand upon the point that they would not purchase any of the sites this year, owing to what they felt was the condition of the Treasury. However, the point to which I have alluded seemed to make some impression upon them, and as a necessary concession upon their part they have conceded to the extent of $175,000. I do not controvert what the Senator from Connecticut has said. I felt its force quite as much as he did.

Mr. HAWLEY. I took it for granted that the Senator from Massachusetts would not interpret me as censuring the Senate

Mr. BATE. Yes; but whether it does or not it is quite applicable. It will be an element in the amount of damage, because the case will go to the courts, and if the employé knows of the defect and still continues in the service that will be a fact for the court and the jury. I think the amendment is eminently proper.

Mr. WHITE. I shall favor the amendment if the Senator from Mississippi will act upon the suggestion I have made.

Mr. GEORGE. I desire simply to have a vote upon the section as it came from the House of Representatives. I recognize the doctrine of contributory negligence, as stated by the Senator from Louisiana, but I propose also to say that the section, although it be not skillfully drawn, has the same effect exactly as if the word "contributory" was stricken out. If, however, it will aid in getting any votes in favor of the amendment, I am very willing that the word "contributory" shall be stricken out.

Mr. WHITE. If the Senator will allow me a moment, I am heartily in favor of the purpose he has in view.

Mr. GEORGE. Will striking out that word help the amendment with the Senator?

Mr. WHITE. If the Senator will allow me a moment I will try to write a little change which I think will accomplish the purpose I have in view; and when I have written it I shall submit it to the Senator.

Mr. GEORGE. Very well. I wish to get all the votes I can for the amendment.

Mr. WHITE. Let me read the section and call the attention of the Senator from Mississippi to it as I propose to modify it:

That any employé of any such common carrier who may be injured by any locomotive, car, or train in use contrary to the provisions of this act shall not be deemed thereby to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned, although continuing in the employ of such carrier after the habitual unlawful use of such locomotive, car, or train had been brought to his knowledge.

Mr. GEORGE. I accept the amendment.

Mr. WHITE. I would strike out, in line 4, the words "guilty of contributory negligence," and insert the words which I send to the desk, "thereby to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned."

Mr. GEORGE. That is all right.

Mr. CULLOM. I suggest, if there is going to be no opposition to the amendment, that the call for the yeas and nays may as well be withdrawn.

Mr. GEORGE. Of course I will withdraw the call for the yeas and nays if the understanding is that the amendment is going to pass unanimously.

Mr. GRAY. I do not think it will pass unanimously.

Mr. GEORGE. I withdraw the call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. GRAY. Then I renew the call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. GEORGE. Very well.

Mr. GRAY. I think there is a very serious objection to this amendment, and I have doubt about the right of Congress, in regulating the instrumentalities of commerce, to stretch its powers so as to regulate the contracts in every respect which may be made with these people. I have enough doubt about it to control my vote.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Louisiana [Mr. WHITE] to the amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to amend the section so as to read:

That no employé of any such common carrier who may be injured by any locomotive, car, or train, which is in use contrary to the provisions of this act, shall be deemed thereby to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned, although continuing in the employ of such carrier after the unlawful use of such locomotive, car, or train had been brought to his knowledge.

Mr. GRAY. Mr. President, this amendment seeks to introduce to every one of our forty-four States an amendment to the common law of that State of a character more far reaching than any which has ever been before attempted by Congress, so far as I can now recall, by one enactment. We undertake now to prescribe to the courts in every State in this Union a rule in regard to negligence, a rule in regard to the liability of employers, and a rule in regard to the ordinary risk assumed by all persons who engage with their eyes open in certain employment, to be administered not only by the courts of the United States, but by the courts of every State in this country, whether that contravenes the policy of a State or not, whether, in the opinion of its courts or in the policy adopted by its Legislature, such a rule be wise or not. I believe that this exercise of power by Congress in this respect is unnecessary, and that there is no exigency demanding so far reaching and radical an exercise of power as would be made by this amendment if adopted.

The law in regard to the risks assumed by one man who takes employment from another are the product of a long series of years, of many decisions, of the philosophy of the best minds which have been devoted to the elucidation of that subject.

They do not rest upon any capricious or haphazard foundation; they are not the result of hasty consideration; but they have been the development of the laws of human action and intercourse, and relation of parties inter se, which have been developed by our courts after argument and discussion through a long series of years and by many wise tribunals, with an entire consciousness of opinion. I believe that it would be better to leave it so.

I believe that justice would be better administered, that the relations of man and man would be in a more satisfactory condition, if we were to restrain our hand, if we were to leave the power—which I am not now discussing—from interference in this delicate and delicate relation. If the States choose to do it, they have the thing; they have the power; and in the competition going on between the States in the improvement of our civil service, one State advancing tentatively and making experiments in this direction or that, and other States adopting it if they find that it stands the test of experience and the best judgment of the courts and of the public opinion of the country, I think that is the best way to attain these results, and the safest and easiest way in which advancement can be made along these lines.

I do not think we have sufficiently considered how far we are invading the jurisprudence of the States, and how tremendous a thing it is if we reach out our hand and place it upon the courts of forty-four States in this Union, to control them in administering the law, which has been administered from time out of mind. I think there is no necessity for it and no exigency demanding our interference.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment submitted by the Senator from Mississippi as modified. The amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to insert as a new section the following:

SEC. 8. That any employé of any such common carrier who may be injured by any locomotive, car, or train in use contrary to the provisions of this act shall not be deemed thereby to have assumed the risk thereby occasioned, although continuing in the employ of such carrier after the habitual unlawful use of such locomotive, car, or train had been brought to his knowledge.

Mr. PEPPER. I understood that the suggestion which I made as to the phraseology of this amendment had been accepted so far as the first and second lines are concerned.

Mr. GEORGE. There is no necessity for the Senator's amendment. It is covered by the amendment as it now stands.

Mr. PEPPER. I think my amendment would improve it very much.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment. Mr. CALL. I suggest to the Senator from Mississippi to strike out the word "habitual." It is entirely unnecessary.

Mr. GEORGE. I will accept the amendment to strike out "habitual."

Mr. CALL. I move to strike out that word.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Florida will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. In line 5, of the proposed section 8, it is proposed to strike out the word "habitual," so as to read:

Continuing in the employment of such carrier after the unlawfulness of such locomotive, car, or train, etc.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PEPPER. I move to insert the word "the" before "unlawful."

Mr. GEORGE. That is right.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be so modified. The question is on the amendment as modified.

Mr. GRAY. I call for the yeas and nays on that amendment. The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. CULLOM. As I understand, this vote is upon the question of agreeing to the amendment offered by the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] as amended.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That is the question?

Mr. WHITE. I wish to make a very brief statement, if it be in order.

I entirely agree with the constitutional view expressed by the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], but I do not think that constitutional view will operate to prevent us from voting for the amendment, because if there be a class of contracts which under the Constitution is not brought within its scope, without restriction by the operation of this proposed amendment, the Constitution upon which it rests, the civil power, the law, and the administration of the class of contracts; but if there be a class of contracts which is within our constitutional power of legislation, even if it be I think the provision will be a wise one, and the legislation will be valid to the extent of its constitutionality, and need not be invalid wherever it extends beyond the limits of the Constitution.

Mr. HOAR. I ask that the amendment be agreed to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be agreed to at the request of the Senator from Massachusetts.

taken out of the bill, and the bill will be in danger of failing if the amendment remains. I hope my colleague on the committee will consent to the reconsideration of the vote, and then that the appropriation be stricken from the amendment which he offered.

Mr. GORMAN. I am very sorry that I can not consent to the request of the Senator. I think the appropriation ought to remain in the bill. I should prefer a much larger amount, as I think more will be required.

Mr. CULLOM. I do not think so.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is, Shall the vote by which the bill was ordered to a third reading be reconsidered? The motion to reconsider was agreed to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It will be necessary also, the Chair suggests, to reconsider the vote by which the amendment made as in Committee of the Whole was concurred in.

Mr. HOAR. I understand that the amendment was inserted in committee on a motion to amend the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment has been concurred in in the Senate.

Mr. HOAR. Then, I move to reconsider the vote by which the amendment made as in Committee of the Whole was concurred in in the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion made by the Senator from Massachusetts.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. HOAR. I now move to lay the amendment of the Senator from Maryland to the amendment of the committee on the table.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. At the end of section 5 it is proposed to insert:

And to enable the said Commission to perform the duties imposed upon them by this act, there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $3,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

Mr. HOAR. I move to lay that amendment on the table.

Mr. GORMAN. I ask for the yeas and nays on that motion.

Mr. HOAR. I understand the President of the Senate to have stated that the motion concurring in the amendment in the Senate having been reconsidered, the question now is up in the Senate concurring in the amendment separate from the other amendment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It is not a separate amendment; it is an amendment as amended.

Mr. HOAR. Very well; then I will move to strike out the amendment adopted on the motion of the Senator from Maryland.

Mr. HARRIS. What is the exact parliamentary status of the question now? I was absent from the Chamber a moment, and therefore do not know.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair understands the Senator from Massachusetts desires to have stricken out the words which have been read by the Chief Clerk.

Mr. HARRIS. The Senate, as I understand, has proceeded to the point of the question, Shall the bill pass; that is, the bill had been ordered to a third reading, and read the third time. Now, upon the motion of the Senator from Massachusetts, the votes by which the bill was ordered to a third reading, and read the third time, have been considered. The next thing, as it seems to me, if the Senator desires to get at the practical method, is he must move to reconsider the vote by which the Senate agreed to the amendment made in Committee of the Whole.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That motion has been made and carried.

Mr. HARRIS. Then it was done while I was absent from the Chamber. I beg pardon of the Chair and the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on striking out the words which have been read.

Mr. HOAR. As I understand, the whole matter before the Senate is the bill, which is in the shape of an amendment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The entire bill.

Mr. HOAR. From that I move to strike out the words which have been read.

Mr. DOLPH. I rise to a point of order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator will state his point of order.

Mr. DOLPH. The Senate amendment was perfected. Among one of the amendments which were perfected was the amendment which it is sought to get rid of now. Will it not require that the vote of the Senate adopting the Senate amendment as it was perfected, in lieu of the bill as it came from the House, be first reconsidered?

Then is a motion in order to strike out an amendment adopted as in Committee of the Whole? Must not the vote be reconsidered by which the Senate substitute was adopted, and then the vote be reconsidered by which the amendment of the Senator from Maryland was adopted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That vote has been reconsidered. Mr. DOLPH. The vote by which the amendment made as in Committee of the Whole was adopted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. So the Chair understands.

Mr. HARRIS. I suggest to the Senator from Oregon that that is the exact question which I present. The Chair has voted that the vote by which the amendment was adopted in Committee of the Whole had been reconsidered in way of a point of order.

Mr. DOLPH. But not on the question of whether the Senate in the amendment made as in Committee of the Whole adopted but it adopted the amendment of the Senate as it came from the House. Before you came to the Chair, I moved to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was substituted for the bill as it came from the House. It was reconsidered, and then a motion to strike out the amendment was made, but a motion to reconsider the vote by which the amendment of the Senator from Maryland was adopted was in order.

Mr. HOAR. If I may be permitted to make one suggestion to the Chair, the Committee of the Whole of the Senate has constitutionally no better in the Senate than any standing committee of the Senate. When it reports a bill to the Senate, although the committee consists of the whole Senate or a majority, whether in the nature of a proposed amendment to a bill as it comes from the House or in the nature of a proposed amendment to a Senate bill, is still but the report of a committee.

A House bill came over here, and in Committee of the Whole of the Senate there was a substitute offered to the House bill which had been reported by the committee of which my friend from Illinois [Mr. CULLOM] is chairman. That substitute was perfected in Committee of the Whole. Then it was reported to the Senate as one proposed amendment.

Mr. DOLPH. And was adopted.

Mr. HOAR. It was adopted as in Committee of the Whole, and then it was adopted in the Senate. Then the bill passed to a third reading. Now, the Senate has reconsidered, first, the passage to a third reading, and next the vote concurring in that amendment reported by the Committee of the Whole, and I have voted to reconsider it. The question now before the Senate is, Will the Senate adopt the amendment by way of a substitute as perfected in Committee of the Whole? That question being pending, I move to amend the proposed amendment by striking out certain language, which has been read, and that is the question now before the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on striking out the words which have been read.

Mr. GORMAN. What words are they?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The words proposed to be stricken out will be reported.

The CHIEF CLERK. At the end of section 5 it is proposed to strike out:

And in order to enable said Commission to perform the duties imposed upon them by this act, there is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $3,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary.

Mr. GORMAN. On that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. QUAY, when Mr. CAMERON'S name was called. I desire to announce that upon this bill and on the amendments generally my colleague [Mr. CAMERON] is paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. BUTLER].

Mr. HUNTON, when his name was called. I am paired on this question with the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. JONES of Arkansas when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. BUTLER]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASTLE], but after consulting with his colleague I learn that his views are in no way the same, and therefore I feel at liberty to vote on this amendment and on the bill when it comes to the question of final passage. I vote "yea."

Mr. POWER, when his name was called. I am paired with my colleague [Mr. SANBORN] on this question.

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAYMAN].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. CAMDEN. I am on my pair with the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PATTERSON], who is absent.

The result was announced—yeas 39, nays 11, as follows:

So the motion to strike out was agreed to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question recurs on concurring in the amendment made as in Committee of the Whole as amended.

The amendment was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is, Shall the bill pass?

Mr. BLADGETT. On that question I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE when his name was called. I have a general pair with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I can not ascertain on consultation with his colleague how he would vote. I do not know his views on the bill. I will therefore withhold my vote, but were the Senator from Washington here I should vote for the bill.

Mr. PASCO when Mr. BUTLER'S name was called. The Senator from South Carolina [Mr. BUTLER] was called from the Chamber, and desired me to announce his pair with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON].

Mr. CAMDEN when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PETTIGREW].

Mr. GALLINGER when his name was called. I have a general pair with the junior Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS]; but his colleague informs me that he would probably support the bill, and therefore I vote "yea."

Mr. HAWLEY when his name was called. I have a general pair with the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST], but we found ourselves in accord on the bill, and so I have arranged to transfer the pair to the Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT]. I vote "yea."

Mr. HISCOCK when his name was called. On this question I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. If present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. JONES of Arkansas when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY]. If he were present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. PERKINS when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD], but I am informed by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. TELLER] that he is paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. MITCHELL], and that the Senator from Oregon would vote for the bill, if present. For that reason I transfer my pair with the Senator from California to the Senator from Oregon and vote "yea."

Mr. POWER when his name was called. I am paired with my colleague [Mr. SHERMAN] on this question.

Mr. QUAY when his name was called. I again announce my pair with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER]. I do not know how he would vote on this question; but if he were present, I should vote "yea."

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE when his name was called. I am paired on this question with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. CHASE]. I should vote "yea" if I were not paired.

Mr. GEORGE when Mr. WALSHALL'S name was called. My colleague [Mr. WALSHALL] is detained from the Senate by indisposition. He is paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIX].

Mr. CARY when Mr. WARREN'S name was called. My colleague [Mr. WARREN] is paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DANIEL. I desire to announce that my colleague [Mr. HUNTON] is paired with the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT].

So the bill was passed.

Mr. CULLOM. I move that the Senate ask for a conference with the House of Representatives on the bill and amendments.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Vice-President was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate; and Mr. CULLOM, Mr. WILSON, and Mr. HARRIS were appointed.

MARITIME CANAL COMPANY OF NICARAGUA.

Mr. SHERMAN. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill, S. 1218, to amend the act entitled "An act to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua," approved February 23, 1889.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Ohio that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill named by him.

Mr. DANIEL. I object.

Mr. SHERMAN. It is not subject to objection; it is a motion to take up a bill.

Mr. DANIEL. Then I call for the yeas and nays on the motion.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. PASCO when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CARY]. Not knowing how he would vote on this question, I withhold my vote.

Mr. QUAY when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER], and withhold my vote.

Mr. RANSOM when his name was called. I have general a pair with the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE]. I have no idea how he would vote upon this matter.

Mr. FRYE. He would vote "aye."

Mr. RANSOM. Then I vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. HAWLEY after having voted in the affirmative. I voted inadvertently. I am paired with the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST]. Supposing him to be against the bill, I withhold my vote.

Mr. COCKRELL. I suggest that the Senator from Connecticut transfer his pair with my colleague to the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE], with whom I am paired, and then he and I vote both votes.

Mr. HAWLEY. That is quite right. I shall let my vote stand under that arrangement.

Mr. COCKRELL. Then my colleague will stand paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE].

Mr. FRYE. That is right.

Mr. COCKRELL. The Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE] would vote "yea" if present, and my colleague would vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 33, nays 19, as follows.

So the motion was agreed to; and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (S. 1218) to amend the act entitled "An act to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua," approved February 20, 1889.

Mr. TELLER. Mr. President, I wish to state that I voted to take up the Nicaragua Canal bill because I thought it was a bill of considerable importance and because I knew that the distinguished Senator from Alabama [Mr. MONTAN] would be compelled to go away very soon, and desired to submit some remarks on the bill but did not wish to do so unless it was before the Senate. In voting to take up the bill I do not desire it to be understood that I am committed to support it, for, as it now stands, I shall not be able to do so.

Mr. SHERMAN. I understand the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE] will probably desire to address the Senate on Monday upon the bill. Therefore, I ask that the bill be read this evening, so that it will not be in his way. Let the bill be read in full in a formal way, and then, so far as I am concerned, I shall be very willing that the Senate adjourn, the Senator from Maine being entitled to the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read the bill.

The Secretary read the bill.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Mr. HOAR. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business. After five minutes spent in executive session the doors were reopened and at 5 o'clock and 6 minutes p. m. the Senate adjourned until Monday, February 13, 1893, at 11 o'clock a. m.

NOMINATIONS.

Executive nominations confirmed by the Senate, February 10, 1893.

COMMISSIONER OF LABOR.

Carroll D. Wright, of Massachusetts, to be Commissioner of Labor.

Executive nomination confirmed by the Senate, February 11, 1893.

CAPTAIN AND ASSISTANT SURGEON IN THE ARMY.

James A. Finley, late captain and assistant surgeon, to be captain and assistant surgeon in the Army, to rank from November 10, 1879.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, February 11, 1893.

The House met at 11 o'clock a. m., and was called to order by the Speaker. Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Malvern, D. D.

The Journal of the previous day's proceedings was read and approved.

COMMITTEE ON THE TREASURY.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, stating that the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws, was now pending on the floor of the House, and that the bill was now pending on the floor of the House.

The SPEAKER. This communication is from the Committee on Banking and Currency, and is a report on the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws.

Mr. TAYLOR of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to refer that communication on the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws, to the floor of the House.

Mr. DINGLEY. It is simply a communication from the Chamber of Commerce, and it is not a bill.

Mr. TAYLOR of Illinois. The Committee on Banking and Currency has no jurisdiction over the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state, to the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. TAYLOR] that on yesterday there was a report by the Secretary of the Treasury for a resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws. This communication was sent to the Committee on Banking and Currency, which had reported it to the House. The Chair will state to the fact that once communication was made, it was transmitted, as the Chair understands it.

Mr. PICKLER. I ask that both of these communications be printed in the Record, as they are short communications, and that the House may have the information. The Secretary has laid it out, and if it is to go to the committee I know of no way to get it before the House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from South Dakota [Mr. PICKLER] asks that the communications be printed in the Record.

Mr. DINGLEY. Was not the original communication printed when it came from the Secretary of the Treasury?

The SPEAKER. It was printed as a document in the usual form, and this letter will be printed in the same way.

Mr. RICHARDSON. It is not a bill to print these documents in the Record. They are printed as documents and I object to including them in the Record. An amendment would save me a copy of the printed document.

Mr. PICKLER. I understand the amendment will be made in the usual form.

The SPEAKER. As a bill, it is a communication, and it is a bill.

Mr. PICKLER. My request is that it be printed in the Record also.

Mr. RICHARDSON. It is not a bill, and it is a document, and will be printed as a document, and it is a bill.

COMMITTEE ON THE POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Postmaster General, stating that the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws, was now pending on the floor of the House, and that the bill was now pending on the floor of the House.

COASTWISE NAVIGATION.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, stating that the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws, was now pending on the floor of the House, and that the bill was now pending on the floor of the House.

Mr. DINGLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have the honor to refer that communication on the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws, to the floor of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state, to the gentleman from Maine [Mr. DINGLEY] that on yesterday there was a report by the Secretary of the Treasury for a resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws.

The bill was read.

But, notwithstanding the fact that the bill (H. R. 10000) for the resolution of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the removal of the gold and silver from the list of commodities, and the repeal of the silver laws, was now pending on the floor of the House, and that the bill was now pending on the floor of the House.

Mr. DINGLEY. Mr. Speaker, this simply amends the statute to carry out its intent, and is unanimously recommended by the Committee on Commerce and by the Secretary of the Treasury. There has been an evasion of the statute of 1792 within a year or two, and an amendment is required to carry out the meaning of the statute.

The policy of the Government has been to limit the transportation of merchandise from one port of the United States to another to American vessels. That has been the uniform policy from the foundation of the Government. Within a year some foreign vessels have endeavored to evade the statute by calling at a foreign port. For instance, in proceeding from New York to New Orleans they might call at the port of Havana, and then claim that that was not a transportation from one American port to another.

Mr. COOMBS. Havana being a coastwise port.

Mr. DINGLEY. The Secretary of the Treasury has recommended this amendment, and the Committee on Commerce have reported an identical bill, and it is simply to carry out the intent of the statute.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Maine [Mr. DINGLEY]?

There was no objection.

The bill was ordered to a third reading, and was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

On motion of Mr. DINGLEY, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

By unanimous consent, the corresponding House bill (H. R. 9802) was ordered to lie on the table.

ALLOWANCE OF CLAIMS TO CITIZENS OF JEFFERSON COUNTY, KY.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the bill (S. 203) for the examination and allowance of certain awards made by the board of claims to certain citizens of Jefferson County, Ky.

Mr. CARUTH. Mr. Speaker, that bill is exactly similar to one which passed the House in the Fifty-first Congress; another bill of like character was favorably reported to the Fifty-first Congress. This bill is favorably reported to this Congress and is now on the Calendar. I ask immediate consideration for the Senate bill.

The bill was read at length.

Mr. OWENS. Is there any report on that bill?

Mr. HOOKER of New York. We better have the regular order.

Mr. CARUTH. I hope the gentleman will not insist on demanding the regular order. This bill passed the Fifty-first Congress, and is favorably reported now; and I hope the gentleman will withdraw his objection. This bill has been pending here for a number of years.

The SPEAKER. Unless the demand is withdrawn, the bill will be referred.

Mr. CARUTH. I ask unanimous consent, Mr. Speaker, that the bill may lie upon the Speaker's table for the present.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Kentucky ask unanimous consent that the bill lie on the Speaker's table for the present.

Mr. HOOKER of New York. I have no objection to that. Subsequently.

Mr. CARUTH said: Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from New York [Mr. HOOKER] has consented to withdraw his objection to the bill for the consideration of which I asked unanimous consent a moment ago.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that the gentleman from New York [Mr. HOOKER] withdraws his objection to the consideration of the bill requested by the gentleman from Kentucky.

The Clerk will again report the title of the bill.

The title was again reported.

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the report read.

Mr. ANTONY. I think that we had better have the regular order.

Mr. CARUTH. I hope the gentleman will withdraw that; and, if not, I hope the bill will be allowed to lie on the Speaker's table.

The SPEAKER. Unanimous consent was given that it might lie on the table, and, without objection, the bill will lie on the table.

Mr. ANTONY. I withdraw the demand for the regular order.

Mr. BURROWS. Let us have the regular order. There is no use chaffing backward and forward in this way.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. COBB of Missouri. I ask that the bill (S. 5504), that is a concurrent bill, if not taken up, be allowed to lie on the table.

Mr. WATSON. I think it ought to come up in its time.

SENATE BILLS REFERRED.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following Senate bills and joint resolutions, which were severally read a first and second time, and referred as indicated below:

The bill (S. 3446) to remove the charge of desertion from the military record of Peter Blekeley—to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The bill (S. 3792) granting to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company the use of certain lands at Chickasha Station, and for a "Y" in the Chickasaw Nation, Ind. T., to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

The bill (S. 3297) granting to the Interstate Water and Electric Power Company of Kansas the right to erect and maintain a dam across the Kansas River within Wyandotte County, in the State of Kansas—to the Committee on Rivers and Harbors.

The bill (S. 705) for the relief of George H. Plant, of the District of Columbia—to the Committee on Claims.

The bill (S. 2139) for the relief of Mrs. Mary P. C. Hooper—to the Committee on Patents.

The bill (S. 316) to incorporate the Holstein-Friesian Cattle Association—to the Committee on Agriculture.

The joint resolution (S. R. 102) to provide for the construction of a wharf as means of approach to the monument to be erected at Wakefield, Va., to mark the birthplace of George Washington—to the Committee on the Library; and

The joint resolution (S. R. 108) directing the appraisal of the library of Hubert O. Bancroft—to the Committee on the Library.

GAINESVILLE, OKLAHOMA AND GULF RAILWAY COMPANY.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the bill (H. R. 3627) to grant to the Gainesville, Oklahoma and Gulf Railway Company a right of way through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes, with Senate amendments.

Mr. BAILEY. Mr. Speaker, the Senate amendments are purely formal, and I move to concur in them.

The Senate amendments were read.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Texas moves to concur in the Senate amendments.

The question was taken, and the Senate amendments were concurred in.

On motion of Mr. BAILEY, a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate amendments were concurred in was laid on the table.

JOHN FINN.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a bill (H. R. 5594) permitting the withdrawal of certain papers and the signing of certain receipts by John Finn, or his attorney, with Senate amendments.

Mr. COBB of Missouri. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House concur in the Senate amendments.

The Senate amendments were read.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Missouri moves to concur in the Senate amendments.

The question was taken, and the Senate amendments were concurred in.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the title will be amended in accordance with the amendments of the Senate.

There was no objection.

On motion of Mr. COBB of Missouri, a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Senate amendments were concurred in was laid on the table.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

By unanimous consent, leave of absence was granted as follows: To Mr. HULL, for two days, on account of important business.

To Mr. BELKNAP, for one day, on account of important business.

To Mr. MOORE, indefinitely, on account of sickness.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

The SPEAKER. The regular order is the call of the standing and select committees for reports.

The committees were called.

FLOWER MARKET, WASHINGTON, D. C.

Mr. RUSK, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, reported back with a favorable recommendation a bill (S. 2457) to provide for the erection of a flower market in the city of Washington, D. C., which was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, and, with the accompanying report, ordered to be printed.

REPORT OF UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS TO PARIS EXPOSITION OF 1889.

Mr. RICHARDSON, from the Committee on Printing, reported the following resolution:

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, January 2, 1893.
Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That in

WILLIAM M'GARRAHAN.

Mr. TELLER. I wish to give notice that to-morrow morning, after the routine business is through, I shall ask the Senate to take up Senate bill 3741, known as the McGarrahan bill. I do not think it will lead to any extended discussion, and I shall ask the Senate to take up the bill at that time.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. SHERMAN. I submit to the Senate whether it would not be a better course and expediate business to proceed to the consideration of the regular business at 1 o'clock rather than go on with other business now. The Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE] has the floor upon the Nicaragua bill. I ask that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Senate bill 1218.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Ohio asks unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of a bill, the title of which will be read.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I hope the Senator from Ohio will not insist on that. There are a number of measures on the Calendar that ought to be considered. The very short time allowed to the Calendar ought not to be taken up by the consideration of the regular order, when day after day will be devoted to that business. I think that the hour and a half which belongs to the Calendar ought to be devoted to the Calendar.

Mr. SHERMAN. If we can proceed with the Calendar under the five-minute rule I have no objection, but if it is to be taken up for the discussion of collateral subjects that will consume time I shall object.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I am perfectly willing to take it up under the five-minute rule, and I think that ought to be done.

Mr. SHERMAN. I will ask the Chair whether there is any unfinished business of the morning hour?

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. There never is.

Mr. COCKRELL. There can not be any unfinished business in the morning hour.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. There is no unfinished business of the morning hour.

Mr. SHERMAN. Very well; if the Calendar can be proceeded with in the ordinary way I have no objection, but if we are to waste the time in discussion I shall object.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If there is no further morning business that order is closed, and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. DOLPH. I desire to state that I am quite willing for unanimous consent to proceed to the Calendar under the five-minute rule. I commenced to speak Saturday on a measure which was brought up in the morning hour, because I thought it necessary to submit to the Senate information on the joint resolution which was called up. Whenever that measure is called up again I shall desire to include my remarks without attempting to occupy more time than is necessary, so as to put the Senate in the possession of full information concerning it. But I am entirely indifferent whether the measure ever comes up again. I objected to its being taken up on Saturday, and all I desire is time to inform the Senate in regard to the facts in the case.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. That measure can not be reached this morning on the Calendar.

Mr. SHERMAN. Let us commence with the first case on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If there is no further morning business—

Mr. CAREY. Is the Calendar in order?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If there is no further morning business that order is closed, and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

ADMISSION OF NEW MEXICO.

Mr. CAREY. I call up the bill (H. R. 7136) to enable the people of New Mexico to form a constitution and State government, and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, which was passed over without prejudice.

Mr. PLATT. I should like to inquire of the Senator from Wyoming whether he thinks that bill can be disposed of under the five-minute rule. We have just had unanimous consent to go to the Calendar under the five-minute rule and not to take up cases objected to.

Mr. HARRIS. I beg to suggest that we are to go to the Calendar under the standing rule of the Senate.

Mr. CAREY. I did not understand that there had been unanimous consent given. Of course it is not my intention to violate a unanimous-consent agreement, but I understood that we were going to the Calendar regularly.

Mr. HARRIS. I suggest to the Senator from Wyoming that the Senate is proceeding under Rule VIII, according to the rules of the Senate, and not by any consent rule.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Wyoming asks—

Mr. HOAR. Will the Chair state whether any unanimous consent has been given by the Senate?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Calendar has been taken up under Rule VIII.

Mr. HOAR. I ask the Chair if any unanimous consent has been given to the Calendar has been taken up by the Senate?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Unanimous consent has been given.

Mr. PLATT. I object to the consideration of the bill from Wyoming.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Over the objection.

Mr. CAREY. I move that the consideration of the bill pending the objection, under Rule VIII.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. PLATT. On that motion I am in favor of it.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the yeas were 14, and the nays 10, to call the roll.

Mr. BUTLER, when his name was called, said: "yea," the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAYLOR].

Mr. CULLOM, when his name was called, said: "yea," and paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HARRIS]. I do not know how he would vote on this question.

Mr. HAWLEY, when his name was called, said: "yea," and paired with the Senator from Missouri [Mr. HAYDEN]. I am following his colleague; I feel at liberty to vote "yea."

Mr. COCKRELL. I do not know how he would vote, but I would vote, and I authorized the Senator from Missouri [Mr. HAWLEY] to vote.

Mr. McMILLAN, when his name was called, said: "yea," and paired with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. PASCO].

Mr. PASCO, when his name was called, said: "yea," and paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CAYLOR]. I am following his colleague; I should vote "yea," if he were present.

Mr. PETTIGREW, when his name was called, said: "yea," and paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAYLOR].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. McPHERSON, after making a point of order, said: "yea." Has the junior Senator from Delaware [Mr. HARRIS] voted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not present.

Mr. McPHERSON. Then I wish to withdraw my name, and pair with that Senator.

Mr. GORDON. Upon this question and upon all questions I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WYOMING].

Mr. McPHERSON. In order to make a quorum I vote "yea," as I suppose the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HARRIS] would vote if he were present.

Mr. McMILLAN. On this question I feel at liberty to vote "nay."

Mr. BUTLER. I will vote to make a quorum. I vote "yea," as I think my pair would vote.

Mr. CULLOM. On the suggestion of the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] I will take the liberty of casting my vote.

Mr. GORMAN. I think the Senator from Illinois has a right to vote.

Mr. CULLOM. I vote "nay."

Mr. PASCO. As my vote will not change the result in order to make a quorum I vote "nay."

Mr. GORDON. In order to make a quorum I vote "yea." The result was announced—yeas 14, nays 10, as follows:

YEAS—14
Blackburn,	Gordon,	Palmer,	Sawyer,
Butler,	Harris,	Peffer,	Tamm,
Carey,	McPherson,	Purdie,
Fulton,	Mitchell,	Quinn,
NAYS—10
Berry,	Dawes,	Hatch,	Stanford,

Coburn,	Hazen,	McPherson,	McPherson,
Daniel,	Hill,	McPherson,	McPherson,
Davis,	Hoy,	McPherson,	McPherson,

So the motion was not agreed to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Calendar is taken up under Rule VIII, and will be proceeded with.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWERS, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the following bills:

A bill (S. 714) to incorporate the Eclectic Medical Society of the District of Columbia;

A bill (S. 252) to change the name of the Capital, North O Street and South Washington Railway Company;

A bill (S. 253) to authorize the Union Railroad Company to construct and maintain a bridge across the Monongahela River; and

A bill (S. 354) to amend an act entitled "An act for the construction of a railroad and wagon bridge across the Mississippi River at South St. Paul, Minn.," approved April 26, 1890.

The message also announced that the House had passed the following bills with amendments; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate:

A bill (S. 1032) for the relief of Mrs. Fannie N. Belger; and

A bill (S. 243) to amend an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Masonic Mutual Relief Association of the District of Columbia," approved March 3, 1891.

The message further announced that the House had passed the concurrent resolution of the Senate providing for the printing of 5,500 copies of the reports of the Commissioners of the United States to the Paris Exposition of 1889.

The message also announced that the House had passed the following bills; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate:

A bill (H. R. 3253) to increase the pension of William G. Smith; and

A bill (H. R. 8450) to remove the charge of desertion from the record of Charles G. Tyler.

The message further announced that the House had agreed to the reports of the committees of conference on the amendments of the Senate to the following bills:

A bill (H. R. 9527) to restore to the public domain a portion of the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation, in the Territory of Arizona, and for other purposes; and

A bill (H. R. 9937) making appropriations for fortifications and other works of defense, for the armament thereof, for the procurement of heavy ordnance for trial and service, and for other purposes.

The message also returned to the Senate, in compliance with its request, the bill (S. 354) to amend the act approved August 13, 1888, in relation to the jurisdiction of the circuit courts of the United States.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills and joint resolutions; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (S. 710) to amend section 4247 of the Revised Statutes of the United States;

A bill (S. 3788) granting right of way to the Colorado River Irrigation Company through the Yuma Indian Reservation in California;

A bill (S. 3843) to authorize the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company to renew its railroad bridge across the Sandy River upon such plans and locations as may be approved by the Secretary of War;

A bill (H. R. 5504) to permit the withdrawal of certain papers and the signing of certain records by John Chan or his attorney;

A bill (H. R. 9955) providing for sun-light nooses and other aids to navigation;

Joint resolution (H. Res. 214) providing for additional telegraphic and electric light facilities in the city of Washington during the inaugural ceremonies on the 4th day of March, 1891; and Joint resolution (S. R. 14) providing for the Secretary of War and the Navy to form the command on land and naval communications.

JOINT RESOLUTION AND RESOLUTION.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate the bill (S. 354) to amend the act approved August 13, 1888, in relation to the jurisdiction of the circuit courts of the United States, which has been returned to the Senate, in compliance with its request. The Chair calls the attention of the Senator from Oregon [Mr. MITCHELL] to the bill.

Mr. MITCHELL. I desire to enter a motion at this time to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed. The motion may lie on the table.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The motion to reconsider will be entered.

MASONIC MUTUAL RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill (S. 243) to amend an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Masonic Mutual Relief Association of the District of Columbia," approved March 3, 1891, which was in line 23, after the word "vice-president," to strike out the words "and one of their number as secretary."

Mr. FAULKNER. I move that the Senate concur in the amendment of the House of Representatives.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE BILLS REFERRED.

The bill (H. R. 3253) to increase the pension of William G. Smith was read twice by its title and referred to the committee on Pensions.

The bill (H. R. 8450) to remove the charge of desertion from the record of Charles G. Tyler was read twice by its title and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

AGREEMENT WITH CHEROKEE INDIANS.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The first bill on the calendar under Rule VIII will be stated.

The bill (S. 276) to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Cherokee Nation of Indians, of the Indian Territory, to make appropriations for carrying out the same, and for other purposes, was announced as first in order on the calendar.

Mr. PLATT. That bill has been passed as a substitute for a house bill on the same subject. It may as well be stricken from the calendar.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be indefinitely postponed in the absence of objection. The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

POTOMAC STEAMBOAT COMPANY.

The bill (S. 709) for the relief of the Potomac Steamboat Company was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with amendments, in line 6, after the words "five thousand," to strike out "three hundred;" and in line 15, after the date "1892," to insert "said amount to be received by the said Potomac Steamboat Company in full satisfaction of all claims and demands against the United States in consequence of the said collision;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, directed to pay out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the Potomac Steamboat Company the sum of $5,000, that being the amount paid by the said Potomac Steamboat Company under a decree of the circuit court of the United States for the eastern district of Virginia, affirmed by the Supreme Court of the United States, to the Baker-Sullivan Company for damages rendered by the steamer Edison, belonging to the said Potomac Steamboat Company, which was sunk by the United States steamer Albatross, on the 14th day of December, 1890, in consequence of the collision of the said Potomac Steamboat Company with the said steamer Albatross, and demands against the United States in consequence of the said collision.

The amendments were agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

EXTENSION OF NORTH CAPITOL STREET.

Mr. McMILLAN. I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of House bill 8451. It is a very short bill, which was heretofore passed over.

By unanimous consent the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, passed the bill.

The bill was reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia with amendments.

The first amendment was, in line 4, after the word "street," to strike out "and the sum of $1,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary," and insert "and the amount of money necessary to pay the payment of condemnation and the cost of grading;" so as to read:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby directed to pay out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the District of Columbia the sum of $1,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to pay the payment of condemnation and the cost of grading, in consequence of the extension of North Capitol Street, and the amount of money necessary to pay the payment of condemnation and the cost of grading is hereby authorized to be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the District of Columbia.

Mr. COE KIRK. Mr. President, that makes the amendment absolutely inoperative.

Mr. McMILLAN. I think that was the understanding. The bill has been so changed on the floor. The House of Representatives gave the amount of $12,000, but some of the people interested thought that might not be sufficient. The cost will not be much over $1,000, but I have no objection to having the amount changed.

Mr. BLACKBURN. Will the Senator from Michigan permit me to suggest to him that I know the junior Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] is very anxious to be in the Chamber when this bill is considered? He is absent to-day, but he will be here to-morrow.

Mr. McMILLAN. I have no objection to having the bill go over on the statement of the Senator.

Mr. BLACKBURN. I shall be obliged if the Senator will allow the bill to go over to-day.

Mr. McMILLAN. Very well.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over, retaining its place on the Calendar.

ESTATE OF D. FULFORD.

The bill (S. 1565) for the relief of the heirs of D. Fulford was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in section 2, line 6, after the word "thereon," to insert "and to contain such words as to cover any liability resulting from any mistake in the designation or description of the bonds, so that in no event shall the United States be called upon by a rightful claimant for a second payment thereof," so as to make the section read:

Sec. 2. That the said heirs of D. Fulford shall also execute and file with the Secretary of the Treasury a bond with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, in the penalty of $2000 conditioned to save harmless the United States from loss or ability on account of said bond, or the interest accrued thereon, and to contain such words as to cover any liability resulting from any mistake in the designation or description of the bonds, so that in no event shall the United States be called upon by a rightful claimant for a second payment thereof.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

R. CONNABLE & SONS.

The bill (S. 3279) for the relief of R. Connable & Sons was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the report be read in that case.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The report will be read.

The Secretary read the following report, submitted by Mr. SANDERS July 28, 1892:

The Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3279) for the relief of R. Connable & Sons, have had the same under consideration and report the bill back with the recommendation that it do pass.

Connable & Sons owned the tug D. G. Babcock, among others, and were fined $100 for running the same without a license as engineer, which was paid prior to taking an appeal. The Babcock was practically navigated by Capt. Dahmer, and by inadvertence of his the same was run one trip without a licensed engineer. As a further penalty Dahmer's license as a captain was revoked, but after examining into the circumstances the Treasury Department arrived at the conclusion that he was not a blame-worthy and restored to him his license. However, as the money had been paid into the Treasury it was too late to remit the penalty, and this bill contemplates what would have been the result had not Connable & Sons so promptly paid the money. The facts show that Connable & Sons have for many years been the owners of tugs and have never been accused of violating any of the marine regulations, and they seem to have been put into this position without intent and fault on their part.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

PURCHASE OF TEMPLE FARM, YORKTOWN, VA.

The bill (S. 2698) providing for the purchase of Temple Farm, at Yorktown, Va., and for other purposes, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. MORRILL. I was not aware that that bill had been reported from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds; certainly it must have been reported at some time when I was not present. I desire that it shall be passed over without prejudice, until I can have further time to examine it.

Mr. COCKRELL. I hope the Senator will examine the bill very carefully and ascertain the market value of this land and whether it is worth $140 an acre. It seems to me very much like paying a pretty high price for it.

Mr. DANIEL. I can answer the question of the Senator. The market value of this land is very insignificant compared with the price put upon it by the bill. It is agricultural land and the value is very much less, indeed not half, but it is a large tract of land and the place on which the British Army in the Revolution surrendered. It is proposed to purchase it on the ground of apropos antiquities.

Mr. MORRILL. I object to the present consideration of the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Objection being made, the bill will go over.

ELI AYRES.

The bill (S. 757) to quiet the title of certain lands in the State of Mississippi, and for the relief of Eli Ayres, his legal representatives, etc., was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I think the proper reading is its place on the Calendar.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go over.

SEAL OF THE STATE OF ALASKA.

The bill (S. 287) to provide for the seal of the State of Alaska was reported from the Committee on Finance with an amendment, in section 1, line 1, after the word "fisheries of Alaska," to insert "and the fisheries of the State of Alaska," so as to read: "The seal of the State of Alaska shall be a shield, divided into four quarters, the quarters being: 1st, a fish; 2nd, a seal; 3rd, a fish; 4th, a fish." The bill was reported with the amendment, and the amendment was agreed to. The bill was then reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in. The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in. The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

NEW YORK AND ALBANY OYSTER BEDS.

The bill (S. 3114) to provide for the appointment of commissioners to examine the oyster beds in Raritan Bay, New York, and in New Jersey, and to make recommendations thereon, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. Let that be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

UTAH EXHIBITS AND COMMODITIES.

The bill (H. R. 7827) to provide for the purchase of the exhibits and commodities of Utah to provide for the sale of the same, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. I have just read the report of the committee, and it is a very interesting one. It is a bill to provide for the purchase of the exhibits and commodities of Utah to provide for the sale of the same. It is a bill to provide for the purchase of the exhibits and commodities of Utah to provide for the sale of the same. It is a bill to provide for the purchase of the exhibits and commodities of Utah to provide for the sale of the same.

Mr. PETTIGREW. There is something in the bill, but it is not a good bill. It should be dropped.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it be dropped.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

JOSEPH AND ELIZA A. BROWN.

The bill (S. 280) for the relief of Joseph and Eliza A. Brown, his wife, was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in line 13, after the word "and," to insert "and," so as to read: "and," so as to make the bill read:

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in line 13, after the word "and," to insert "and," so as to read: "and," so as to make the bill read:

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

NATIONAL BANK OF THE ISLANDS.

The resolution reported by Mr. MANDERSON, relating to the National Bank of the Islands, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. MANDERSON. I think as it is quite a long bill, to which the resolution refers, and not a very important one, this session of Congress, it is hardly worth the trouble of printing copies of the document. I therefore move that the consideration be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was agreed to.

SENECA INDIAN AND SPRINGFIELD INDIAN.

The bill (H. R. 3594) for the relief of the Seneca tribe of Indians, in the State of New York, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I think the bill is a very good one, and it is a bill to provide for the relief of the Seneca tribe of Indians, in the State of New York. It is a bill to provide for the relief of the Seneca tribe of Indians, in the State of New York. It is a bill to provide for the relief of the Seneca tribe of Indians, in the State of New York. It is a bill to provide for the relief of the Seneca tribe of Indians, in the State of New York.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I wish to say that the subject-matter proposed to be disposed of by House bill 3391 has been before Congress for twenty years. The Stockbridge Indians are living on lands where they were in 1856, and persistent efforts have been made to deprive them of their homes. The facts and circumstances involved in the matter have been considered by committee of this body. The Committee on Indian Affairs sent for persons and papers, heard witnesses, examined all the facts, and reported almost unanimously in favor of the passage of the bill. It has been again and again passed by this body; it has been passed by the other House of Congress. There is but one side to this controversy. The delay is not creditable to the Government of the United States, and is an outrage on these Indians.

I hope the Senate will vote down the proposition to recommit the bill, in which case I shall move that the Senate proceed to its consideration.

Mr. SAWYER. I hope the Senate will not vote down the motion to recommit. I think the bills should be recommitted, and I hope they will be.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from South Dakota to recommit the bills named by him to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. VILAS. I trust the bills will not be recommitted, especially in view of what the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES] has already sufficiently said with reference to them. These bills involve a long delayed measure of justice, which has never been denied by either House of Congress, except when it has been defeated in the way of recommitment, obstruction, or delay.

The simple, plain measure of justice, which the Committee on Indian Affairs had no difficulty in determining, lies merely in awarding to certain Indians their title to lands which they have occupied for thirty-six years, which was made perfect to them by a treaty of the United States, and for which they have been entitled to a patent under the terms of that treaty for a quarter of a century.

Mr. McPHERSON. Why have they not got it?

Mr. VILAS. They have not got it simply because they fell under the hands of individual operators, who have been able to obstruct and prevent this measure of justice to this day.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from South Dakota, to recommit the bills which he has named.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I ask for the yeas and nays on the motion to recommit.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. McMILLAN (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE]. Not knowing how he would vote, if present, I withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. BUTLER. I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON].

Mr. CULLOM. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. DOLPH. Has the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] voted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded as voting.

Mr. DOLPH. If the Senator from New York [Mr. HISCOCK], who sits on this side of the Chamber, is not paired with any other Senator I shall transfer my pair with the Senator from Mississippi, who is only temporarily absent, and vote "yea." It will be understood then that the Senator from Mississippi and the Senator from New York are paired.

Mr. CAREY. I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY]. I will transfer that pair to the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY], and shall vote to make a quorum. I vote "yea." This will also enable the Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCO] to vote.

Mr. DANIEL. I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE]. I do not know how he would vote if present, but I withhold my vote. I should vote "nay" if he were here.

Mr. PASCO. Under the arrangements announced by the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. CAREY], I vote "nay."

Mr. MANDERSON (after having voted in the affirmative). I see that the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN], with whom I am paired, has not voted. I will therefore withdraw my vote unless I can make a transfer of my pair. I suggest to the Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL] that we pair the Senator from Kentucky with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE], and that will permit the Senator from Virginia and myself to vote.

Mr. DANIEL. That is entirely agreeable to me.

Mr. MANDERSON. Then the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE] will stand paired with the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN], and I shall let my vote stand.

Mr. DANIEL. I vote "nay."

Mr. BLACKBURN entered the Chamber, and said: I desire to vote on the pending motion. I vote "yea."

Mr. DANIEL. Then I will announce my pair with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE]. The Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN] has come in and voted, and I withdraw my vote.

Mr. CULLOM. I think I have an understanding with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], with whom I am paired, to vote when my vote is necessary to make a quorum. I vote "yea."

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 20; as follows:

YEAS—21
Blackburn,	Frye,	Mitchell,	Sawyer,
Carey,	Hale,	Merrill,	Sherman,
Orlorn,	Hansbrough,	Peffer,	Stockbridge,
Davis,	Hawley,	Pettigrew,	Teller,

So the motion to recommit was agreed to.

PUBLIC BUILDING AT BUTTE CITY, MONT.

The bill (S. 879) to provide for the construction of a public building at Butte City, Mont., was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. BUTLER. Let that bill go over without prejudice.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will go over, retaining its place on the Calendar.

EUNICE M. BROWN.

The bill (S. 2219) for the relief of Eunice M. Brown was considered in Committee of the Whole. It proposes to pay to Eunice M. Brown $500 in full compensation for and satisfaction of all claims due to her by reason of services performed by her as matron of the hospital at Camp Chase, Ohio, during the years 1864 and 1865.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

ELIZA E. PHILLIPS AND OTHERS.

The bill (S. 181) for the relief of Eliza E. Phillips, Chesta M. Phillips, Charles Phillips, and Nora Phillips, of the city of New Orleans, La., and Robert L. Phillips, of the town of Washington, Ark., was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. COCKRELL. That bill has been reported adversely. I move that it be postponed indefinitely.

The motion was agreed to.

ACCOMMODATION FOR GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

The joint resolution (S. R. 120) making available the sum of $250,000 appropriated in 1890, and suspended in 1891, to provide accommodation for the Government Printing Office, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. QUAY. Let that go over without prejudice.

Mr. MANDERSON. Do I understand the Senator from Pennsylvania to object to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

Mr. QUAY. I should like to have the joint resolution go over temporarily.

Mr. MANDERSON. It will have to go over, then, I presume.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will go over without prejudice, retaining its place on the Calendar.

DAVID RYAN.

Mr. PALMER. I move that the next case on the Calendar, being the bill (H. R. 3594) to confer jurisdiction upon the Court of Claims to hear and determine the claim of David Ryan against the United States, be recommitted to the Committee on Claims. The motion was agreed to.

THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY.

Mr. PROCTOR. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill (S. 3792) to incorporate the American University.

By unanimous consent the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia with amendments: in line 9 to strike out "M" and insert "W," so as to read "Alpheus W. Wilson;" and in line 14 to strike out the name of "James M. Reid, of Michigan."

The amendments were agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MARY DOUBLEDAY.

Mr. BLODGETT. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill (S. 3819) granting a pension to Mary Doubleday, widow of Bvt. Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on Pensions, with an amendment, in line 7, before the word "dollars," to strike out "one hundred" and insert "fifty," so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to place on the pension roll, subject to the provisions and limitations of the pension laws, the name of Mary Doubleday, widow of Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday, and pay her a pension of $50 per month.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

REMOVAL OF INDIANS IN ARIZONA.

The bill (S. 3146) authorizing the removal of the Indians of Papago or Gila Bend Reservation in Maricopa County, Ariz., to the Papago Reservation in Pima County, or to one of the Pima and Maricopa Reservations known as the Gila River and Salt River Indian Reservations, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. PLATT. The bill was reported by the chairman of the Committee on Indian Affairs [Mr. DAWES]. I have sent for him, but am unable to find him. I think perhaps the bill had better be passed over informally until he comes in.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over without prejudice.

SENECA INDIAN LANDS.

Mr. HILL. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10206) to ratify and confirm an agreement made between the Seneca Nation of Indians and William B. Barker.

There being no objection, the bill was considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The preamble was agreed to.

SCHOONER HENRY R. TILTON.

Mr. HIGGINS. I ask unanimous consent to take up the bill (S. 3089) for the relief of the owners of the schooner Henry R. Tilton and of personal effects thereon.

There being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

That the Secretary of War be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to ascertain as soon as practicable what was the reasonable value of the schooner Henry R. Tilton and the proportion thereof belonging to each of her several owners at the time she was sunk by a deflected projectile from a gun on the United States proving grounds at Sandy Hook on or about the 9th day of July, 1892; and he shall, in like manner, ascertain what was the reasonable value of the personal effects of each of the several officers and sailors on the said schooner at the time of her sinking as aforesaid; and he shall report to the Secretary of the Treasury the several amounts so ascertained; and the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized and directed to pay, out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the owners of the said schooner the value thereof so ascertained and reported as herein prescribed: Provided, That the aggregate amount so reported as the value of said schooner does not exceed $10,000, less the amount of the net proceeds of the sale of the schooner; and he shall pay to the officers and crew of said schooner the several sums so ascertained to have been the value of their personal effects lost: Provided, That the aggregate of said several sums shall not exceed $1,000: Provided further, That all and each of said several amounts shall be received by the persons herein described in full satisfaction of all their claims against the United States on account of the loss of the said schooner Henry R. Tilton.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The title was amended so as to read: "A bill for the relief of the owners of the schooner Henry R. Tilton and of the owners of personal effects thereon."

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. F. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the joint resolution (S. R. 136) to amend an act entitled "An act making Saturday a half-holiday for certain Federal employees in the District of Columbia," approved December 22, 1892.

The message also announced that the House had passed the following bill: in which a resolution was passed by the House of Representatives:

A bill (H. R. 9730) to amend the act relating to the Pacific Railroad Company of the District of Columbia.

A bill (H. R. 9544) to create a commission of survey for the District of Columbia.

A bill (H. R. 10030) to narrow California Avenue at Fair Heights, District of Columbia; and

A bill (H. R. 10236) relative to vacation allowances for military debtors for the benefit of creditors in the District of Columbia, and to amend section 782 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia.

UNROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message further announced that the President of the United States had signed the following enrolled bills:

A bill (H. R. 3627) to grant to the Gulf, Santa Fe, and Texas and Gulf Railway Company a right of way, through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes.

A bill (H. R. 9527) to restore to the public domain a portion of the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation, in the Territory of Arizona, and for other purposes; and

A bill (H. R. 9786) authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Monongahela River, at West Elizabeth, in the State of Pennsylvania.

MARITIME CANAL COMPANY OF NARRAGANSETT.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The hour of 1 o'clock having arrived, it is the duty of the Chair to lay before the Senate the unfinished business.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (S. 1218) to amend the act entitled "An act to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Narragansett," approved February 20, 1889.

Mr. FRYE. Mr. President, from the time that Columbus sought for in vain, the dream of the world has been to find a pathway for ships across the isthmus connecting North and South America. I imagine that there is no spot on the round globe which has been so fretted by prospectors, investigators, and surveyors as this. But for the last twelve or fifteen years attention has been directed chiefly to three points—Panama, Tehuantepec, and Nicaragua.

Panama has been tried. Mr. De Lesseps at first favored Nicaragua, but owing to certain complications changed to Panama, giving as his reason that a sea-level canal was an absolute necessity, and that at this point only was it practicable. He laid out his sea-level canal. It touched the Chagres River at nine different points. I had the honor to be a member of the special committee in the House of Representatives on isthmian routes in 1881. The inquiry extended over six months of time, and was exceedingly interesting and instructive. I carry an across the Chagres River, and made up my mind that no such uncontrollable and reckless scheme as that could be found elsewhere in the wide world. I was then satisfied that man never could harness it and compel it to do his will.

Mr. De Lesseps expended $250,000,000 on this route and elsewhere, changed from a sea-level to a lock canal, and failed. Oh, what a pity it is that that magnificent man, the admiration of a world, should to-day in his old age be compelled to drink the bitter dregs of an awful sorrow and a fearful humiliation! I trust that the wonderful works he has achieved in the past may restore him to liberty once more.

Since then a French commission has investigated this canal and has unanimously arrived at the conclusion that it is a practical impossibility; so no further thought may be given to Panama.

Tehuantepec attracted the attention of the world on account of its advocacy by one of the most distinguished engineers who ever lived, one of our own American people. His reputation we have a right to be proud of. Mr. Stevens was a genius, and I have no hesitation in saying that with his mind and his genius combined he never has a superior. He was the greatest engineer on earth. He conceived a scheme for a canal which was as attractive as it was brilliant. It was to cut through the mountains of the Atlantic Ocean the largest ship canal, fully 1,000 feet in diameter on a steel-laid track, and then by a series of locks to carry it over on to a steel-laid track, and then by a series of locks to carry it over her across the isthmus and drop her into the Gulf of Mexico. The Pacific. A magnificent work, worthy of the greatest of men. Mr. Eads. He had, I believe, a greater power of imagination than and his views upon men than anyone I ever saw. He labored on that ship-railway in Congress for five or six years. I think he prevailed upon the engineers of the world and upon the scientists to believe that his scheme was practicable. I think he failed to convince the ordinary common-sense practical ship-owner, ship-builder, and ship-sailor.

Mr. Eads is in the midst of his work. No successor to him has ever been born, and in my opinion none ever will be. So the canal may be eliminated from the problem.

There has been a favorite location for a great many years on account of its climate, because the distance for an elevated canal was only 20 miles while lake and river transportation were 112 miles, because midway, as will be seen on that map [indicating], is a magnificent sheet of fresh water, deep enough and broad enough to hold the navies of the whole world; because at either extremity harborsafe and convenient can be easily provided, and because it is just beyond what is known as the calm belt of Panama.

In 1826, the then minister from the new Republic of the Central American States called the attention of our Secretary of State to this route, and Mr. Clay returned the following reply:

The idea has been conceived of joining the two oceans by a canal navigation. The execution of it will form a great epoch in the commercial affairs of the whole world. The practicability of it can scarcely be doubted. Various schemes for the proposed canal have been suggested, and have divided public opinion. The evidence, tending to show the superiority of the advantage of that which would traverse the province of Nicaragua, seems to have nearly settled the question in favor of that route.

In 1872 President Grant appointed a board of five of the ablest engineers in the United States, and they were instructed to make thorough investigation of the routes across this isthmus. They entered upon their work, prosecuted it with great fidelity, and finally, after having examined eight different routes, unanimously reported in favor of Nicaragua.

In 1881 concessions were made—ample, all that were required—and a bill was presented to Congress to give aid to the building of the canal at this point, but Mr. De Lesseps and Mr. Eads regarded that proposition, of course, with extreme hostility, combined and fought it with great persistency, and succeeded in defeating it.

In 1884, under President Arthur, a treaty was made with Nicaragua, under the terms of which every concession, right, and privilege required were granted, and the United States were bound to construct this canal. It is in the memory of many Senators who are here now that for long months we discussed that treaty. It will be remembered, too, that in the midst of the contest the ghost of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, a treaty that had been as dead as Julius Cæsar for a quarter of a century, was summoned into this Chamber, and succeeded in preventing the treaty from receiving the necessary two-thirds vote through its old command a very large majority.

President Cleveland withdrew that treaty after his accession to the Presidency. I have reason, Mr. President, to believe, and I do believe, that were Mr. Cleveland President of the United States to-day and were that a pending treaty he would not withdraw it. On the contrary, he would earnestly recommend its ratification.

In 1887 concessions were granted by Nicaragua and Costa Rica to private individuals. In 1889 Congress granted them corporate powers, and from that time until now they have been at work on the canal, having expended several million dollars, and I am glad to say that as to the canal itself they have as yet found the slightest obstacle to final success. Indeed, sir, I know of but few in the country who object to this route as a practical and a feasible one to-day. The distinguished Senator from Minnesota [Mr. DAVIS] at the last session of Congress made a speech against the then pending bill, the burden of which was "earthquakes around Nicaragua," and a suggestion that if the Government should invest 100,000,000 very likely one might destroy the route to-morrow.

Mr. President, there was an earthquake at Christchurch, N. Z., a while ago. Do you think that the people of Christchurch should now flee to the mountains and desert their homes? We are expending some $1,000,000 to build a harbor at Charleston—$750,000 in the sundry civil appropriation bill of this year. Does the Senator from Minnesota think that we ought to stop such appropriations because, to-morrow, under Divine Providence, another earthquake may demolish the city and leave it a deserted village and no harbor be necessary? We are spending $500,000 to build a lock at the Sault Ste. Marie, and an earthquake may shake that in pieces. Shall we stop work and leave the vessels to remain with no opportunity of conduct from the one lake to the other? San Francisco has been visited by earthquakes again and again. Shall San Francisco be restored to its primitive condition and its land let out to feed wild cattle because another earthquake may come?

Mr. President, I admit that with God all things are possible, but in legislation are we to be deterred from doing our duty on account of possibilities? Shall every man in a thunder shower who knows that lightning sometimes strikes and kills have builded for himself a glass jar with insulated feet, so as to make himself safe from its shafts?

Mr. Menocal was asked about earthquakes when he was before our committee. I will read what he says:

BY MR. BURNETT:

Mr. SHERMAN. On what page?

Mr. FRYE. Page 118. Mr. Burnet is says:

You have spoken of earthquakes, which is a subject, I am sure, of great interest to a good many people, and the stability of such works. You have been down there a good many years, how many earthquakes have you experienced?

A. I never experienced but one or two, and they were so slight as to be of no consequence.

Q. How recent is the last earthquake in that region of country that has overthrown houses?

A. Not long, I know, except that the towers of each cathedral and houses have been slightly cracked.

Q. How recent were these?

A. In 1845 in the tower of the cathedral cracked and fell.

Q. When and how?

A. It was about 1845, I think, and the tower of the cathedral west of the lake.

Is that an argument which should deter the United States from undertaking and carrying out this magnificent work?

Mr. President, at the last Congress the following resolution was offered in reference to this subject on the 11th day of April, 1890:

Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Relations be and it hereby is, directed to inquire into all steps that have been taken under the act of Congress entitled "An act to incorporate the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua," approved February 18, 1890, and what are the present conditions and prospects of the enterprise, and to consider and report what, in its opinion, the interests of the United States may require in respect of that enterprise and under that act.

Who inspired that resolution? Did it come from this corporation? Was it inspired by any of its stockholders? Is there a Senator on this floor who has ever heard from a stockholder asking that this resolution should be passed? I assert that the chambers of commerce, the boards of trade of the United States, intelligent business men who understand our commercial interests, statesmen who know the necessity of the United States securing a political control of this canal, and members of Congress insist upon the resolution, and that this corporation and its stockholders had nothing whatever to do with it. I doubt very much if they desired it to pass and the committee to be directed to take up this work.

The committee acted promptly. It was referred to a subcommittee of the ablest men we have ever had in the Senate. They were faithful in their investigations. They reported a bill to the Senate and, leaving out my own name, I submit to Senators at the names signed to that report ought to have great weight and influence with us. The names are JOHN SHERMAN, George F. Edmunds, WILLIAM P. FRYE, William M. Evarts, J. N. DODD, JOHN T. MORGAN, Joseph E. Brown, H. B. PAYSON, and E. A. TILDEN. There is no politics in this, I am happy to say. The bill was reported too late for action.

Again, at the present session of Congress, the Committee on Foreign Relations was instructed to further investigate this matter. The committee made the required investigation and have reported the bill which is now pending. A bill very much more favorable to the Government and the people of the United States than that which was reported by the Senators whose names I have just cited. I say in this, that it leads not with mortgages and bonds and stock to give a loan or a guaranty of $10,000,000 of stock to this Government, thus insuring to the United States the absolute political and business control of the canal forever.

Now, Mr. President, I have always favored the construction of this canal by the Government, and am glad that years ago I began a speech in which I maintained that it was the duty of the United States to make an appropriation of $100,000,000 to be given for the canal to be built by the Secretary of War as he might need it to be constructed, to be placed under the Army engineers, and garrisoned with men against whom no suspicion ever yet was expressed, and of men whom nobody would dream of charging with the slightest infidelity in making contracts or seeing that they were faithfully executed. I suppose that such a proposition as that now could not prevail, and while I still hold to my own opinion, I give my entire adhesion conscientiously and heartily to the bill which has been reported.

Mr. President, I do not propose to discuss the political reasons why our Government should control this canal, though in my opinion such control is vital to the interests of this Republic in the future. I leave that branch of the case to the distinguished Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN], who can do his duty with an ability I never dreamed of.

Nor do I propose to discuss the bill in its several provisions, nor undertake to defend any of them. It was reported by a Sen-

Statement showing such part of the annual expenditures under appropriations made in the several fortification acts from the fiscal year 1880 to 1892, inclusive, as were disbursed under the direction of the Chief of Engineers, United States Army.

JANUARY 7, 1893.

The previous question was ordered.
The conference report was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. BRECKINRIDGE of Kentucky, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

CAPITOL, NORTH O STREET AND SOUTH WASHINGTON RAILWAY COMPANY.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I call up for consideration the bill (S. 2852) to change the name of the Capitol, North O Street and South Washington Railway Company.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the name of the Capitol, North O Street and South Washington Railway Company be, and the same is hereby, changed to "The Belt Railway Company." Provided, That said change shall not affect pending suits and said company nor the enforcement of existing contracts with said company.

The bill is ordered to a third reading, and it was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

BOARD OF CHARITIES, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I now call up the bill (H. R. 9873) to create a board of charities, etc., in the District of Columbia.

The bill is as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That there shall be created in and for the District of Columbia a board to be known as the Board of Charities for the District of Columbia, to be composed of five members, who shall serve without compensation; the said board to be a body politic and corporate, and to have the powers and to be constituted in the manner hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. That the members of the board of charities shall be appointed by the President of the United States upon the recommendation of the District Commissioners: Provided, That there shall always be at least one representative of each sex upon the board. Of the five members first appointed after the passage of this act two shall serve for one year, two for two years, and one for three years. Thereafter all appointments except such as shall be made for the remainder of unexpired terms shall be for the term of three years. The President of the United States, upon the recommendation of the District Commissioners, may remove any member of the board of charities.

Sec. 3. That the board shall elect from among its own members a president and vice-president, who shall severally discharge the duties usual to such officers or such as the by-laws of the board may prescribe.

Sec. 4. That the board shall further appoint as secretary some thoroughly experienced and otherwise suitable person, not a member of the board. The said secretary shall have power, under the direction of the board, to represent it in all matters of investigation and visitation, to conduct the office business, and to draft its annual report. He shall be entitled to compensation at the rate of $3,000 per year.

Sec. 5. That the board of charities for the District of Columbia shall have all the powers and be charged with all the duties heretofore belonging to the superintendent of charities, save only that the District Commissioners shall have power to revise its estimates and to incorporate the same with their own estimates from year to year. The board of charities shall further have full powers of investigation, report, and estimate as regards the Reform School for Boys of the District of Columbia, the Girls' Reform School, the Washington Asylum, and all charitable institutions that care for the poor of the District and that are supported in whole or in part by public appropriations.

Sec. 6. That the superintendent of charities for the District of Columbia shall serve as acting secretary of the board of charities from its organization until a date not later than the 1st day of August, 1893, on and after which date the office of superintendent of charities for the District of Columbia is hereby abolished. Any appropriations that may have been made for the superintendent of charities shall be available after the abolition of said office for the use of the board of charities.

Sec. 7. That this act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Mr. MEREDITH, interrupting the reading. Mr. Speaker, I make the point of order against this bill that it should be considered in Committee of the Whole. It carries an appropriation of $7,000 in the section just read by the Clerk.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the bill be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole. It does not make any difference, and it will save time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. HEMPHILL] asks unanimous consent that this bill be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole. Is there objection?

Mr. MEREDITH. I will have to object.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Virginia objects.

THOS. LINCOLN CASEY,
Brigadier-General, Chief of Engineers.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I will state, Mr. Speaker, that this superintendent of charities gets a salary of $3,000 a year, and this bill proposes to make him secretary of this board with the same salary and no additional salary over that which he is now getting. The bill does not make any appropriation.

The SPEAKER. It is a charge upon the Treasury.

Mr. HEMPHILL. It simply provides that an officer already in existence shall be known by a different name, and shall draw the same salary that he already does. It does not appropriate any money for it.

The SPEAKER. Section 4 of the bill does not limit the appointment to any particular officer. It says:

"The board shall further appoint as secretary some thoroughly experienced and otherwise suitable person, not a member of the board."

And it provides that he shall have a salary of $3,000 per year.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I do not think it is a matter of any consequence one way or the other whether it is considered in committee or in the House or in Committee of the Whole. I ask the gentleman from Virginia [Mr. MEREDITH] not to press that point, as it simply loses time; and he will not lose any of his rights.

Mr. MEREDITH. Mr. Speaker, this bill is objectionable, because it places under this board of charities the Reform School for Boys. Now, that comes properly under the Department of Justice; and I do not think the board of charities ought to have anything to do with a school that is now operated under the Attorney-General, who has control of this matter. I do not think this a proper bill, and that is the reason I make the point.

Mr. HEMPHILL. So far as I am concerned, I will say to the gentleman that he can offer an amendment that the Reform School for Boys be stricken out. There is some question as to whether that is entirely a penal or a charitable institution, and it does not make any difference one way or the other, so far as this bill is concerned.

Mr. MEREDITH. If my friend will accept an amendment striking that school out of the bill, I have no objection to the bill.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I will accept such an amendment.

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the bill will be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole.

There was no objection.

Mr. DOCKERY. I should like to inquire of the gentleman what is the purpose of the bill?

Mr. HEMPHILL. The purpose is simply a reorganization of the board of charities here, making it a board consisting of five persons in the District of Columbia, who receive no compensation, at all, a public official board in conjunction with the superintendent of charities, and he is to act as their secretary at a compensation already provided for.

Mr. DOCKERY. What relation, if any, will this board have to the board of children's guardians?

Mr. HEMPHILL. It is only another branch of the charities of the city. It does not relate to the Board of Children's Guardians. It puts under the supervision of this board all the charities and charitable institutions of the city. The superintendent is to cooperate in conjunction with the Board of Charities and make reports to Congress as to the number of persons connected with these charities. It makes no appropriation of money.

Mr. DOCKERY. I shall not interpose an objection to the passage of this bill. I defer to the judgment of the Committee on the District of Columbia, but I wish to say, in this connection, that the Board of Children's Guardians, created by an act of the last Congress, seems for some reason, I am not clear as to just what it is, to be very satisfactory in its operation.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will continue the reading of the bill.

The reading of the bill was resumed and concluded.

encountered every time they leave the grounds. I submit that if you shut up these liquor saloons within one mile of any home it will tend to remove temptations of this kind, and will be for the moral, spiritual, and temporal welfare of those unfortunate people who are there as inmates.

Mr. MEREDITH. I would like to ask the gentleman whether such a law will prevent any inmate of the Soldiers' Home from crossing the mile limit, buying a bottle of whisky, and taking it back with him to get drunk on?

Mr. CAMPBELL. As they do now.

Mr. MEREDITH. As they do now, and have been doing right along (so the governor of the home here has informed us), to the utter demoralization of the good order and discipline of the home.

Mr. MORSE. I think I have already answered that suggestion of the gentleman. I ask for a vote on my amendment.

The question being taken.

The SPEAKER. The noes seem to have it.

Mr. DINGLEY. I call for a division.

The question being again taken, there were—ayes 22, noes 54.

So the amendment was rejected.

The Clerk read as follows:

SEC. 19. That no licensee under a barroom license shall employ, or permit to be employed, or allow any female other than his wife, daughter, mother, or sister to sell, give, furnish, or distribute any intoxicating drinks or any admixture thereof, of ale, wine, or beer to any person or persons, nor permit the playing of pool, or billiards, or other games in the room where such liquors are sold; Provided, That the excise board may, in its discretion, permit the playing of such games, except cards, in duly licensed places.

Mr. LONG. I offer an amendment to this section.

The Clerk read as follows:

Add at the end of section 19, on page 12:

"That no licensee in any place shall knowingly sell or permit to be sold in his establishment any intoxicating liquor of any kind to any person under the age of 21 years, under the penalty upon due conviction thereof of forfeiting such license, and no person so forfeiting his license shall again be granted a license for the term of two years."

Mr. LONG. I do not think there will be any objection to that amendment.

The amendment was adopted.

Mr. DINGLEY. I move to amend, in section 19, by striking out of lines 2 and 3 the words "other than his wife, daughter, mother, or sister."

This is a provision that allows a saloon-keeper to put his wife, daughter, mother, or sister in a saloon for the purpose of dispensing intoxicating liquors. It seems to me that for this Congress to pass a law authorizing the keeper of such an establishment to place women to dispense liquors in their various saloons would be simply an outrage. Let women be kept from such places as these at least.

The amendment was adopted.

The Clerk resumed and concluded the reading of the bill, as follows:

SEC. 20. That in the interpretation of this act words of the singular number shall be deemed to include their plurals, and that words of the masculine gender shall be deemed to include the feminine, as the case may be.

SEC. 21. That this act shall be in lieu of and as a substitute for all existing laws and regulations in the District of Columbia in relation to the sale of distilled and fermented liquors in the said District, and that all laws or parts of laws inconsistent with this act be, and they are hereby, repealed.

Mr. PICKLER. I want to ask the attention of the chairman of the committee for a moment to a provision which we have already passed over, beginning with the last line on page 11, in the following words:

Provided, That the excise board may, in their discretion, permit the playing of such games, except cards, in duly licensed places.

Now, the first provision of this section prohibits the playing of pool or billiards or other games in the room where such liquors are sold. Does not this latter provision nullify what we have already done? Why should they be prohibited in one place from doing this thing and permitted in the next paragraph to do what they were forbidden to do?

Mr. HEMPHILL. As I understand the meaning of this section it is that they can not play any of these games in any of the places where liquors are authorized to be sold, but that the excise board may grant a license by which such permission may be granted in such building, provided it is not in the same room where the liquor is sold, except as to the playing of cards, which is prohibited absolutely.

Mr. PICKLER. I think that is not the proper construction of it. It says that they shall be prohibited from doing a thing, and then provides that it may be done by getting a license.

I simply call the gentleman's attention to it, as it seems to be a contradiction.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I think the object is to prohibit these games in saloons where liquor is sold unless, in the judgment of the board of excise, the parties get a license for that purpose.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I offer an amendment to this paragraph.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amend section 19, by striking out the words "other than his wife, daughter, mother, or sister" and inserting the words "other than his wife, daughter, mother, or sister, or the other, whether male or female, who is a resident of the same household."

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I have a suggestion to make at this time a matter of some importance, and I would like to ask the chairman of the committee whether he would be willing to consider it, or the other, whether male or female, who is a resident of the same household, or the other, whether male or female, who is a resident of the same household, or the other, whether male or female, who is a resident of the same household.

It seems to me that a law of this kind, which would prevent a gentleman from bringing a woman into a saloon, would be a very objectionable law, or a new provision, which would be a very objectionable law. But now, if we could have a law which would be a very objectionable law, or a new provision, which would be a very objectionable law.

I do not think that this House should be so easily led into the possibility of repealing that law, or any other law, which would be a very objectionable law, or a new provision, which would be a very objectionable law. The people of this city, so far as I know, are not in any way interested in this bill, but I believe that it is a very important matter, and I believe that it is a very important matter.

or repealing that law, I believe that it is a very important matter, and I believe that it is a very important matter. The fact were generally known in the District of Columbia, and I believe that it is a very important matter, and I believe that it is a very important matter.

Mr. DINGLEY. I will suggest to the gentleman from Ohio that the amendment might better come in in the next paragraph, the word "act."

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. At the suggestion of the gentleman from Maine [Mr. DINGLEY] I offer the amendment to come in the fifth line after the word "act." I have the approval of the chairman, as I understand it, and I think I will have the approval of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio, Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR.

The Clerk read as follows:

In section 21, line 5, after the words "and as a substitute for all existing laws which are applicable to the District of Columbia," insert the words "and as a substitute for all existing laws which are applicable to the District of Columbia."

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I wish to modify my amendment so that it will read:

Except such laws as are applicable to the District of Columbia, and as a substitute for all existing laws which are applicable to the District of Columbia.

That is more explicit, and I think better language.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I demand the previous question.

Mr. CAMPBELL. With the consent of the gentleman from South Dakota [Mr. PICKLER] I want to call attention to the fact that was a lapse, to come in at line 11, on page 12, of the bill, to ask the gentleman from South Carolina, Mr. Hemphill, to withhold his demand for the previous question in order that I may make a brief statement.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I do not know what the gentleman's amendment is.

Mr. CAMPBELL. It is simply a modification of the amendment offered by the gentleman from South Dakota [Mr. PICKLER], and he is willing to have it modified, as I understand.

Mr. PICKLER. I do not want to agree to anything. What is it you want?

Mr. CAMPBELL. I want to call attention to the fact that when you go to these places, and you find that they are not in compliance with the law, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Well, I am not sure that I am not in compliance with the law, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia.

Mr. CAMPBELL. Well, I am not sure that I am not in compliance with the law, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia. I am not sure that I am not in compliance with the law, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio, Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I demand the previous question.

Mr. CAMPBELL. I want to call attention to the fact that when you go to these places, and you find that they are not in compliance with the law, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia.

Mr. CAMPBELL. I want to call attention to the fact that when you go to these places, and you find that they are not in compliance with the law, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia, in relation to the sale of liquor, in the District of Columbia.

of a case in which it will bring hardship to some of the very best people in the District.

The SPEAKER. If there be no objection, the word "hereafter" can be inserted.

Mr. HEMPHILL. So that it will read:

shall be hereafter convicted.

The SPEAKER. It can be inserted if there is no objection. Will the gentleman from New York [Mr. CAMPBELL] indicate the point at which it should be inserted?

Mr. CAMPBELL. Page 3, line E.

There was no objection.

Mr. PICKLER. I would like to hear how that modification reads.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the text as amended now.

The Clerk read as follows:

On page 3 line 13, insert "shall hereafter be convicted."

Mr. CAMPBELL. I do not want any retroactive legislation.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, the amendment, as the Clerk has read it, does not make sense. The word "hereafter" ought to be inserted in the amendment which was offered by the gentleman from South Dakota [Mr. PICKLER].

Mr. PICKLER. I think there is some force in what the gentleman says, but I do not want to change my amendment.

Mr. HEMPHILL. That is all we can do anyhow, and so far as the gentleman's amendment is retroactive, it will not have any force.

Mr. CAMPBELL. It does no harm to modify it, when the modification is satisfactory to all parties.

Mr. HEMPHILL. If you will indicate the place where it should be inserted, we will do it.

Mr. CAMPBELL. I understand it has all been fixed by the Clerk.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Let it go, and it will be fixed hereafter. I demand the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from South Carolina demands the previous question.

The previous question was ordered.

The bill as amended was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time, and being engrossed, was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

On motion of Mr. HEMPHILL, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

WASHINGTON AND GEORGETOWN TERMINAL RAILWAY COMPANY.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I ask to call up the bill (H. R. 9229) to incorporate the Washington and Georgetown Terminal Railway Company. I think this bill affects some portion of the streets in the eastern part of the city, and I ask that the bill be considered in the House as in Committee of the Whole.

There was no objection.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That E. Kurtz Johnson, E. Southard Parker, Samuel Ross, L. G. Hine, William A. Winstett, J. B. Rank, and Andrew B. Duvall, with their associates and assigns, be, and they are hereby, created a body corporate, under the title of the Washington and Georgetown Terminal Railway Company, and by that name shall have perpetual succession, and shall be able to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, and defend and be defended in all courts of equity, and may make and have a common seal and have the same altered at their pleasure.

Sec. 2. That the capital stock of the said company shall consist of 500 shares of $50 each, with the power to increase the same from time to time as may be necessary to carry out the purposes and objects of its charter, but not exceeding in all $50,000; that the said company be, and it is hereby, authorized to issue bonds and to secure the same by a mortgage on its property, right of way, and franchises; Provided, however, That the issue of bonds shall at no time exceed the amount of the paid-up capital stock of the said company.

Sec. 3. That within twenty days after the passage of this act, the incorporators named in the first section hereof, their associates, successors, and assigns, or a majority of them or if any of them refuse or neglect to act, a majority of the remainder shall receive subscriptions to the said capital stock at some convenient place in the District of Columbia, first giving ten days' notice of the opening of the books therefor by advertisement in a daily paper published in said District. Every subscriber shall pay at the time of subscribing 25 per cent of the amount by him subscribed, or his subscription shall be null and void and nothing shall be received in payment of the said subscription except lawful money or certified checks of a national bank. When the books of subscription of the said company shall have been closed, the incorporators named in the first section, their associates, successors, and assigns, or a majority of them, and in case any of them refuse or neglect to act, then a majority of the remainder shall, within twenty days thereafter, call a meeting of the stockholders of the said company to meet within ten days thereafter to choose directors, of which public notice shall be given for five days prior thereto in two daily newspapers published in the city of Washington; and at all meetings of the stockholders each share shall entitle the person holding the same to one vote, to be given in person or by proxy.

Sec. 4. That the government and direction of the affairs of the company shall be vested in a board of directors, seven in number, who shall be stockholders, and who shall hold office for one year, or until their successors are elected and qualified, and the said directors, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum, shall elect one of their number from the board to be president, and shall also choose a vice president, secretary, and treasurer, and each other officers as may be in their judgment, necessary to transact the business of the company. The said directors shall have the power to make and prescribe the needful by-laws, rules, and regulations for the government of the company, and shall fix the times for payment of the amounts due on subscriptions to the capital stock thereof.

Sec. 5. That there shall be an annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors, to be held at such time and place, and under such conditions, and upon such notice as the said by-laws may prescribe. The principal office of the said company shall be in Washington, but the company may establish offices at such other places as may be in its judgment necessary for the transaction of its business.

Sec. 6. That the said company shall have power, and is hereby authorized, to lay out, locate, construct, maintain, and operate a single or double track railroad in the District of Columbia, from a point at or near the north end of the Long Bridge over the Potomac River eastwardly and southwardly along Water street to K street, and thence on and along K street to a connection with the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad near Third street southeast to a point on the Eastern Branch of the said Potomac River in the city of Washington, with the power to make contracts, connections, and arrangements with other railroad companies in the said District of Columbia for the transportation of property and passengers over their roads, and the use thereof for such purposes, and to make leases with other connecting lines of railroad; and if the terms of such user and the compensations to be paid such roads for the transportation of property and passengers can not be agreed upon, then the same shall be fixed by the supreme court of the District of Columbia upon proper proceedings had therefor. That the said corporation shall have authority to build and maintain a dock or docks on the Potomac River in west Washington between New Hampshire avenue and the Aqueduct Bridge, and at other points on the Potomac River adjacent to the line of its road, and to receive thereat and send therefrom barges, vessels, cargoes, and railway cars from and to any point on the line of the railroad heretobefore authorized to be constructed, and from and to points on the Potomac River; and the said company shall have the power to build warehouses and depots at any point near the docks aforesaid, west of Twenty-seventh street and south of K street northwest in the said city of Washington and in west Washington, and at points along the line of its road, and to construct sidings, turn-outs, turntables, and switches necessary for the delivery of cars to said warehouses and depots and to connect the same with other railroads in west Washington, or Georgetown, and to cross any streets or alleys necessary for that purpose, and to operate the said road by steam, horse, or electric power.

The construction of said road and of the switches, sidings, and connections heretobefore authorized shall be under the supervision of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, who shall make such reasonable regulations as may be deemed proper to prevent the said railway company from unnecessarily obstructing any of the streets or tracks which its line of road may cross, and who may prescribe reasonable penalties for any violation of such regulations. Provided, That when the route of said road coincides with the duly authorized lines of any incorporated street railway of the District of Columbia, said company shall lay separate and independent tracks in the original construction of the said road whenever, in the judgment of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, it shall be deemed by them possible and practicable so to do. But whenever the foregoing route shall so coincide, either or both companies may use the same tracks when, on account of the width of the streets or for other sufficient reason, it shall be deemed by the Commissioners of the District to be practicable and necessary; and in such case they may use such tracks in common upon such fair and equitable terms as may be agreed upon by the said companies, and in the event said companies fail to agree upon equitable terms, either of the said companies may apply by petition to the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which shall hear and determine the matter in due form of law and adjudge to the proper party the amount of compensation to be paid therefor. Said railway shall be constructed of good materials and in a substantial manner, with the rails laid upon an even surface with the pavement of the street, with the gauge to correspond with that of the steam roads located in the District of Columbia, all to be approved by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

Sec. 7. That if the said corporation can not agree with the owner or owners for the purchase, use, or occupation of land for the right of way, or any other property adjacent to the said road and required for its construction or improvement from time to time, and for its depots and other purposes, in connection with the use of said road or necessary for the enjoyment of the powers herein granted, the said property may be acquired by the said company in the manner provided by sections numbered 648 to 653, both inclusive, of the Revised Statutes relating to the District of Columbia; condemnation of property in west Washington shall be confined to property west of Thirty-second street and east of Thirty-sixth street; but nothing herein contained shall authorize the condemnation of any church or school property. And provided further, That the construction of the said road shall be commenced within one year and finished within three years after the passage of this act, unless prevented by legal proceedings or other matters beyond the control of the said company.

Sec. 8. That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed, and Congress hereby reserves the right to alter, amend, or repeal this act.

The amendments recommended by the committee were read, as follows:

In act in the seventh line of section 6, after the word "a," the words "connection with the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad near Third street southeast" and in the twenty-ninth line, same section, after the word "street," by the insertion of the words "northwest in the said city of Washington and," and in the thirty-second line of same section, after the word "or," by the insertion of the words "west Washington," and in the seventh section, eleventh line, after the word "Columbia," by the insertion of the words "condemnation of property in west Washington shall be confined to property west of Thirty-second street and east of Thirty-sixth street," and in section 8 line 1 all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed and.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the amendments will be considered as agreed to. [After a pause.] The chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

The bill as amended was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, and being engrossed, it was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

On motion of Mr. RUSK, a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was passed was laid on the table.

SPECIAL TAXES IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the bill S. 3383, which has been reported, but the report has not been taken by the Clearing House Association last month (January), when ten banks out of the twenty-six voted to rescind the order passed unanimously in May last, is evidence that the law is not working satisfactorily by at least strong minority of the banks, and we are satisfied that the dissatisfaction is general among the depositors of all the banks.

Very respectfully, yours,

CHAS. W. DORSEY, Cashier.

C. P. DAVENPORT, Esq., Cashier, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Speaker, I have had these letters read to show what the leading bankers of Baltimore think of this new Saturday half-holiday. They have only had such a law since last April, and express their dissatisfaction in this strong and terse language, and show that already ten of the twenty-six banks demand the repeal of the law; ten of the banks that petitioned for its passage less than a year ago demand its repeal. And I have heard this half-holiday condemned in this city, not only by bankers, but by some of the most prominent men in the District of Columbia; but I do not care now to name them. I could do so. The law now proposed and the present law is substantially the law in Baltimore which these bankers condemn, and it is a law which will be condemned by others when it has had a trial in this District.

I have seen other letters of a similar character from prominent officers of banks in the city of Baltimore, but these are the most outspoken. I remember that some of them state that they intend to go in a body to the next Legislature and urge the repeal of the law, and the fact that ten of the Baltimore banks have already voted in the clearing house in favor of repealing the law, shows that the law is not satisfactory, and if not satisfactory in Baltimore, why should it be satisfactory in the District of Columbia?

This is all that I care to say in regard to the dissatisfaction which has already arisen from this Saturday half-holiday law in the city of Baltimore. I think the law which it is proposed to amend here ought to be repealed. It was passed without such consideration and inquiry as a law of this importance ought to have. I have been able to learn the name of but one banker in the District of Columbia who ever asked for the passage of this law. Without at present going further, I ask to have this amendment adopted, reserving the balance of my time to speak further in regard to the matter. I propose now to amend this law so that it shall be applicable only to the summer months, as it is in Pennsylvania.

In that State a half-holiday is provided for banks and trust companies from June 15 to September 15, three months, and in that State the law is discretionary, leaving it in all cases to the directors whether they will observe the law or not, and in the letters which I have seen it has been suggested that the Baltimore law which we are proposing to try here in the District of Columbia might do very well for the hot months when very little business is done. If the law is extended through all the year, as is now proposed in this city, there are thousands of people who will be greatly inconvenienced. In fact, Mr. Speaker, this is a law for the benefit of the bank clerks only. I have been spoken to by a number of citizens on this subject, probably for the reason that I am connected with one of the banks. I am not a banker, Mr. Speaker, or a paid official in any bank, and only express my own opinion and may be mistaken, but this is the way I view it.

There are thousands of men in this city who transact business on Saturday afternoons, who pay out and receive money, who pay their employes with checks, and who receive bank checks in the business, builders whose pay rolls are made out and whose hands are paid off on Saturday afternoon, and who want to have access to the banks to get those checks paid. To show the extent of the business in this city I have been handed the following statement, which I will read:

Number of stores, &c., in Washington, D. C., 1909.

[List made up from city directories.]

Bacon and lard	48	Meat market	41
Bakery shops	229	Milk dealers	120
Beer companies	5	Musicians	40

House furnishers	31	Miscellaneous	700
Ice dealers	17
Junk dealers	19
Laundry	76
Lawyers	691
		Grand total	7,114

This statement shows that there are 7,114 places of business in the city of Washington, and it seems to me that it will be an unnecessary and an unfortunate blow at the business of Washington to allow the banks to close when every other kind of business is carried on Saturday afternoon as on other days. Banks are supposed to be for the accommodation of the public, and I do not see why they should be compelled by Congress to close or permitted to close. Not only this, but the census reports show that Washington City paid out in wages for manufacturing over $11,000,000 in a single year.

Now, Mr. Speaker, reserving the balance of my time, I offer an amendment which is intended to make this law correspond with the law of Pennsylvania and of some other States.

The amendment was read, as follows:

On page 8, line 8, after the word "Saturday," insert the words "from and including the 15th day of June to and including the 15th day of September."

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I want to say only a word about this. A short time ago the Congress of the United States passed a law providing for a half-holiday for banks and other institutions in the cities of Washington and Georgetown. In the transcribing of that law some inaccuracy occurred, so that it is not exactly what we expected it would be. When it passed the House it was intended, I believe, to leave the matter of closing somewhat in the discretion of the banks, but that was changed in the Senate and the change was not noticed when the bill came back to the House.

This bill proposes to make clear what the purpose of the law is with reference to these institutions. Now, the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR] proposes to amend the law so as to confine its operation to three months during the summer. As I understand it, the institutions here are all opposed to that, and I trust, therefore, that the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio will not be adopted.

Mr. SCOTT. Do the proposed amendments that are now pending make it discretionary with the banks whether they shall close or not?

Mr. HEMPHILL. No, sir. The law is that they shall close, and this proposed amendment is simply designed to make the purpose of the law clear. I will say further that the amendment provides for the whole of the District of Columbia instead of merely the cities of Washington and Georgetown.

The question was taken on the amendment of Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR; and the Speaker declared that the yeas seemed to have it.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I withdraw that amendment and propose another.

The amendment was read, as follows:

Page 3, strike out after the word "amended," and insert the words "repealed," so that it will read: "That section 1 of an act of Congress approved December 22, 1902, entitled 'An act making Saturday a half-holiday for banks, and trust company purposes in the District of Columbia,' be, and it is hereby, repealed."

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I think the existing law on this subject ought to be repealed, for two or three reasons. In the first place, it is special legislation, made only for the benefit of a special class, made only for the benefit of the bank clerks of the city of Washington. And in this respect it has been a failure elsewhere. Only a few days ago you passed through this House a provision of law extending from seven to eight hours the time during which the clerks in the Government Departments must work daily, requiring them to work not only eight hours per day, but six days in every week, excepting legal holidays.

Now, I want to know why Congress should pass a law for the special benefit of the bank clerks of the city of Washington when such a law operates to the disadvantage of all the other kinds of business in the city; why should the clerks in all the Departments and in all the business houses of the city be deprived of this luxury? Where is the consistency? Why should such a demand as this be made upon us? Is it because the committee has so decided?

This law will be a dead letter, as it is in Baltimore. I have had read in the hearing of the House letters from the cashiers of prominent banks in the city of Baltimore stating that a law similar to this, passed by the Legislature of Maryland, is a dead letter in that city, and that the banks continue open on Saturday until 3 o'clock. This has been found to be a necessity. Saturday afternoon is the busiest half day in the whole week. Men are paid their wages on that day; and those receiving checks require the money for them during the day. I can not see the necessity for such a law. We have no such law in Ohio. Only a few States have any such a law. It is special legislation for the benefit of the few to the disadvantage of the many. Closing the bank doors in this city at the hour of 12 o'clock will prove a disadvantage to the general public if I am not grievously mistaken.

Bankers in Philadelphia and other cities of Pennsylvania, and in different States where Saturday afternoon has been made a holiday during the summer months only, say that the measure has not proved satisfactory, for the reason that the forenoon is too short to finish up the business of the day and much of that business goes over. Much of the business of Saturday, together with the business letters which arrive during Sunday, must be attended to during Monday; thus the business of Monday is so great that the bank clerks are overworked instead of being benefited, by reason of the accumulation of business which requires attention on Monday, and when Monday is a legal holiday the business of Saturday goes over till Tuesday.

I want to be fair and just in this matter. If it be desired proper to have such a half-holiday here as they have in New York—a Saturday half-holiday—let a bill of that kind be passed, but let us not have a half-holiday on Saturday for bank clerks and not for other clerks. Think of the girls who are employed, hundreds of them, in the large stores of this city, who go there at 7 or 8 o'clock in the morning and work till 9 o'clock on Saturday night. You do not propose any relief for them, but you propose relief for the bank clerks, who go to their banks at 9 o'clock and are out long before the clerks in the stores are released.

I have never heard but one argument in favor of this bill, and that is that in some of the large banks the business is so great that the clerks are detained late on Saturday evening. Still, I went into the Washington Loan and Trust Company building of this city, a week or two since on Saturday. It was about the hour of 1 o'clock, and I noticed that every clerk had left the bank and the janitor was cleaning the rooms. It had not taken the clerks very long to get out of the building after the clock struck 12 on that Saturday.

Mr. HEARD. Will the gentleman allow me a question?

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. Certainly.

Mr. HEARD. I ask the gentleman whether within his knowledge the business men generally of this city have made any protest against this arrangement?

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I have not talked with a business man of Washington, who was not a banker, who did not protest against the half holiday. I have not spoken to any one about it who did not first speak to me.

Mr. HEARD. Does the gentleman know any banker in this city except himself representing the Ohio National Bank, who is opposing this measure?

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker.

Mr. HEARD. The gentleman is president, as I understand, of the Ohio National Bank; and according to my information, derived from the committee which waited on our committee, and which represented the banks of the District, the bank of which the gentleman from Ohio is president is the only institution in the city which is opposed to this measure.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. The gentleman is very much mistaken.

Mr. HEARD. Well, I make that statement upon the authority of the committee which waited upon the District Committee, a committee headed by Messrs. Stevens, Johnston, and Martindale, and others, representing these banking institutions. That is the information which the Committee on the District of Columbia has.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. The president of one of the large banks in this city said a few days ago that he had received a letter from the cashier of one of the Baltimore banks, who called it, as he says, a "devilish holiday," and I know what he thinks about it. I know that the bankers of the city have signed a resolution asking that Congress pass this amendment, and the reason given for this is that the present law can not be repealed. I will ask the gentleman whether he knows of any banker in this city, except one, that ever requested the passage of this law? I mean the original law.

Mr. HEARD. Yes, sir.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. Will you give the names?

Mr. HEARD. The District Committee was waited upon by some gentlemen, one of whom, as I remember very well, was B. H. Warner, the president of the Columbia Bank.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. What other banker asked the passage of this law? I know Mr. Warner had done so.

Mr. HEARD. Mr. Johnston, of the Riggs Bank; Mr. Stevens, the president of the West End Bank, and some three or four or five other gentlemen, constituting a committee representing the banks of this city, were before our committee within the last few weeks. And they stated positively to the committee that the bank of which the gentleman from Ohio now addressing the House is the president is the only one in the city of Washington that is opposed to the adoption of this measure.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I will say to the gentleman that it is probably because of my connection with one of the banks of the city, that I am so much opposed to this measure.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. HEARD. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. I am not a banker, and I am not connected with any bank in this city.

law, and all ought to have the same right to remain open, and all ought to remain open or closed. I do not want any bank that I am connected with to have any advantage whatever over any other bank, and my request for the repeal of this law is in order, that I may put myself on record as entering my protest against it, not because the repeal can possibly be of any benefit to me, but because I believe the law is unjust and will be a failure, and that the next Congress will be asked to repeal it inside the next twelve months. It is because I think this half holiday is wrong, wrong in principle and inconvenient in practice, but if it shall turn out otherwise no one will approve it more than I will.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I only want to state that there is a law already in the District upon this subject. It is very imperfect and this is simply to perfect the law. There is no provision here fixing any penalty of any kind. The banks can remain open as long as they want to. The only thing is that it fixes the mode and time of protest, etc., providing that if a bank closes upon Saturday at 12 o'clock, that protest can be made or notes paid on the following Monday, etc. It is not a matter of any great consequence. It is simply clearing up a statute that is already in existence, and I hope we will have a vote upon it. I will be gratified either way the House votes.

Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, one thing I overlooked. One of the objections to this law is that it is unlike any law in any State in this Union. It will unsettle the law as to millions of dollars of money that have been loaned to residents of the District. The laws of New York, Maryland, and New Jersey, and the other States which have this provision, are altogether different. This law proposes to be applicable to paper made before the passage of the law.

None of the other States have attempted to apply the law to paper made before the passage of the law. They all say "made after the passage of this act." That is the language used in every State which has up to this hour attempted to make a Saturday half-holiday. This law proposes to make it applicable to paper whether made in the District or out of the District, whether made before or after the passage of this act, and in my judgment it will unsettle the law and involve people in litigation.

I wish to yield a moment to the gentleman from New York [Mr. WEVER].

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from South Carolina yielded to the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR].

Mr. HEMPHILL. I will yield to the gentleman from New York [Mr. WEVER].

Mr. WEVER. Mr. Speaker, we are enjoying this half-holiday law in the State of New York, and my experience is that it is an unmitigated nuisance in every way, shape and manner, not only for the banker, but for the depositor and the business man. A great deal of fault is found with it by depositors and business men, more even than by the bankers.

The difficulty with us—I do not know whether it exists as to this law here—is that we do not dare to remain open after the hour that the law requires us to close, because there is danger, then to the bank in making its payments of checks. The trouble is that the law we are obliged to close, and the people generally who deal with banks are very angry indeed about the law and they blame the bankers, and think the bankers had something to do with getting it passed. The law is not in the interest of the bankers, and is very far from being in the interest of depositors or business men.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I only want to say I have a paper here signed by twenty-five or twenty-six banking institutions in this city, asking that this bill be passed in the interest of their employees, and to make the law certain. That is all they ask. Whether it has operated well outside of the District, as shown by the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR], is not a matter of any concern.

I call for the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the amendment offered by the gentleman from Ohio.

The Clerk read as follows:

Strike out all after the word "amended," and insert the word "repealed," so that it will read:

"That section 1 of the act of Congress approved December 22, 1892, entitled 'an act making Saturday a half holiday for banking and trust company purposes,' be and is hereby repealed."

Mr. HEMPHILL. Is that the amendment of the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR]?

The SPEAKER. This is the amendment of the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. JOSEPH D. TAYLOR] for the repeal of the law.

The amendment was rejected.

The joint resolution was ordered to a third reading, and was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

REGULATING THE SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The SPEAKER. Before the gentleman from South Carolina [Mr. HEMPHILL] calls up another bill, the Chair desires to call the attention of the House to an amendment to the bill regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia which was passed a few moments ago. The gentleman from New York [Mr. CAMPBELL] submitted an amendment, which was agreed to, which provided "that an applicant who was heretofore adjudged guilty, should not again be granted a license." The language does not fit well to the text of the bill.

The gentleman from Maine [Mr. DINGLEY] suggests the insertion of the words "since the passage of the act," so that it will read that "such applicant has never since the passage of the act been adjudged guilty," etc. Without objection the amendment suggested by the gentleman from Maine, which is approved by the gentleman from New York [Mr. CAMPBELL], and which seems to make the matter more plain, will be agreed to.

There was no objection.

WASHINGTON AND ARLINGTON RAILROAD COMPANY.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I have in my hand House bill 9651 reported to the House, but the report has not as yet been printed. I ask to call it up and to offer the substitute reported by the committee.

The SPEAKER. When was this report made?

Mr. MEREDITH. It was made on Saturday.

The SPEAKER. There seems to be no printed report with this bill.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I stated that there was no report with it.

Mr. MEREDITH. I asked permission to submit the report on Saturday last. That permission was given, the report was handed in, it went to the Printer, and I am informed that they are looking for it here every moment.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the original bill.

Mr. HEMPHILL. Mr. Speaker, I will have to ask that this bill be considered in Committee of the Whole. It relates to the Aqueduct bridge.

Mr. HOLMAN. Let the bill be reported first.

The SPEAKER. On what Calendar is the bill? The bill has not been printed at all as reported. [After a pause.] There seems to be no print of this bill as reported.

Mr. MEREDITH. I asked leave to report it on Saturday.

The SPEAKER. There is no point of it here. The Clerk has got the original papers.

Mr. HEMPHILL. There is a mistake somewhere then.

The SPEAKER. It was referred to the House Calendar, the Journal states.

Mr. HOLMAN. Let it go over.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the original bill.

Mr. HEMPHILL. For the original bill we propose a substitute.

The SPEAKER. But the House has to know what it is proposed to be a substitute for.

Mr. HOLMAN. If there is no report accompanying this bill, it should go over.

The SPEAKER. There is no report.

Mr. HEMPHILL. If the gentleman from Indiana objects to this, of course we can not go on.

Mr. HOLMAN. I think we ought to have the report.

Mr. MEREDITH. The report is not printed yet.

Mr. HOLMAN. What is the bill?

Mr. LIVINGSTON. There is no bill.

Mr. HEMPHILL. The bill is printed.

The SPEAKER. The matter is not before the House except by unanimous consent.

Mr. HEMPHILL. I will have to withdraw the bill.

Mr. HOLMAN. I do not interpose any objection.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from South Carolina asks unanimous consent for the present consideration of this bill.

Mr. OUTWATE. Let the bill be put subject to objection.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the original bill.

The Clerk read as follows:

Read and felt. That section 1 of the act to incorporate the Washington and Arlington Railroad Company of the District of Columbia approved February 28, 1891, be, and hereby is amended by striking out all after the words "from Virginia avenue northwest," to the words "and provided that so much of" and inserting the following words: "to street north west; thence along G street to a point on the northern shore of the Potomac River, thence by a first-class street and ferryboat to the shore of Annapolis Island, thence across said island by such route as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall approve to the waters of the Potomac River, thence by a bridge or causeway to be built by said company to the Virginia shore of said Potomac River; thence by such route as the Secretary of War shall approve to Rosslyn, and from thence by an trolley or trolley line as may be selected by the said company with the approval of the Secretary of War to the north west corner of the Arlington cemetery, and thence through the Arlington estate outside of the cemetery grounds to the city of Washington, to be located in the State of Virginia, Provided, That no company shall not operate any part of its line within the limits of the city of Washington by electric power with overhead wires, Provided, That should any part of the track herein authorized or any part of the same street or avenue with any other duly incorporated street railway in the District of Columbia, but one set of tracks shall be used, and the relative advantages of use and of chartered rights may be adjusted upon terms to be mutually agreed upon between the companies, or, in case of disagreement, by the supreme court of the District of Columbia on peti-

SENATE.

TUESDAY, February 11, 1893.

The Senate met at 12 o'clock m.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. J. G. BUTLER, D. D.

The Journal of yesterday's proceedings was read and approved.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The VICE-PRESIDENT announced his signature to the following enrolled bills, which had previously received the signature of the Speaker of the House:

A bill (H. R. 3627) to grant to the Gainesville, Oklahoma, and Gulf Railway Company a right of way through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes;

A bill (H. R. 3527) to restore to the public domain a portion of the White Mountain Apache Indian Reservation, in the Territory of Arizona, and for other purposes; and

A bill (H. R. 9786) authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Monongahela River, at West Elizabeth, in the State of Pennsylvania.

HOUSE BILL REFERRED.

The bill (H. R. 983) to create a board of charities, etc., in the District of Columbia, was read twice by its title and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

BRIGHTWOOD RAILWAY COMPANY.

The bill (H. R. 9739) to amend the charter of the Brightwood Railway Company of the District of Columbia, was read twice by its title.

Mr. McMILLAN. A similar bill was reported by the Senate Committee on the District of Columbia, and is now on the Calendar. The House bill is satisfactory to our committee. The objection the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] had to the Senate bill has been removed by this bill.

Mr. FAULKNER. The Senator from Michigan is satisfied that the bill as passed by the other House does not interfere with the matter to which I called his attention?

Mr. McMILLAN. I am. It does not interfere with it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Michigan desire the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. McMILLAN. Yes; I ask for its present consideration.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be read.

After reading, the Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the bill as in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. HALE. In the confusion I could get from the reading very little idea of what the bill covers. I do not even know what examination it has had. Was the bill reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia?

Mr. McMILLAN. I will state to the Senator that a bill was reported from our committee that is exactly the same as the House bill now before the Senate, except that in the bill reported by the committee the company desired to go farther on through Takoma Park, crossing the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, and so to the District line. That provision was stricken out by the other House. The bill is now entirely satisfactory to the committee and to the railroad people. It is an amendment to the charter of the Brightwood Railroad, which runs up Seventh street, and I think is an improvement to the road, and so to the public. It gives facilities for travel to a great many people who would not have them if the bill is not passed. It connects with the Fourteenth-street road, so that passengers can go from the Treasury Department direct to the Soldiers' Home or to Takoma Park.

Mr. HALE. Does the bill practically confiscate any more of our public highways to the use of electric cars?

Mr. McMILLAN. No; the road is kept out of the main streets. The streets over which these branches are to run are streets not now in use, and no objections have been made to the bill as it now stands. Each of the branches are on streets not really opened, but which are just being put through private lands. The bill has been amended to meet every objection raised against it, and the routes are the ones suggested by the District Commissioners.

Mr. HALE. What is to be the motive power?

Mr. McMILLAN. The motive power is the trolley system. It is outside of the city limits, beyond Florida avenue.

Mr. HALE. And it does not run either upon or adjacent to any great line of public travel?

Mr. McMILLAN. It does not.

Mr. HALE. Does it cross any?

Mr. McMILLAN. The original road goes to Brightwood, on Brightwood avenue, which is an extension of Seventh street. It also runs through Brightwood to the District line, with a branch to Takoma Park. The present bill provides for two other branches, one to the Eagle gate of the Soldiers' Home, through the Petworth subdivision, the other to the Fourteenth street line of the Washington and Georgetown Railroad, so that passengers on that line can have a direct route instead of going by the roundabout way of the Seventh street line.

Mr. HALE. This road crosses the Fourteenth street line.

Mr. McMILLAN. No; the branch connects with the Fourteenth street line. Neither branch crosses any large avenue.

Mr. HALE. I can only say that the most any of us can do, who are interested in the District and in its prosperity, is to watch these bills, and we have got to trust somebody to preserve something for the general traveling public and not give up everything to these railroad companies. Primarily we have got to trust the District or Columbia Committee. If the chairman of that committee, who is a good business man, a good legislator, and is faithfully seeking to preserve the rights of the public, has examined this question and is satisfied that it gives no undue privileges that will interfere with public travel, I can say nothing more about it.

It is a most unfortunate thing, Mr. President, that gradually we are becoming conformed in every direction by the electric car system of one company and another. A large part of the comfort and pleasure which people take and will take in the future in driving about this beautiful city is being cut off. I wish to urge the Senator from Michigan, who is chairman of the District Committee, to be watchful day and night of all these schemes.

Mr. McMILLAN. I will state in answer to the Senator from Maine, that I have always made it a point to drive over the streets myself and see just exactly where a proposed road is to be built, and ascertain whether it does interfere with the drives of Washington. I can assure the Senator that these branches do not do so, and that they will be a great convenience to the public.

Mr. HALE. Is the clause of repeal that is commonly put in such bills, as safeguarding them, contained in this measure?

Mr. McMILLAN. Yes, sir. It is contained in the last section.

Mr. HALE. That is found in the bill?

Mr. McMILLAN. It is found in the original act. This is simply adding to the main act, giving the company certain rights. The original act provides that the charter may be amended or repealed.

Mr. HALE. This is subject to the same restrictions?

Mr. McMILLAN. It is subject to the same restrictions.

Mr. MORRILL. I desire to ask the chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia whether this is a cable or an electric road?

Mr. McMILLAN. It is an electric road, outside of the city borders.

Mr. MORRILL. I wish to say that the cable roads where they go around circles have not been laid in any scientific manner. They are laid so as to make in dry weather a perpetual screech. It is a real nuisance wherever they go around a circle, because the rails have not been placed so as to avoid a continuous noise. I think, perhaps, the fault is that one rail ought to have been laid lower than the other. Certainly there is some way to prevent it; either to keep it oiled or in some other way. I notice that whenever there is snow on the ground or when it rains the noise ceases. I merely call the attention of the Senator from Michigan as chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia to this matter, which I think ought really to be looked into.

Mr. McMILLAN. I will state to the Senator from Vermont that I will call the attention of the president of that company to the fault around the circles.

Mr. HOAR. I should like to have the clause in regard to the right of Congress to repeal the act read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It will be read.

Mr. McMILLAN. It is section 6.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

SEC. 6. This act shall be considered as an amendment to the act approved October 15, 1887, granting a charter to the Brightwood Railway Company, and shall be construed as being subject to all the powers, privileges, limitations, and conditions of said original act, except as specifically provided otherwise herein.

Mr. HOAR. Is this an amendment to that act to go back to the other House?

Mr. McMILLAN. It is an amendment to that act. It is a House bill which has just come over.

Mr. HOAR. Has it been amended in any way?

Mr. McMILLAN. No; it is an original bill of the other House.

Mr. HOAR. Do I understand that the committee propose to amend the bill?

Mr. McMILLAN. We do not propose to amend it.

Mr. HOAR. I should like to have the provision referred to there also read.

Mr. McMILLAN. In the original act?

Mr. HOAR. Yes. The bill does not contain any clause reserving the absolute power of Congress to amend, alter, or repeal unless it is contained in the clause which has just been read referring to another act. I should like to have that read from the first act.

Mr. McMILLAN. I will procure it and hand it to the Senator. He desires to have that put into the bill.

Mr. HOAR. I desire to have it inserted, unless it is already in.

Mr. McMILLAN. It is in the original act. I have not the original act here. It is in every bill of the kind. There is no objection to such an amendment.

Mr. HOAR. I move to amend the bill by adding a new section, as follows:

This act may be altered, amended, or repealed by Congress at any time, in its discretion.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and a concurrence was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

CALIFORNIA AVENUE.

The bill (H. R. 10029) to narrow California avenue within Blair Heights, District of Columbia, was read twice by its title.

Mr. McMILLAN. I will state that the same bill, word for word, has passed the Senate. I ask for the present consideration of the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be read for information.

After reading, the Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the bill as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the bill (S. 977) for the relief of B. F. Rockafellow.

The message also announced that the House had agreed to the amendments to the Senate to the bill (H. R. 9612) to amend section 833 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to semiannual returns of fees by district attorneys, marshals, and clerks.

The message further announced that the House had passed the following bills: in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate:

A bill (H. R. 9229) to incorporate the Washington and Georgetown Terminal Railway Company;

A bill (H. R. 19285) to amend the charter of the District of Columbia Suburban Railway Company;

A bill (H. R. 10394) to incorporate the American University; and

A bill (H. R. 10489) to amend the act of May 6, 1890, fixing the rate of interest to be charged on arrearages of general and special taxes now due the District of Columbia, and for other purposes.

The message also communicated to the Senate resolutions of the House commemorative of the life and services of Hon. EDWARD F. McDONALD, late a Representative from the State of New Jersey.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 9923) making appropriations for fortifications and other works of defense, for the armament thereof, for the procurement of heavy ordnance for trial and service, and for other purposes; and

A bill (H. R. 10209) to ratify and confirm an agreement made between the Seneca Nation of Indians and William B. Barker.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

Mr. WILSON presented petitions of Protection Lodge, No. 137, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of Eldon, Iowa, and of Iron Molders' Union, No. 224, of Burlington, Iowa, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

He also presented memorials of the United Presbyterian Church of Guernsey; of the First Baptist Church of Antrim, and of the Presbyterian Church of Carroll, all in the State of Iowa, remonstrating against the repeal of the law closing the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. QUAY presented petitions of citizens of Philadelphia, Freedom, Pittsburg, Allegheny, Wilkesburg, Conemaugh, Franklin, Johnstown, Gettysburg, and West Chester, Pa., and of Mars, Meigs, Monroe, and Morgan counties, West Virginia, praying for the opening of the World's Columbian Exposition on Sunday; which were referred to the Committee on the Quadro-Centennial (Select).

Mr. SHOUP, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom were referred the following bills, reported adversely thereon, and they were postponed indefinitely:

A bill (S. 1634) to provide for a final settlement with the Naaleam band of the Tillamook tribe of Indians, of Oregon, in accordance with a certain agreement between the United States and the said Indians, dated the 6th day of August, 1851; and

A bill (S. 1635) to provide for a final settlement with the Tillamook tribe of Indians, of Oregon, in accordance with a certain agreement between the United States and the said Indians, dated the 7th day of August, 1851.

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. MANDERSON, January 25, intended to be proposed to the Indian appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN, from the Committee on Finance, reported an amendment in respect to United States bonds, intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MORRILL, from the Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the bill (S. 873) to establish an assay office at Baker City, in the State of Oregon, reported it without amendment.

Mr. DAWES, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. DEBOIS February 11, intended to be proposed to the Indian appropriation bill, reported it favorably and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was recommitted the bill (H. R. 3594) for the relief of the Stockbridge and Munsee tribe of Indians in the State of Wisconsin, reported it without amendment.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I present the views of the minority of the Committee on Indian Affairs on the bill (S. 3392) to ratify and confirm an agreement entered into in March, 1892, between the Indians of the Rosebud Agency and certain Indians of the Lower Brule Agency, both in South Dakota, and for other purposes, of which I gave notice some days since.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The views of the minority will be printed with the report of the majority.

Mr. SQUIRE, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by himself, February 13, intended to be proposed to the deficiency appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations and be printed; which was agreed to.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONER OF LABOR.

Mr. MANDERSON, from the Committee on Printing, to whom was referred the following concurrent resolution of the Senate, submitted by him on the 10th instant, reported it without amendment, and it was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring). That there be printed 35,000 additional copies, in cloth binding, of the eighth annual report of the Commissioner of Labor, relating to industrial education in the United States and Europe; 16,000 copies for the use of the members of the House of Representatives, 8,000 copies for the use of the members of the Senate, and 11,000 copies for distribution by the Department of Labor.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. MANDERSON introduced a bill (S. 3864) for the relief of John M. Burks, James Manning, and C. S. Waite; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. MANDERSON. The committee on the bill for an appropriation for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, have reported to the Senate a bill which is substantially the same as the bill reported by the House, with the exception of a few amendments. The committee have agreed to the bill, and I have the honor to report it to the Senate.

There are one or two matters connected with the bill which I should like to call your attention to. The first is upon agreeing to the conference report. The Senate has agreed upon the bill, after very full consideration, and in favor of it, an amendment proposed by the Committee on Military Affairs, which it was urged was a necessity for the support of the military service. It was an amendment raising the pay of noncommissioned officers, particularly sergeants. The strange anomaly might not exist that private soldiers of the Army, who are so directly responsible for their superior training and drilling of the Army.

I should like to ask concerning that amendment, which is at the desk, and if there is disagreement to that that we may be informed, or if there is change in it that we may receive information upon that subject.

Mr. STEWART. I can state the change. The pay of sergeants is, I think, $22 now, and it was increased by the amendment to $30. That was changed by inserting $20 in the place of $22. We did not agree to the full extent of the Senate amendment. In other respects the amendment is unchanged. The Senate inserted $25 for $30 in the amendment making the Senate agree to the bill.

Mr. MANDERSON. I would like to ask the Senate whether he is aware of the fact that by the report of the Committee on Military Affairs of the Senate, I think also by the action of the Committee on Military Affairs of the other House, the recent action was taken that the sergeants' pay should be $34 a month, and that the sergeants' compromise at $30 a month was one of the things that was not only to the House Committee on Military Affairs, but also to the conference on the part of the House in charge of the bill.

I greatly fear sometimes that, notwithstanding the expression and very decided action on the part of the Senate and in making this remark I do not mean to say that the Senate confers, but I do mean to say that the Senate confers, and I think this is such an important matter that it is worth holding and perhaps it is worth holding and perhaps it is worth holding where the Senate confers, and I think the wishes expressed by the Senate in the report of the committee holding another report of the Senate, and I think in form as proposed, and I think in form as proposed, which we certainly of the Committee on Military Affairs concluded from what they have said that the Senate as was the Senate when it gave the report of the committee of the amendment?

Mr. STEWART. I think that if we raise the pay to $25 at this session perhaps the rest can be procured at another session.

Mr. MANDERSON. No; we want it now.

Mr. STEWART. The conference committee have reported otherwise, and they were unanimous. I do not propose to discuss what occurred in the conference and to tell how each man stood.

Mr. MANDERSON. No; I do not ask that.

Mr. STEWART. That I can not do. But the conferees on the part of the Senate have done their best to carry out the wishes of the Senate. If the Senate are dissatisfied with the report they can reject it and have another conference.

Mr. BATE. Will the Senator from Nevada allow me a word?

Mr. STEWART. Certainly.

Mr. BATE. There are several things in the report that I can not for one understand, and I am a member of the Committee on Military Affairs. I not only fail to understand the action of the conferees on the point made by the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON], but also in regard to the Signal Service, striking out lieutenant-colonel and leaving the service as it is in regard to the general who is now at the head of it. All of these are important matters, and I can not get the drift of them from the report. I suggest the propriety of having it printed and let it lie over until to-morrow or some other day. I hope the suggestion will meet the approbation of the Senator from Nevada.

Mr. STEWART. I have no objection to that course. I would rather that the Senate should look at the report.

Mr. BATE. I ask that that be done.

Mr. ALLISON. Before the report passes over, I should like to say a few words in response to the suggestions that have been made respecting the report, and especially the suggestion made by the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON], that possibly the Senate conferees did not, with that tenacity of purpose which should have characterized them, insist on certain amendments.

I desire to say respecting these amendments, in the first place, that they had no part or parcel or place in this bill. It was distinct and separate legislation that should have been considered by the two Houses independently.

Mr. MANDERSON. So it has been.

Mr. ALLISON. It should not have been placed upon an appropriation bill. The Committee on Appropriations let the amendments go on the bill at the urgent request of the Committee on Military Affairs, with the understanding and statement that there was no objection to the amendments in either House, and if they were put on here the effect would be to make an important improvement in the Army. With that understanding I for one, as a member of the Committee on Appropriations, consented that the amendments should go upon the bill, and I waived the point of order which I had a right to make. The reason, as an argument in favor of two amendments to the bill, it was stated that the amendment relating to the enlistment of persons in the Army, which required that they should be 30 years of age and should not enlist more than once, would save a large sum of money in the future as respects the Army, and that that amendment taken in connection with the other amendment respecting the sergeants, would result in a considerable reduction in the expenditures of the Government for the Army.

Those two amendments were put upon the bill together as a part of one scheme. Having been told that the amendment respecting the enlistment of soldiers was one that met with approval in both Houses, when we went into conference we were met on the part of the House conferees with an insistence that the first amendment should be practically disregarded by the insertion of clauses that came to them and not from the War Department and the Adjutant-General, nullifying practically the whole provision respecting the enlistment of soldiers in the Army. They wanted us to yield all the saving which we were told would be made by the two amendments together.

I agree that the conferees upon the part of the House of Representatives would perhaps have accepted the proposition, and I may go further and say that they probably would have yielded the $30 a month pay to sergeants, but I submit that it is unjust and unjust to this body to put amendments upon the bill reducing expenditures and then in conference to change those amendments so as to increase expenditures.

I have no objection to the report going over. I have no objection to the report being voted down by the Senate if the conferees, as has been intimated by the Senator from Nebraska, have not done their duty in the premises. I care nothing respecting this matter. I want the question whether we shall raise the pay of the soldiers of the Army, whether they be first sergeants or second sergeants, to be submitted to the two Houses of Congress in open session for their vote, and not upon an appropriation bill which must pass within the next ten days.

Mr. STEWART. I should like to state that if the report is referred back to the committee of conference I for one shall be in favor of raising the point of order and leaving the whole of this legislation off the bill, if there is such disagreement about it. It can only go on by waiving the point of order. There is considerable already done by the conferees in this bill in the line desired by the Senator from Nebraska, but if we are to delay time on these questions and if they are going to raise discussion, they are subject to the point of order, and the only course we shall have to pursue will be to leave them off the bill.

Mr. MANDERSON. Mr. President, I do not think it is a waste of the time of the Senate that the Senate shall insist that its conferees shall with determination insist in conference upon that which the Senate places upon appropriation bills. This is the second conference report upon an appropriation bill that has come to us at the present session of Congress. There was a little inclination to reflect somewhat upon the action had in the conference on the fortifications appropriation bill, but that was passed by without much complaint. This is the entering wedge of that which is to occupy the Senate during the remainder of the session. We are either to keep our mouths closed or we are to be reflected upon and declared to be unjust because those of us interested in items upon appropriation bills insist that there shall not be a speedy giving way of that which is placed upon the bills by the Senate.

This amendment is not subject to any point of order, as suggested by the Senator from Nevada, and it was not subject to the raising of a point of order when it was presented, as declared now by the Senator from Iowa. The amendment came under the rules of the Senate, based upon legislation had in this body and based upon legislation had in the House of Representatives, both Houses having expressed their desire but not having met by bill. The amendment was introduced under the rules by the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. It passed to the proper committee for the consideration of questions of that character. It went to the Committee on Military Affairs, and it received from that committee unanimous report in its favor. Having thus paved its way under the rules it was not subject to a point of order, as suggested by the Senator from Iowa, for it is not in the character of general legislation upon an appropriation bill.

Mr. ALLISON. It is, absolutely, and nothing else.

Mr. MANDERSON. It is the stating of what shall be done with the amount appropriated for the pay of the Army, that it shall have its distribution as declared, that to first sergeants there shall go $30 per month. Under the law a first sergeant now receives $22.

Mr. HALE. Does not the amendment change the law in a direct way and make the pay $30? How can the Senator get more general legislation than to take the pay of any portion of the Army that is fixed by law and provide that there shall be a different pay established? If that is not general legislation it is difficult to see what is.

Mr. MANDERSON. I think it is a special appropriation of that which is generally appropriated. But let that be as it may, the point of order was not made, and no man in the Senate raised his voice against the wisdom of the proposed enactment. Several spoke in its favor.

Mr. ALLISON. The Senator will allow me to state that, while it is true no point of order was made, it was not made because it was understood that the two Houses desired this legislation. I for one waived the point of order on that ground. It is to be understood that all legislation is to go on the appropriation bills, then let the legislation come; but if it is understood that controverted questions are to go upon these bills, it will be impossible for us to pass at a short session all the controverted questions in this body and in the other upon appropriation bills.

Mr. MANDERSON. But I have suggested to the Senator that this was not a controverted question. It has not been controverted between the two Houses.

Mr. ALLISON. I will state that we were told by the conferees on the part of the House that the House of Representatives would never consent upon an open vote to increase the pay of sergeants. That was stated in conference by the House conferees.

Mr. MANDERSON. The House have provided in a bill for an increase in the pay of sergeants, not to the extent, however, of the Senate bill as reported by the Committee on Military Affairs.

As to the matter referred to by the Senator from Iowa, as having been abandoned because of the saving in the bill which had been procured by the amendment introduced by the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR], the fact, as I understand it, is this: The proposition referred to on page 24 of the print which I have in hand is as follows:

And hereafter, in time of peace, no recruit shall be enlisted in the Army for the first time who is over 30 years of age, and no person shall be enlisted who has served ten years or more, or who is over 35 years of age, ex-

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the following concurrent resolution of the Senate:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Interior be and he is hereby authorized to prepare 33,500 additional copies, besides the binding of the eighth annual report of the Commissioner of Labor relating to industrial education in the United States and Europe, 16,000 copies for the use of the members of the House of Representatives, 1,000 copies for the use of the members of the Senate, 11,000 copies for distribution by the Department of Labor.

Mr. RICHARDSON. This is the regular annual report of the Commissioner of Labor, and I ask its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Tennessee?

There being no objection, the concurrent resolution was considered, and agreed to.

MARY DOUBLEDAY.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the bill (S. 3819) granting a pension to Mary Doubleday, widow of Bvt. Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday.

Mr. COOMBS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of that bill.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be read, subject to the right of objection.

The bill was read, as follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to place on the pension roll, subject to the provisions and limitations of the pension laws, the name of Mary Doubleday, widow of Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday, and pay her a pension of $100 per month.

There being no objection, the bill was considered, ordered to a third reading, and being read the third time, was passed.

On motion of Mr. COOMBS, a motion to reconsider the last vote was laid on the table.

BRIGHTWOOD RAILROAD COMPANY, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The SPEAKER also laid before the House the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 9730) to amend the charter of the Brightwood Railroad Company of the District of Columbia.

Mr. RICHARDSON. I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of the Senate amendment to this bill.

The Senate amendment was read at length.

Mr. RICHARDSON. I move concurrence in the Senate amendment.

There being no objection, the Senate amendment was considered, and concurred in.

AMERICAN UNIVERSITY.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the House has already passed a bill to incorporate the American University, a similar bill, No. S. 3792, having also passed the Senate. The Senate has passed the House bill, and, without objection, the Senate bill on the same subject will be indefinitely postponed.

There was no objection, and it was so ordered.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY OF NEW MEXICO.

THURSDAY, February 16, 1893.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock a. m.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. J. G. BUTLER, D. D.

CLOSING OF WORLD'S FAIR ON SUNDAY.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, in answer to a resolution of the 15th instant, information relative to the manner of disbursement of appropriations made to the World's Columbian Exposition by the act making appropriations for the sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for other purposes, approved August 5, 1892, etc., which was read.

Mr. QUAY. Nearly every Senator has received communications from different Christian denominations, by the United States relating to the closing of the World's Fair on Sunday. The response of the Secretary of the Treasury to their solicitation of the Senate, it seems to me ought to be sufficient to satisfy those who are interested in the question. I think in this instance the Senate had better depart from its usual rule and print the report of the Secretary of the Treasury in the Record.

The communication was ordered to lie on the table, and to be printed in the Record, as follows:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT. Report of the Secretary.

Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a resolution of the Senate of the United States, dated February 14, 1893, as follows:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury shall be authorized to report forthwith to inform the Senate whether the appropriations or any part thereof, made to the World's Columbian Exposition by the act making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for other purposes, approved August 5, 1892, have been paid to the World's Columbian Exposition, and if not, what modifications of the rules of said Commission have been made to effect the closing of the Exposition on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday.

In reply I have the honor to state that payments have been made to officers, employees, and members of the Commission and others, from the appropriation above referred to, for salaries, traveling expenses and subsistence, rent, lights, furniture, and contingent expenses, upon rendered vouchers when properly certified and transmitted to this Department for payment.

The World's Columbian Exposition, by resolution of its board of directors on August 19, 1892, formally accepted the appropriation made by the act of Congress, approved August 5, 1892, on the condition that the same should, on or before October 24, 1892, the World's Columbian Exposition Association be incorporated, and transmitted to the World's Columbian Commission a copy of its constitution, governing rates of entrance and admission fees, etc., of which the following, relative to the closing of the Exposition on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, formed a part, viz:

"The gates shall be open, subject to limitations hereinafter provided, on each day of the week except the first day thereof commonly called Sunday, from the 1st day of May to and including the 30th day of October, 1893, and otherwise authorized and provided for by the act of Congress."

In pursuance of the directions contained in the act of Congress, approved August 5, 1892, in aid of the World's Columbian Exposition and in further making appropriation for the sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for other purposes, approved August 5, 1892, the World's Columbian Commission, on the 24th day of October, 1892, amended the rules of the World's Columbian Exposition Association relative to the closing of the Exposition on Sunday, and approved from among the official minutes of the association, as part of the World's Columbian Commission, on file in this office, as follows:

"The Exposition shall be open for the admission of visitors during the months commencing on the 1st day of May and ending with the 30th day of October, 1893, on each day of the week, subject to the limitation hereinafter provided for, except the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, and on said last-mentioned day the said Exposition and the gates thereof shall be closed."

Respectfully yours,

CHARLES FOSTER, Secy.

To the President, UNITED STATES SENATE.

SAFETY OF BUSCH BUILDING.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate a communication from the Postmaster-General transmitting, in response to a resolution of the 15th instant, correspondence relative to the alleged unsafe condition of the Busch building, received by the money order branch of the Sixth Auditor's office, and which, with the accompanying papers, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

Mr. HAWLEY presented a petition of the Board of Trade and Commerce of the city of Hartford, Conn., praying for the repeal of the so-called Geary Chinese-exclusion law, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. PEPPER. I present the memorial of W. H. Keen, and a large number of other citizens of New York and New Jersey, in relation to transportation. It is very brief, and I is of sufficient importance, in my judgment, to justify me in reading it. The memorial is very brief:

Whereas the trunk-line railroads are, through their officials, urging upon Congress the repeal of the clause in the interstate-commerce law which forbids railway pools; and

Whereas the deplorable consequences to the people of the recent "coal combine" or railway pool, as well as of previous pools of a similar sort, designed to end all competition and to advance rates of transportation arbitrarily, justify us in apprehending similar results on a more extensive scale if the antipooling clause is repealed; and bill just reported will take the place of the Senate bill on the same subject upon the Calendar, and the Senate bill will be indefinitely postponed.

JOHN M. GOODHUE.

Mr. DAVIS. I am directed by the Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 2905) for the relief of John M. Goodhue, to report it favorably with an amendment, and I ask for its present consideration.

After reading, the Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the bill as in Committee of the Whole. It authorizes the President of the United States to nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint John M. Goodhue, late major of the Twenty-third and Eleventh Regiments of the United States Infantry, a major of infantry in the Army; and when so appointed he shall be placed upon the list of retired officers of the Army, unlimited, with rank and pay from the date of his appointment and retirement under the provisions of the bill. The amendment of the Committee on Military Affairs was to add:

The retired list being thereby increased in number to that extent; and all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are suspended for this purpose only.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

AIDS TO NAVIGATION.

Mr. DOLPH. Yesterday the bill to provide for certain light-houses and other aids to navigation became a law. I now submit an amendment intended to be proposed to the sundry civil appropriation bill, making appropriation for those works. As the time is short I will ask that the amendment be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, but suggest that the clerks retain it on the table. Should the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill be not concluded during the afternoon, so that it will go over until to-morrow, I shall ask later to have the amendment printed, so that we may have it to-morrow morning. I will state to the committee that inasmuch as we can not discriminate about these works I hope the committee will allow the amendment to be adopted without question, and then consider in the conference whether any of the items should be rejected or whether appropriations should be made for all of them. Some of them are of vital importance.

Mr. CULLOM. Does the Senator report the amendment from the Committee on Commerce?

Mr. DOLPH. I report it by direction of the Committee on Commerce, and I ask that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, but I suggest to the clerks to keep it on the table this afternoon. If we do not conclude the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill this afternoon I shall ask to have it printed later in the day, so that it may be in print to-morrow morning. If we finish the appropriation bill to-day I shall submit it without printing, on the report of the committee.

Mr. CULLOM. The Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations is not present, but I have no doubt the arrangement will be satisfactory, allowing the amendment to come up like other outside amendments for consideration.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will lie on the table for the present.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. PEPPER introduced a bill (S. 3872) to provide for the sale of the surplus lands belonging to certain tribes of Indians within the limits of the Quapaw Agency in the Indian Territory, and for other purposes; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. COCKRELL introduced a bill (S. 3873) to authorize the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad Company to construct and operate a railroad, telegraph, and telephone line through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. CALL introduced a bill (S. 3874) for the relief of Mary A. McEran, and for the issue of a land warrant for 500 acres of land; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. HUNTON. Introduced a joint resolution, and as it merely calls for a report from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, I ask for its present consideration.

The joint resolution (S. R. 154) instructing the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to reopen and re-examine the claim of the Continental Fire Insurance Company and others and certify the amount of tax erroneously paid by said corporations, if any, was read the first time by its title and the second time at length, as follows:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the Commissioner of Internal Revenue be, and he is hereby directed to reopen and re-examine the claims of the Continental Fire Insurance Company, the Maryland Fire Insurance Company, the Eagle Fire Insurance Company, the City Fire Insurance Company, the Commercial Mutual Insurance Company, the Western National Bank, the Merchants' National Bank, the Chesapeake Bank, and the Eastern Railroad Company, and certify the amount of taxes erroneously paid by said corporations, if any, to Congress.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Virginia asks for the present consideration of the joint resolution.

Mr. MORRILL. I think it ought to be referred to the Committee on Finance before it is adopted. I make that motion.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Vermont moves that the joint resolution be referred to the Committee on Finance.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. HILL (by request) introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 155) authorizing and directing the Secretary of the Interior to purchase Report on Mineral Industry, etc., covering mineral statistics for 1892, etc.; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying papers, referred to the Committee on Printing.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. DAVIS submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Indian Appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. COKE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. SQUIRE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Indian appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

WITHDRAWAL OF PAPERS.

On motion of Mr. PUGH, it was Ordered, That Patrick Doran have leave to withdraw his papers from the files of the Senate, there being no adverse report.

PERSONNEL OF THE NAVY.

Mr. HALE submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs:

Whereas there are constantly before Congress numerous bills dealing with the question of rank and pay in the Navy, and other matters concerning the personnel of the same; and

Whereas the present laws relating to this subject are in many instances inconsistent, unjust, and the result of piecemeal legislation: Now, therefore,

Be it resolved, That a special joint committee, consisting of three members of the House who have been elected to the Fifty-third Congress and three members of the Senate who will continue Senators during such Congress, be appointed respectively by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to fully investigate and consider the entire subject of the rank, pay, and all other matters relating to the personnel of the Navy, to have power to send for persons and papers, sit during the recesses of both Houses, and to report to the next Congress, as soon after it convenes as may be convenient, what legislation, if any, is necessary in the premises, any bill so reported by them shall simplify, codify and revise existing laws relating to the personnel of the Navy, so far as may be found possible. And said commission is hereby authorized to employ a clerk at $6 per day and a messenger at $3 per day while employed, and any expenses incurred by said commission in performing the duties herein required shall be defrayed equally from the contingent funds of the two Houses.

MARITIME CANAL COMPANY OF NICARAGUA.

Mr. STEWART. I desire to offer a substitute for the Maritime Canal bill. It is short, and I ask that it be read and printed, and lie on the table. Then it will be understood when the bill comes up.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The proposed amendment will be read, if there be no objection.

The amendment was read and ordered to lie on the table and be printed, as follows:

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert:

"That the President of the United States be, and he is hereby, authorized and empowered to contract with the Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica for a right of way for an interoceanic ship-canal between the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans on the route proposed by the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua, and for a port at each end of the canal on the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans, together with all necessary privileges to enable the United States to operate and protect said canal and the approaches thereto, granting to the United States such jurisdiction and power as may be necessary and proper to make and enforce all laws, rules, and regulations relating to said canal and approaches, thereto which may be necessary or proper for that purpose, and he may agree on behalf of the United States that said canal shall be constructed, equipped, and put in operation within ten years after the passage of this act.

"Sec. 2. That the President of the United States is further authorized and empowered to negotiate with the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua for the purchase of all its property rights of every description, real, personal, and mixed, including franchises and concessions connected with or relating to the proposed Nicaragua Canal and the approaches thereto.

"Sec. 3. That to enable the President of the United States to carry out the provisions of this act the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to issue not exceeding $100,000,000 of bonds to pay debt by the United States after thirty years and for the redemption authorized by the act of July 14, 1850, entitled 'An act to authorize the refunding of the national debt,' and subject to all the terms, conditions, qualities, privileges, and exemptions provided by said act, but the rate of interest shall not exceed 3 per cent; and the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to sell at not less than par a sufficient amount of said bonds to pay said Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica for the rights, property, and privileges which may be secured under the provisions of this act, and to pay to the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua for the rights and property to be purchased under this act not exceeding the sum of $8,000,000. But no money shall be paid to either the Government of Nicaragua or Costa Rica, or the Maritime Canal Company of Nicaragua, until the Attor-to $500,000, as it was in the bill as it came from the House of Representatives.

Mr. QUAY. My proposition is to vote down the amendment of the committee.

Mr. FELTON. I apprehend that a vote "nay" restores the clause as it came from the House of Representatives.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It does.

Mr. ALLISON. In order to restore the amount as it came from the other House the Senator will have to vote "nay."

Mr. BUTLER. As I understand the situation, it is this: Those Senators who favor the amendment of the committee will vote "yea;" those who do not concur in the amendment of the committee will vote "nay," the effect of a negative vote being to restore the bill to the form in which it came from the House of Representatives. That I understand to be the situation.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That is the situation.

Mr. QUAY. Those who vote "yea" will vote to reduce the appropriation for the Philadelphia Harbor from $500,000 to $300,000; those who vote "nay" will vote to retain the provision as it came from the other House; and that is what the Senators from Pennsylvania and New Jersey desire shall be done.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BUTLER (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]; but I am informed by his colleague [Mr. QUAY] that he would vote "nay" on this question, and I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. QUAY. I desire to say for my colleague that he is necessarily absent on account of sickness. If present he would vote "nay."

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. Not knowing how he would vote I present I withhold my vote.

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH]. If his colleague knows how he would vote, then I may be able to vote on this question; otherwise I shall withhold my vote.

Mr. GORDON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. If any Senator can vouch as to which way he would vote, I shall then be able to decide whether to vote or not; otherwise I withhold my vote for the present.

Mr. MILLS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. McPHERSON. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. I do not know how he would vote on this question, and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. TELLER. My colleague [Mr. WOLCOTT] is detained from the Senate by sickness.

Mr. QUAY. I desire to say to the Senator from New Jersey that while I am not absolutely informed as to the opinion of the Senator from Delaware upon this question, I have no more doubt than if I had assurance from him to that effect, that he would vote "nay" upon the pending proposition, on account of his location and his equal interest with that of the Senator from New Jersey and myself in this appropriation.

Mr. McPHERSON. If assurance can be given as to how the Senator from Delaware would vote, I will decide whether or not to vote.

Mr. QUAY. I think the Senator from Delaware would vote in the negative if he were here, but I am not authorized to say so.

Mr. McPHERSON. If the Senator is not authorized to say so, I shall have to withhold my vote.

Mr. PLATT. I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTER], and withhold my vote.

Mr. WHITE (after having voted in the affirmative). I see the Senator from Montana [Mr. POWELL] is not in his seat. I have a pair with him, and therefore withdraw my vote.

Mr. BATE. I have a general pair with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I am unable to ascertain how he stands on this question, and I can not find his colleague in the Chamber. I therefore shall withhold my vote.

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE. I am paired with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GIBSON], and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. GORDON. I announce the pair of my colleague [Mr. COLQUHOUN] with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON].

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 25, as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations will be stated.

The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, on page 81, line 13, to reduce the appropriation for continuing improvement of Hay Lake Channel, St. Marys River, Mich., from $500,000 to $225,000.

Mr. WASHBURN. Mr. President, if it were not for the proviso at the end of these appropriations I should not object to the adoption of the pending amendment. While all the appropriations provided for in this bill are made in accordance with the existing law they should be made, as I think, on the estimates submitted by the proper officers of the Government, yet in some cases where information has been received subsequently to the time of the estimate there should be reductions. That is notably the case, as was so well stated by the chairman of the Committee on Commerce yesterday, as far as the appropriations connected with the great Sault St. Marie Canal or the St. Marys River are concerned.

Gen. Poe, who has charge of that district, appeared before our committee and in a very honest, truthful, candid way stated that these appropriations could be reduced to a certain extent. I should be very willing that the amendment proposed by the Committee on Appropriations should be agreed to were it not for the provision which will prevent the use of the money necessary to carry on this work as rapidly as it can be used, and I think no Senator on this floor would claim for a moment that this work should not be carried on as fast as it is physically possible to do so.

Take the appropriation on the next page of the bill, for continuing the improvement of the St. Marys River at the Falls, Michigan. The original estimate was $2,000,000, but the statement of Gen. Poe was that it could be properly reduced to $1,230,000, but the amendment proposed by the committee, permitting only 75 percent to be used in the fiscal year, would reduce the amount available to $922,500, which will not be sufficient, in my judgment, to allow the work to go forward as rapidly as it should. Unless there can be an understanding that the amendment to which I refer in the last portion of the bill is to be voted down I cannot for one agree that the reduction shall be made as proposed by the amendment reported by the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DOLPH. The Senator from Minnesota will allow me to suggest that my recollection is that the amount appropriated here is to complete this work. If that be so, it ought not to be continued over until next year. If the provision reducing the amount to be expended which stands at the top of page 81 is to be retained in this bill, there should be no reduction for the improvement of Hay Lake Channel, because we want to secure the completion of that work. That ought to be excepted at least.

Mr. WASHBURN. I intended to make that statement. I misunderstood with the Senator from Oregon that this amount will complete the improvement of Hay Lake Channel.

Mr. ALLISON. If Senators will allow me a moment, Gen. Poe, in his testimony before the Committee on Commerce, told us as respects Hay Lake Channel, that the money would not be expended until the end of the season, the middle of November, 1891, and the provision in the bill respecting this expenditure is in exact accord with the statement of Gen. Poe to the committee.

Mr. WASHBURN. I do not think that was the statement before the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. ALLISON. I have the statement of Gen. Poe here.

Mr. FRYE. Mr. President, the friends of improvements of rivers and harbors can not afford to vote blindly; they can not afford to vote against an amendment where the evidence is entirely in favor of its adoption. If they do, other river and harbor bills are liable to pay the penalty hereafter.

In this item for Hay Lake Channel, in the item for St. Marys River, and in the item for the channel connecting the waters of the Great Lakes between Chicago, Duluth, and Buffalo, the evidence is entirely one way, and that is that there is money enough to last until November 16. I say that Senators who favor improvements in rivers and harbors must think twice before they vote against an amendment thus sustained.

If the proposition made by the Senator from Minnesota [Mr.

that the value of that tonnage is $500,000,000, which I believe is beyond the value of the tonnage upon any other river.

For a long period of time both the Legislature of the State of New York and Congress have been endeavoring to provide a permanent channel commencing at Troy and extending some 18 miles below there. The effort is attended with difficulty because of the streams that come in and come down from the upper river, bearing silt, and the freezing of the river, the ice gorges that occur there, which have the effect to change the channel and create bars. It is absolutely necessary for transportation that there should be about 12 feet of water. That is required for the transportation which comes into the river from the Erie Canal, which is towed down through by tugs which draw that amount of water.

There has been a great deal of trouble on the upper section of the Hudson River with its tows of canal boats, and the money that has been appropriated year by year has been nearly wasted. The General Government has appropriated for this work first and last $1,500,000, and it has been nearly all swept away. In addition to this, the State of New York has appropriated from first to last $1,500,000, and a large proportion of the results have been swept away.

The Committee on Commerce finally put into the river and harbor bill a provision for the completion of this work under contract upon estimates that it could be completed for about $2,000,000. The very able and elaborate report made by the engineer in charge states that to derive the advantage of that money the work should be completed within five years. I have his report before me. He gives his reasons for the statement. It is expected when the work is done that the flow of water will largely contribute to clearing the channel, and it is necessary that the work should be done for economical reasons at the rate of about a half a million dollars each year. It has been so recommended by him, and his recommendations have been approved and indorsed by Gen. Casey.

There is another peculiarity about the work. It is supposed that about half of this money will be expended in the removal of rock and stone and about half of it in dredging. It is necessary that these two branches of work should be carried on simultaneously. The work can not be carried on effectively in any other way.

Contracts have been made, and the contracts as made contemplate the expenditure of money at the rate of about half a million dollars each year. The contractors, relying upon the report of the engineer and the terms of the contract, have assembled and are assembling their plant with reference to performing about that amount of work each year. There are two contractors engaged in it, one for the removal of the rock and the other for the dredging.

I am assured by the engineer in charge that it is absolutely indispensable, for the purpose of doing this work economically, that it should be done at the rate of about one-fourth of the work each year. Every spring nature to some extent overcomes what engineering has accomplished. It is necessary that the work should be completed and removed from those perils that the protections they provide—their dikes and all that—should be carried on simultaneously; and the elaborate scheme which is presented contemplates the expenditure of the money in that way.

There was no evidence before the Committee on Commerce or before the Committee on Appropriations in respect to this item except the protest of Gen. Casey. I understand, against the reduction of the appropriation; but the committee did not enter into an examination in detail upon the reasons for it. I am told that if this appropriation is reduced to about the amount the Government has been accustomed in connection with the State of New York to expend each year upon this section of the Hudson River, the money will be lost as it has been heretofore, and I call attention to the fact that $3,000,000 have been expended here.

I ask the Senate to bear in mind the immense volume of commerce that is to be affected by this improvement. I am inclined to think that it is about the only appropriation the bill carries for the State of New York. That State has not been accustomed to urge with great persistency the improvements of its rivers and harbors. As I said a little while ago, it has gone step by step and hand in hand with the General Government in the improvement of the rivers. But if now this appropriation is struck down, the provision of law the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE] has spoken of as wise, so far as this work is concerned, might as well be eliminated from the statute books. The moment that you bring this item down to the appropriations that have been accustomed to be made by New York and by the General Government for this river, in the spring of the year the force of nature will undo all that was previously accomplished by engineering and by contractors.

I do not urge this because I want a specific amount for this work. I am not animated by any such motive as that. But after a full examination of this question and of this elaborate report, giving the details giving the whole scheme for this improvement, I am satisfied that it comes within the exception the Senator in charge of the bill, the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, and the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Commerce announced that they were willing to make, and to give not only all that was desired but all that was necessary in the direction of economy for the work.

I ask the Senate to vote down this amendment of the committee.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the committee. [Putting the question.] The yeas appear to have it.

Mr. ALLISON. Let us have a division.

Mr. GORMAN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I withhold my vote not knowing how he would vote.

Mr. GORDON (when Mr. COLQUITT's name was called). My colleague [Mr. COLQUITT] is paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON].

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] on these questions.

Mr. McPHERSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. I do not know how he would vote on this question, and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. MILLS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], and therefore withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. As he is absent I withhold my vote. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH], who is also absent, is paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. GORDON. I announce my pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN].

Mr. McMILLAN (after having voted in the negative). I have a general pair with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE]. Not seeing him in the Chamber I withdraw my vote.

Mr. HISCOCK. I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES]. I will transfer that pair to the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE], so as to allow the Senator from Michigan [Mr. McMILLAN] to vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. McMILLAN. Then I will let my vote stand.

Mr. QUAY. I wish to announce that upon this vote and upon subsequent votes to be taken upon the items in this bill under the head of "Engineer Department" my colleague [Mr. CAMERON] is paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES].

The result was announced—yeas 22, nays 30, as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The next amendment which was passed over will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 82, line 7, before the word "hundred," the committee report to strike out "seven" and insert "six;" so as to read:

For improving Mississippi River from the mouth of the Ohio River to

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. WASHBURN. I simply wish to repel the suggestions made by the distinguished Senator from Iowa that I attacked the Committee on Appropriations, and that I should especially have made an attack in connection with this appropriation for the improvement of the Upper Mississippi River. I never had such a thought. I made the statement because I in some part represent an endeavor to represent that great country, which is so dependent upon all such means of communication. I did it as a matter of duty. The estimate was made for $750,000 for this special work. Gen. Greely came before the Committee on Commerce and, excepting the three items where the reductions have been agreed to, he said that every dollar could be wisely and judiciously and economically expended.

Mr. WHITE. May I ask the Senator a question?

Mr. WASHBURN. Certainly.

Mr. WHITE. I am looking at the bill of last year that the provision making the appropriation for this work was not for a completed work, and therefore this particular item would not present the question which has been raised by the committee as to completed work. The river and harbor act of last year contained the following clause:

Improving the Mississippi River from the mouth of the Ohio River to the landing on the west bank below the Washington avenue bridge, Minneapolis, Minn.: Continuing improvement, $1,125,000. Provided, That on and after the passage of this act additional contracts may be entered into by the Secretary of War for such materials and work as may be necessary to carry on continuously the systematic improvement of the Mississippi River between the points mentioned.

It is not a contract for completion. This is not such a case as the one upon which the Senator from Iowa, the distinguished chairman of the committee, makes a test.

Mr. WASHBURN. I do not think there is any particular point in that, because the contracts were made.

Mr. WHITE. It is a point in favor of the position which the Senator from Minnesota is taking.

Mr. WASHBURN. I understand.

Mr. WHITE. The distinguished chairman in discussing the matter yesterday said one rule ought to apply to a case where there were contracts for completion and another rule where in the act of last year the contracts were not for completion, but simply for a given amount of work. I find, although I did not know until this moment, that this particular item is in that category.

Mr. PAULKNER. Mr. President, I am somewhat surprised to hear the remarks which have fallen from the lips of the Senator from Minnesota in reference to the improvement of the Great Kanawha.

Mr. WASHBURN. I hope the Senator from West Virginia did not misunderstand me. I have no objection to that appropriation remaining as it is, and it should so remain; there is no doubt about it. It is the estimate of the Chief of Engineers, the highest authority we have and the only authority we have to act upon, and I think that appropriation should be made. I simply suggested that there would have been the same propriety in cutting that appropriation as there is to cut many others.

Mr. PAULKNER. It was in justification of the action of the committee that I wanted especially to refer to the remarks of the Senator from Minnesota. I know myself the committee examined as to the propriety of cutting down the appropriation for the Great Kanawha, and they went so far as to have the engineer, Col. Craigbill, make a report in reference to the necessity for that appropriation. It was not until this subsequent report was received, not made directly to the Chief of Engineers, but while the committee was examining into the question, that the committee were convinced of the absolute necessity for the entire appropriation being made at this time. I desire to make this statement in justification of the action of the committee and to show the propriety of the appropriation remaining unchanged.

Mr. McPHERSON. Mr. President, I am in the unfortunate position of being likely to be misunderstood very greatly in respect to my official attitude upon many of the questions that arise in the bill. I shared as I am with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS], I do not know how he would vote upon any of these questions, and I am forced to maintain an attitude of absolute neutrality.

I wish to say with respect to the improvement that is now going on in the harbor at Philadelphia with regard to the islands there, my observations upon that question were based very largely upon a certain condition of facts.

I addressed myself, as I remember, to the chairman of the committee, asking him if there was not a distinction which should properly be drawn between that appropriation and all others found in the bill referring to rivers and harbors. The point was that inasmuch as the people of Pennsylvania and Philadelphia (and I have an indistinct recollection that New Jersey as well through her Legislature) had made an appropriation of money for the purchase of the islands, it becomes somewhat a matter of contract between the Government and the people. It is a partnership existing between them.

The city of Philadelphia and the State of Pennsylvania appropriated their money and paid it with the understanding that the improvement there was to be continued as rapidly as possible unto the end. Some two years have elapsed. The money of the city of Philadelphia, and New Jersey, if she did really apply it, has been paid in. They have lost the interest, they have lost the benefit of the improvement, and as it requires an addition of but $200,000 more to make up the appropriation to the full amount estimated for by the Chief of Engineers, it seems to me as though the Government can hardly afford with that state of facts to refuse the appropriation to continue the work as rapidly as possible.

However, I wish to state in the presence of the Senate that I am in hearty sympathy with the distinguished Senator who has charge of the bill, now that he has become a rigid economist, and just as long as the spasm lasts I intend to support that Senator in every way not only with respect to this appropriation bill but every other one. As the statement was made by the distinguished Senator from Iowa yesterday and the distinguished Senator from Maryland this morning with respect to this matter, it is not a question of right or wrong; it is not a question as to what would be the best thing to do provided we had the money; it is not a question of economy; it is a question of money.

Where are you going to get the money to pay for these improvements in the present depleted condition of the Treasury? I want to say that as to all the items in the bill, and even upon the item which I discussed this morning, I should have supported the committee and voted for the committee's amendment, although I did not think there was a wide distinction between that and other items. As to all the items in the bill where there is a reduction of expenditures I shall support the committee. If I find any place in the bill where there have been increases made above the House bill I shall hold myself at liberty to offer amendments to reduce the amounts, for as to this and every appropriation bill which comes before the Senate from now to the end I shall vote for the lowest possible appropriation.

Mr. ALLISON. I only desire to say a few words further respecting this particular appropriation, and I do it rather in response to what was suggested by the Senator from Louisiana [Mr. WHITE]. It is true in a sense that the appropriations for the Mississippi River stand upon a different basis from the other appropriations, for the reason that, as respects all the other appropriations, contracts have been made or will be made for the completion, whereas it is not and can not be expected, in regard to any of these appropriations, that there will be a completion of any work.

Therefore there is in the suggestion of the Senator from Louisiana great force when he says that if we do not appropriate as was provided originally in the river and harbor act of last year the appropriations designated there will be lost; and I am willing for myself to yield somewhat to that suggestion. But I must say to Senators that I do not think the reasons which apply to the Lower Mississippi apply to the improvement under consideration; and I say it with all respect to the Senator from Minnesota [Mr. WASHBURN]. The improvements in the Upper Mississippi River are entirely different in character from those in the Lower Mississippi River.

In last year's bill there was only $500,000 or $300,000—I do not remember the exact amount—appropriated for this reach, if I may call it a reach, from the mouth of the Missouri to Minneapolis. Last year the Committee on Commerce, that committee which stands here justly and properly as the champion of the most liberal appropriations for rivers and harbors, proposed to appropriate only $600,000 for the current year, for work for which we have now proposed to appropriate $750,000.

In other words, we are $100,000 better as respects our judgment and our devotion to the Upper Mississippi River than was the Committee on Commerce only a year ago. I think that when we increase this appropriation at the rate of more than $100,000 a year beyond the appropriations suggested in the mature deliberations of the Committee on Commerce, of which my friend before me [Mr. FRYE] is the distinguished chairman and my friend on the right [Mr. WASHBURN] is such a distinguished member, we can not be said to be in hostility to adequate and ample appropriations for rivers and harbors. I put the $750,000 which I am in favor of appropriating for this year as against the $600,000 we appropriated last year for the same purpose, on the recommendation of the Committee on Commerce.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Mr. HARRIS in the chair. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the committee: on which the yeas and nays have been ordered.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. Not knowing how he would vote, I withhold my vote.

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN].

Mr. DOLPH (when Mr. GORMAN'S name was called). I have agreed to pair with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] on this vote.

Mr. McPHERSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. If he were here I should vote "yea."

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. As he is absent I withhold my vote. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. DAVIS. I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

Mr. BERRY. On this question I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]. If he were here I should vote "yea."

Mr. GEORGE. My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is detained from the Senate by indisposition. He has a general pair with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON].

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 24; as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will state the next amendment of the committee which was passed over.

The SECRETARY. On page 82, line 12, the committee report to change the total so as to read "in all $1,425,000."

Mr. ALLISON. That should be modified by making the amount $1,525,000, the amendment in line 7 having been agreed to. I move to so amend the amendment of the committee.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, on page 82, line 15, to reduce the appropriation for continuing improvement of St. Marys River at the falls, Michigan, from $2,000,000 to $1,230,000.

Mr. McMILLAN. I understand that this amendment of the committee is approved by Gen. Poe, and therefore I have no objection to it; but I should like to offer an amendment to the amendment of the committee. After the word "dollars," in line 16, at the end of the paragraph, I move to add the following proviso:

Provided, That of the amount hereby appropriated, the sum of $25,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, may be expended in widening the present channel at the elbow at the lower end of Lake George in St. Marys River, Michigan.

I believe that amendment is accepted by the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. ALLISON. I do not object to it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Michigan to the amendment of the committee.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 82, line 18, to reduce the appropriation for improving channel connecting the waters of the Great Lakes between Chicago, Duluth, and Buffalo, from $1,000,000 to $875,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, on page 82, line 21, to reduce the appropriation for improving the channel connecting the waters of the Great Lakes between Chicago, Duluth, and Buffalo, from $1,000,000 to $875,000.

Mr. ALLEN. I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. I have agreed to pair with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] on this vote.

Mr. McPHERSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. If he were here I should vote "yea."

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT].

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. As he is absent I withhold my vote.

Mr. DAVIS. I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

$1,521,265, the regular estimate of the War Department, and of the Engineer Department generally, is that 5 per cent in addition is required as a general rule to meet the engineer expenses connected with the work.

Mr. DOLPH. And supervision of the work.

Mr. MITCHELL. And supervision of the work while under way. Counting 5 per cent on this contract amount of $1,521,265, it would be about $75,000; but as the work has progressed a long way and is to be completed next year, it is not probable that 5 per cent on that amount will be required for engineering supervision from now until the completion of the work. Therefore I take $50,000 instead of $75,000 and deduct that from the $321,612 available on the 1st of January last.

Mr. DOLPH. The amount that my colleague's amendment covers is the amount that is given in the handwriting of the Chief of Engineers this morning as the sum required to complete the work.

Mr. MITCHELL. Certainly. I myself saw the Chief of Engineers this morning.

Mr. DOLPH. The memorandum is in the handwriting of the Chief of Engineers.

Mr. MITCHELL. The data I am quoting from is in the handwriting of Gen. Casey, the Chief of Engineers. Allowing then, if the chairman of the committee pleases, $50,000, which we think sufficient, and it is perhaps not more than is necessary for the engineering supervision of this work from now until its completion, and deducting that from the amount available on the 1st of January last, we have $281,612 left. Add $281,612 to the amount proposed to be appropriated by the committee, which is but $800,000, and you have but a little more than $1,100,000, and not enough to enable the contractors to go on with this work until another appropriation is made.

After deducting $50,000 from the amount available and then adding that to the amount of my amendment, should it be adopted, you have precisely the amount called for by the contract. The amount fixed in the House bill it will be observed is more by $224,225 than the contract calls for. The amount in the bill as it came from the House is the amount of the estimate of the Department before the contract was let, the contract price, as I have said, being less by $224,225 than this estimate.

I hope under all the circumstances that the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations will see his way clear to agree to my amendment.

Mr. DOLPH. Will my colleague allow me to interrupt him to make a restatement?

Mr. MITCHELL. Certainly.

Mr. DOLPH. The figures the Senator reads from were made in my presence this morning by the Chief of Engineers as the amount required for this work. The appropriation carried by my colleague's amendment is that amount. The amount already appropriated will be used up by the 1st of July. Nobody disputes that. Then all the amount that will be carried by my colleague's amendment, $800,000, or one-fourth, will go over until the fiscal year ending July 1, 1895.

Mr. MITCHELL. Under a subsequent provision of the bill.

Mr. DOLPH. That will leave $900,000, and then $300,000 of this amount is required for iron gates and other things that have to be brought in, so that it will leave only $600,000 for the fiscal year from the 1st of July, 1893, to the 1st of July, 1894.

Mr. MITCHELL. Only $500,000.

Mr. DOLPH. Only $500,000 is to be expended in the work, that is less than $50,000 a month, while Maj. Handbury says they have a plant by which they can spend $80,000 a month. So I think the proposition is reasonable, and if accepted we can insert instead of "continuing," the "completion" of the work, and it will be out of the way.

Mr. MITCHELL. I neglected to state that if 25 per cent is withheld under the subsequent provision in the bill it would amount on my amendment to the sum of $380,316.25 to be held back, leaving, of course, an amount wholly insufficient to meet the estimates of the engineer in charge.

Mr. ALLISON. The observations of the Senator from Oregon and his amendment furnish a fine illustration of the care and anxiety with which all these provisions have been prepared in the other body, if there is another body that has prepared these provisions, and in the Departments of the Government. Here is a law passed on the 13th day of July, 1892, which brought within the range of the contract system the improvement of the Cascades of the Columbia River. I believe the Senator from Oregon has just stated that about $2,000,000 had been expended there before this provision was inserted in the law. I did not get the exact amount he stated.

Mr. MITCHELL. The amount appropriated heretofore up to this date is $2,203,760.

Mr. ALLISON. In other words, before the Cascades were brought within the provisions of the contract law there had been appropriated $1,700,000 and more for this improvement. Then on the 13th of last July this provision was made, and among other things inserted was a provision that the present project of the improvement of the Columbia River at that point should be paid for as appropriations might from time to time be made by law. That was only last July. Now, in the month of February, 1893, we find in this bill a proposition for continuing the improvement, and as the bill came to the Senate for "continuing improvement," $1,419,250, as though that sum would not complete it.

When the Committee on Appropriations undertook to lay its hand gently upon the sacredness of contracts and upon the claim of the immense importance of upholding the bill as it came from the House of Representatives, we were assailed from all points of the Chamber and from nearly all points of the compass. The Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] very properly said that there seemed to be a community of interest as respects these items which made them somewhat more attractive than they would be if that community of interest did not prevail.

But after the Committee on Appropriations has made some little investigation of this matter the Senator from Oregon nearest me proposes now as a compromise—he calls it a compromise—that we shall appropriate $50,000 more than the contract price for the completion of the Cascades improvement. I agree that in any event the amendment suggested by the Senator from Oregon should be adopted, because we certainly have not had such a sudden zeal for the improvement of rivers and harbors that we shall appropriate $200,000 more in the bill than is provided for the absolute completion of the work under the contracts made.

But Mr. President, notwithstanding the efforts of the Committee on Appropriations have been rather discouraging in this regard, I shall ask for a vote of the Senate upon the amendment proposed by the Committee on Appropriations, which gives $1,200,000 for this improvement, which is an improvement around the cascades of the Columbia, where, when completed, there will be only 40 miles of navigation until you meet The Dalles, with mountain sides thousands of feet high and a fall of 100 feet within a few miles. It will take millions of dollars to complete the work unless it is done by means of a railway. I shall ask for a yeas-and-nays vote upon the amendment proposed by the Committee on Appropriations. From all the testimony the appropriation proposed here will carry on this work until November, 1894.

Mr. DOLPH. Mr. President, I yesterday read from the report of the engineer in 1891, and I could have gone back seventeen years and read similar extracts from the local engineers in charge as to the difficulty of this work and the great importance of having the money appropriated to complete it speedily. I read an extract from Maj. Handbury's report two years ago, in which he said:

"So much money has already been expended upon this work, for which there can be no return until it is substantially completed, that it would seem wise economy to appropriate what is necessary to finish it in one sum at the earliest practical moment."

That is the cry that will arise on the Columbia River every year. It will put the work back, filling up the pits, the whole of which will have to be cleaned out by laborious process, and the money that has been appropriated for the work will have been squandered. There has been a constant cry from the engineers for a sufficient amount of money to complete that work. They estimated it at the amount the House bill carried, and of course when they sent their estimate under the contract system up to the Chief of Engineers or the Secretary of War they estimated the amount to finish the work, knowing they could complete it in a year.

At that time the contracts had not been made. The engineers stood by their estimates. They could not stand on anything else, because they had estimated that it would take that amount to complete the work. The bill as it came from the House of Representatives carried the amount of the estimate to complete the work as it had been previously made by the engineers, and as it was made by Maj. Handbury last year. Of course when the contract was let it resulted in a saving of something like $200,000, and the provision of the House bill was properly amendable here when that fact was ascertained. The amendment proposed by my colleague is to make the appropriation conform to the amount required for the completion of the work.

I hold in my hand a memorandum made this morning by the Chief of Engineers himself. I went to him about this matter. In this memorandum he states the usual amount required for supervision. This is a great and an important work, a place where the work is difficult to construct. You must keep men over the contractor and his employees to see that the necessary amount of cement is put into the work, and that the work is properly done, or the first June freshet from the Columbia River will sweep it out. It requires great supervision.

The Chief of Engineers said to me that the usual amount required for superintendence and for contingent expenses, the expenses of the engineering department and their employes, is about 5 per cent; and I have here a memorandum made by himself of the amount required. Now, would it not be the height of folly that with this important work, commenced in 1856, just for the sake of the benefit to the Government of refusing an appropriation of about $700,000 to complete the work, to carry it over another year?

The chairman of the committee says there will be only 10 miles of continuous navigation. That is true for the present, until another improvement is made, but there is a private company which it is stated at least has advertised for bids, and it is stated at least that they have contracted for completing a portage road on one side of the river, an ordinary railroad. There is something now before the Legislature of Oregon a provision for the State to expend $500,000 for a portage road on the other side of the river. The State has already constructed a portage road and put this work at its own expense and is operating a portage road on a State road, not being willing to wait for the completion of this work.

The only question between the Committee on Appropriations and ours here is as to whether the work shall be an increase of about $500,000 made in this bill or whether it shall be made hereafter, or whether you shall jeopardize the completion of this work in the next fiscal year or whether it shall be provided for now.

As Maj. Hubbard says, the contractors are ready to expend $80,000 a month of the amount carried by my colleague's amendment; $300,000 would be under the 25 per cent provision and will go over until the year 1895. Three hundred thousand dollars or about that amount is required for gates and the other ironwork which will have to be constructed and brought there. That will leave only about $60,000 to be used during the next fiscal year, or $50,000 a month instead of $80,000 a month.

Mr. MITCHELL. About $50,000.

Mr. DOLPH. About $50,000 as against $900,000, which they say they could use if they had it. I say it is unfair to criticize the statement of the local engineers to the effect that they can use this money. They have always said that they could use it. They have always said it would be a matter of economy if the Government would appropriate the money at once for the construction of the lock, and the letting of the contract has proved it. Before the contract was let they estimated the amount it would take to complete the lock, and it was proposed to complete it in a year. Of course, after the contract has been let the amount should be reduced to the amount required to complete the work.

Mr. SQUIRE. Mr. President, it is not necessary to go into any extended discussion as to the merits of this great work. It appears by the report of the engineers that there has already been appropriated by the Government of the United States for this purpose the sum of $2,200,750. These appropriations commenced June 14, 1857, and the appropriations run right through the years up to September 18, 1890. Then the appropriation for the last session was $225,270.

Mr. President, the Columbia River, as we all know, constitutes the boundary line for several hundred miles between the State of Washington and the State of Oregon, and a large part of the commerce of the State of Washington would naturally proceed along this river. Therefore the people of the State of Washington, particularly of the eastern part of the State, are very much interested in this work, and I feel it to be my duty to rise here and support the amendment proposed by the Senator from Oregon to the amendment of the Committee on Appropriations.

The letter which we have before us from the Chief of Engineers plainly shows that the amount required to complete the work is in accordance with the figures of the amendment proposed by the Senator from Oregon. The legislation at the last session of Congress provided for a continuing contract for the completion of this work, and the contract has been let for this purpose. But it is useful that the appropriation be made to supply the money for payments to be made under that contract.

It seems to me we ought to support the action we have already taken as a Congress and appropriate this money so that the work may be proceeded with continuously. It has been my habit for many years to travel by rail along the banks of this river. Prior to the existence of the railway, I have often gone up and down the river in steamboats. I am familiar with the work on the locks. Many years ago I made a report to the Government in which I took pains to go over the subject of this improvement. As governor of the Territory of Washington, after a careful conference with the officer of United States Engineers, Maj. Jones, who is in charge of the work, I wrote several pages very carefully on the subject. Therefore I am somewhat familiar with it.

I have noticed as I have passed along the banks of this river on the railway that most of the time for the past ten years the work has been in a very bad condition. It has been discontinued available, it would seem that there is no great reason for hurry about the Cascades.

Mr. MITCHELL. An estimate has been heretofore made, under direction of Congress, by a board of eminent engineers who visited the location and who had visited the different kinds of work for overcoming obstructions in various parts of the world, and their estimate was $2,600,000 for overcoming the obstructions at The Dalles.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The yeas and nays having been ordered the roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Oregon to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. MITCHELL. I ask that my amendment may be reported.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment to the amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 82, line 22, before the word "dollars," strike out "eight hundred and sixty-nine thousand" and insert "one million two hundred and thirty-nine thousand six hundred and fifty-three."

Mr. MITCHELL. The effect of that, if adopted, will be to reduce the appropriation as it came from the other House $175,000.

Mr. DOLPH. I am in favor of the amendment offered by my colleague, and hope it will be adopted.

Mr. ALLISON. I should like to state the effect of the amendment to the amendment. It will be to increase the appropriation by some $400,000 over and above the amendment recommended by the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DOLPH. Oh, no.

Mr. BUTLER. Not over and above the House provisions?

Mr. ALLISON. No.

Mr. GORMAN. Mr. President, I only want to say one word in regard to the amount of appropriation desired by the Senators from Oregon. They are perfectly well aware that I have taken, with them, a great interest in this improvement. I have had opportunity to go there and inspect it, and the contemplated improvements at The Dalles as well, and I have had quite a number of conferences with those Senators in regard to the portage railway around The Dalles. Believing that it is the only improvement possible to produce any result at a reasonable expense, I have favored liberal appropriations for this work at the Cascades which has been on hand for a long time.

But this improvement when completed will amount to very little in the way of benefit to the commerce of the river until the improvement shall be completed at The Dalles. The $869,000 that the Committee on Appropriations has recommended is all that can be judiciously expended upon the construction of a lock within the sixteen months which the appropriation will cover. The construction of the lock has so far progressed that its delay for one month or six months will not in the slightest degree affect the commerce upon the river. Both chamber walls of the lock are above high water, out of reach of any of the difficulties which are met with in improvements on the shores of the ocean, so that there is nothing in delay which would injuriously affect in any way the interest of Oregon or transportation upon that great river leading up several hundred miles.

That being the fact, Mr. President, notwithstanding the pressure by the Senators from that State, who are so anxious to have all the money that can be possibly appropriated from year to year, in my judgment the amendment proposed by the Senators from Oregon would be an extreme measure, and I think an unwise one, even in their own interest. I say to both the Senators from Oregon that if they are to have this work of any use whatever to their people, there must be expended two or three millions more at The Dalles. I say that so strong an appeal coming to Congress at a time when the Treasury is practically in distress will prejudice hereafter the minds of men who want to be liberal as to the propriety of entering into another contract.

So I again appeal to those Senators, as there is nothing to be accomplished in the interest of commerce or of their people at this time, and when there is no necessity for this large appropriation at the moment, to let it go, and adopt the suggestion of the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MITCHELL. I fail to appreciate the point made by the Senator from Maryland. I am grateful, as I am sure my colleague is, for the support we have always received from the Senator from Maryland with reference to these appropriations. But it seems to me that the argument the Senator now makes—that this work can be of no great utility to the people of Oregon—is not applicable at this time. That is an argument that would have been proper at the time we commenced the construction of this work, it seems to me. Besides, the Senator is much mistaken if he believes that the completion of this canal and locks will not of itself be an inestimable benefit to the people of Oregon, Washington, and Idaho.

But Congress has already appropriated over $2,000,000, and the work is almost completed, so that we can see the end at last of this great enterprise; and when we are about to reap the benefit of these appropriations that have been made from time to time in the last seventeen years, it seems to me it is unwise to make any reduction, and that the only wise thing to do is to make whatever appropriation may be necessary to enable the work to go on to a finish.

The Senator from Maryland says that this sum is sufficient. That is simply the Senator's statement, and he doubtless believes that it is sufficient. But, as against the statement of the Senator from Maryland, I place the statement of the engineer in charge of the work, who says it is not sufficient; that it is not nearly sufficient. If the engineer in charge tells the truth, and is not mistaken, it is not nearly sufficient. Especially is it not sufficient if this clause in the bill is to remain by which 25 per cent of the appropriation in this bill is to be retained and thrown over until the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895.

I hope, therefore, Mr. President, that my amendment will be adopted. It is a reduction of the amount proposed by the House, as I said before, of nearly $180,000.

Mr. GORDON. Mr. President, I desire to suggest, simply in the interest of the economy of time, to the chairman of the Appropriations Committee that we might take a vote on the amendment to the amendment as if it were the amendment of the committee amended by the amendment suggested by the Senator from Oregon. A vote on the amendment to the amendment will test the sense of the Senate at any rate, so that the vote upon the amendment as amended, or not amended, as the case may be, will be a formal one.

Mr. ALLISON. I will say to the Senator from Georgia that that is precisely what I want to do in having the yeas and nays on the amendment of the Senator from Oregon to the amendment of the committee.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment to the amendment.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I do not know how he would vote. I therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. BERRY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON], but I transfer the pair to my colleague [Mr. JONES of Arkansas] and vote "nay."

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. As he is absent, I withhold my vote. I desire to state that my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN].

Mr. McMILLAN (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE].

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. In his absence I withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. CULLOM. I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD]. In his absence I withhold my vote.

Mr. BATE. In announcing my pair I stated that I did not know how my pair would vote. I have since learned from his colleague that he would vote "yea." I should vote "nay" if he were present, and therefore shall not change my announcement.

The result was announced—yeas 24, nays 20; as follows:

YEAS—24.

So the amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, which was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. HISCOCK presented a petition of the H. B. Claiborne Company and sundry merchants and manufacturers of New York, praying for the repeal of the so-called Sherman silver law, which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. STEWART presented a petition of the Legislature of Nevada, praying for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal, which was ordered to lie on the table.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. PADDUCK. I am directed by the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry to report an amendment intended to be proposed to the deficiency appropriation bill, the amendment proposing to appropriate $40,000 for investigations and tests of American timber.

In support of the amendment I present a large number of petitions from railroad companies, experts, workers in wood, etc., praying that the appropriation be made.

I move that the amendment be referred, with the accompanying papers, to the Committee on Appropriations, and that the amendment be printed.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. VOORHEES, from the Committee on the Library, to whom was referred the joint resolution (S. R. 146) for the restoration of the books of the Beaufort Library Society, of Beaufort, S. C., reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

ARREARAGES OF DISTRICT TAXES.

Mr. HUNTON. I am directed by the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 10189) to amend the act of May 6, 1890, fixing the rate of interest to be charged on arrearages of general and special taxes now due the District of Columbia, and for other purposes, to report it without amendment. I beg to state that the first section of the House bill is identical with a bill the Senate has passed and is now on the Calendar of the other House, but the House passed this bill with a second section, which I will read:

That all drawback certificates outstanding, issued by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia under the act of June 2, 1890, shall be receivable for all arrears of general taxes due and unpaid to June 30, 1892.

The committee instructs me to report the bill back favorably and to ask for its immediate consideration.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill reported by the Senator from Virginia?

Mr. SHERMAN. What is the object of it? Let it be read first so that we may see what it is.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be read for information. The Chief Clerk read the bill.

Mr. HUNTON. I beg leave to say to the Senator from Ohio, if he still has any trouble in regard to the second section, that the Senate passed a bill granting to persons who own lands that were formerly owned by miners the privilege of paying the arrearages with remission of penalties and interest at 6 per cent.

Mr. SHERMAN. I remember that such a bill as that was passed by the Senate. This is a House bill?

Mr. HUNTON. This is a House bill, but it embodies in the first section the bill passed by the Senate without objection.

Mr. SHERMAN. But as to the last section, I do not understand the nature of the certificate referred to. Let the last section of the bill be read again.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The last section will be again read. The Clerk read as follows:

SEC. 2. That all drawback certificates outstanding, issued by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia under the act of June 2, 1890, shall be receivable for all arrears of general taxes due and unpaid to June 30, 1892.

Mr. SHERMAN. What are those drawback certificates. I never heard of them before.

Mr. HUNTON. The drawback certificates are certificates of indebtedness of the District of Columbia growing out of the fact that there were erroneous assessments. These drawback certificates are by the second section authorized to be received only in payment of arrearages of taxes, not upon ordinary taxes.

Mr. SHERMAN. Were they authorized by law?

Mr. HUNTON. They were authorized by law.

Mr. HARRIS. We can not hear either the Senator from Ohio or the Senator from Virginia on this side.

Mr. SHERMAN. I remember the other day a bill was passed that gave to delinquent taxpayers a very great advantage over all the other taxpayers in the District of Columbia, and permitted all back penalties and things of that kind. That is a kind of legislation which is not generally very fair or equitable. This additional clause about drawbacks I cannot understand, because I do not know of any law authorizing the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to issue drawbacks in the shape of promissory notes or something that may be used to pay taxes. I never heard of that having been done.

Mr. McPHERSON. What is the object of this bill, and he is speaking on my side.

Mr. SHERMAN. I have not heard of it. I have not heard of it. The first part of the bill, which passed the Senate, which I doubted very much, the money payers of the taxes, now after the law is passed, although it may be a good thing, were some of the best of the land.

But here is a new section issued by the District of Columbia of a tax. And I want to know whether any action has been taken to issue drawback certificates, and this is a new and different thing about the drawback. It seems to be a new thing, but I am not sure.

Mr. HARRIS. I have not heard of it many years ago in a similar case. It has been imposed, it was a kind of a tax, excessive, and Congress passed a law, and the issuance of what are called drawback certificates of the District of Columbia, and the drawback certificates has of course been issued.

While I am up I want to say another word. I am eminently proper to have right to propose a bill. The Senate passed a bill upon the same subject, and sent it to the House of Representatives. When it came upon the table of the House, the House passed a bill, and the Senate bill took up their own bill, and sent it to the House. If it were not for the fact that it was a mere oversight, but it has been a practical failure. The Senate bill has been a bill of limitation in the House, and it has been infrequently in precisely the same way, and it is for our action upon these bills.

I have no right from my position to say that the committee branch, but so far as I am concerned, the House passed a bill, which is in the possession of the House, and they consider these things, and if they do not like it, they can consider it and send it back to the Senate. At this time henceforward I shall oppose a bill. The Senate, so far as I have known, has been a bill of limitation such as that, to say the least, and the House send us a bill upon the same subject, and the Senate committee has been to report that the House bill is a bill of limitation, and to postpone our own bill, and to consider it as a bill of limitation of our own. I think that the proper course is to pass legislation, and I hope the Senate will do so.

Meritorious as this bill is, believing in its merits, and to have legislation upon this subject, and the House bill provides, I voted in favor of the bill, and against reporting the House bill back to the Senate upon the subject and sent it to the other House.

That is all I desire to say, sir.

Mr. SHERMAN. If the Chairman of the Committee on the District of Columbia will approve this bill I do not make any objection to it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the consideration of the bill?

Mr. HALE. What is the bill? I have not heard of it. Committee on Appropriations.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

Mr. McPHERSON. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

Mr. McPHERSON. What is the bill? I have not heard of it. Committee on Appropriations.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

Mr. HALE. What is the bill? I have not heard of it. Committee on Appropriations.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

Mr. McPHERSON. What is the bill? I have not heard of it. Committee on Appropriations.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

Mr. HUNTON. The bill is on the Calendar of the House.

Jersey [Mr. McPherson] withdraws his objection to the present consideration of the bill reported by me from the Committee on the District of Columbia.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair understands the Senator from New Jersey has withdrawn his objection to the consideration of the bill reported by the Senator from Virginia.

Mr. HUNTON. As the Senator from New Jersey withdraws his objection, I ask that the bill be put on its passage.

Mr. ALLISON. If the bill does not lead to debate I shall not object.

Mr. HARRIS. It will not lead to a minute's debate. I beg to assure the Senator from Iowa.

Mr. ALLISON. Very well, then I shall not object. Others wise I shall be constrained to do so.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

PORT OF COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA.

Mr. ALLISON. Is the morning business concluded?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It is not concluded. Are there further reports of committees?

Mr. FRYE. I am directed by the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 10391) to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the establishment of a port of delivery at Council Bluffs, Iowa," to report it without amendment. It will take one second to pass the bill. The Senator from Iowa desires that it shall be passed.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be read for information, if there be no objection.

After reading, the Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the bill as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

ASSIGNMENTS BY DEBTORS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate a bill from the House of Representatives.

The bill (H. R. 10236) relative to voluntary assignments by debtors for the benefit of creditors, in the District of Columbia, and to amend section 782 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to the District of Columbia, was read the first time by its title.

Mr. VEST. I ask the Senate to consider that bill. The same bill identically, word for word, has been reported to the Senate favorably and unanimously by the Judiciary Committee, and the bar of the District of Columbia are asking daily for its passage. It is a matter of considerable importance, and unless passed now it will not be enacted into a law at the present session. The same bill identically is now upon the Calendar of the Senate.

By unanimous consent, the bill was read the second time at length, and considered as in Committee of the Whole.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. VEST. I move that Senate bill 3768, relative to voluntary assignments by debtors for the benefit of creditors in the District of Columbia, and to amend section 782 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia, be indefinitely postponed.

The motion was agreed to.

EXHIBIT AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I am instructed by the Select Committee on the Quadre-Centennial, to whom was referred the joint resolution (S. R. 148) authorizing the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution to send articles illustrative of the life and development of the industries of women to the World's Columbian Exposition, to report it with an amendment, and I ask for its present consideration. There are only six lines of the joint resolution.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the joint resolution.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. McPHERSON, by request, introduced a bill (S. 3875) to extend the patent granted to William Farr Gooldwin for an improvement in railway tracks and trucks; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Patents.

Mr. ALST introduced a bill (S. 3876) authorizing the St. Louis and Madison Transfer Company to construct a bridge over the Mississippi River; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. PALMER introduced a bill (S. 3877) authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Mississippi River to the city of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, from some suitable point between the north line of St. Clair County, State of Illinois, and the southwest line of said county; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. CHANDLER (by request) introduced a joint resolution (S. R. 156) for the appointment of an immigration commission; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Immigration.

AMENDMENTS TO BILLS.

Mr. BLACKBURN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill (S. 2326) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Companies to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York City and the State of New Jersey; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. PADDOCK submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

He also submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs, and ordered to be printed.

WRECKING PRIVILEGES ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Mr. McHILLAN submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be requested, if not inconsistent with the public interests, to inform the Senate in regard to the present status of the arrangements to provide for reciprocal wrecking privileges to be enjoyed by the citizens of the United States and on the Dominion of Canada, on the Great Lakes and their connecting waters, under the laws already enacted by the respective governments.

REPORT ON ROCK CREEK SEWER.

Mr. McHILLAN submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved, That of the report of the Engineer-Commissioner of the District of Columbia submitting estimates of the cost of converting Rock Creek into a closed sewer, being Senate Miscellaneous Document No. 21, Fifty-second Congress, second session, 500 additional copies be printed, 250 of which shall be for the use of the Senate and 250 for the use of the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

COMMITTEE SERVICE.

On motion of Mr. GORMAN, the Vice-President appointed Mr. WHITE a member of the Select Committee on Indian Depredations in place of Mr. Carlisle, resigned.

SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there further morning business? If not, that order is closed and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. ALLISON. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10238) making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The pending question is on the amendment of the Committee on Appropriations, on page 99, which will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 99, lines 14 and 15, the committee report to strike out the words:

Or the members failing to the election of members of Congress.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The yeas and nays have been ordered up on agreeing to the amendment. Under the agreement of the Senate no further debate is in order. The roll will be called.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CHANDLER (when his name was called). On this question I am paired with the junior Senator from New Jersey [Mr. BRADEN]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. MILLS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASHY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PROCTOR (when his name was called). On this question I am paired with the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL]. If he were here he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. TILLER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY]. If he were present he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. SHOUP. My colleague [Mr. DUBOIS] is absent on account of sickness.

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. BUTLER. I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]. If he were present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. HUNTON. My colleague [Mr. DANIEL] is paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. MITCHELL].

Mr. BATE. I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN]. I do not know how he would vote on this question. Were he present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PUGH. I wish to announce the pair of the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT] with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON]. If the Senator from Georgia were present he would vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE. My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is absent on reason of indisposition. He has a general pair with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON]. If my colleague were present he would vote "nay."

Mr. MITCHELL. I am paired with the senior Senator from Virginia [Mr. DANIEL]. If he were here I should vote "yea." He would vote "nay" if he were present.

The result was announced—yeas 27, nays 21; as follows:

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the bill (H. R. 10345) making appropriations for the payment of invalid and other pensions of the United States for the year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 10236) relative to voluntary assignments by debtors for the benefit of creditors, in the District of Columbia, and to amend section 782 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the District of Columbia.

A bill (H. R. 10189) to amend the act of May 6, 1890, fixing the rate of interest to be charged on arrearages of general and special taxes now due the District of Columbia, and for other purposes; and

A bill (H. R. 10291) to amend an act entitled "An act to provide for the establishment of a port of delivery at Council Bluffs, Iowa."

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Mr. SHERMAN. With the consent of the Senator having charge of the appropriation bill, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business for a very brief period.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business. After fifteen minutes spent in executive session the doors were reopened.

HOUSE BILL REFERRED.

The bill (H. R. 10345) making appropriations for the payment of invalid and other pensions of the United States for the year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes, was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10238) making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

Mr. ALLISON. On behalf of the Committee on Appropriations, I now have the honor to report to the Senate the bill which I send to you.

to offer to the clause relating to the Botanic Garden, on page 103, I will send the amendment to the desk. It is to perfect an amendment already made on the motion of the chairman of the committee.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 103, line 21, after the word "conservatory," it is proposed to insert "gate" and walk on Pennsylvania avenue front, granolithic walk on First street from Pennsylvania avenue to Maryland avenue, and for electric light for police purposes;" so as to read:

Botanic Garden. For repair and alterations at Botanic Garden, including new boiler for main conservatory, gate and walk on Pennsylvania avenue front, granolithic walk on First street from Pennsylvania avenue to Maryland avenue, and for electric light for police purposes, under the direction of the Joint Committee on the Library, $6,900.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN. I desire to offer an amendment to the bill, to come in at the bottom of page 41, which is to insert a new item of appropriation.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 41, after line 24, it is proposed to insert:

To enable the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for and to maintain the redemption of the United States notes according to the provisions of the act approved January 14, 1875, entitled "An act to provide for the resumption of specie payments, $50,000; and at the discretion of the Secretary, he is authorized to issue, sell, and dispose of, at not less than par in coin, either of the description of bonds authorized in said act, or bonds of the United States bearing not to exceed 3 per cent interest, payable semiannually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after five years from their date with like qualities, privileges, and exemptions provided in said act for the bonds therein authorized, to the extent necessary to carry said resumption act into full effect, and to use the proceeds thereof for the purposes provided in said act and none other.

Mr. STEWART. I raise the point of order against that amendment. It is general legislation on an appropriation bill, and against Rule XVI, the third subdivision of which I should like to have read.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. President, I have carefully examined the rule. I am quite well satisfied that the point of order is not well taken or I should not have offered the amendment.

The amendment was acted upon by the Committee on Finance, was reported to the Senate, and referred to the Committee on Appropriations. It contains a new item of appropriation to carry into effect the existing law. It is not general legislation in any sense of the word.

The only legislation contained in this provision is to add another form of bonds to the forms of bonds now authorized by law. It is special legislation, relating to a particular matter, and such legislation is contained in almost every appropriation in the bill. It contains a mere reference to a special subject matter, and is not general legislation in itself.

The rule was very properly established that general legislation, that is, new legislation in regard to matters which are not on the statute books, should not be introduced on appropriation bills. This amendment simply provides the sum of $50,000 to be expended in preparing a particular kind of bond, instead of some other kind of bond already provided for by law; and in no respect can it be considered as general legislation on an appropriation bill. It only relates to the particular matter referred to. That is all there is in the case.

My friend from Nevada [Mr. STEWART] may think that this proposes legislation in some way or the other affecting the silver question. How it does I can not imagine, for the only object of offering the amendment is to enable the Secretary of the Treasury, in case an emergency should arise under the law which already exists in regard to a fund of $100,000,000 provided for in two or three laws, to issue a 3 per cent bond, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after five years, instead of a 4 per cent bond running for thirty years, or a 4½ per cent bond running for fifteen years, or a 5 per cent bond running for ten years.

I have said about all I desire to say now, either on the merits of the proposition, because they are very plain and simple, or on the question of order.

To say that this is general legislation is a departure from the meaning of the words "general legislation;" because if this is general legislation, then no legislation can be inserted by the Committee on Appropriations in respect to any item contained in an appropriation bill which changes in the least existing law.

Special legislation relates to a matter which is distinctly pointed out either in the amendment or in the law itself; and this is special legislation providing for an emergency which could not have been foreseen ten or fifteen years ago when the refunding act was passed. When the refunding act was passed, which prescribed the kind of bonds that might be issued, no one dreamed that it was possible for the United States to borrow money at a less rate than 4 per cent.

Now, it can be done, as I believe, at 3 per cent, and I am desirous of giving to the new Administration coming into power all the facilities which can possibly be given them to enable them to sustain the public credit, and instead of selling 4 per cent bonds to sell 3 per cent bonds.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to ask the Senator from Ohio a question, as the point of order has been raised. Do I understand that the present law authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue coin bonds at 4 and 4½ per cent?

Mr. SHERMAN. Certainly.

Mr. GORMAN. And that this proposition limits the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury to a 3 per cent bond?

Mr. SHERMAN. It simply adds to his authority by allowing him to issue a 3 per cent bond, instead of either of the other forms of bonds. It is not my intention to repeal the old law at all. I simply intend to give the Secretary of the Treasury the discretion, and I feel bound to say that I have already seen, and indeed the committee have seen, the honorable gentleman who is soon to become Secretary of the Treasury.

While he hopes and expects that no contingency will arise in which he will be called upon to sell bonds to maintain the reserve now required by law, he thinks the very fact of having the power to sell a 3 per cent five-year bond would probably enable him to avoid the necessity of selling these bonds. Under existing law he could not, in order to maintain the reserve, sell any other kind of bonds except those I have named, the 4 per cent bonds, the 4½ per cent bonds, and the 5 per cent bonds. But no Secretary of the Treasury ought to be required to issue that kind of bond when the credit of the Government of the United States would enable him to sell a 3 per cent bond.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to ask the Senator from Ohio a further question. If the emergency to which he refers should arise, under this proposition of his, should it be enacted into a law, I ask whether it is not the fact that authority exists now with the Secretary of the Treasury to issue a 4 or a 4½ per cent bond?

Mr. SHERMAN. Undoubtedly.

Mr. GORMAN. So that the adoption of this proposition would be simply to save the interest between a 3 per cent bond and a 4 or a 4½ per cent bond.

Mr. SHERMAN. The Senator has stated it correctly.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. President.

Mr. COCKRELL. I hope the Senator from Nevada will let me ask a question. I want to respond to what the Senator from Maryland has said.

Mr. STEWART. I want to respond, too.

Mr. COCKRELL. I want to ask the Senator from Ohio if the 4 per cent bonds are not now commanding such a premium in the market that the rate of interest is less than 3 per cent.

Mr. SHERMAN. I can not now answer precisely.

Mr. COCKRELL. Does not the Senator know that the rate of premium now paid upon the 4 per cent bonds makes the investment yield less than 3 per cent?

Mr. SHERMAN. Well, Mr. President, it may be so as to the outstanding bonds, but I do not know what the effect would be upon the market when we come to issue new bonds.

Let me answer the Senator in this way: Is the Senator from Missouri desirous that we should issue now a thirty-year bond payable at 4 per cent even at any discount? My idea is—and I think it is the idea of the Senator, because I believe he and I concur in this—that no bond of the Government of the United States ought to be issued to run for any considerable period of time.

I should be perfectly willing, instead of five years to make the period three years, or to make the bonds redeemable at the pleasure of the Government of the United States. There is this objection. We can not issue bonds now and maintain the reserve except by issuing a bond running thirty years, fifteen years, or ten years, bearing 4, 4½, or 5 per cent interest. Therefore, whatever may be the rate at which we can sell, it would be far better to sell a bond running a short period, which may be paid off at any time, and thus stop the payment of all interest.

Mr. COCKRELL. The only point I was making was that there was no economy so far as the amount of money realized from a 3 per cent bond over the existing bonds is concerned. On the contrary, the 4 per cent bonds would bring more in the money market and the investment would be at a less rate of interest than 3 per cent. I have in my hand from the Treasury Department the rates of interest yielded upon these bonds month by month.

Mr. SHERMAN. I will answer in another way, conclusively. As a matter of course, if the Secretary of the Treasury finds the market so good that he can sell a bond at the lowest possible rate of interest, he is not precluded by the amendment which I have offered from issuing a bond that would bear 2 per cent or 2½ per cent interest or selling it at any rate of interest that he possibly can so as to get the largest sum of money at the least burden.

That is the object. It is an object which if I were on the other value of the gold. It is the enhanced value of the gold that enriches the money-lender, and he does not require large interest. The fact that we can borrow money for less than 3 per cent shows that investments in property are bad, because property is depreciated, and investments in money are made because money is advancing. What I object to is legislation to advance the value of money, and that is what this legislation means.

When the Treasury is plenteous with coin why authorize the Secretary to sell bonds and involve a debt, and buy coin to redeem the obligations of the Government? Why, I say, do that? You attempt to do indirectly what Congress has refused time and time to do directly. There is no obligation of the Government outstanding payable in gold. If the bankers want to produce a panic let them draw out the gold; but the Government should do as other governments do—protect the Treasury. It is the duty of the Secretary to protect the Treasury. The Bank of France will not pay out gold for shipment, and no foreign government will do it except England, and she stops it by raising the rate of interest. They pay out silver when it is more convenient. If it is to be transported they will not pay it in gold, but give out the silver.

Germany did the same thing in 1891 when she wanted to accumulate gold. She would not pay it out for shipment to persons who wanted large quantities of gold for exportation.

But here we propose to sell bonds and buy gold for the purpose of allowing the gold to be drawn out and shipped. What would be the operation of this measure? The national debt would be increased without limit. Two billion dollars might be added to the national debt if these operations were carried on. If this amendment should pass all that the bankers would have to do would be to take the greenbacks to the Treasury and draw out the gold. They would draw out the $100,000,000.

Then the Secretary would sell bonds and buy it back again. Then the Secretary would issue the same amount of greenbacks again, because he must keep the amount good, $346,000,000. Then the bankers would bring the new greenbacks to the Treasury and take out the gold again that he purchased, and then he would issue new greenbacks to take the place of those that were canceled; and so it would go on. It would be a continual current, and each time bonds would go out and the debt increased. The object of this proposed law is very plain. If 4 per cent bonds were sold they would sell at a premium, and the bankers do not like to buy them at a premium for banking purposes. They can only issue 90 cents on the dollar in currency. They want bonds that will be just at par, 3 per cent bonds, so that they can turn it over. They want to keep their money and to loan their money. They will draw the gold out of the Treasury, and the more bonds will go out for more banking, and they will increase the issue of the national banks, probably let it up to five, six, eight, or ten hundred millions.

They do not object to expanding the currency if you will give them a subsidy for doing it. But when you speak of issuing these Treasury notes on silver, on the money metal which has been recognized through the ages, which costs the Government nothing, no interest to pay on it, then they tell us it will drive gold out of the country. Any kind of money issued will have the same tendency. The value of money depends upon the quantity. Gold can not go until something is put out to take its place. National bank notes answer the demand for money. They will relieve gold so that it can not be sent abroad, just as much as any kind of paper. If you issue two or three hundred million dollars of bank notes, which could be done under this proposed law, your gold will go as a matter of course, and let me tell you it ought to go. Gold ought to go for our good and for the good of mankind.

We have too much gold. We want a better money than gold. We want silver. Silver is more regular in production and was recognized during all the controversy of eighteen or nineteen years from 1852 to 1870 by every writer of political economy on the continent of Europe as the better money, and they were disposed to demonetize gold, because silver was the better money. Chevalier, Mr. Laren, and the whole concourse of writers upon this subject undertook to demonstrate and did demonstrate that silver was the reliable metal, and they wanted to discard gold when California and Australia were producing that metal. But new silver mines were discovered. England, having demonetized silver in 1816 because it was the plentier metal, would not consent. When silver mines were discovered, Continental Europe consented to adopt England's policy to get rid of one of the metals. It was nothing else. That is what it was adopted for.

I say, what we want is good money, money that is not the caprice of legislation, money that does not depend upon the caprice of bankers. This amendment places the whole financial system at the will of the bankers, and they can get any amount of bank circulation they please. They can retire it when they please. When they want to make property dear and create a boom, so that the combination of bankers can sell, they can put out national bank notes without limit. When they want to make property cheap they can control the currency. The power to expand and control the currency ought not to be in private corporations, as this amendment proposes.

Now, we not only have our money, if we pass this proposed law, subject to the caprice of legislation, but we legislate that the volume of money shall be subject to the caprice of the national banks. The country is not prepared for that. Do Senators say that this is not general legislation when it changes the whole financial system? The only thing we have now between the omnipotent will of these bankers is the fact that the bond that has to be sold in case of emergency would be sold at a premium. It is not profitable to buy it for banking purposes. But you put the bond down so that it is profitable to buy for banking purposes and they can expand and contract your currency at will. I undertake to say it is not only general legislation, but of the most general kind, the most sweeping. Let the law stand as it is. Let the Secretary of the Treasury obey it. He has got the coin; let him redeem with the coin. He has got abundance of it. He wants to make a discrimination against silver for the purpose of depreciating that.

Eighteen years ago the basis of circulation and credit of the world was gold and silver coin. The whole amount of coin then formed the basis. The bankers said that silver was not good money for reserves and they collected the gold. Of full legal tender and limited legal tender there are $4,000,000,000 in the world still doing duty as money. But they say it is not good money and it is not fit for reserves. They have narrowed the reserves down to gold alone, which is a shrinkage of at least one-half of the basis of circulation and credit. What has followed? The necessary curtailment of credit has begun. It has been going on for years, until it has reduced the average range of prices 40 per cent and enhanced the value of gold fully 50 per cent.

Now, notwithstanding Congress time and again have decided that it would make no discrimination in the coin of the country that it should be used for the purposes of redemption, that every debt should be payable in either gold or silver coin and adhered to that policy throughout, with an overflowing Treasury of coin, it is proposed to give the Secretary of the Treasury authority to involve this country in an unlimited debt. It is claimed that it is necessary that it should be involved in that debt? Why is it necessary when there is coin enough and bullion enough that can be coined? Why is it necessary, I ask, to involve the country in debt? Why this emergency unless you want to change the whole policy, change the financial legislation, and say that the silver shall not be used for reserves at all? If it is not used as reserves you have in the United States over $550,000,000 of it that you must throw away.

When you have destroyed the price of silver and got it down to 20 or 30 cents an ounce, as you propose to do by repealing the act of 1890, then the silver of the world will have to be discarded. It is still doing duty. It is supplying the demand for money; but every time you have by legislation degraded it you have depreciated the market price of the bullion, and then we have heard the argument that it was not good money because it was depreciated in the market. After legislation has taken away the market, then they say the market price has declined and silver is not good money. We have to meet the question squarely and decide whether the $550,000,000 of silver is good money, or whether we will discard it and let the people lose it.

The bankers need not bring on any crash unless they want to do so. If the bankers want to draw this money out to sell to Austria, to enable her to get a gold reserve, let the New York bankers take the chances. If they can not get gold they have got to take silver, and it will supply every want. They do not make any run upon France. She keeps it because she has got her silver there and will pay out silver if they demand large quantities. She preserves her gold and keeps both on hand.

The Secretary of the Treasury has the same power and has the same duty under the law. But this scheme of selling a 3 per cent bond is to make a bond for the national banks, because so far as any emergency is concerned, as shown by the Senator from Missouri [Mr. COCKRELL], they can sell the 4 per cent bonds as cheaply for the Government as they can the 3 per cent bonds and save the same to the Government. But it is not so suitable to carry out the scheme of banking as the proposed law, and if this scheme of banking is carried out the national banks will own the country.

I insist upon my point of order.

Mr. VOORHEES. What is the shape of the question before the Senate?

Mr. SHERMAN. It is a mere point of order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. A point of order has been made by the Senator from Nevada [Mr. STEWART] against the amendment of the Senator from Ohio [Mr. SHERMAN].

Mr. SHERMAN. I think that ought to be decided now.

Mr. VOORHEES. Yes; I was going to say that I do not wish to address the Senate on the point of order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment reported by the Committee on Finance makes an appropriation to carry out existing law. It proposes to limit the authority of the Secretary of the Treasury under existing law, and does not, in the opinion of the Chair, propose new legislation. The Chair therefore holds that the amendment is in order.

Mr. STEWART. I appeal from the decision of the Chair and call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. HOAR. I move to lay the appeal on the table.

Mr. STEWART. On that I call for the yeas and nays.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion made by the Senator from Massachusetts to lay the appeal made by the Senator from Nevada on the table, on which the Senator from Nevada demands the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. QUAY (when Mr. BERRY's name was called). The Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY] is paired with me on this question. If he were present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. BUTLER (when his name was called). I understand from the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY] that his colleague [Mr. CAMERON] would vote "yea" on this question.

Mr. QUAY. I think my colleague if present would vote "yea."

Mr. BUTLER. Then I will vote "yea."

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

Mr. DAVES (when his name was called). The Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN] being absent, not knowing how he would vote, I withhold my vote.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. MILLS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. I am informed that he would vote "yea" upon this proposition, and I vote "yea."

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). On this question I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY]. If he were present I should vote "yea" and he would vote "nay."

Mr. POWER (when Mr. SANDERS's name was called). My colleague [Mr. SANDERS] is paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. CHANDLER] on this question.

Mr. WHITE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. PLATT. Has the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON] voted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded.

Mr. PLATT. I am paired with that Senator. I should vote "yea" if he were present.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I understand that the Senator from Idaho [Mr. DUPONT] would vote "nay" if he were present. He is detained from the Chamber by sickness. I have consented to pair with him, and I therefore withhold my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 28, nays 19; as follows:

YEAS—28.
Allison.	Frye.	Jones, Ark.	Ransom.

I think it is a sad showing of our country's financial condition. The Treasury of this country has been so badly managed that it is now in a state of bankruptcy. It is unable to pay its debts, and it is unable to pay its obligations to the people. It is unable to pay its obligations to the people, and it is unable to pay its obligations to the people.

It will be remembered that the Government has been struggling between the two parties, the Republicans and the Democrats, for many years. The Government has been struggling between the two parties, the Republicans and the Democrats, for many years.

States to buy these bonds when it has surplus money in its Treasury.

If we should be in the condition we were two years ago and have a surplus of forty or fifty million dollars in our vaults, and have our bonds out for forty or fifty million dollars, we would simply have to pay the premium on the bonds before we could extinguish them. That is not sound financial policy. The present is a mere temporary condition of our Treasury which will soon correct itself, and there is no reason why we should again go back to the old policy of selling bonds to be redeemed by the Government at five or ten or twenty years in the future.

I hope that we shall return to the sound policy laid down by Secretary Chase, and I hope that the Government will never again find itself in a condition where it will be compelled to sell a bond payable at a future time, and a bond that it will not have the option to recall and pay off whenever it has surplus funds in its Treasury.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. PLATT in the chair). The amendment proposed by the Senator from Texas to the amendment of the Senator from Ohio will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 11, after the words "United States," strike out "after five years from their date;" so as to make the amendment read:

To enable the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for and to maintain the redemption of United States notes according to the provisions of the act approved January 14, 1875, entitled "An act to provide for the resumption of specie payments," $50,000, and at the discretion of the Secretary, he is authorized to issue, sell, and dispose of, at not less than par in coin, either of the description of bonds authorized in said act, or bonds of the United States bearing not to exceed 3 per cent interest, payable semi-annually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States, with like qualities, privileges, and exemptions provided in said act for the bonds therein authorized, to the extent necessary to carry said resumption act into full effect, and to use the proceeds thereof for the purposes provided in said act and none other.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. President, if this was not a new experiment and if this was not merely to provide for an emergency I should feel disposed to assent to the proposition of the Senator from Texas, but for these reasons I think it ought not to be ventured on this bill.

England and some other countries do issue bills, exchequer bills especially, payable at the pleasure of the Government, and I am not sure but that as a permanent policy we might adopt the same rule and issue an annuity of 3 per cent or whatever the rate may be; but it is sufficient to say that this would be an experiment.

The amendment of the Finance Committee is merely to provide for an exigency. It is merely to provide for a possibility. I trust that it will never arise. I do not believe that any considerable sum of these bonds will ever be issued. At the same time we must provide for the contingency, because the present law contemplates that there shall be a maintenance of a fund of $100,000,000 in gold. That is provided for, and the law further provides that whenever the $100,000,000 is reduced below the amount, then the Government shall refuse to receive either gold or silver on deposit; it will not issue any more notes. So the $100,000,000 must be maintained.

It seems to me it is a great deal better to adopt some reasonable term. When I spoke a while ago I said I would be willing to say five or three years, but I do not think that is the opinion of others. We think we had better make it five years. A person would not care to make an investment that might be called in in three months. At three months or six months or a year it is a call loan. A man might not desire to invest money at the low rate of 3 per cent unless he can get five years for the bond to run.

Therefore, I appeal to the Senators on the other side whether on the whole this experiment had better not be tried and let us give it a term. Something was said about Governor Chase. If the Senator from Texas says he did, I will take his word for it, but I do not think that Secretary Chase ever recommended to have no minimum year. The five-twenties was one of the best devices of the war made by Governor Chase, as we called him, Secretary Chase. He reserved to the United States the right to redeem these bonds after five years; and if that principle had been inserted in the railroad bonds that were issued at the time, as the record will show I desired to have done, millions upon millions of dollars would have been saved to the Government.

But I think Secretary Chase always contemplated one short period during which the bonds might run, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after that time. The five-twenties, the ten-forties, and every bond that was issued during the war, even including the 7.5 per cent certificates ran for five years. Without some period to run I do not think they would have the command of the market so well.

However, that is a matter of detail. I leave it entirely to the Senate. A five-year 3 per cent bond, in my judgment, can be now sold in the market, but to reduce the time or make no time during which the bonds can run, and allow them to be called within six months or a year, may defeat the investment of vast sums of money if the bonds were offered or needed.

I doubt very much whether, under this proposed law, any considerable sum will ever be issued, because I believe the power to issue these bonds will enable the Secretary of the Treasury to maintain the reserve in the Treasury Department without the issue of the bonds. But if they are sold, they ought to be put so that they would bear the least burden upon the United States, and at the same time be most acceptable to common investors. I think the bonds now provided for by the Committee on Finance are nearer right as to time than any others which could be proposed.

Mr. PEPPER. Mr. President, I am opposed to the amendment offered by the Senator from Ohio, and also to the amendment to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS], for the reason that I do not believe there is any necessity for the Government to issue bonds at this time, and that, therefore, there is no necessity for making any appropriation for that purpose.

While I am not surprised at this proceeding, I feel a sense of amazement that at the close of the rule, if I may use the term, of the great party in this country which has been in power, with but a single exception, since 1861, we are confronted not only with an empty Treasury, but with a proposition to vote bonds upon the people, to tax the property of the citizens of this country for a new issue of bonds, when there are from $500,000,000 to $600,000,000 of specie in the Treasury of the United States at this hour.

Mr. BUTLER. Would it interrupt the Senator to ask him a question?

Mr. PEPPER. Not in the least.

Mr. BUTLER. If I am correctly informed on this subject the Secretary of the Treasury already has authority to issue bonds to sustain the reserve in the Treasury, and the practical effect of this measure would be to reduce those bonds from 4 and 4½ per cent to 3 per cent.

Mr. FELTON. Or less.

Mr. BUTLER. Or less. That is all. There is no proposition here to issue new bonds, but simply to arm the Secretary of the Treasury with authority to put out a 3 per cent bond instead of a 4 or 4½ per cent bond. I ask the Senator from Ohio if I am not correct in that statement.

Mr. SHERMAN. That is the only effect of the amendment I know of.

Mr. PEPPER. This is only a preparatory measure to accommodate the bankers, in my opinion. For the last sixty days there has been a slowly increasing volume of current from that direction to this Chamber, and it culminated a few days ago by a motion made by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] who is not now in his seat to take up the bill for the purpose of repealing the only silver legislation we now have. The reason alleged for that was, as we all remember, that gold was flowing out of the country, and that the first step toward a resumption of bimetallic coinage, to use the language of the Senator from New York, was the repeal of the silver coinage law, commonly known as the Sherman act, all preparatory to the proceeding which we are now asked to add to by this amendment. Immediately after the defeat of that proposition of the Senator from New York, and of a similar proposition in the House of Representatives, it was discovered that there was an abundance of money in the banks of New York City to accommodate the Treasury.

Mr. President, I believe that there is an abundance of both gold and silver to-day in the bank vaults and in the Treasury vaults without the issue of another dollar of bonds. It has been only a little more than two years, sir, since the Secretary of the Treasury, under and by virtue of the authority vested in him by law, visited the city of New York some six different times, and, if my memory serves me, within a period of about one hundred days he actually donated to the bankers of that region some $29,000,000 of the people's money.

What I mean by that is that while purchasing some $70,000,000 worth of bonds at a high premium he advanced nine months' interest at all events upon bonds not yet due, and which would not become due until 1907, amounting to something over $12,000,000, amounting in all to nearly $29,000,000, when there was no necessity for it, no demand coming from the people. Nor is there any demand now. Mr. President, coming up from the people of this country. It is all from that little center in New York City. There is where this appeal comes from.

In the name of the people whom I have the honor in part to represent I appeal to the Senate to vote down this proposed amendment and every other proposition looking in the direction of bonding the people of this country to the extent of another dollar.

Mr. FELTON. I understood the Senator from Kansas to say that in his opinion there was no necessity for this proposed legislation because no emergency would arise. I simply desire to

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment to the amendment.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. QUAY (when Mr. BERRY's name was called). The Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY] is paired with me upon this question. If he were present I presume he would vote for the amendment to the amendment.

Mr. GORDON (when Mr. COLQUITT's name was called). My colleague [Mr. COLQUITT] is paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON].

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired on this question with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. He is in favor of the amendment offered by the Senator from Ohio. I do not know exactly how he would vote on the amendment to the amendment. If he were present I should vote for it.

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. I do not know how he would vote on this question, and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY].

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GIBSON], but I am advised by his colleague that he would vote "nay" on this question, and I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE (when Mr. WALTHALL's name was called). My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is absent from the Senate on account of indisposition. I make that announcement for the day. He is paired generally with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON].

Mr. WHITE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. BUTLER. I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON].

Mr. COKE. My colleague [Mr. MILLS] is paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. PASCO. I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I wish to announce that I am paired on this vote with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 32, as follows:

So the amendment to the amendment was rejected.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question recurs on the amendment of the Senator from Ohio [Mr. SHERMAN].

Mr. GORDON. I ask that the amendment be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment of the Senator from Ohio will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 41, after line 24, insert:

To enable the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for and to maintain the redemption of United States notes according to the provisions of the act approved January 11, 1875, entitled "An act to provide for the resumption of specie payments, $50,000; and at the discretion of the Secretary he is authorized to issue, sell, and dispose of, at not less than par in coin, either of the description of bonds authorized in said act, or bonds of the United States bearing not to exceed 3 per cent interest, payable semiannually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after five years from their date, with like qualities, privileges, and exemptions provided in said act for the bonds therein authorized, to the extent necessary to carry said resumption act into full effect, and to use the proceeds thereof for the purposes provided in said act and none other.

Mr. PUGH. Is an amendment to the amendment now in order?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. An amendment to the amendment is in order.

Mr. PUGH. I have no desire to consume the time of the Senate in adding anything to what has already been said upon this question. It has been fully discussed and I have no doubt is well understood. I content myself with offering an amendment to the amendment, upon which I ask for the yeas and nays.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment to the amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. Add the following proviso to the amendment:

Provided, That no bond is authorized to be issued and sold under this act shall be issued and sold by the Secretary of the Treasury until the amount of the coin redemption fund reserved in the Treasury under existing law shall be reduced to $500,000 by the actual redemption of the Treasury notes authorized to be redeemed under the act hereby amended; and in the event of such reduction to $500,000 in coin, no greater amount of said bonds shall be issued and sold under this act than is necessary to keep said redemption fund equal to $500,000 in coin.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is the demand for the yeas and nays seconded on the amendment of the Senator from Alabama to the amendment of the Senator from Ohio?

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. PUGH. I will add that the policy declared in my amendment is the policy for which the lamented Beck contended in the Senate for many years, and in that purpose of his he had the concurrence and hearty support of nearly every Democratic Senator.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Alabama [Mr. PUGH] to the amendment of the Senator from Ohio [Mr. SHERMAN].

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. QUAY (when Mr. BERRY's name was called). The Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY] is paired with myself on this question. If he were present I presume he would vote "yea." I should vote "nay."

Mr. BUTLER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON].

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. I should vote "yea" if he were here.

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN].

Mr. COKE (when Mr. MILLS's name was called). My colleague [Mr. MILLS] is paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). Upon this question I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. WHITE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

The roll call was ordered.

Mr. PETTIGREW (after having voted in the affirmative). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN]. I understand that if he were present he would vote "nay," and I withdraw my vote.

Mr. CAREY (after having voted in the negative). I desire to withdraw my vote, as this may be construed to be a party question. I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY]. I do not know how he would vote on this question, but I withdraw my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 31, as follows:

Mr. BLACKBURN. I then withhold my vote, as I am joined with that Senator. Were he here I should vote "nay."

Mr. BRUCE. No; that is not the point. I am not going to

Mr. SHERMAN. I not only have no objection to the amendment of my colleague, but I believe that is now in what is known as the act of 1890, sometimes called the Sherman law; that it is now the law of the land, a declaration of public policy that all forms of the money of this country shall be maintained at a parity with each other. I believe the declaration in the amendment of my colleague is substantially that declaration, and I shall vote for it with great pleasure.

Mr. TELLER. I should like to inquire of the Senator who moved this amendment, if he intends by it to include silver certificates?

Mr. BRICE. Silver certificates, gold certificates, Treasury notes, not issued under the act of July, 1890, and all other paper money issued by the authority of the United States.

Mr. TELLER. Does the Senator propose, now, that to the $346,000,000 of greenbacks payable in gold, and the Treasury notes of about $139,000,000 more, we shall add $327,000,000 of silver certificates in circulation? If so, it seems to me that this legislation will eventuate in putting up in the Treasury Department a very great burden, which has not heretofore been put upon it. The silver certificates are now circulating as money and are not redeemable in gold either by law or in practice, and I do not myself think that there is any necessity for redeeming them in gold.

Mr. VANCE. Mr. President—

Mr. McPHERSON. I desire to say a single word.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair has recognized the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE].

Mr. VANCE. Mr. President, the Senator from Colorado [Mr. TILMAN] anticipated the inquiry which I had endeavored to get the floor in order to make, by asking the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BAKER] if his amendment would include silver certificates, certificates issued to be paid in silver at the Treasury, payable on demand to the bearer.

If that be so, sir, then it seems to me that the amendment can only be offered in the interest of those who desire to increase the embarrassment of this country in regard to gold; because if it is impossible, or if we are finding it difficult to maintain sufficient gold in the Treasury, in the face of the great demand for it from Europe, to redeem the $346,000,000 of greenbacks, as a matter of course, when there is added to that the task of redeeming some four hundred or five hundred millions of silver certificates, the question becomes one too plain to a limit of any doubt as to its impossibility.

I ask the Senator from Colorado, what is the amount of silver certificates outstanding? I have no Treasury statement before me.

Mr. TELLER. About $327,000,000.

Mr. VANCE. Three hundred and twenty-seven million dollars. That, added to the $346,000,000 of greenbacks, would make in the neighborhood of $700,000,000 that we are to provide for, and we are to borrow gold in order to redeem those silver certificates, which are on demand payable in silver, we are to borrow gold to redeem them.

Why, Mr. President, if that becomes the law, as a matter of course we shall not be able to maintain the gold standard in this country. It will be utterly impossible to do so with all the gold we have and with all the bonds we can issue.

I trust, sir, that the Senate will vote down that proposition.

Mr. McPHERSON. If the amendment offered by the Senator from Ohio on my left [Mr. BRICE], shall be added by the vote of the Senate to the amendment of the senior Senator from Ohio on my right [Mr. SHERMAN], I shall be under the necessity of voting against Mr. SHERMAN's amendment.

The natural effect of it will be instead of simply supporting the greenbacks, as we propose to do under the SHERMAN amendment at a parity with gold and continuing as good as gold the $346,000,000 of them, which we have the pledge of the Government now to do, and have had this pledge since the passage of the resumption act, to maintain as good as gold, to add the further load of three hundred and odd millions of silver certificates and all the Treasury notes which have been issued, and all which may be issued, under the operation of the SHERMAN law.

The Treasury notes issued on deposits of bullion do not go into general circulation as the customs reports every day show. These notes are massed in New York and they come back every day and are redeemed through the custom-house by the Government. The banks do not hold them as a reserve. In some of the States you can scarcely find one of these Treasury notes held by the banks as a part of their reserve. Look at the daily customs receipts and you will find about 1 per cent of gold and about 9 to 10 per cent of the Treasury notes issued on the deposit of bullion coming back into the Treasury.

Mr. President, if you consider the great mass of these Treasury notes which are in the banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, and which may be sent back to the Treasury any day and gold demanded for them under the amendment offered by the Senator from Ohio [Mr. BRICE], you will see that if a hundred million of bonds were to be issued the parity might not be sustained.

We do not intend to allow the parity to be destroyed. The silver certificates are redeemable in silver coin. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized by law to pay the Treasury notes issued on deposits of bullion in silver coin. That naturally prevents them from coming into the Treasury for redemption, for the silver coin is of no greater value than the certificates. It operates as a stay. The parties holding them would say, "Well, we can pass these Treasury notes; they are accepted in payment of debts the same as gold is accepted, and if we send them into the Treasury we might get nothing but silver coin in exchange for them, and therefore we might as well keep our Treasury notes in circulation." The only safety we have is that the Treasury is authorized to pay Treasury notes and silver certificates in silver, and provision is made in the Sherman law of 1890 to coin silver and thus for this purpose.

But what more does the Treasury do? Whenever the notes come to the Treasury and gold is asked for they are redeemed in gold if we have gold and if the holder of the note demands it. Let the Treasury continue in this way and parity is effected.

Mr. TELLER. Does the Senator say that is done with silver certificates?

Mr. McPHERSON. I suppose it is done with them.

Mr. TELLER. Not at all.

Mr. McPHERSON. I think the Senator will find that the Secretary of the Treasury would do it with the silver certificates under normal conditions.

Mr. VEST. If the Senator will allow me, I have been informed that they have not been paying silver certificates in gold in New York. For six weeks the Treasury has not been paying out gold for silver certificates.

Mr. McPHERSON. That may be because there is an insufficiency of gold at present. That may be the reason why it has not been done; but at the same time all these different kinds of money are circulating to-day in harmonious relationship with each other, and no creditor refuses to accept any of this money; and I tell you, Mr. President, our safety consists in the fact that the Treasury may redeem these notes in silver dollars, and yet up to now the Treasury has given gold when gold was demanded. The terms of the law and the wisdom of the Treasury acting in concert has settled the question of parity.

The Senator from Ohio on my left [Mr. BRICE] proposes to throw wide open the door; and I say it will be inevitable, if you put this amendment on the bill, that instead of issuing a few millions of bonds to assist the $100,000,000 of reserve we now have, you will be required to issue just so many bonds and purchase just so much gold as the holders of the silver certificates and the holders of bullion certificates shall demand of the Treasury. They may call in certificates at one end of the Treasury, and you will have to pay gold out in exchange for them at the other end of the Treasury in a steady stream.

To my mind the whole object of the legislation proposed by the Senator from Ohio on my left [Mr. SHERMAN] will be defeated by the adoption of this amendment. I am in favor of maintaining all the money we have in circulation on a parity, and the Treasury can do that without any such legislation as this.

Mr. SHERMAN. Will the Senator from New Jersey allow me to call his attention to the amendment? Perhaps there may be some misapprehension as to it.

Mr. McPHERSON. Certainly.

Mr. SHERMAN. Upon examining the amendment of my colleague, which is very clear and which perhaps I had better read, the Senator will see that certificates are not included. My colleague's amendment is as follows:

And also to maintain at a parity and interchangeable at their nominal par all and every series of notes of the United States issued as an circulating as money.

That does not change in the slightest degree the form or character or the responsibility of the certificates. Here is a silver certificate. It is not a note. The distinction between a note and a certificate is very marked and known to every Senator.

Mr. McPHERSON. Does not the amendment include the Treasury notes?

Mr. SHERMAN. The certificate reads "that there has been deposited in the Treasury of the United States one silver dollar payable to bearer on demand." That is a certificate of deposit. It is not a note in any sense. Therefore, I think the amendment of my colleague is right.

The Treasury notes which are issued under the existing law are backed, as a matter of course, dollar for dollar with gold and with silver. I do not think there is any trouble about those notes. Whether they are in or out does not make any difference.

This amendment is nothing more than a declaration of public requested by the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN] to state that he is paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. If the Senator from Kentucky were present he would vote "yea" and the Senator from Vermont would vote "yea."

Mr. BUTLER (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]; but I understand he would vote "yea," as I would vote on this proposition. I therefore announce my pair with the junior Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT], who would vote "yea."

Mr. GORDON (when Mr. COLQUITT'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. COLQUITT] is paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON]. If they were both here my colleague would vote nay.

Mr. DAWES (when his name was called). The Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN] does not appear to be in his seat. I do not know how he would vote.

Mr. PUGH. My colleague [Mr. MORGAN] would vote nay.

Mr. DAWES. I would vote "yea." Therefore I will withhold my vote.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. That pair has been, by an arrangement with his colleague [Mr. GEORGE], transferred to the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. I vote "yea."

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). The pair which I had with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH] has been transferred to my colleague [Mr. WALTHALL], who is absent. I will therefore vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). On this question and all others I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. I do not know how he would vote.

Mr. HANSBROUGH (when his name was called). I am paired generally with the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER]. I am informed by his colleague [Mr. CULLOM] that the Senator from Illinois would vote "yea" on this question.

Mr. CULLOM. I think there is no doubt about that, as he has spoken on the question.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I would also vote "yea." I therefore transfer my pair to the Senator from Idaho [Mr. DEBOIS], who is absent owing to illness. I withhold my vote for the present.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. McMILLAN (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE], who I understand is paired with the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER].

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. The pair of the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER] with the Senator from Idaho [Mr. DEBOIS] has been announced.

Mr. McMILLAN. Then I will transfer my pair to the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN], and the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON] and myself can vote. I vote "yea."

Mr. PADDOCK (when Mr. MANDERSON'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. MANDERSON] was compelled to leave the Chamber a short time since, and is paired with the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN]. I do not know how my colleague would vote if here. I think probably he would vote "yea."

Mr. MILLS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON], who has been called from the Chamber this afternoon. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. PUGH (when Mr. PROCTOR'S name was called). The Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR] is paired with the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN]. The Senator from Vermont would vote "yea" if present.

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired on this question with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. BERRY]. If he were present I should vote "yea" and the Senator from Arkansas would vote "nay."

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GIBSON], but I understand that if he were present he would vote "yea." I therefore vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DANIEL (after having voted in the negative). I supposed the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE] was in the Chamber when I voted. I have a general pair with him. I withdraw my vote.

Mr. PADDOCK (after having voted in the negative). My colleague [Mr. MANDERSON] is paired regularly with the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN], but I understand that a temporary pair was made between the Senator from Kentucky and the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. That leaves my colleague unpaired. I will pair with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. I withdraw my vote.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I transfer my pair with the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER] to the Senator from Idaho [Mr. DEBOIS] and vote. I vote "yea."

Mr. ALDRICH (after having voted in the affirmative). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER], but being assured that he would vote "yea" if present, I have voted "yea."

Mr. KYLE. I was requested by the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY] to state that he is paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. CAREY], and if present would vote "nay."

Mr. GORDON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN]. I understand there is a temporary pair made between the Senator from Wyoming and the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE], so that I am relieved, if there is no mistake about the Senator from North Carolina not being paired with any one else.

Mr. GORMAN. That is right.

Mr. GORDON. Then I will vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. MITCHELL. My colleague [Mr. DOLPH] is detained from the Chamber by illness. He is paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. I am authorized to state that if my colleague were here he would vote for this amendment.

The result was announced—yeas 30, nays 16; as follows:

So the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. On Monday I hope the Senate will convene at 11 o'clock, making no change in the hour, and that we shall take up this bill and proceed with it until it is completed. I think that can be done on Monday. There are only two or three amendments remaining that will likely lead to debate. I desire very much to finish the bill on Monday. I do not propose to attempt any further progress to-night. I have promised the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] that I would yield sufficient time to enable him to call up a bill which he states is of pressing importance. I will move to adjourn when that is disposed of.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWERS, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the reports of the committees of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the following bills:

A bill (H. R. 1075) for the benefit of Logan, Simpson, Harding, and Hacket Counties, and of the city of Louisville, Ky., and of Sumner and Davidson Counties, Tenn.; and

A bill (H. R. 925) to create the California debris commission and regulate hydraulic mining in the State of California.

KANSAS CITY, PITTSBURG AND GULF RAILROAD.

Mr. VEST. I wish the Senate to consider a bill in regard to a railroad in the Indian Territory, which must be passed at once if at all. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill S. 3873 to authorize the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railroad Company to construct and operate a railroad, telegraph, and telephone line through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Indian Affairs with amendments.

The first amendment was, in section 3, line 39, after the word "by," to strike out "the," so as to read:

To appeal by original petition to the United States court held at Fort Smith.

The amendment was agreed to.

to report back adversely the bill (H. R. 456) to limit the jurisdiction of the district and circuit courts of the United States. I was requested to state that the Senator from Alabama [Mr. PUGH], the Senator from Texas [Mr. COKE], and the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE], dissent from this report. I desire that the bill be placed on the Calendar with the adverse report.

Mr. VEST. I simply wish to remark that I was detained from the committee meeting this morning by public business, but if present I should have joined with the Senators whose names have been given by the Senator from Massachusetts in a minority report upon the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be placed on the Calendar with the adverse report of the committee.

Mr. SAWYER, from the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads, to whom was referred the bill (S. 2439) for the relief of J. M. Lyon, submitted an adverse report thereon which was agreed to, and the bill was postponed indefinitely.

PRINTING OF EULOGIES ON DECEASED REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am directed by the Committee on Printing to report favorably two concurrent resolutions of the House of Representatives, and I ask for their present consideration.

The following concurrent resolution was read, considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That there be printed of the eulogies delivered in Congress upon the Hon. Melbourne H. Ford, late a Representative from the State of Michigan, 800 copies, of which 2,000 copies shall be delivered to the Representatives and Senators of that State, and of the remaining number, 2,000 copies shall be for the use of the Senate and 4,000 copies for the use of the House, and of the quota of the House of Representatives the Public Printer shall set aside 50 copies, which he shall have bound in full morocco with gilt edges, the same to be delivered, when completed, to the family of the deceased. And the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to have engraved and printed, at the earliest day possible, a portrait of the above to accompany said eulogies.

The following concurrent resolution was read, considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That there be printed of the eulogies delivered in Congress upon the Hon. John W. Kendall, late a Representative from the State of Kentucky, 800 copies, of which 2,000 copies shall be given to the Senators and Representatives of that State, and of the remaining number 2,000 copies shall be for the use of the Senate and 4,000 copies for the use of the House, and of the quota of the House the Public Printer shall set aside 50 copies, which he shall have bound in full morocco with gilt edges, the same to be delivered, when completed, to the family of the deceased. And the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to have engraved and printed, at the earliest day practicable, a portrait of the deceased to accompany said eulogies.

Mr. MANDERSON. I desire to state as to both these concurrent resolutions that they conform in their terms to the provision of the general printing bill, which has passed both Houses and is in conference.

Mr. COCKRELL. So I understand.

PUBLICATION OF CENSUS REPORTS.

Mr. MANDERSON. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate consider the bill (H. R. 8582) to provide for the publication of the Eleventh Census. The bill was passed over to enable the Senator from Missouri [Mr. COCKRELL] to make a little investigation concerning it. I feel that it is important it should be considered and passed before we close the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill. I therefore ask for its present consideration.

Mr. COCKRELL. The bill ought to be considered now.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. COCKRELL. Does the Senator from Nebraska know what will be the cost of the Statistical Atlas independent of the other volumes or whether it will be more expensive than the others?

Mr. MANDERSON. The estimated cost of the Statistical Atlas, for 1,734 copies, is $31,680. The additional 10,000 copies will make the total cost $234,680. That is the most expensive part of the publication. The report accompanying the bill, Report No. 1281, gives a full statement concerning the entire subject-matter.

Mr. COCKRELL. That is one of the volumes which will be called for very largely. I do not know whether that particular publication is a valuable one or not, but a great many people always want to see the atlas.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

JAMES MORRISON.

Mr. CHANDLER. I am directed by the Committee on Naval Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 1479) to remove the charge of desertion from the record of James Morrison, alias James C. McIntosh, to report it favorably without amendment, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be taken up for consideration.

The bill was read.

Mr. COCKRELL. I should like to see some explanation of the bill, proposing as it does to take the name away from and bounty after the lapse of forty years.

Mr. CHANDLER. There is a bill pending in the other House on the same point.

Mr. COCKRELL. I think it is a very important matter, and I want to see it.

Mr. HOAR. The bill went to the committee, and the Senator will allow me to make a statement. I am not sure if anybody wants to be bothered with it.

Mr. COCKRELL. I am not sure if anybody wants to be bothered with it.

Mr. HOAR. This person, I think, was a sailor, and I forgot the exact date, but about 1847, I think, he was assumed name. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California.

Mr. COCKRELL. I am not sure if anybody wants to be bothered with it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If the Senator will, he may state before the Senate a Committee of the Whole.

Mr. HOAR. Let me state the facts. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California.

Now, the question is whether or not that is a man who has been in the service of the Government, and who served through the war, and who was a sailor, and who was in the Navy and was on the California. I think he was a sailor, and he was in the Navy and was on the California.

Mr. COCKRELL. When the Senator is through with the facts, I remembered hearing of this case, and I think the facts in it. I think the charge ought to be removed from him, but the only question is in regard to the bounty.

Mr. HOAR. If the Senator will pardon me, I made a statement the other day, asking to put the bill on its passage when it came from the other House, and a Senator very properly asked that it be considered by a committee here. The committee have considered the bill and report it back favorably.

Mr. COCKRELL. What about the bounty?

Mr. HOAR. He is to have the benefit of the bounty, I think, under his own name without any effect whatever owing to his desertion when he was a boy.

Mr. CHANDLER. He deserted from the store ship Lexington in 1847. He served all through the war and was wounded at the battle of Mobile Bay. The Senator from Missouri asks the facts. It is a very meritorious case.

Mr. HOAR. The bill gives him pay, only up to the time of his desertion. There is no objection to that.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MATERIAL IN LIBRARY BUILDING.

Mr. VOORHEES. From the Select Committee on National Accommodations for the Library of Congress, I submit a report to which the resolution introduced by the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS] on the 30th of January last in regard to the purchase of building material from foreign countries to be used in the construction of the Library building. I ask that the report be printed for the use of the Senate.

The report was ordered to lie on the table, and be printed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed concurrent resolutions providing for the publication of the eulogies delivered in Congress upon the Hon. John W. Kendall, late a Representative from the State of Kentucky, and Hon. Edward F. McDonald, late a Representative from the State of New Jersey, and who were killed in the war.

The message also announced that the House had passed a concurrent resolution providing for the publication of the report of the Commissioner of Education, and I asked that the report be printed for the use of the Senate.

The message further communicated to the Senate resolutions commemorative of the life and services of Hon. John G. Warwick, late a Representative from the State of Ohio.

The message also announced that the House had passed the bill S. B. for the relief of the personal representatives of Adelia Cheatham, deceased, with an amendment, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed a bill H. R. 1036 for the benefit of the State of Kentucky, Logan and Shannon Counties, and of Louisville, Ky., and of Sumner and Davidson Counties, Tenn., and it was thereupon signed by the Vice-President.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. HALE submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill, which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MITCHELL submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill, which were referred to the Committee on Claims, and ordered to be printed.

INDEX OF GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS.

Mr. MANDERSON submitted the following concurrent resolution, which, with the accompanying paper, was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved, That the records of the House of Representatives, containing: That there be printed and bound in the Government Printing Office, 1,000 copies of a comprehensive index of the publication of the Fifty-first and Fifty-second Congresses, prepared by John G. Ames, such amendment of amendments as may be made by the Senate and House of Representatives, and 1,500 for distribution by the said Senate, of the following:

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PREDER, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on the 18th instant approved and signed the following acts and joint resolutions:

An act S. 741 to incorporate the Eclectic Medical Society of the District of Columbia;

An act S. 1683 for the relief of Mrs. Fannie N. Belzer;

An act S. 2852 to change the name of the Capital, North O Street and South Washington Railway Company;

An act S. 3336 to authorize the Union Railroad Company to construct and maintain a bridge across the Monongahela River; and

A joint resolution S. R. 136 to amend an act entitled "An act making Saturday a half-holiday for banking and trust companies in the District of Columbia," approved December 22, 1892.

The message also announced that the President of the United States had, on this day, approved and signed the act S. 2946 to amend an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Masonic Mutual Relief Association of the District of Columbia," approved March 3, 1890.

ESTATE OF ADELICIA CHEATHAM.

The VICE-PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill S. B. for the relief of the personal representatives of Adelia Cheatham, deceased, which was in line 5, to strike out the words "with interest" from October 20, 1868.

Mr. HARRIS. The effect of the amendment is merely to strike off the interest. The Senate passed the bill allowing interest, as I think ought to have been done; but I now move that the Senate concur in the amendment of the House of Representatives. The motion was agreed to.

SENATE CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. If there be no further morning business that order is closed, and the Calendar under Rule VIII is in order.

Mr. ALLISON. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill H. R. 10238, making appropriation for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

The motion was agreed to, and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill.

Mr. PLATT. I wish to call the attention of the chairman of the committee to the general provision on pages 2 and 3 about the payment of fees of commissioners and justices of the peace acting as United States commissioners. I suppose it is claimed that in some sections of the country there is an abuse of the authority of commissioners that costs the Government a good deal of money, and, if so, it ought to be rectified; but I think this provision would work great injustice and inconvenience in a good many of the States.

I therefore want to propose some amendments to it, which I should be glad to have the committee agree to, so that the matter may go into conference and be carefully considered in conference as to what is best to be done.

In the first place, in line 14, on page 99, after the words "revenue laws," I move to insert:

"Unless said fees have been taxed against and collected from the defendant or."

Mr. ALLISON. I have examined, so far as I could, the suggestion made by the Senator from Connecticut, and I think the amendments proposed—there are two or three of them—are an improvement. I should be glad if he would have printed in the Record, for the use of the conference, so that the other House may see the reason for these amendments, a letter which he was kind enough to show me.

Mr. PLATT. I shall be very glad to do so.

Mr. ALLISON. With that understanding I shall not object to the insertion of the amendments suggested by the Senator from Connecticut.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 99, line 14, after the word "laws," insert "unless said fees have been taxed against and collected from the defendant, or," so as to read:

And hereafter no part of any money appropriated to pay any fees to the United States commissioners, marshals, or clerks shall be used for any warrant, attachment, or other fees in proceedings under the internal-revenue laws, unless said fees have been taxed against and collected from the defendant, or unless the prosecution has been commenced upon a sworn complaint of.

Mr. GORMAN. That is all right.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT. At the end of line 18, on page 99, I move to insert "United States district attorney," so as to read:

Or upon a sworn complaint by a United States district attorney, collector or deputy collector of internal revenue or revenue agent.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT. Now, in order that the whole matter may go into conference, I move to strike out the proviso on the bottom of page 99 and running over to page 100. The letter which I will send up suggests what I think is a better provision. If that amendment is agreed to I will ask to have the letter which I present from the clerk of the court in Connecticut printed in the Record.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Connecticut desire to have the letter read?

Mr. PLATT. No; I do not ask to have it read. I desire to have it go into the Record for the benefit of the conference committee.

Mr. FAULKNER. I should like to have some reason stated why the Senator from Connecticut desires to strike out the proviso. It strikes me that that is a very important provision, one that is humane in its character, and should be enforced.

Mr. PLATT. In Connecticut there are practically but two commissioners who do any business in the State. They are at Hartford and New Haven. They transact all the business of trials before United States commissioners with less inconvenience to the State and more for the interest of the Government than would be the case if there was a commissioner in every county. The clerk of the court in Connecticut suggests a substitute for that provision which I think is better. My only idea is that the matter may go into conference and may be examined when it gets into conference.

Mr. ALLISON. I suggest to the Senator from Connecticut that he have the substitute read. I think it will perhaps meet the suggestion of the Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. GORMAN. Let the proposed amendment be read.

Mr. FAULKNER. I ask that it be read.

Mr. PLATT. The Clerk says:

"That downy would be good substitute for the whole business, commencing with the dollar, in line 10, of page 99."

If a prosecution shall be commenced under the internal-revenue laws or fees of any kind paid out upon proceedings commenced upon the complaint of the United States attorney for the district where the offense is committed, and it shall be his duty to present his complaint and carry on his prosecution before such proper magistrate residing convenient to the place of arrest where the attendance of the United States attorney, marshal, and witnesses and of the accused can be had at least possible expense to the Government.

Mr. HALE. Does that limit the prosecution to proceedings by the district attorney?

Mr. PLATT. The idea is that all complaints shall be commenced by the United States district attorney, and practically that is the case in Connecticut.

Mr. HALE. I thought the language commencing after "dollars," as it was read, confined prosecutions entirely to those initiated by the district attorney.

Mr. PLATT. It does.

Mr. FAULKNER. That I understand is the meaning of the substitute, but as the bill has been amended by the Senate it does not limit it to the district attorney.

Mr. GORDON asked the President of the Senate to call the roll.

Mr. GORDON asked the President of the Senate to call the roll.

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE (when Mr. WALTHALL'S name was called). My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is still detained from the Senate by indisposition. He has a general pair with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. PETTIGREW (after having voted in the affirmative). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN], and therefore withdraw my vote.

Mr. DIXON. I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] is paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. CULLOM. I inquire if the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY] was voted.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded as voting.

Mr. CULLOM. Then I withhold my vote, as I am paired with that Senator.

Mr. BUTLER. I am paired with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]. If he were present, I should vote "nay," and he would vote "yea."

Mr. HUNTON. My colleague [Mr. DANIEL] is paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE].

Mr. FAULKNER. I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. GORDON. I wish to announce the pair of my colleague [Mr. COLQUITT] with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON].

Mr. GEORGE (after having voted in the negative). I did not notice the absence of the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH] and voted. I have a general pair with him, and therefore withdraw my vote.

Mr. MITCHELL. I desire to state that my colleague [Mr. DOLPH] is detained from the Senate by illness.

Mr. HISCOCK (after having voted in the affirmative). Is the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES] recorded as voting?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded.

Mr. HISCOCK. Then I withdraw my vote, as I am paired with that Senator.

The result was announced—yeas 27, nays 20; as follows:

YEAS—27.

Allison,	Hawley,	Peffer,	Stewart,

So the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I offer an amendment, and ask to have it read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment of the Senator from Colorado will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 60, line 9, before the word "thousand," strike out "two hundred" and insert "one hundred;" so as to read:

For topographic surveys in various portions of the United States, $100,000.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I desire to have the whole amendment reported.

The CHIEF CLERK. In line 9, page 60, before the word "thousand" strike out "sixty" and insert "forty;" in line 16, page 60, before the word "thousand," strike out "seventy" and insert "one hundred;" and in line 9, page 61, before the word "thousand," strike out "four hundred and fifty-three" and insert "three hundred and eighty-three."

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Mr. President, the Senate Committee on Appropriations has added $64,000 to the appropriations for the Geological Survey as the bill came from the other House. The additions which have been made cover additional publications and the employment of two additional geologists. The amendments which have been made are in my opinion of the wisest character and add greatly to the usefulness and scope of the Geological Survey. When the appropriations were cut down last year the cuts were made by the Director of the Survey out of geology, the purpose, and the sole purpose, for which this whole institution was founded, yet the geological survey was the branch of the Department which bore the loss caused by the diminution of the appropriation.

The appropriation for this year as submitted by the House of Representatives is $389,000. The Senate committee has added to it, as I have stated, $64,000, making the total appropriation $453,000. However, the appropriation last year was in fact a good deal more. This was apparently about the appropriation of last year, but the appropriation is in fact a great deal more than appears in the particular items named. The appropriation last year for the Geological Survey, including its printing, its engraving, etc., was really $460,000; and with the appropriations of $389,000 as the appropriation bill came from the other House the additions made here will bring up the amount to nearly that sum.

The amendments which I have offered can be stated in a moment. The bill as it stands gives topography $200,000 and makes $60,000 of this amendment to be expended in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Texas, and the Territory of Oklahoma, one-half the remainder west of the one hundred and third meridian.

Mr. PLATT. What is the particular object of that work.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I will come to that. The proposed amendment strikes out one-half the amount appropriated and gives to those States which under this appropriation would be entitled to three-tenths a little more than that amount, leaving $40,000 instead of $60,000 to be expended in those States and making one-half the remainder to be expended as provided by the bill.

My amendment, then, raises the sum appropriated for the Geological Survey from $70,000 to $100,000. Some of that amount I understand should be expended and an amendment may possibly be offered requiring that it shall be expended in the Territory of Alaska, but whether it be expended there or not I think I can satisfy the Senate in a few moments that the appropriation should be at least one-half of the amount appropriated for topography.

This whole subject was discussed at some length, as many Senators will remember, about eight months ago. At that time, upon the motion of the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN], there were material cuts made in the sums which had theretofore been annually appropriated for the Geological Survey. It was then suggested, and a resolution was offered to the effect, that an investigating committee should be appointed as to the whole Geological Survey, to investigate its needs, its methods, the probable sum required for its continuance, the amount that would probably be required for its completion, and the number of years its completion would take. The Senate acted favorably upon that resolution and a special committee was appointed of which I was made the chairman. That committee has not reported. That committee comes before the Senate at this time without official information to give the Senate.

The special committee was appointed in the summer. At that time I had hoped and believed that we might in vacation institute these inquiries and take some testimony. I found that the other members of the committee as well as myself were more or less engrossed with political matters. The summer and fall were consumed in the Presidential election and there was no opportunity to bring the committee together during the vacation. When we met on the 1st of December, I had hoped that there would be still ample time and we might institute and proceed at least to some extent with the investigation. It first occurred that a member of the committee, the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. CAREY], was required to proceed to the State of Wyoming. We put off the meetings of the committee for him. Upon his return I was unfortunate enough to be confined to my house for a fortnight or more by illness, and we again postponed the investigation. The net result of the appointment of that committee, I regret to say, has been absolutely nothing, except that I have signed vouchers for a clerk who was appointed in the summer for three or four months; and outside of that I must say to the Senate that there has been no result accomplished.

But, Mr. President, this Survey needs investigation as much as it needed it a year ago. It is as much the duty of the Senate to look as carefully as it can, with the inadequate information at its command, into the affairs of the Geological Survey as it was six or eight months ago. I have been overwhelmed with letters and information and literature upon the subject. I have given it very much careful study. I am more convinced than I have ever been before that the great sums which we are expending year after year are unprofitably expended unless they shall code the geological, or you could never find the designation on the map. There must a surface map of the country before there is a map of the sub-structure of the earth. That is a manifest proposition. The topographic survey must precede the other.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. GORMAN. Mr. President, I only wish to say that I am in favor of the reduction of the expenditures of this particular branch of the Government. I had hoped that we should have been in a condition, after an examination of the entire affairs of this particular branch, to have intelligently determined upon the reduction that should be made in the different items of appropriation for it; but that examination has not been completed, and, therefore, we have been compelled to rely upon the information which comes to the Appropriations Committee from the two sides.

I believe, from all I have been able to learn on this subject, that the amount of appropriation and the distribution of it as reported from the committee are correct, if we retain the present organization of that branch of the service. If the Bureau is to continue and if the work is to go on to final completion under the present system, then I think we ought not to make the change proposed by the Senator from Colorado.

In voting against the decrease of this item I do so distinctly upon the ground that this is not the time nor have we sufficient information to make so radical an innovation as is proposed. I think it ought to go over until we can complete the thorough examination, which I trust will be made next year, and if it be in the interest of the Government to abolish the whole system I shall be very glad to so vote.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Will it interrupt the Senator if I make an inquiry of him?

Mr. GORMAN. Not at all.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I am reliably informed that work which has cost $2,000,000, which is ten years old, is still lying on the shelves of the Geological Survey unprinted. Does not the Senator from Maryland think we had better catch up with the work we have paid for in the past, rather than to appropriate new sums for the future to have more maps made, which will likewise lie eight or ten years before they are printed?

Mr. GORMAN. It is quite true that a large amount of work, which has already been practically finished, has not been printed. We have attempted to some extent to make provision for printing a portion of the work here. If the Senator would read the clear statement of Maj. Powell before the committee, and examine the maps which he has produced, finished work, he would, I think, be convinced that we must do one of two things, either stop this work or give the Director of the Geological Survey money enough to complete the work which is on hand. I think, however, we have not done more than that. The Senator's amendment I understand makes, in the aggregate, a total reduction of $160,000.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Oh, no, $70,000. It takes $100,000 from the topographical surveys and adds $30,000 to the geological surveys.

Mr. GORMAN. I happen to remember that the Senator moved to strike out "two hundred and sixty" and insert "one hundred and forty."

Mr. WOLCOTT. Oh, no; I have been very moderate. It simply leaves for topography and geology $100,000 each. That is all my amendment proposes to do.

Mr. HUNTON. One more cut like that would destroy the Bureau.

Mr. GORMAN. Possibly, but at the same time I state to the Senator, while I should be very glad to reduce this appropriation upon proper information, I am compelled to vote against the amendment for the large decrease of $100,000 in this item, because I think it might impair the efficiency of the Bureau and stop all its work. If it is thought best, and the Senate is willing to take the responsibility of stopping this work, I shall be very glad to vote for such a proposition, but if it is to continue we ought not to impair its efficiency. I shall therefore vote against the amendment.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. President, I shall be very glad to vote to stop all its work until the Bureau is properly organized and we know exactly what we intend to do. I do not propose to elaborate upon this subject, but I think it is the loosest and most unbusiness-like establishment which was ever organized in any government. I have said so much about it heretofore that I am not going to weary the Senate further, but the amendment of the Senator from Colorado is certainly in the right direction. I shall vote for the amendment. I shall not talk about the matter, because I think it is a disgrace to the Government that we have not examined it and organized it so that Senators voting for an appropriation may know exactly what they are doing.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE]. If he were present I would vote "nay."

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH]. If he were here I should vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. If he were here I should vote "nay."

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DAWES. I inquire if the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN] has voted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded.

Mr. DAWES. I shall be glad if any Senator can inform me how the Senator from Alabama would vote. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. BLACKBURN. The Senator from Alabama would vote "nay" if present.

Mr. HUNTON. I feel confident that the Senator from Alabama would vote "nay" on this amendment.

Mr. DAWES. Then I vote "nay."

Mr. HUNTON. I beg to say that my colleague [Mr. DANIEL] is paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE].

Mr. FAULKNER. I understand that the colleague of the Senator with whom I am paired is present. I should like to know from him how his colleague, if present, would vote on this question.

Mr. DIXON. I think my colleague [Mr. ALDRICH] if present would vote "nay."

Mr. FAULKNER. Under those circumstances I vote "nay."

Mr. BUTLER. I have a general pair with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]. I do not know how he would vote on this question and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. CULLOM. I withheld my vote a moment ago on account of my pair with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], but I am informed by a friend of the Senator that he would vote "nay" if he were present. I therefore cast my vote "nay."

Mr. WOLCOTT. I do not believe that the Senator from Delaware, if present, would vote "nay" on this amendment; not that I have the slightest interest in it, for there are lots of years ahead of us yet, but at the last session the Senator from Delaware voted uniformly in favor of the reduction of this appropriation. If, however, the Senator from Illinois has other information, I shall not raise any question about it. It is on account of the Senator from Delaware, not myself, that I speak.

Mr. CULLOM. I simply asked the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] whether he knew how the Senator from Delaware would vote, and he said he would vote "nay," on which statement I voted.

Mr. FAULKNER. If there is any trouble about the pair in that case, I will arrange to pair the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY] with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH], and let them stand paired on that question. That will allow the Senator from Illinois [Mr. CULLOM] to vote.

Mr. GORMAN. There are several Senators on this side who are authorized to vote on this question notwithstanding their pairs.

Mr. CULLOM. I withheld my vote until I made the inquiry and was assured that the Senator from Delaware, if present, would vote "nay." If there is any possible doubt about it I will transfer my pair to the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] and allow my vote to stand.

Mr. DIXON. I suggest to the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] that we transfer our pairs, so that his colleague [Mr. WALTHALL], with whom I am paired, may stand paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH], which will allow the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. GEORGE] and myself to vote.

Mr. GEORGE. Very well.

Mr. DIXON. I vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE. I vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 18, nays 37; as follows:

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. HOAR. I move an amendment, which I send to the desk.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I rise to a question of order. I believe the amendment which I offered was divided, and I desire to divide it properly. I withdraw the remainder of the amendment which would add to the appropriation.

Mr. HALE. The state of the last vote leads me to venture a suggestion to the Senate about the evil which is constantly showing itself here on the question of pairs. There is a very full Senate present, perhaps 70 members, and yet the vote discloses no such number. It is the habit, and a very good habit, for general pairs to be made almost always between Senators on the two sides of the Chamber, the foundation of the practice being that it shall apply to large and political questions.

In that way it is a great convenience, and a Senator's record is preserved by his pair being announced. But where, as is the case here, these pairs are considered as applying to every minor matter, every small vote on small things, which do not touch politics in any way whatever, where it is not known how a Senator upon either side would vote, pairs are constantly being announced. This practice hinders business, prevents us from getting a quorum, and sometimes keeps us suspended for the chance of getting two or three votes, when there are sixty Senators in the Chamber.

It seems to me that that is an abuse which each Senator who is paired can easily correct. I was paired for years with the former Senator from Kentucky, Mr. Beck, whom we all lament, and our pair was based upon the proposition that we each understood that the other might vote at any time when, in his judgment, it was not a question calling for the announcement of the pair. I do not think the pair was announced between us once in a month. I have now the same kind of a pair with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. RANSOM].

Only on large questions, where I am confident what his position would be, do I announce the pair or does he announce the pair. I do not think since the pair has been existing between us, it has been announced three times. Each of us votes on all ordinary questions whether the other is present or not to help to make a quorum.

We are near the end of the session, with but eleven working days left, and the time consumed by this daily announcement of pairs is a very material loss, and obstructs business. It seems to me that Senators can help this very much by liberalizing the arrangements about pairs.

Mr. HOAR. I move, on page 48, at the end of line 17, to insert what I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 48, after line 17, it is proposed to insert:

The Attorney-General is hereby authorized to appropriate, he shall so fit, the rooms in the City Hall now occupied by the Civil Service Commission for the use of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, or so much of them as shall be necessary. If said rooms, or any part thereof, shall be appropriated, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Interior to provide suitable quarters for the Civil Service Commission, and the sum of $500, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, is hereby appropriated for the rent and fitting up of the same, to be expended at the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. ALLISON. If the Senator from Massachusetts will yield to me for a moment, I will say that this whole matter is provided for in the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill. Apartments in the City Hall are assigned to this new court, and the authorization for the rent of a building for the Civil Service Commission is provided for in the bill.

Mr. HOAR. I was not aware that the committee had taken such action. I withdraw the amendment, and move another to come in at the same place.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Massachusetts will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 48, after line 17, it is proposed to insert:

The sum of $500, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, is hereby appropriated for the rent and fitting up of the same, to be expended at the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. ALLISON. I have no objection to the amendment, but I think the committee should have provided for the rent of a building for the Civil Service Commission in the bill.

Mr. HOAR. I have no objection.

Mr. ALLISON. I have no objection to the amendment, but I think the committee should have provided for the rent of a building for the Civil Service Commission in the bill. port, in compliance with request, to the Senate Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, upon Senate bill 3696, introduced January 4, 1893, by Hon. M. S. QUAY, entitled "A bill enlarging the limit for the construction of a post-office building at Allegheny, Pa.," which explains itself.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES R. LOW,
*Acting Supervising Architect,
House of Representatives.*

The Hon. COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS,

House of Representatives.

Mr. QUAY. In deference to the views of the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, I do not desire to ask for an immediate appropriation, but will modify the amendment so as to involve merely the increase of the limit of cost, leaving the appropriation to stand as it stood in the bill as it came from the House of Representatives. That will be to strike out, in line 9, the words "for completion" and insert in lieu thereof "for continuation," and then after the word "dollars," in the same line, to insert the increased limit of cost.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. In line 9, after the word "for," it is proposed to strike out "completion" and insert "continuation;" and in the same line, after the word "dollars," to insert "and the limit of cost of said building is hereby increased to $535,849.92;" so as to read:

For post-office at Allegheny, Pa.: For continuation of building under present limit, $15,000, and the limit of cost of said building is hereby increased to $535,849.92.

Mr. ALLISON. The words "under present limit" should be stricken out.

Mr. QUAY. Yes; strike out the words "under present limit," in line 9.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be read as modified.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to modify the amendment so as to read:

For post-office at Allegheny, Pa.: For continuation of building, $15,000, and the limit of cost of said building is hereby increased to $535,849.92.

Mr. ALLISON. One word before the vote is taken on the amendment. This is one of the buildings to which I alluded when we had under discussion the amendment for the erection of a public building at St. Albans, Vt. There is no additional appropriation here provided for, as the Senator from Pennsylvania has modified his amendment, though there will be, of course, in the future an additional appropriation required.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Pennsylvania.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. GORMAN. How much is the increase there, I ask the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations? I did not exactly catch the amendment.

Mr. ALLISON. Three hundred thousand dollars.

Mr. QUAY. The present appropriation, as appears in the letter just read by the Secretary, is $250,000, and the limit proposed here is $535,849.92.

Mr. ALLISON. The increase is about $280,000.

Mr. QUAY. On a hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars of the money appropriated there has already been applied to the purchase of a site. There are $74,000 still applicable to the erection of a building, including the $15,000 provided for in this bill.

The Treasury Department reports that there is sufficient money on hand unexpended, to construct a one-story building sufficient for the present needs of the post-office only; but that a building commensurate with the importance of a city of 105,000 inhabitants, which with the increased prosperity and the increase of the population in that section of Pennsylvania, will probably number 200,000 at the next census, will cost some $350,000. It is for Senators to determine whether Allegheny City shall be provided with a small building for temporary purposes for a post-office, or one worthy of the United States and the city.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. QUAY. I offer a further amendment to come in on page 2, after line 13, which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

Mr. QUAY. I call the attention of the Senator from California [Mr. FELTON] to this amendment.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 2, after line 13, it is proposed to insert:

For post-office at San Francisco, Cal.: That the limit of cost for construction of the post-office building at San Francisco, Cal., is hereby fixed at $25,000,000.

Mr. GORMAN. Have we voted on the amendment making appropriation for a public building at Allegheny?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment has been agreed to.

Mr. GORMAN. I simply wish to enter my dissent to it. I did not know the vote had been taken.

Mr. ALLISON. If the Senator from Maryland desires to have a division upon the amendment, I do not object. I hope it will be understood that the vote may be again taken.

Mr. QUAY. I trust the yeas and nays will not be called.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Maryland desire the yeas and nays on the amendment referred to?

Mr. GORMAN. No, I only desire to enter my protest against the amendment.

Mr. FELTON. I made a statement in regard to the pending amendment in the morning hour, and I have no desire to add anything to it, unless some Senator should wish to know more about it, in which case I shall be pleased to answer him.

I simply say that this amendment makes no appropriation, but enables us to use the balance of the appropriation of $240,000. The expenditure for the building has already been under consideration by the Treasury Department, where it is believed that this amount of money will be required in order to erect a building with sufficient superficial feet in it to accommodate the business of the Government at San Francisco, which includes the post-office, three United States courts, the internal revenue offices, and the Army headquarters, for which I have been told, but for which statement I can not vouch, some $25,000 each year is paid for rent.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. QUAY. I move to insert after line 5, on page 3, what I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3, line 5, after the amendment already agreed to, it is proposed to insert:

For the purchase of a site for the construction of a public building in Portland, Oregon, the sum of $25,000 in addition to the sum heretofore appropriated, and the limit of cost of said building is hereby increased to $1,000,000.

Mr. MITCHELL. I desire to say in reference to that amendment, that the Senate on the 23d of June last passed a bill fixing the limit of cost of the building at Portland, Oregon, at the amount stated in the amendment, and already the sum of $200,000 has been expended.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. QUAY. I also wish to follow the amendment just adopted with one other, which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be reported.

The CHIEF CLERK. After the amendment already agreed to, in line 5, on page 3, it is proposed to insert:

For the construction of an additional story to the public building at Sheboygan, Wis.: $5,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. While upon the amendments with reference to public buildings, I wish to offer two amendments, which were omitted by the committee and which are proper. One is for the post-office at Clarksville, Tenn. I desire that the amendment be stated.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 2, after line 16, it is proposed to insert:

For post-office at Clarksville, Tenn.: For completion of building under present limit, $25,000.

Mr. BATE. That provision was omitted by an oversight in the House of Representatives. Twenty-five thousand dollars is required for the purposes of that building. Ten thousand dollars was expended for the land, and the building has just been begun. If it had not been overlooked in the other House there would have been made an appropriation for that purpose.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. I also offer the amendment which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 2, after the amendments already agreed to, beginning in line 13, it is proposed to insert:

For court house and post-office at Sioux Falls, S. Dak.: For completion and present limit, $35,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. MANDERSON. I offer an amendment to come in at the end of the bill, which I send to the desk.

Mr. HISCOCK. It seems to me we ought to have considered now all the amendments to this part of the bill in relation to public buildings.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON] will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to add at the end of the bill:

That the sum of $250,000 to provide accommodation for the Government Printing Office and the construction of the needed storage and distribution warehouses in connection therewith in the act making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government, approved August 30, 1890 and sus-

Finally Congress made an appropriation of $250,000 for the selection of a site and to begin the erection of a building. A commission was appointed which has been described by the Senator from Nebraska, the chairman of the committee. That committee made a report selecting what is known as the baseball lot. Then began a controversy as to whether that was a proper selection. Upon the matter being brought to the attention of this body, wisely as I thought, we, by an amendment to an appropriation bill, suspended the appropriation and practically reversed the action of the commission.

I was in thorough accord with the movement to reverse their action, because I believed that they had in their advertisements asking proposals so drawn the line that it was impossible for the gentlemen who owned the two lots which are now in controversy, or any except two or three, to offer an eligible lot within the rules laid down by the commission. So the matter was suspended by a joint resolution of Congress; the whole subject was re-committed to the Joint Committee on Printing, which was instructed to examine all the sites in the city which were offered, and to report its conclusions to this session of Congress in December last.

In the performance of this duty the Committee on Printing have given the matter very great attention. They threw open the doors to every lot-owner in the city of Washington to make his offer, and every man who had a piece of property and desired to offer it came before the committee and had an opportunity to present his case, to show the advantages of the location of his lot, and to state the price which he would take for his property.

Mr. President, I desire to state frankly to the Senate that at that and at all stages of the investigation of this question I personally believed that the wise thing for the Government to do was to condemn a sufficient amount of property immediately adjoining the present structure, and then to enlarge the building there. I thought it was ample for the needs of the Government. I believe it would save thousands of dollars in the matter of construction; but two-thirds of the Joint Committee on Printing believed that the intention of Congress was that an entirely new structure should be made and that a new lot should be purchased.

Under that state of the case my impression was that the lot known as the Mahone lot was the most advantageous for the Government, but I was forced to the conclusion, in view of the price asked for it and the price asked for the adjoining lots, that there was but one result which the committee could reach, which was to report in favor of the one which cost the smaller sum of money, it containing a sufficient number of square feet. I believed that lot was sufficiently large to accommodate the building, and would do so not only now but probably for the next fifty or sixty years or more.

Mr. President, the Joint Committee on Printing having had this matter placed in their hands by a resolution of Congress, and having discharged that duty as faithfully as any committee of this body ever discharged a duty, recognizing and knowing perfectly well the controversy which had grown up about this matter, if not personal feeling (in which, however, I do not share), could not, with the light before them, with the propositions which were submitted, in justice to all interested, in my judgment, do anything else than report in favor of this particular lot. I believe both of these squares are good squares for the purpose; but one is offered to us for $1.35 a foot—I understand it has been reduced by the amendment of the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] now in price to $1.17 a foot—and the other is offered at $1 a foot.

As I said before, my own judgment has always been that the wise thing to do was to extend the present site and condemn the property of the small holders which is immediately adjoining. I have never changed my opinion. The joint resolution left it to the Committee on Printing the right to report whatever they saw proper. That committee agreed that the will of Congress was that we should have an entirely new lot, and we reported in favor of the Johnson lot. There is no division of opinion in the committee as to the propriety of taking the lot offered at the smaller cost, the Johnson lot.

I know the feeling among the members of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, who have always claimed that this matter was entirely within their jurisdiction, that the Committee on Printing ought not to discharge such a duty, and that it properly belonged to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds; and that claim comes with great force, as presented by my friend from Missouri on my right [Mr. VEST]. So far, however, as the members of the Committee on Printing were concerned, we only wished that the matter had been placed with the Senator's committee, but Congress saw proper to take the question by joint resolution from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, if they had jurisdiction, and place it in the hands of the Joint Committee on Printing.

I submit to the Senate whether this body will deliberately reverse the action of Congress, and will reject the report of the Committee on Printing, when there can not be any question as to the propriety of taking this lot because of the cost, and there can not be any question that the committee have dealt fairly with every interest and with every property-holder who has presented his claims to the committee. I confess my astonishment and amazement that when that is the case, and when it is known to be the case, another honorable committee of this body should attempt to take jurisdiction of the matter, and come in and report another proposition immediately after the Committee on Printing had reported.

I believe that we have by a miracle, as it were, escaped great disaster at the present Printing Office building. It is in such a condition, and has been for four or five years, that it is likely to collapse at any time. The condition within that building of the people who are employed there is a stigma on the Government. It is an outrage which ought not to be longer tolerated. It is most unfortunate that there should be any controversy as to the selection of a site, and thus delay and postpone the time when this relief ought to be given.

I know—and that controls my judgment very largely in this matter—that speedy relief could have been secured by adding another wing to the present building. I know, as a matter of course, that in purchasing a new square and in erecting a new building we are entering upon an expenditure of a million dollars; but I was limited in my power to act in that matter, as I have before stated, by the action of Congress. We understood by the resolution adopted that Congress desired a report upon a new square.

I submit to the Senate that, if the action of the Committee on Printing is overruled, it will probably be the first time in its history when it has given to a standing committee of this body power to deal with a question that it has rejected its report, and adopted another when there can not be any question as to the capacity of the lot in favor of which it has reported, which, to say the least of it, is equal to the one proposed to be substituted by another committee.

The Senate must decide this question. I have said all I desire to say.

Mr. HARRIS. Before the Senator from Maryland takes his seat, belonging as he does to the Committee on Printing, I should like to ask him if the Johnson lot, including the parking which the Government would have a perfect right to appropriate if it chose to do so, does not amount to 147,000 square feet?

Mr. GORMAN. I think the Senator is correct. I have not the figures before me, but I want to say to the Senator from Tennessee that the Johnson lot, without the parking, in my judgment has sufficient space for the Printing Office to-day and for fifty years to come.

Mr. HARRIS. I quite agree with the Senator. If we acquire the title and right to us 147,000 square feet, then when we undertake to ascertain what we are paying per foot, my impression is that the cost of the Johnson lot does not exceed 72½ cents a foot.

Mr. GORMAN. Those are about the figures.

Mr. HARRIS. While the cost of the other lot, one square further off, is a little over $1.17 a foot. I think those are the facts with regard to the two lots, one being one square nearer to the Capitol than the other, and equally eligible and equally practical for the purposes for which a lot is to be selected.

Mr. GORMAN. That is my deliberate judgment, Mr. President.

Mr. VEST. Will the Senator from Maryland permit me?

Mr. GORMAN. Of course.

Mr. VEST. The Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS] is mistaken. The estimate he fixed as to the amount of the parking is based upon the report of the Committee on Printing.

Mr. HARRIS. It is.

Mr. VEST. Which the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDELSON] corrected yesterday and admitted that he had made a mistake as to the parking. I called attention to that also in my remarks.

Mr. HARRIS. What is the extent of the mistake?

Mr. VEST. Thirty-two thousand four hundred square feet in the park instead of 37,800. Adding that, and taking out the alley, that lot would contain 133,015.

Mr. HARRIS. Very well. No matter whether the view which the Senator from Missouri takes of the question or the view as reported by the Committee on Printing be correct, there is certainly a large difference put in the cost of the two lots. The fact appears that the Mahone lot, as it is called, is on the north side of L street, and the Johnson lot is on the south side of L street, each lot having exactly the same transportation facilities, the Johnson lot being one square nearer to the Capitol than the other, and if the topographic conditions of the two reach it by an elevated railway, just as you must reach the Johnson lot by an elevated railway.

Now, what is the condition as to Delaware avenue, which joins the Johnson tract or lot on the east? It is 160 feet wide. On the elevated track, which would pass the building on that lot up on the east, you will have the same sort of side track for switch room that is desired by everybody in the manufacturing business. If a manufacturing establishment can place its building by the side of a railroad so that there can enter the building from that side by surface railway or elevated road material to be placed within the building from cars upon the public highway it considers it a great advantage. So here with the tracks running alongside on this parking, if you please, 40 feet—

Mr. HOAR. Is it equally true of a printing office? The Senator speaks of a manufacturing establishment.

Mr. MANDERSON. I should think so most decidedly, for what is the Government Printing Office but a great manufacturing establishment, in which there must go the thousands of tons of coal, the immense amount of paper that is consumed upon the presses, the weight of which is enormous, and the cartage of which is most expensive? All that could enter from the elevated track into the second story of the building by the processes I described at greater length yesterday (and I do not desire to repeat myself in that regard), to the very great advantage and to the very great economy of the Government in its use.

Mr. VEST. May I ask the Senator a question before he concludes? As a matter of course, the Senator from Nebraska wishes to state this case as it really is. I understand him to say that there are 115,405.98 square feet available for building purposes in the Johnson lot. I tried to take down his language. There are 115,000 square feet?

Mr. MANDERSON. Yes; a little over 115,000 square feet.

Mr. VEST. Now, is it not a fact that if the building is erected in a square form, including the alleys which are donated, there will be only 91,497.67 square feet?

Mr. MANDERSON. Why should the building be erected in a square form?

Mr. VEST. I assume that the fourteen thousand four hundred and odd square feet in the shape of a triangle would be utilized.

Mr. MANDERSON. But it is not a triangle separate and apart from the lot itself. It is simply that change from a square form that is incident to Delaware avenue, which assumes that shape.

Mr. VEST. Then one portion of the building would violate all architectural rules. According to the dimensions—and I have before me the official map from the surveyor's office of the District of Columbia—this Johnson lot on L street has 310.11 lineal feet.

Mr. MANDERSON. On L street?

Mr. VEST. That is, if we adhere to the square form.

Mr. MANDERSON. Oh, to adhere to the square; but that is not the dimensions of the lot.

Mr. VEST. Very good. Then if we do not adhere to that form, it is on that side 401.10 feet. On the other side, on North K street, it is 310.11 feet, making a difference of 90.11 feet between the two sides, leaving in this triangle, as I term it, 14,720.96 feet. That is the actual proportion of the Johnson lot.

Mr. MANDERSON. The difference between the Senator from Missouri and myself is that I think when you consider the fact that what he calls the triangle abuts Delaware avenue, one of the main avenues of the city—

Mr. VEST. Which is not open.

Mr. MANDERSON. With a projected railroad there, it is of very great advantage that it should have that form.

Mr. VEST. It has been repeatedly asserted here that Delaware avenue gave a direct route to the Capitol. That avenue is not practically open. It has to be opened in order to bring about the state of things which has been used here as an argument.

Now, one single remark, and I am done with this matter. The Senator speaks of the number of square feet in the sites of the State, War and Navy building and the Treasury building. I undertake to say that neither building is large enough. The Senate of the United States has at three recurring sessions passed a bill providing for a hall of records at the instance of Departmental officers in order to give space for the material and the books and papers which are stored to-day in those buildings, the debris of past business which can not be destroyed and should be stored elsewhere.

I assert, as a member of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, that no fact has been brought before us so prominently and repeatedly as the fact that the Department buildings now in the city of Washington are too small. They were built as if the Government would never increase. We are asked now to perpetrate the same folly and to take ground amounting even on the Senator's estimate to 115,000 square feet, as if there were always to be 65,000,000 people in this country.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] to the amendment of Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON] on which the yeas and nays have been ordered. The Secretary will call the roll.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BLACKBURN (when his name was called). On this question I am paired with the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL], who is absent. I withhold my vote.

Mr. CALL (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. I do not know how he would vote.

Mr. GORMAN. I ask that the roll call be suspended and that the Chair state the question before the Senate. It is not well understood.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Missouri [Mr. VEST] to the amendment of the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON].

Mr. GORMAN. The amendment of the Senator from Missouri proposes to purchase the Mahone lot, I understand.

Mr. HARRIS. To vote "yea" is for the Mahone lot and to vote "nay" is against it, I understand.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senators are correct. The roll call will proceed.

The Secretary resumed the calling of the roll.

Mr. FAULKNER (when Mr. CAMDEN's name was called). My colleague [Mr. CAMDEN] is necessarily detained from the Senate this morning, and is paired with the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PETTIBREW].

Mr. QUAY (when Mr. CAMERON's name was called). My colleague [Mr. CAMERON] is paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL].

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. By an arrangement with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] I transfer that pair to the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] and vote. I vote "yea."

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. In his absence I withhold my vote.

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). The pair which I have with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] has been transferred to the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. I vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. If he were here he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. GIBSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Michigan [Mr. STOCKBRIDGE]. If he were present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. IRBY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. MORRILL (when his name was called). I promised the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. QUAY] that I would pair with his colleague [Mr. CAMERON], and I withhold my vote.

Mr. PETTIBREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN]. I transfer my pair to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS], and vote "yea."

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). My colleague [Mr. HAWLEY] is necessarily absent from the Senate to-day and I have paired with him on this question. If he were present he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. RANSOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. WHITE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. FELTON]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], but I transfer that pair to the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN], and vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DAWES. The Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN] being absent, and not knowing how he would vote I withheld my vote, being paired with him.

Mr. WILSON (after having voted in the affirmative). On further information with respect to this question, I desire to withdraw the pair I announced between the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN] and the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], and let my pair stand with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT]. I withdraw my vote.

Mr. BERRY. I desire to ask if the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON] announced a pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. I will state that the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL] is paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON].

Mr. GALLINGER. I have been informed—the information may have been incorrect—that those alleys are owned by the Government. The Senator from Nebraska seems to state to the contrary.

Mr. MANDERSON. I stated nothing of that kind, nothing that could be construed that way.

Mr. GALLINGER. I appeal to the RECORD to show that the Senator said the Government owns 62,000 feet. If the Government owns the alleys, the Senator stated incorrectly the number of feet the Government owns. If the Government does own 83,000 feet, as I asserted a little while ago, it will cost $3 a foot for additional property $39,000 to get as much ground as there is in the Johnson lot.

Mr. MANDERSON. Let me repeat what I said. I said that the present Government Printing Office and warehouse owned by the Government occupy 62,000 square feet; that to buy the whole block the Government would have to purchase from private owners 155,000 square feet, and there are contained in the alleys, which of course belong to the Government, 18,584 square feet, making 235,000 square feet in the block. I do not see how the Senator from New Hampshire could have misunderstood me, for I read it exactly from the paper from which I read now.

Mr. BUTLER. Mr. President—

Mr. GALLINGER. If the Senator from South Carolina will yield just one moment, I rise simply to make a statement that I had no purpose to misrepresent the chairman of the Committee on Printing, and I think when the RECORD is read to-morrow morning it will be found I did not misrepresent him. I merely want to make the additional remark that it should be borne in mind the warehouses which are now on the present site, which are commodious, which are fire-proof, which are comparatively new, will save the Government $100,000 in addition.

Mr. BUTLER. I was just going to state that if economy is what we are after, and I presume everybody is after economy in these days, the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER] has demonstrated to the satisfaction of my mind that it would be very much cheaper for the Government to buy the additional ground near the present site of the Public Printing Office than to buy the Johnson lot.

The Committee on Printing have complained that some of us have not agreed with their report. The difficulty has been that they do not appear to be entirely consistent about it. At the last session of Congress that committee came in and, I believe, with practical unanimity recommended the purchase of what is known as the baseball lot. Now they come in and recommend the purchase of the Johnson lot. It turns out that in the baseball lot, which had the recommendation of the committee, there was not a foot of it that was not made ground, the Tiber Creek running through it.

Mr. MANDERSON. That is a great mistake. Far less of it was made ground than there is made ground on the Malone tract.

Mr. BUTLER. Of the baseball lot?

Mr. MANDERSON. Of the baseball lot, which I described yesterday, and I can not understand how the Senator can have any different impression. I showed by the map yesterday exactly the course of Tiber Creek from one side of the Malone tract to the other, and on the baseball lot Tiber Creek ran through by a small corner and did not pass from side to side.

Mr. BUTLER. But what are the facts about how much of the ground is made ground? I understood all of it is.

Mr. MANDERSON. Of the baseball lot?

Mr. BUTLER. Of the baseball lot.

Mr. MANDERSON. Oh, no, the Senator is mistaken about that.

Mr. BUTLER. How much of it is made ground?

Mr. MANDERSON. Probably one-third of it is made ground. That is filled from the depth of 1 foot to about 10 feet.

Mr. BUTLER. I am informed by the Senator from Missouri that one-half of it is made ground.

Mr. MANDERSON. That is a mistake.

Mr. BUTLER. However, that is not before the Senate. What I wish to call the attention of the Senate to is the fact that the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER] has demonstrated that it would be cheaper to buy the additional ground near the present site than to buy the Johnson lot, which is in between two railroads and which is inaccessible except at great peril to life and limb on the part of those who have to pass to and from it. I shall vote for the amendment of the Senator from New Hampshire.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment to the amendment.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll and Mr. ALLISON responded in the negative.

Mr. GEORGE. I do not understand the question.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER] to the amendment of the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON].

Mr. BATE. Let the amendment to the amendment be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It will be again read.

Mr. GALLINGER. I will state that my amendment simply contemplates an enlargement of the present site. That will satisfy Senators without having the amendment read.

Mr. VEST. There is no use to read it.

Mr. MANDERSON. Let the amendment be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. Strike out all after the word "ninety," in line 12 of the amendment proposed by Mr. MANDERSON, and insert:

And that the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Interior, and the Architect of the Capitol Extension, acting as a board, be, and they are hereby, empowered and instructed to acquire, as hereinafter provided, such additional part of square No. 624, in the city of Washington, D. C., as may be deemed necessary for the needs of the Government Printing Office, which said square is bounded as follows: On the east by North Capitol Street, on the north by H Street North, on the west by First Street West, and on the south by G Street North; and the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to pay out of the sum heretofore mentioned such amount as may be found necessary, when duly approved by the Attorney-General of the United States, conveying to the United States said property heretofore mentioned, shall be delivered to him: Provided, That such sum does not exceed the amount of said $250,000.

That for the purpose of acquiring said real estate the said board may purchase the same, or any part thereof, from the owner or owners; and if the said board shall be unable so to purchase the same, or any part or parts thereof, at a price that, in their opinion, is reasonable, they may institute legal proceedings for the condemnation thereof.

Mr. MITCHELL. I wish to know whether if this amendment is adopted it is intended to take the place of that which is recommended by the committee?

Mr. MANDERSON. It is a substitute, I understand.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. Is this interruption of the roll call in order?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It is not in order except by unanimous consent.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I insist that the roll shall be called.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll call was interrupted by Senators desiring to have the question stated.

Mr. WASHBURN. I call for the regular order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called.

The Secretary resumed the calling of the roll.

Mr. BLACKBURN (when his name was called). I again announce my pair on this question with the junior Senator from New York [Mr. HILL].

Mr. CALL (when his name was called). I announce my pair with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. I do not know how he would vote, and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. DAWES (when his name was called). I announce my pair with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH].

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I transfer my pair with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMPEN] to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS], and vote "yea."

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). My colleague [Mr. HAWLEY] is absent to-day. He would vote against this proposition and I vote against it. I vote "nay."

Mr. GEORGE (when Mr. WALTHALL's name was called). My colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. DIXON]. If my colleague were present he would vote "nay."

Mr. WASHBURN (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. HAWLEY]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I again announce my pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], and withhold my vote, not knowing how he would vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. FAULKNER. Under the transfer of pairs, so that the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH] stands paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], I vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 14, nays 34; as follows:

So the amendment to the amendment was rejected.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The question recurs on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON].

Mr. VEST. I should like to know whether the Committee on Appropriations favor this amendment. I will ask the chairman of the committee what is the attitude of his committee on the question. We have heard so much to-day about the paramount authority of the committee that reports a bill, I want to know now, between the Committee on Appropriations, which has charge of the sundry civil appropriation bill, and the Committee on Printing, which offers this amendment against the report of the Committee on Appropriations, how the latter committee stands.

Mr. ALLISON. I do not know that the Committee on Appropriations is especially called upon to decide as respects this subject. I will state that the Committee on Appropriations, when this matter was under discussion in the committee, was divided. We had seen in former days the gentle and friendly struggles between the Committee on Public Printing and the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and we concluded it was wise on the part of the Committee on Appropriations to keep a situation of quiet neutrality—

Mr. VEST. Mr. President—

Mr. ALLISON. If the Senator will allow me to proceed—as we did not feel that it was necessary for us to indulge in any fights upon this floor upon these subjects, which were sufficiently taken care of by the Senator from Missouri and the Senator from Nebraska. That was our attitude.

Mr. VEST. Will the Senator allow me?

Mr. ALLISON. Occupying myself a midway position between the two Senators, I felt especially in a condition not to mingle very much in the struggle.

Mr. VEST. Will the Senator—

Mr. ALLISON. I decline to yield for a moment, because I wish to finish the line of thought I have in mind.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Iowa has the floor and will proceed.

Mr. ALLISON. Two or three years ago I myself endeavored to follow the Committee on Public Printing in its support of the purchase of what is known as the baseball lot, and I struggled here for some time in support of the Committee on Public Printing in favor of that plan. We were told on this floor that it was artificial ground, and that it was unfit for the purposes of a Public Printing Office, because you could not get a secure foundation. I went to the trouble of inquiring of the Architect of the Capitol whether it was a practical thing to secure a good foundation for a building at that point, and I was informed that there was no difficulty about it; that it is true a portion of it was artificially made ground, but by a little excavation, etc., perhaps piling a little, an absolutely good foundation could be secured. So the matter went on. The struggle we have seen here to-day is in some respects the struggle of two or three years ago.

Then the Committee on Printing took further jurisdiction of this subject, and after some investigation report to us that as compared between the Mahone lot and the Johnson lot I believe those are the designations now, the Johnson lot is the best, because it is on the whole the cheapest, and that it can be purchased for $1 a foot and the Mahone lot would cost $1.35 a foot.

I was rather inclined to support the Committee on Public Printing in that view, because I believed and still believe that $1.35 a foot is too much for ground in the neighborhood of the Mahone lot or for that particular ground, being 800 feet long and some two or three hundred feet in width; but I found as the debate progressed that the Mahone lot could be purchased for $1.10 a foot, by the consent of the Senator from Missouri, who modified his amendment.

As for myself, and I have no worriment about this matter, I shall be content to yield to the judgment of a majority of the Senate as respects this question, whatever it may think about it; but according to my view, at $1.10 a foot for what is known as the Mahone lot as compared with $1 for the other, the Mahone lot is the most desirable. That is only my own opinion. Therefore I so vote. I think, however, that both lots are higher than they are used for, and ought to be.

Now we turn to the bill reported by the Senator from Mississippi. The Committee on Appropriations have taken no action in regard to it. I am not sure that it is a very important bill, but I think it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. VEST. Mr. President, I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Now we turn to the bill reported by the Senator from Mississippi. The Committee on Appropriations have taken no action in regard to it.

The record of the Senate shows that the Committee on Appropriations rejected the proposed bill. The amendment was offered by the Committee on Appropriations, and under the rules of the Senate, it is the duty of the Committee on Appropriations to report the bill to the Senate. The Senate has not yet acted on the bill.

I do not care to discuss again the question of the bill. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. ALLISON. Mr. President, I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. VEST. As a matter of course, I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. ALLISON. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. DAVIS. In his seat. And so the bill is passed.

Mr. ALLISON. And so the bill is passed. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. ALLISON. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. VEST. Not a bill.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. VEST. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Mr. ALLISON. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

Now, we found the bill reported by the Senator from Mississippi. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered. I am not sure that it is a bill that should be considered.

is voted up or voted down, personally it makes very little difference, I think, to the members of the Committee on Appropriations. We made such investigation as we could with the brief time we had, and we decided that we would not recommend to the Senate the amendment of the Committee on Public Printing.

Mr. MANDERSON. Did you recommend the other amendment?

Mr. ALLISON. We decided also that we would not recommend the amendment proposed by the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, but like other Senators we thought we would hear these belligerent forces in this Chamber discuss the question and vote as we thought it wise to vote when the time came.

Mr. CULLOM. Individually.

Mr. ALLISON. Each member of the committee for himself. I so voted. The Senator from Missouri does not seem to be satisfied with my vote. He not only wants me to vote in favor of his amendment, but he wants me to take on my shoulders the fight he has with the Senator from Nebraska and become belligerent as to the Senator from Nebraska in place of himself.

Mr. VEST. Oh, no.

Mr. ALLISON. I am perfectly willing to do the best I can for the Senator in voting for his amendment, but when he asks me or the Committee on Appropriations to get into this ring where there is a sharp and active battle, I must respectfully decline, because I have an opinion that it would be wiser for me to keep in the shade under such circumstances. [Laughter.]

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is upon agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON].

Mr. MANDERSON and Mr. VEST called for the yeas and nays, and they were ordered.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BLACKBURN (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] on this subject.

Mr. CALL (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR].

Mr. DAWES (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. I do not know how he would vote. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. GIBSON (when his name was called). As I before announced, I am paired with the Senator from Michigan [Mr. STOCKBRIDGE]. If he were present he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. GORDON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Wyoming [Mr. WARREN].

Mr. IRBY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I again announce that I transfer my pair with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMPEN] to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS], and vote "nay."

Mr. PLATT (when his name was called). On this amendment I am paired with my colleague [Mr. HAWLEY]. If he were present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. RANSOM (when his name was called). I see that the junior Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE] votes "nay," and I understand that I am at liberty to vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. WHITE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from California [Mr. FELTON].

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I wish to announce my pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT]. Not knowing how he would vote I withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. McMILLAN (after having voted in the affirmative). I voted thinking that the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE] was in the Chamber. As he is not present I withdraw my vote.

Mr. PLATT. I understand that a pair has been arranged between my colleague [Mr. HAWLEY] and the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON].

Mr. QUAY. I had just risen to announce that pair.

Mr. PLATT. Therefore I am at liberty to vote. I vote nay.

Mr. QUAY. I desire to announce the pair of my colleague [Mr. CAMERON] with the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. HAWLEY].

Mr. PASCO. I am informed by the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. HANSBROUGH] that his colleague [Mr. CASEY] if present would vote nay. I therefore feel at liberty to vote, and vote nay.

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. In his absence I withhold my vote. My colleague [Mr. ALDRICH], who is absent, is paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY].

Mr. RANSOM. At the suggestion of the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. MANDERSON], I withdraw my vote.

Mr. MANDERSON. Being paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE].

Mr. RANSOM. Being paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE].

Mr. HUNTTON. My colleague [Mr. DANIEL] is paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE] for the day.

Mr. McPHERSON. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 28; as follows:

YEAS—21.
Bate,	Faulkner,	Kyle,	Peffer,
Caffery,	Gorman,	Lindsay,	Turpie,

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. QUAY. In the absence of the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. HAWLEY], and at his request, I offer an amendment to come in at the close. It is a proposition to mark the line of battle or position occupied by the Army of Northern Virginia at Gettysburg. The measure has passed the Senate twice and is on the Calendar of the House of Representatives, but it can not pass there unless it shall be attached to this bill. I sincerely trust the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations will not make the point of order.

Mr. ALLISON. I merely wish to make a suggestion. That is a long amendment, and there is considerable legislation connected with it. I think it has not been reported from any committee; I have no recollection that it has been.

Mr. QUAY. It has not been reported as an amendment from any committee, but it has as a bill twice passed the Senate. I sincerely trust the Senator from Iowa will allow it to be attached to this bill.

Mr. ALLISON. I suggest to the Senator from Pennsylvania that he withhold it for a time until I can make some further examination of it, when I may withhold further objection.

Mr. QUAY. Then I withdraw the amendment and will offer it again at another time.

I desire to offer another amendment to come in on page 3, line 5. I will state to the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations that this amendment has not been reported from a committee, and therefore is, I believe, subject to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. FAULKNER in the chair). The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3, line 5, after the amendment already agreed to, insert:

That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he hereby is, authorized and directed to purchase all of lot 19, in square 683, situated in the city of Washington, D. C., as laid out and recorded in the original plat of the city and district aforesaid, lying on the west side of Delaware avenue, between C and D streets northeast, and adjoining lot 11 in same square, now the property of the United States, and containing 1,208 square feet, at a price not exceeding $250, which sum is hereby appropriated for said purpose, upon proof of a perfect title and the execution of the United States of a deed good and sufficient in law, and on final approval by the Attorney-General; said ground to be used for the erection of a suitable building for general storage purposes connected with the United States Capitol.

Mr. ALLISON. I make the point of order on that amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

Mr. QUAY. I offer another amendment, to come in at the end of the bill.

us what the current expenses are, but I will save him the trouble:

Pay of on-duty and non-commissioned officers of the home, with such exceptions as the Senator noted; and their clerks and orderlies; also payment for chaplains and religious instruction, printers, bookbinders, telegraph and telephone operators, guards, policemen, watchmen, and the country, for all property and materials purchased for their use, including room rent, food by the home; for necessary expenditures for articles of apparel, books, library books, magazines, papers, pictures, and musical instruments, invariants and miscellaneas, and for repairs not done by the home; also for stationery, advertising, legal advice, and postage, and for such other expenditures as can not properly be included under other heads of expenditures.

The other House appropriated $15,000.

Mr. ALLISON. What page is the Senator reading from?

Mr. HAWLEY. On page 84. On page 91, lines 13 to 17 inclusive is the first item for the Pacific Branch. I will not move to increase that item, though it is wretchedly insufficient, knowing how difficult it is to get anything. I go on to page 92, lines 3 and 4, "for the transportation of members of the home, $3,000." The estimate is $5,000. There are 600 old soldiers in California waiting for an opportunity to get into that home. I do not know but the chairman of the committee knows all this already, but it is my duty to wait until he shall hear me.

I say there are 600 old soldiers in California waiting to get into the Santa Monica Home. The estimate was $5,000 for indispensable transportation. The appropriation in the bill as it came from the other House was $3,000. There are 882 men now in that home. There were 681 last year, and during the next fiscal year, for which the estimate is made, there will be a still larger number. Yet the other House seems to think and the Senate committee did not interfere that a reduction of 30 per cent in the appropriation for transportation can be made. The gentlemen who are managers of these homes are men whom nearly all Senators know. They are among the best men of the several States. They know all about their business. They are perfectly aware of the extraordinary pressure for reduction of expenses in every department, and they tell you distinctly that they can not comply with existing laws under those figures.

There is another point. I will go back to page 91. In the appropriations for the same home, the Santa Monica Home, the estimate for subsistence based upon the almost absolute certainty of an increase in the numbers is $82,125. I will throw off the $125. With a certainty of an increase, the bill, as passed by the other House, says $70,000 instead of $82,000. As I told the Senate, last year the number was 683. Now, there are 882 members of the home, and during the fiscal year for which we are appropriating it is certain to be a thousand and over.

What is the logic of such an appropriation? If you had ten men to feed last year and had no money left over, and have twenty men to feed the next year, it is quite useless to appropriate 50 per cent more than you did last year because the appropriations for fifteen men will not feed twenty men. The result of the passage of this bill will be simply to say to the 600 soldiers in California, the whole of them, you can not get your railway tickets to the home, and if you get there you can not be fed. That is to say, you will have to live on about 20 per cent less than the ordinary fare. I will first move to increase the appropriation for subsistence; that is to say, on page 91, in line 19, before the word "thousand," I move to strike out "seventy" and insert "eighty-two."

Mr. GORMAN. Let the amendment be stated.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be reported.

The SECRETARY. In line 19, page 91, it is proposed to strike out "seventy" and insert "eighty-two," so as to read:

For subsistence, including the same object specified under this head for the Central branch, $82,000.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is concurring to the amendment of the Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. GORMAN. Mr. President, I have been quite in sympathy with the Senator from Connecticut and all others who want to make ample provision for these homes. This is a small increase if it is true, but I submit to the Senator and to the Senate that we have made ample provision for the soldiers in the homes. If the Senate does not, the country does realize where we are going to in this matter. Contained in this bill for the various homes under the control of the board there is an appropriation, as the bill came here, of two million six hundred and seventeen thousand and odd dollars, which has been increased somewhat by the recommendation of the committee.

In addition to that, for the Territorial homes there is an appropriation of $750,000, making over $3,000,000 contained in this one bill for the various homes, and nearly every inmate of the homes is drawing a pension from the Government of from $8 to $20 a month and no deductions are made from those pensions. Notwithstanding this very liberal, this very extraordinary appropriation for their support in these homes, here comes a bill which I have now before me, which we shall consider in a day or two, and the main appropriation contained in it for pensions is $165,000,000. One hundred and sixty-five million dollars, Mr. President, for pensions, and almost every one of the inmates of these homes is drawing a portion of it. One hundred and sixty-five million dollars for pensions and to support the homes $3,000,000, making a total of $168,000,000.

As certain as the sun will rise on the 1st day of July next there will be a deficiency of from thirteen to fifteen million dollars. No man can tell how much. I submit that it is time to halt and to say that this matter shall terminate at some point short of absolute bankruptcy to the Treasury.

I have never by any vote of mine or by my voice advocated a proposition to deprive these gallant men of proper compensation, nor have I voted against the proposition to give them fair and comfortable treatment in these homes, but I submit to the Senator that there is a limit to all of these things, and the excess to which we are going now by amendments such as the one proposed by the Senator from Connecticut will react.

The pendulum will swing on the other side, just as it did in the revenue measures. One excess will produce another, one extreme beget another.

I hope the Senator from Connecticut, who was a gallant soldier in the Union army himself, who has a soft spot naturally for these gallant old men, will not press us to make additional appropriations. We have been liberal beyond the liberality of any other people in the world. Why force additional appropriations when there is no necessity for them?

Mr. HAWLEY. Mr. President, I shall force it with all my power on this particular matter. I have no soft spot. I have simply the law before me. If the Senator or the new Administration, the new Congress, the new party, the compound party that is coming into power, desire to cut down the pensions, that is quite another question. I hope they will give a thorough inspection to the list of pensioners and drive out the frauds. If there shall not happen to be some found among two or three hundred thousand pensioners, I shall be very much surprised indeed.

But that is wholly foreign to this question. The Senator is appealing to a distrust, a distaste, a dissatisfaction in the public mind about the vast amount of pensions. He is appealing to that as against my little motion here, which is a wholly different affair. He says some of these old soldiers in the homes have pensions already. That is not the question at all. The proposition that a soldier with no wife, no children, no dependent person, shall surrender a part of his pension, leaving him enough for tobacco, etc., while the Government feeds and clothes him, is entirely a different proposition. The Senator is open to make that. I shall not raise a point of order if he proposes something of that kind in this bill or on an independent bill that shall be discussed upon its merits.

If John Smith, 65 years old, is getting a pension of $20 a month and then goes to the home to live, I think there is an equity in saying he might surrender a part of his pension. But that is not this question. Some of these men may have pensions and some may not have pensions. They desire to go to that home. Six hundred of them are waiting for an opportunity in California, according to the statement made before the committee by Gen. Franklin, the head of the board, and he says they will not have money enough to bring as many to the home as they had last year instead of money enough to bring more to the home. They are entitled to only their transportation when they first come. That is all.

The general says there will be an increase in the California home, unquestionably, the next year. He shows the increase this year over the last. That increase is not going on forever. There is a cut down of the appropriation for subsistence from $82,000, the estimate. It is a matter of an absolute calculation as the measure of a board by a carpenter. The other House cuts it down. It agrees to a cut from $82,000 to $70,000 with a certainty that $20,000 will be required. I do not object to any discussion of the question whether a pensioner might not surrender a part of his pension when he is in the home, but that is not the question here.

Mr. ALLISON. The amendment proposed by the Senator from Connecticut is to increase by $12,000 the appropriation for subsistence at the home at Santa Monica. Gen. Franklin appeared before the Committee on Appropriations, as also another member of the board, Gen. Sewell, who is well known to us all, and they agreed to every provision in the bill excepting the provisions respecting the home at Santa Monica and the home in the State of Indiana.

Mr. HAWLEY. That is what I said, substantially.

Mr. ALLISON. I understood the Senator to say that there were a great many things about this bill that did not meet his approval as respects these homes, and then he called especial attention to the Santa Monica home.

following bills, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate:

A bill (H. R. 3626) to grant to the Gainesville, McCallister and St. Louis Railway Company a right of way through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes;

A bill (H. R. 8518) to authorize the Commissioner of the General Land Office to issue a patent for Mark Clement's survey, No. 386, in the Virginia military district of Ohio; and

A bill (H. R. 8677) to remove the cloud from the title to certain real estate in the city of Crawfordsville, Ind.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting an estimate of deficiency in the appropriation for burial expenses of indigent soldiers for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, of $1,000, which, with the accompanying papers, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

He also laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting the claim of Charles Gallagher for the return to him of $9,876.39 alleged to have been unlawfully exacted of him in fees under commercial intercourse regulations; which was read.

Mr. CHANDLER. The recommendation is that the case be sent to the Court of Claims. I move that the communication and accompanying papers be referred to the Committee on Claims and printed.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting an estimate of deficiency in the appropriation for salaries and expenses of pension agents and rents for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, of $287.50; which, with the accompanying papers, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and ordered to be printed.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

Mr. FRYE presented a petition of the Single Tax League of Lewiston and Auburn, Maine, praying for the establishment of a permanent census bureau, which shall show the distribution as well as the production of wealth; which was referred to the Committee on the Census.

Mr. CULLOM presented petitions of citizens of Monroe County, Ill., and of sundry citizens of the State of Illinois, praying for the appointment of a committee to investigate the combine formed to depreciate the price of grain; which were referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Mr. PADDOCK presented petitions of Fisher & Lawrie, architects, of Omaha, Neb.; of Henry Plan, civil engineer, of St. Louis, Mo.; and of Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, architects, of Boston, Mass., praying for the passage of the bill proposing to appropriate $40,000 for continuing tests of American timber; which were referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

He also presented the petition of J. J. Evans, postmaster at Waco, Neb., praying that the rate on letter postage be reduced from 2 cents to 1 cent an ounce; that the rate on newspapers and magazines and all second-class matter be increased to 5 cents per pound, and to place all classes of business enterprise upon the same footing in the way of postal privileges; which was referred to the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads.

Mr. McPHERSON. I present a petition which I think is more numerous signed and represents more capital engaged in industries than any petition I have ever seen brought before the Senate. The petitioners call attention to the fact that by the law passed in October, 1890, and known as the McKinley act, pig fin is subject to a duty of 4 cents per pound, to take effect on and after July 1, 1893, and that in all probability, in the absence of legislation at the present session of Congress, that provision will very seriously affect manufacturing industries. The petition is signed by nearly all the manufacturers and also those engaged in foundry work of all kinds. Something like 100 different companies have signed the petition. It represents an almost unknown amount of capital. I should like to have the statement of fact only, which is contained on less than one page of coarsely written matter, printed in the RECORD in order that the attention of Senators may be called to those who have petitioned in this matter, and I ask that the petition be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. ALLISON. What is the petition?

Mr. McPHERSON. It is a petition calling the attention of the Congress of the United States to the fact that under the McKinley law after the 1st day of July, 1893, a tax of 4 cents a pound will be imposed upon raw tin, and asking the interference of Congress at the present session.

Mr. ALLISON. I am quite sure that Congress well understands the question. I object to the petition going into the RECORD. I am quite willing that it shall be printed as a document.

Mr. McPHERSON. Does the Senator object to having the fact which is given in the petition stated in the RECORD so as to call the attention of Congress to the fact?

Mr. ALLISON. It does not seem to me that it would do any good to print it as a document.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore asked Mr. McPHERSON if he would ask unanimous consent that the petition be printed in the RECORD.

Mr. ALLISON. I do not think it is necessary.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore asked Mr. McPHERSON if he would ask unanimous consent that the petition be printed in the RECORD.

Mr. ALLISON. I do not think it is necessary.

Mr. COCKRELL. In connection with the bill to amend the act of Congress, approved March 3, 1882, to authorize the construction of a canal to connect the River at the most accessible point between the mouth of the river and the town of Shelby, in the State of Missouri, and the town of Shelby, in the State of Missouri, now pending before the Senate, I present resolutions adopted by a convention of the citizens of Clay County, Mo., stating that the citizens of that county as a people, and in justice to them, have adopted and proposed to, and protest against the passage of any act, and of any act which would amend or repeal any act of Congress; and we would ask the Senators and their representatives in Congress to sustain us in our position and to vote "no."

In this connection I also present resolutions of the council of the city of Kansas City, opposing the proposed change contemplated by the bill and also resolutions of the Kansas City Live Stock Exchange, and a telegram from the Commercial Club of Kansas City, dated June 15, 1893, to oppose the proposed change. I move that the resolutions be referred to the Committee on Commerce for consideration in connection with the bill.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I present a joint resolution of the Legislature of South Dakota, requesting and asking the repeal of any portion of the act "granting pensions to retired sailors who are incapacitated for the performance of manual labor and providing for pensions to widows, minor children, and dependent parents," approved June 27, 1890. I move that the memorial be referred to the Committee on Pensions.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. SAWYER, from the Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 8017) granting a pension to Joseph Voss, reported it without amendment, and recommended its passage thereon.

Mr. MITCHELL, from the Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the bill (S. 261) for the relief of William R. Morgan, submitted an adverse report thereon, which was agreed to, and the bill was postponed indefinitely.

He also, from the same committee, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3733) to empower Robert Adger and others to sue in the Court of Claims for rent alleged to be due to the Government, reported it without amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas, from the Committee on Internal Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3411) authorizing the Inter-oceanic Railway Company to construct and operate a railway, telegraph, and telephone lines through the State of Kentucky, reported it with an amendment, and recommended its passage thereon.

Mr. MORRILL. I am directed by the Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the joint resolution (S. R. 14) authorizing the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to receive and certify the amount of taxes erroneously paid by corporations, if any, to report it without recommendation.

I wish to state that the joint resolution referred to relates to companies which have claims against the United States, and which have been reported against by two committees of the Senate. I desire to add to the statement that I think it would be much better that the law which binds the United States against the United States can be passed, and that the law which acts which conflict with that have not been passed, and that not be passed, as any such act would be a violation of the Constitution, and an innumerable number of claims to be made against the United States.

I suppose there are hundreds upon hundreds of the same twenty and thirty years of age, and I wish to say that I am portion of them, if they are like those mentioned in this resolution, would not restore the amount that is claimed to the original stockholders who paid the taxes, many of whom are dead, and many changes have been made, of course, in the stockholders of the various companies.

There is another fact in relation to the matter, that one-half of the sum is universally agreed to be paid to the claim agents or attorneys of these outlawed claimants. I think that the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON] who introduced the joint resolution had better modify it, if he desires to have it passed, so that it will be fair to the banks, insurance companies, and railroads of the proper States.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The joint resolution, being reported without recommendation, will be placed on the Calendar.

REPORT ON IMMIGRATION.

Mr. CHANDLER. I submit a report from the Committee on Immigration to accompany the bill (S. 3786) establishing additional regulations concerning immigration to the United States, which is now on the Calendar. I ask that the report be printed with the testimony and accompanying documents.

I also ask that 2,000 additional copies of the report without the testimony and documents be printed for the use of the Senate. There is annexed to the report a history of immigration investigation and legislation, which will be useful for Senators of whom inquiries are made on the subject. I ask an order for the printing of 2,000 additional copies of the report without the testimony and documents.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from New Hampshire submits a written report upon a bill now upon the Calendar, which report with the accompanying papers will be printed as a report. He moves that 2,000 additional copies of the report be printed without the testimony. The motion under the rules will have to be referred to the Committee on Printing unless by unanimous consent it is otherwise ordered.

Mr. CHANDLER. I ask unanimous consent that the order be made.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the request that 2,000 additional copies of the report without the testimony be printed? It is so ordered in the absence of objection.

LANDS IN LOUISIANA.

Mr. WHITE. I am directed by the Committee on Public Lands, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3292) reconveying to the original grantors the title to certain lands in the State of Louisiana conveyed by them to the United States, to report it without amendment. I ask leave to put the bill on its passage at this time. It can not possibly provoke any discussion. If it does, I will withdraw the request.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Louisiana asks unanimous consent that the bill reported by him from the Committee on Public Lands be now considered. Is there objection?

Mr. ALLISON rose.

Mr. BLACKBURN. The Senator from Louisiana says he will withdraw it if it provokes debate.

Mr. WHITE. I will withdraw it if there is the slightest objection. It can not possibly lead to debate.

Mr. ALLISON. Very well.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

Mr. ALLISON. Mr. President, I give notice that I shall object to the consideration of any further bills this morning.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. DUBOIS introduced a bill (S. 3879) granting a pension to Charlotte M. Bryson, widow of Andrew Bryson, late rear-admiral in the United States Navy, which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. SAWYER submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the Post-Office appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee of Post-Offices and Post-Roads, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. BLACKBURN submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Claims, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. MITCHELL submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, and ordered to be printed.

WITHDRAWAL OF PAPERS.

Mr. PERKINS. I ask the permission of the Senate to withdraw the final discharge papers, and some other private papers, which were filed in support of a bill introduced by me in the interest of Patrick Montgomery. There has been no adverse report, and I ask permission to withdraw the papers.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The papers will be withdrawn, subject to the rules of the Senate.

HOUSE BILLS REFERRED.

The following bills were severally read twice by their title, and referred to the Committee on Public Lands:

A bill (H. R. 8518) to authorize the Commissioner of the General Land Office to issue a patent for Mace Clement's survey, No. 386, in the Virginia military district of Ohio; and

A bill (H. R. 8577) to remove the cloud from the title to certain real estate in the city of Crawfordsville, Ind.

The bill (H. R. 3626) to grant to the Gainesville, McCallister and St. Louis Railway Company a right of way through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes, was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

INAUGURATION ARRANGEMENTS.

Mr. HALE. I submit a resolution and ask for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the Commissioners of the District of Columbia are directed to send forthwith to the Senate a statement of all places on the public grounds and streets where permits have been given to erect stands for seats to be used on inauguration day, and whether in any case such stands have been erected in front of any of the public buildings.

The Senate, by unanimous consent, proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. HALE. Mr. President, I have offered this resolution in order that information may be gained as to the extent which it is contemplated the practice of erecting seats upon public grounds is to be carried out. Day after day, in going along the line where the procession will move, we have all seen the encroachment of stands for seats constantly progressing; one reservation after another is closed up and occupied and covered by them. The line of march to be taken by the procession, thousands of our fellow-citizens from States outside coming here, will be not much more than a display of plank seats, and, if the day is bad, half filled or less.

This morning I discovered, in addition to what had been put up before, that the north front of the Treasury building, a very fine front which ought to be seen from the procession, has been encroached upon; that wooden stands are to be erected there, and that that will be cut off from view. Almost the entire lot where the Executive Mansion is situated has been taken up in the same way, so that that can not be seen.

Mr. HAWLEY. And the south end of the Treasury building.

Mr. HALE. As the Senator from Connecticut suggests to me, the south end of the Treasury building, a public building which is a singularly beautiful and imposing feature in Washington, is to be shut off from the spectators.

Now, who has done this? By what authority or upon what theory I do not know, but it seems to me that it has become an evil when it is found that almost everything in the line of the procession worth seeing is disfigured and obscured and the view entirely or almost obscured.

Mr. MORRILL. If the Senator will allow me, I will state that I have heard one person has put up these structures and then sold tickets, so that he will be able to pick up $100,000. I do not know whether that is true or not.

Mr. HALE. If that is true, it is time that we should look into the matter. It has been suggested by another Senator while I am speaking that the fine statue which was recently erected in Lafayette Square, the statue of the great Frenchman whom we delight to honor, the Marquis de Lafayette, is entirely cut off from view and no one can see it.

Mr. MITCHELL. It is absolutely obstructed from sight.

Mr. HALE. Now, if this avenue and all the public streets are to be given up to the kind of speculation the Senator from Vermont has just alluded to, the Congress of the United States ought to do something about it. I think the great trouble has been that this body, in connection with the other House, did not weeks ago take some action and provide at least, from the disfiguring stands that have been made all over the city, some of the things are worth seeing by our visitors who will come here.

Mr. CULLOM. The statue referred to is made a part of the base of the board structure upon which it is expected to rest seats.

Mr. HALE. That they have utilized?

Mr. CULLOM. They have utilized it for that purpose, and be allowed to erect stands for seats to be used on inauguration day, and whether or not any such stands have been erected in front of any of the public buildings, and what if any conditions have been imposed as to the character of the stands, and the use of the seats on such stands.

Mr. MILLIS. Why not insert "either public or private?" There is no right to obstruct private property.

Mr. HALE. I have no objection to that.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on the adoption of the amendments modified.

Mr. CHAMPLAIN. I trust the resolution may go over until tomorrow morning. It may be that I shall then have a statement from the gentleman in charge of this matter to submit to the Senate. Nothing can come from action now, I think, except as a matter of delay and to prevent the abuse hereafter. It has gone too far to be applied to the coming inauguration. I ask the Senator from Maine to let the resolution go over until tomorrow.

Mr. HALE. All right, let it go over.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The consideration of the resolution will be passed over until tomorrow morning.

CHAMPLAIN AND ST. LAWRENCE RAILROAD.

Mr. PROCTOR submitted the following report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill, H. R. 1475, to grant to the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad Company a right of way across the Fort Mifflin military reservation kept general after full and free conference have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its amendment and the House agree to the same with an amendment as follows:

In line 4 strike out after "New York" "down to and including the word 'company'" in line 7 and insert in lieu thereof the following: "Subject, however, to the provisions of an act entitled 'An act authorizing the Secretary of War to lease public property in certain cases,' approved July 28, 1902, and in continuation," and the Senate agree to the same.

REDFIELD PROCTOR,

C. K. DAVIS,

E. M. COCKRELL,

Members of the joint committee of the Senate

JOHN L. MITCHELL,

D. H. PATTON,

C. E. BELKNAP,

Members of the joint committee of the House

The report was concurred in.

SUNDRY CIVIL APPROPRIATION BILL.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there further morning business?

Mr. ALLISON. If there is no further morning business, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate resumed the consideration of the bill, H. R. 19238, making appropriations for sundry civil expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. In order that the position of the bill may be fairly understood, the Chair will direct the reading of an extract from the RECORD of yesterday's proceedings.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Mr. ALLISON. I ask that the amendments not reserved be concurred in, and I ask that the bill pass over until tomorrow morning, and that new amendments be offered. On the Senate the amendments suggested by the Senator from Maryland and any others where a decision is reached, and I ask that the bill be reported as amended, and that the amendments be concurred in, for the purpose of the bill so that we may have the bill without amendments when it goes to the House.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the report of the Senator from Iowa?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair will ask again, Is the report of the Senator from Iowa agreed to? Is there objection to it? The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair understands that all the amendments agreed to in Committee of the Whole have been concurred in the Senate except an amendment reserved by the Senator from Florida [Mr. CALL]. The question is upon concurring in the amendment excepted from the general rule, which will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 53, line 29, in an amendment already agreed to before the word "thousand" the Senate, at its Committee of the Whole, struck out "eighty" and inserted "forty," so as to reduce the appropriation under the head of "Dispositions on public timber, protecting public lands, and settlement of claims for swamp lands and swamp-land indemnity," to $400,000.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on concurring in the amendment made in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. CALL. At the request of the Senator from Maryland, I will withdraw my request and allow the amendment to be concurred in and let it go into conference. I desire simply to observe that I regard the agencies for the investigation of these frauds as matters of great importance.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Then the reserved amendment, made as in Committee of the Whole, will be concurred in in the Senate. All the amendments made in Committee of the Whole have been concurred in in the Senate.

Mr. DAVIS. Pursuant to notice given yesterday, I renew my amendment to strike out the first ten lines on page 58.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Minnesota proposes an amendment which will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 58 strike out the first ten lines, the words to be stricken out being as follows:

Be it enacted That there be added to section seven of "An act to repeal the naturalization laws and for other purposes," approved March 3, 1903, the following proviso: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to apply in its provisions to or affect any case where a contest was pending in the Land Department prior to the date of the passage of said act, or to in any manner impair rights which had been acquired under the preemption, desert land, or other private laws prior to March 3, 1903.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. CALL. On that I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BUTLER, when his name was called. I have a general pair with the Senator from Pennsylvania [Mr. CAMERON]. Not knowing how he would vote, I withhold my vote.

Mr. CULLOM, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. I do not see him present and therefore for the time being I withhold my vote.

Mr. DAVIS, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE] and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. HUNTON, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. McMILLAN, when his name was called. I have a general pair with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE].

Mr. MITCHELL, when his name was called. I am paired with the junior Senator from Louisiana [Mr. CAFFERY]. If he were here he would vote "nay" and I should vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. Having learned that he would vote against the amendment, I vote "nay."

Mr. PETTIGREW, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMPDEN]. I transfer my pair to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS] and vote "yea."

Mr. McMILLAN, when Mr. STOCKBRIDGE's name was called. My colleague [Mr. STOCKBRIDGE] is unavoidably absent. He is paired with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GIBSON].

Mr. BERRY, when Mr. WALTHALL's name was called. The Senator from Mississippi, Mr. WALTHALL, is paired with the Senator from Illinois [Mr. DIXON]. If the Senator from Mississippi were present he would vote "nay."

Mr. VILAS, when Mr. WHITE's name was called. The Senator from Louisiana [Mr. WHITE], being temporarily detained from the Chamber, desired me to announce that he is paired with the Senator from Minnesota [Mr. WASHBURN], and that if present he would vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. FAULKNER. I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. McPHERSON, after having voted in the negative. I wish to inquire if the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS] has voted?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. He has not voted.

Mr. McPHERSON. I am paired with that Senator and therefore withdraw my vote.

Mr. BLACKBURN. I desire to state that my colleague [Mr. LINDSAY] was paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE], who asked to have the pair transferred to the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR]. Now, I transfer that pair to the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH]. That will enable the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] to vote. The Senator from Rhode Island is absent, and so is my colleague.

Mr. FAULKNER. Then I will vote. I will vote "nay."

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL], who is absent. I transfer that pair to the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR], and I will vote.

Mr. BLACKBURN. That is fair.

Mr. DIXON. I vote "yea."

Mr. McPHERSON. At the suggestion of the Senator from Michigan [Mr. McMILLAN], I will transfer my pair with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS], to the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE], who is absent, and that will allow

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. Of course the gentlemen who desire to pass the amendment think it needs no debate at all; but

The amendments were ordered to be engrossed and the bill to be read a third time.

free public schools thereof, and for other purposes, reported it with amendments, and submitted a report thereon.

MONONGAHELA RIVER BRIDGE.

Mr. QUAY. I am instructed by the Committee on Commerce, to whom was referred the bill S. 3874 authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Monongahela River at the Twenty-third ward, city of Pittsburgh, State of Pennsylvania, to report it with an amendment and leave for its consideration.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The amendment of the Committee on Commerce was, in section 3, line 24, to strike out "changes" and insert "changes."

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, and read the third time, and passed.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. CHANDLER introduced a bill S. 3883 for the relief of certain officers of the Navy; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Mr. MITCHELL introduced a bill S. 3884 to amend an act entitled "An act to afford assistance and relief to Congress and the Executive Departments in the investigation of claims and demands against the Government," approved March 3, 1882, which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. FRYE introduced a bill S. 3885 to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to fix and limit the compensation of collectors of customs and surveyors of customs, and for other purposes; which was read twice by its title, and, with the accompanying paper, referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. VEST introduced a bill (S. 3886) to authorize the Montgomery Bridge Company to construct and maintain a bridge across the Alabama River near the city of Montgomery, Ala.; which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

ADMIRAL S. B. LUCE.

Mr. SHERMAN. I introduce a joint resolution, and ask for its present consideration, if there be no objection.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it be read for information.

The joint resolution (S. R. 158) authorizing Rear-Admiral S. B. Luce, retired, to accept a medal from the Government of Spain, was read the first time by its title and the second time at length, as follows:

Resolved by the Senate of the United States, with the concurrence of the Congress assembled, That Rear-Admiral S. B. Luce, retired, be and is authorized to accept from the Government of Spain the Grand Cross of Merit, presented in appreciation of his services as Commissioner and head of the United States for the Columbian Exposition at Madrid.

Mr. SHERMAN. As this is a compliment to a well-known naval officer, is in the line of procedure, is recommended by the Secretary of the Navy and also by the Secretary of State, and involves only a compliment to a distinguished officer, I hope the joint resolution will be put on its passage, although it is introduced rather late in the session to go through the ordinary form.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

There being no objection, the joint resolution was concurred in, as in Committee of the Whole.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate, without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

AMENDMENTS TO APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Mr. COCKRELL. In connection with an amendment offered by the senior Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLANCHARD] to the bill 10258 making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for other years, and for other purposes, I desire to offer the following to be inserted at the close of that amendment:

To Mrs. Belle Osborne, of Alexandria, La., assistance of John Osborne, &c. 1885.

I hope the Senator from Kentucky will accept the amendment and let it be referred as a part of his amendment to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. BLANCHARD. With great pleasure, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It is so ordered in the absence of objection.

Mr. PADDOCK submitted two amendments intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which were referred to the Committee on Claims.

Mr. CALL submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the deficiency appropriation bill; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. CHANDLER. I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst.

relative to the bill S. 3883, for the relief of certain officers of the Navy.

I am, Sir, very respectfully, Sir, your obedient servant,

Wm. Chandler.

and had appointed Mr. WHEELER of Alabama, Mr. NEWBERRY, and Mr. BOWEN managers at the conference on the part of the House.

WILLIAM MCGARRAHAN.

Mr. TELLER. I wish to give notice that to-morrow morning, after the routine business, I shall call up Senate bill 3741, known as the McGarrahan bill.

Mr. FAULKNER. If the Senator from Colorado will permit me, I will state that I think the Norfolk and Western Railroad bill comes ahead of the McGarrahan bill.

Mr. TELLER. I will state that I shall call up the McGarrahan bill as soon as the Norfolk and Western Railroad bill is disposed of. I do not want to interfere with that measure. I did not know that it was proposed to call it up to-morrow morning.

DIPLOMATIC AND CONSULAR APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. VEST. Mr. President, I desire to withdraw the motion, which I entered yesterday, to reconsider the vote by which the Senate passed the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The motion to reconsider is withdrawn, and the bill stands passed.

MILITARY ACADEMY APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. CULLOM. I ask that the action of the House of Representatives on the Military Academy appropriation bill may be laid before the Senate that I make a motion in reference to it.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Laid before the Senate the action of the House of Representatives, disagreeing to the amendments of the Senate to the bill H. R. 12990 making appropriations for the support of the Military Academy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and asking for a conference with the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon.

Mr. CULLOM. I move that the Senate insist upon its amendments, and agree to the conference asked by the House of Representatives.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the President pro tempore was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. CULLOM, Mr. STEWART, and Mr. CALL were appointed.

CALUMET RIVER BRIDGE.

Mr. PALMER. I ask leave to call up for present consideration Senate bill 3871.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair will first ask whether there is further morning business?

Mr. DAWES. I rose to move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill.

Mr. CULLOM. I hope the Senator from Massachusetts will allow my colleague to call up a bridge bill. It will not take any time.

Mr. DAWES. If it does not cause any debate I shall not object.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Illinois asks unanimous consent to proceed to the consideration of the bill (S. 3871) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Calumet River.

There being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Commerce with an amendment, in section 4, line 5, to strike out "projected" and insert "protected."

Several Senators addressed the Chair.

Mr. DAWES. I will yield until 12 o'clock for business that does not cause debate.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I ask the Senator from Massachusetts to yield that I may call up a bill.

Mr. DAWES. I yield the floor entirely until 12 o'clock.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The consideration of the bill before the Senate will first be closed. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Committee on Commerce.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

STOKESBROOK AND MUNSEE INDIANS.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 5764) for the relief of the Stockbridge and Munsee tribes of Indians in the State of Wisconsin.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. SAWYER. I am not going to object. I do not think the bill ought to pass, but still I am not going to make any opposition except to vote against it. So far as its consideration is concerned, I shall not object.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

The preamble was agreed to.

PORT OF BONNERS FERRY, IDAHO.

Mr. DUBOIS. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill (S. 3811) to establish a port of delivery at Bonners Ferry, Idaho.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. FOWLER, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the bill (H. R. 176) authorizing the St. Louis and Madison Transfer Company to construct a bridge over the Mississippi River.

The message also announced that the House insisted upon its amendment to the bill (S. 3317) extending the time for the construction of the Big Horn Southern Railroad through the Crow Indian Reservation, agreed to the conference asked by the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and had appointed Mr. PEARCE, Mr. TRIMAN, and Mr. WILSON of Washington managers at the conference on the part of the House.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills and joint resolution, and they were thereupon signed by the President pro tempore:

A bill (S. 1578) for the relief of the heirs of James S. Ham.

A bill (S. 1539) for the relief of the heirs of John W. Vose.

A bill (S. 3725) authorizing the construction of a free bridge across the Arkansas River, connecting Little Rock and Argenta.

A bill (H. R. 459) to remove the charge of desertion from the record of Charles G. Pyer.

A bill (H. R. 9939) for the further continuance of the publication of the supplement to the Revised Statutes of the United States.

A bill (H. R. 9862) for the relief of George W. Jones and

A joint resolution (S. R. 167) authorizing the Secretary of War to receive for instruction, at the Military Academy at West Point, Alberto Gairola, of Salvador.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I desire at this time to call up the bill (H. R. 10236) regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. GALLINGER. I shall reserve the right to object after the bill has been read. I have not examined the bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill will be read, as in Committee of the Whole, if there be no objection.

Mr. TRIMAN. I object to the present consideration of the bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Indiana objects to the consideration of the bill.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from North Dakota moves that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10236) regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia.

Mr. GALLINGER. On that I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CULLOM, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. I do not see him present and withhold my vote.

Mr. FAULKNER, when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. QUAY, when his name was called. I have a general pair with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. McLAN] covering the entire term of his absence in Europe.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. In his absence I withhold my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 42, nays 13 as follows:

YEAS—12.

Bate.	Cookrell.	Faye.	Hansbrough.
Brice.	Davis.	George.	Harris.
Bulger.	Dawes.	Gorman.	Hawley.
Chandler.	Polton.	Hale.	Hiscock.

Mr. CHANDLER. I understand the Senator's proposition with reference to the bill, but I am now speaking about the amendment. Does the Senator mean to say that this bill can not pass at this session unless we amend it by providing that the clubs of the city shall have their licenses in their corporate names?

Mr. HANSBROOK. No, I do not mean to say that, but I mean to say that the Committee on the District of Columbia have considered this question and have concluded that it was proper that the amendment which I have submitted should be offered.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on the amendment submitted by the Senator from North Dakota.

Mr. PLATT. I call for a division.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Before a division is had, I wish to say a word of explanation in answer to the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. CHANDLER], if it is in order.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator is in order.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I should like to say that there are in the District of Columbia some six or seven incorporated clubs duly organized, acting under charter. They include the Metropolitan Club, the Cosmos Club, the Press Club, the Columbia Athletic Club, the University Club, and the Army and Navy Club.

Under the provisions of this bill it will be necessary for some individual to take out a license, treating the club as if it were a barroom. Some of these clubs have sleeping rooms, but most of them have not. Therefore, if any application for a license should be made it must necessarily be made in the name of the incorporated body, and in a manner not provided for in the bill, unless by the portion of the bill which is to be stricken out and the amendment of the Senator from North Dakota substituted, if it shall be adopted.

The officer of the club who applies for a license and in whose name it would issue would be undoubtedly criminally responsible in the District if its provisions should be violated; but if that were not so, the license issued to a club could be revoked by the board of excise.

The majority of the members of the Press Club of Washington, a duly incorporated and reputable body, do not finish their work until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning, when their dispatches go over the wires and their business for the day is done. The club is their home, as are the other clubs the homes of many of their members. They know no other home. The club throws around its members the safeguards of a home, and the right of intrusion should be no more in a club than into the home of any citizen of this District. This matter is left wholly with the board of excise. If the club shall be disappointed; if, in the opinion of the board, the morals of the District will be impaired by the granting of a license, it will not be issued.

The effect of the amendment is that simply upon application of the proper officer of a duly authorized club incorporated under the laws of the District, the board of excise may issue to that body a permit, covering such hours as the board of excise may see fit.

The board of excise is composed of the Commissioners of the District. I think we can afford to trust their judgment in this matter, with the assurance that the morals of the District will be maintained, and that their power will not be abused.

Mr. CHANDLER. The difficulty with the Senator's argument is that it does not show how the penalties of this proposed statute are to be enforced against an incorporated company. The Senator's argument is that clubs should be licensed. Of course, if the policy of Congress is to have license laws in the District, and hotels and barrooms are to be licensed, then the clubs should be licensed. But why should the clubs be licensed in the name of the corporation, while every hotel corporation, if there be one, has to take out a license in the name of some individual?

Mr. WOLCOTT. No corporation can take out a license under the present provisions of this bill.

Mr. CHANDLER. I do not understand; but why should a hotel corporation not be allowed to take out a license in the name of that corporation, as much as a club corporation should be allowed to take out a license in the name of a club? The reason, I suppose, is that it is the policy of all license laws to grant licenses only to individuals. Now, if these clubs are to be licensed in their corporate names, how shall section 13 apply. I ask the Senator? That section reads:

§ 13. That any person having obtained a license under this act, who shall violate any of its provisions, shall upon conviction of such violation be fined not less than $500 nor more than $2,000 and upon every subsequent conviction of such violation during the year for which such license is issued shall be fined not less than $1,000 and in addition to such shall pay a sum equal to 2 per cent of the amount of the fine imposed for the offense immediately preceding, and have his license revoked, and in case of nonpayment of the fines and penalties above named shall be imprisoned in the jail of the District or workhouse for a period of time not exceeding six months, or till the same are paid.

How will that provision be enforced as against the club?

Mr. WOLCOTT. May I answer the Senator for a moment?

Mr. CHANDLER. Certainly.

Mr. WOLCOTT. The theory of the bill is that people applying for license to keep bar-rooms or hotels must act in their individual capacity, and that the law will punish them for a violation of the ordinance by a revocation of their license, and by fine and upon a subsequent offense, by imprisonment. The license period of clubs of the District by the pending bill are placed upon an entirely different footing, and they are placed upon a different footing for the very excellent reason that bar-rooms and hotels sell liquor for profit and to make money, whereas the incorporated clubs of the District furnish to members, who themselves contribute the expense, the liquor at their cost. The theory of the bill is that the revocation of the license would be a sufficient punishment.

Mr. CHANDLER. The bill provides that every place where intoxicating liquors are sold to be drunk on the premises shall, for the purposes of this act be regarded and considered a bar-room.

Mr. WOLCOTT. But look at the provision in section 6 and the amendment pending.

Mr. CHANDLER. I do not wish to prolong the argument. It does not seem to me that we should make one rule for hotels and another rule for clubs; that we should require individual responsibility in every case of a hotel corporation and allow a club to escape from individual responsibility and its officers to escape from individual punishment simply because it is a incorporated club.

Mr. PLATT. I confess that I am somewhat doubtful as to what the real purpose of the amendment is. I find on page 6 that the language to be stricken out reads this way:

It is provided, &c. That any duly incorporated club having a license under this act may sell intoxicating liquor to its members at any time till the hour of 1 o'clock antemeridian.

Now, will the Secretary read the proposed substitute?

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

That the said exercise board may, in its discretion, issue a license to any duly incorporated club on the petition of the officers of the club, and that the said exercise board may in its discretion grant a permit to such club to sell intoxicating liquors to members and guests between such hours as the board may see fit may designate in said permit.

Mr. PLATT. It would seem as if the object of that was to put in a specific provision allowing a license to be issued to an incorporated club. But that is already in the bill. There would be no difficulty about an incorporated club getting a license under the bill as it stands now. The proviso that any duly incorporated club having a license may sell so and so is upon the theory that the incorporated club may be licensed. Now it is suggested that incorporated clubs ought to have the power to sell liquor under the license until after 1 o'clock, but it is not suggested that the language of the amendment is so carefully framed as that it will allow liquor to be sold in incorporated clubs on Sundays. I can not vote for it.

Mr. PELTON. I simply desire to observe that in the sense the word "sold" is used, intoxicating liquors are not sold in the club any more than meals are sold in a club. Liquor that is sold in a club is the property of and belongs to the club. It is paid for by the club in quantity, and it is simply an arrangement by which a division can be made in the club, each member having his special portion. It is very true that there are many guests in a club. I understand the rule of most clubs is that each member may have the privilege of inviting one gentleman, and only one. The club is not essential, so far as the sale of liquor is concerned, or a par with a hotel, in furnishing liquor in his own house. They contain no monopoly. No one knows anything about it any more than he knows about the liquor that is drunk in a private house.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. HANSBROOK].

Mr. PEPPER. I ask that the vote may be taken by yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. GORMAN. Let the amendment be read again.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendment will be again read.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 6, line 15, strike out all down to and including the word "antemeridian" in line 18, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

That the said exercise board may, in its discretion, issue a license to any duly incorporated club on the petition of the officers of the club, and that the said exercise board may in its discretion grant a permit to such club to sell intoxicating liquors to members and guests between such hours as the board may see fit may designate in said permit.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from North Dakota.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. PAULKNER (when Mr. CAMDEN's name was called). My colleague [Mr. CAMDEN] is necessarily absent from the Senate, and is paired with the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PETTIGREW].

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. He is not present, and I withhold my vote.

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH].

Mr. STOCKBRIDGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GIBSON].

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], but I understand if he were present he would vote "nay," and I will therefore vote "I vote 'nay.'"

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. QUAY. I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

Mr. DIXON. I am paired with the Senator from Missouri [Mr. WALSH]. In his absence I withhold my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 47, nays 30, as follows:

YEAS 47

So the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HUNTON. In lines 5 and 6, of section 21, page 13, I move to strike out the words:

Except such laws as are applicable to the sale of liquor within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home.

The effect of the amendment if adopted will be to abolish the distinction in the District of Columbia between the 1-mile limit of the Soldiers' Home and the rest of the District of Columbia. The law prohibiting the sale of liquors within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home was adopted a year or two ago at the instance of the governor of the Soldiers' Home, as he supposed for the benefit of the inmates of the home. That experiment has been tried and has proved an utter failure. As the best argument that I can make on the subject, I desire to have read by the Secretary a letter from the governor of the Soldiers' Home, in which he earnestly asks that this distinction be abolished.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The letter will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, UNITED STATES SOLDIERS' HOME,
Washington, D. C., July 18, 1893.

SIR: Last I may be prevented by disability from appearing before your committee on Thursday according to your invitation. I desire to say as governor of the Soldiers' Home I am deeply interested in and concerned about the matter of regulating sales of intoxicating liquors in this part of the District of Columbia.

The one-mile limit law, passed I believe with the best intention of benefiting the home, by preventing the members from having easy access to intoxicating liquors, has not only lamentably failed in restraining those living within the mile limit from selling them liquor, but has doubled the number of inmates who return drunk from the city and the number of those who sell liquor to them.

It is reported this last class is so great that by competition the price of whiskey has fallen to 60 cents a gallon, and is so bad that the number of inmates who fall by the wayside in returning from the city and who die from its effects has doubled during the year the law has been in force, as compared to the year immediately preceding, as the accompanying reports show.

No law that Congress could pass could do more harm to the home and to the reputation of the people within the mile limit, and to their property than the mile limit law, so benevolently intended, has effected.

The inmates, who are discharged soldiers and full citizens of the United States, feel grieved and in conflict with this statute in force. They are grieved that their neighbors within a mile of the beautiful park which the law made possible to the citizens of Washington, should be denied the privilege enjoyed by their fellow-citizens everywhere else in the District.

They feel insulted that after serving their country in its wars, and saving of them for twenty years, and age now disabled old men, should be denied the paltry gratification of a glass of beer without having to go a mile for it.

In the interest of the hundreds of worthy inmates and citizens, I ask your most favorable consideration of the Meredith high license bill, and that the mile limit be repealed. Some of the men at the home will always drink too much with this prohibitory law in force, for the reason that when they take the class that is helpful, not harmful, a mile or two from home, they remember that they will have to take the same long walk to get another, it occurs to them it will be a long time "between drinks," and then add to what is already to do, and the result is that they drink too much. This is the case with all the men at the home, and the result is that they are drunk when they return home.

The result is that the home is a place of disorder and dissipation, and the inmates are a disgrace to the community. The law is a failure, and it should be repealed.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
J. H. HUNTON,
Governor of the Soldiers' Home.

The PRESIDENT. The letter has been read. The amendment is agreed to.

Mr. HUNTER. I am paired with the Senator from Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

The CHIEF CLERK. In section 21, line 6, after the word "Home," insert:

Which law is hereby declared to be amended by reducing the limit prescribed in said act to one-half of a mile from the Soldiers' Home.

Mr. HUNTON. I can not agree to accept that amendment.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Will the Senator from Virginia yield to me for a moment?

Mr. HUNTON. I will yield in a few minutes. I have no doubt in the world every word my friend from West Virginia has said is perfectly true, that when the 1-mile limit was established, although he says it was intended for half a mile, it was adopted for the benefit of the government of the Soldiers' Home.

That is perfectly true; it was adopted at the instance of the governor of the Soldiers' Home; but it has proved a dead failure, and instead of being a benefit to the discipline of the home, it has proved very disastrous to the discipline of that home. The governor of the Home writes a strong letter, which has just been read at the desk, asking that the one-mile limit be abolished. He says it is absolutely necessary for the good of the inmates of the Soldiers' Home, and it is making a discrimination between one portion of the District of Columbia and the rest of it about the sale of liquor. The provision of law is useless and more than useless, because it is injurious where a benefit was intended. For that reason I am not able to consent to the amendment proposed by the Senator from West Virginia to my amendment. I yield now to the Senator from South Carolina.

Mr. BUTLER. I was merely going to call attention to what Gen. Kelton has said in regard to this matter, and which is absolutely conclusive as far as I am concerned. I desire to call the attention of the Senate to one paragraph of Gen. Kelton's letter, the present governor of the home, who was Adjutant General of the Army for a number of years:

The one-mile limit law passed I believe with the best intention of benefiting the home by preventing the members from having easy access to intoxicating liquor, has not only lamentably failed in restraining those living within the mile limit from selling them liquor, but has doubled the number of inmates who return drunk from the city and the number of those who sell liquor to them.

I submit that the opinion of Gen. Kelton, the governor of the home, who knows all about it, I presume—he lives there—ought to have great weight with the Senate in settling this matter; and it seems to me that his objection to the mile limit would apply just as forcibly to the half-mile limit. I see no reason why there should be any distinction made whatever in the neighborhood of the Soldiers' Home from any other part of the District, and I think the amendment proposed by the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON] is eminently proper.

Mr. FAULKNER. I did not understand when the communication was read, as I was then preparing my amendment, the point made by the officer in charge of the Soldiers' Home, and have only appreciated now the views which he expressed in the letter, and which I think I can show to the Senate are easily answered.

It is true, as he states, that since the mile limit has been established there have been more liquor saloons and more drunkenness in the city of Washington than before, and why? Simply because you have to-day in the city of Washington no license law.

You have to-day in the city of Washington no law which will authorize the Commissioners to designate and prescribe who shall be entitled to sell liquor within the limits of this District. You have to-day no penalties prescribed by which you can enforce any liquor law whatever; and the passage of such a measure is the absolute and imperative necessity devolved upon the Senate here, even to set aside for the time being important appropriation bills in order to give to the subject a proper and deliberate consideration and vote upon it one way or the other.

Now, Mr. President, what has been the result of the law prescribing a mile limit?

Mr. HUNTON. Will the Senator allow me to interrupt him?

Mr. FAULKNER. Of course.

Mr. HUNTON. My friend is mistaken in saying that there was no law in the District of Columbia prohibiting the sale of liquor without license. He will recollect that I called his attention to the fact that up to the decision of the case of The United States vs. Noah there was supposed to be a very stringent law against selling liquor without license in all parts of the District of Columbia. That decision of the supreme court of the District of Columbia took place last fall. So for a year or two this traffic went on under the laws of the District of Columbia, which were enforced against all men who sold liquors without license. It was not until the decision of The United States vs. Noah that it was supposed people had a right to sell liquor without license in the District of Columbia. The ill-effects of the one-mile limit law were apparent to the governor of the Soldiers' Home long before it was dreamed of that a man could sell liquor in the District of Columbia without a license.

Mr. FAULKNER. I will state to the Senator from Virginia that the question as to whether a man was compelled to obtain a license from the Commissioners commenced to be agitated this spring a year ago. Although the decision was not rendered until last fall, in which it was judicially decided that persons could sell liquor without obtaining the consent of the Commissioners, parties acting upon the construction of the law given to them by counsel whom they advised with did go on Seventh street and in this particular locality did open bar rooms in absolute defiance of what was then assumed to be the license law of the District of the Columbia.

As a result of that advice from counsel almost every house became a liquor saloon upon that line; and Gen. Kelton well says, coming there after the operation of the law had been absolutely nullified, under this view of the old statute, he found that as the old soldiers came back from the town they could stop at every house and take a drink of liquor, and the result was that they suffered a great deal more than they would under a regularly and properly regulated license system.

Mr. BUTLER. I understand Gen. Kelton to say exactly the opposite; that one of the evils resulting from the one-mile limit is the fact that there is such a long time between drinks that the old fellow would be very likely to take too much; that he would have a mile to walk, and very likely would go back from his leave in a very unfortunate condition, whereas if he had gone out 400 feet, or whatever the limit prescribed, and taken a glass of beer the chances are he would have gone back feeling refreshed without being drunk. I think the argument of Gen. Kelton is very potential. He states the fact. He says that they regard it as a reflection upon that community that they should be exempted from the general operation of the law which applies to all the District. I take it that Gen. Kelton knows what he is talking about and knows what the old soldiers want. A good many of them will take a drink and I expect they drink too much sometimes, and when they have to walk a mile to get a drink they are very likely to take more than one before they start back.

Mr. HUNTON. He says expressly that they do that.

Mr. BUTLER. Yes.

Mr. FAULKNER. I think I am correct in the assertion I made upon the letter of the general. He says:

The one-mile limit law passed I believe with the best intention of benefiting the home by preventing the members from having easy access to intoxicating liquors, has not only lamentably failed in restraining those living within the mile limit from selling them liquor, but has doubled the number of inmates who return drunk from the city, and the number of those who sell liquor to them.

Within the limits. That is exactly the proposition which I asserted was the statement of the general.

Mr. BUTLER. Now, if we put a $100 license fee upon those fellows who have been selling liquor illicitly I think it will likely result in diminishing that number.

Mr. GALLINGER. Will the Senator from West Virginia yield for a question?

Mr. FAULKNER. I yield to the Senator from New Hampshire.

Mr. GALLINGER. I desire simply to ask my friend, the Senator from West Virginia, if it is not an entirely novel proposition that the nearer intoxicating liquors are to men the more temperate they are? Was it ever before promulgated by any individual or by any legislative body?

Mr. FAULKNER. I do not think it has been announced by anyone at all except the Senator from South Carolina. I have not attributed any such doctrine to the general in command at the Soldiers' Home.

Mr. GALLINGER. Has not Gen. Kelton said the same thing?

Mr. FAULKNER. In his communication which has been read?

Mr. GALLINGER. Yes, sir.

Mr. FAULKNER. I think not. He has simply said that by reason of the condition of the present law the liquor saloons have doubled in number to what they were prior to its enactment, within the limits, and the reason for that I have given to the Senate.

Mr. HUNTON. I do not think Gen. Kelton alludes to the present law. The Senator from West Virginia is mistaken.

Mr. GALLINGER. Let me ask the Senator from West Virginia a further question.

Mr. FAULKNER. I yield to the Senator from New Hampshire.

Mr. GALLINGER. Suppose the mile limit is eliminated from the law will it not result in bringing liquor saloons nearer to the Soldiers' Home than 1 mile, and hence is it not an extraordinary argument that the nearer we get them the more temperate men will be?

Mr. FAULKNER. Of course if you destroy the mile limit they can obtain license to sell liquor anywhere in the District of Columbia.

Mr. COCKRELL. Have I the floor? I thought I was recognized.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Missouri is entitled to the floor.

Mr. COCKRELL. I will take but a minute. I understand there is not in this list of claims one solitary judgment of the Court of Claims rendered in a case where the court had authority to enter a judgment.

Mr. MITCHELL. I said there might be a few, but probably there may be none. I have not had time to examine them. I know the great mass are simply findings of the court under the Bowman act.

Mr. PLATT. Then it is all right.

Mr. COCKRELL. They are not judgments. The judgments of the Court of Claims come to us under an entirely different certification. These are simply claims about which findings have been made by the Court of Claims.

Mr. MITCHELL. Under the Bowman act.

Mr. COCKRELL. Under the Bowman act.

Mr. PLATT. That is all right.

Mr. DAWES. I renew my motion to take the legislative, etc., appropriation bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The morning business is not yet concluded.

Mr. DAWES. I yield for morning business.

REPORTS ON LABOR IN EUROPE.

Mr. CHANDLER, from the Committee on Immigration, reported the following concurrent resolution: which was referred to the Committee on Printing:

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring: That there shall be printed and bound 50,000 copies of the report on the condition of labor in Europe by Mr. Walter T. Griffin, commercial agent at Limoges, France, and 5,000 copies of the report of Mr. W. H. Edwards, consul-general at Berlin on the labor statistics of the German trades unions for the year 1892, 1,000 copies of each report to be for the use of the Senate, 2,000 copies for the use of the House, and 2,000 copies to be distributed by the Secretary of State; that said reports shall be edited and prepared for publication by the Commissioner of Labor, who shall also insert in said reports the equity debts in American money of all statements of prices or other sums now given in foreign money; and that only such photographs, maps and other plates shall be reproduced as the Commissioner of Labor may deem essential to a fair illustration of the text of the reports.

Mr. CHANDLER. From the Committee on Immigration I report a resolution and ask for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved: That the report on the condition of labor on the continent of Europe made to the Secretary of State by Mr. Walter T. Griffin, commercial agent at Limoges, France, dated April 25, 1892, and the report of Mr. W. H. Edwards, consul-general at Berlin, dated November 29, 1892, being a translation of the work entitled "Labor statistics of the German trades unions for the year 1892," transmitted to the Senate by the President in response to the resolutions of December 29, 1892, and January 5, 1893, be returned to the Secretary of State.

Mr. COCKRELL. Why is that necessary?

Mr. CHANDLER. The other resolution provides for printing the reports and it has gone to the Committee on Printing, but in the mean time the custody of the reports should be with the Secretary of State.

The resolution was considered by unanimous consent and agreed to.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. PROCTOR introduced a bill (S. 3887) for the relief of L. A. Noyes: which was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Claims.

Warwick, to accompany said engravings. That of the quota of the House of Representatives the Public Printer shall set apart 50 copies, which he shall have bound in full morocco with gilt edges, the same to be delivered, when completed, to the family of the deceased.

PRESIDENTIAL APPROVALS.

A message from the President of the United States, by Mr. O. L. PUGHEN, one of his secretaries, announced that the President had on the 24th instant approved and signed the following acts:

An act (S. 1232) removing charge of desertion against Lucius W. Hayford, Worcester, Vt.:

An act (S. 3857) authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Monongahela River, at the foot of Main street, in the borough of Belle Vernon, in the State of Pennsylvania:

An act (S. 3819) granting a pension to Mary Doubleday, widow of Bvt. Maj. Gen. Abner Doubleday; and

An act (S. 1303) to increase the pension of Mrs. S. A. Farquharson.

The message also announced that the President of the United States had on this day approved and signed the joint resolution (S. R. 102) to provide for the construction of a wharf as a means of approach to the monument to be erected at Wakefield, Va., to mark the birthplace of George Washington.

SWAMP LAND GRANT PATENTS.

Mr. CALL. I ask leave to call up the joint resolution (S. R. 125) to suspend approval of lists of public lands to States or corporations until the further action of Congress.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will be read.

The Chief Clerk read the joint resolution introduced by Mr. CALL December 21, 1892, as follows:

Resolved, etc. That the Secretary of the Interior be, and he is hereby, directed to suspend the approval or the issuing of patents to land under acts of Congress granting swamp and overflowed land and under the act of May 17, 1856, granting land to the States of Alabama and Florida in aid of the construction of certain lines of railway, and under any other acts of Congress granting lands to States or corporations to aid in the construction of lines of railway until Congress shall hereafter authorize the approval of lists of such lands.

Mr. PERKINS. I should like to ask if the joint resolution has been reported favorably by the Committee on Public Lands.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It has never been referred to a committee, the Chair is informed.

Mr. PERKINS. It seems to me that it is a very important measure.

Mr. DAWES. I renew my motion.

Mr. CALL. If the Senator will wait one moment, I will state that the joint resolution is nothing more than the law.

Mr. PLATT. Mr. President, we can not hear the Senator from Florida on this side.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Senators will resume their seats and cease audible conversation.

Mr. CALL. I think there will be no objection to the passage of the joint resolution when the Senate understands it. In the last appropriation act for sundry civil expenses of the Government it was provided "that no part of this sum of money shall be used for any land embraced in any grant to the State of Florida." That was in reference to the expenditure of the appropriation for the adjustment of the land grants which were provided for in that act of Congress, embracing all State and railroad grants. The act provided that no part of the money therein appropriated should be applied for any lands embraced in any grants to the State of Florida.

I am informed that there has been taken some action upon the subject, perhaps inadvertently, perhaps not, in violation of the express terms of the law. Therefore, I desire that the resolution, which is nothing but a reaffirmation of the law as enacted at the last session of Congress, shall be passed in order that it may be brought to the consideration of the authorities.

Mr. MITCHELL. Will the Senator yield to me a moment?

Mr. CALL. Yes, sir.

Mr. MITCHELL. I inquire if the joint resolution of the Senator applies to any other railroad land grants than those in the State of Florida?

Mr. CALL. To none whatever, and the joint resolution is in the terms of the act passed at the last session of Congress, referring only to the lands embraced in grants to the State of Florida because of certain peculiar facts relating to them. That is the law, as will be found now in the statute book.

Mr. PERKINS. If the language is clear and specific, so that the joint resolution only applies to lands in the State of Florida, so far as I am concerned I have no objection to its passage, but I somewhat doubt whether by the phraseology it is confined to the lands of that State.

Mr. MITCHELL. I ask that the joint resolution go over until to-morrow. I should like to look at it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will lie over.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the House to the bill (S. 3327) extending the time for the construction of the Big Horn Southern Railroad through the Crow Indian Reservation.

The message also announced that the House had passed a bill (H. R. 9741) to increase the pension of Capt. E. R. Chase from $20 to $72 a month, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED.

The message further announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the enrolled bill (S. 3876) authorizing the St. Louis and Madison Transfer Company to construct a bridge over the Mississippi River; and it was thereupon signed by the Vice-President.

BIG HORN SOUTHERN RAILROAD.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas submitted the following report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the House to the bill (S. 3327) extending the time for the construction of the Big Horn Southern Railroad through the Crow Indian Reservation, having met, after full and free conference have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the House of Representatives and agree to the same with an amendment, page 2, line 10, after "Reservation" insert "said grant of a right of way through the military reservation to be subject to the consent and approval of the Secretary of War;" and the House agree to the same.

JAMES K. JONES,

H. L. DAWES,

CHARLES F. MANDERSON,

Managers on the part of the Senate.

S. W. PEEL,

L. M. TURPIN,

JOHN L. WILSON,

Managers on the part of the House.

The report was concurred in.

HOUSE BILL REFERRED.

The bill (H. R. 9741) to increase the pension of Capt. E. R. Chase from $20 to $72 a month was read twice by its title, and referred to the Committee on Pensions.

LEGISLATIVE, ETC., APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. DAWES. I renew my motion that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the legislative, etc., appropriation bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion made by the Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. TURPIE. I wish to ask unanimous consent for the consideration of a private pension bill.

Mr. DAWES. The Senator will first allow me to get the appropriation bill before the Senate. Then I have promised to yield to the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER], and of course I shall be glad to extend the same courtesy to the Senator from Indiana.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Massachusetts.

The motion was agreed to, and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10331) making appropriations for the legislative, executive, and judicial expenses of the Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes, the pending question being on the amendment submitted by Mr. ALLISON.

Mr. DAWES. Now I yield to the Senator from Illinois.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The appropriation bill will be informally laid aside if there be no objection. The Chair hears none.

LEGAL REPRESENTATIVES OF ORSENIUS B. BOYD.

Mr. PALMER. I ask unanimous consent of the Senate for the present consideration of Senate bill 1920, which has been reported favorably by the Committee on Military Affairs, and which, I think, will lead to no debate.

There being no objection, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (S. 1920) for the relief of the legal representatives of Orsenius B. Boyd. It proposes that the claims of the widow and children of the late Orsenius B. Boyd, formerly a private and lieutenant of volunteers and captain in the Eighth United States Cavalry, for commutation of rations and pay while said deceased soldier was in the volunteer and regular armies of the United States, be referred to the Court of Claims for adjudication.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

REBECCA H. CHAMBERS.

Mr. DAWES. I now yield to the Senator from Indiana, if no other Senator objects.

MOBILE AND DAUPHIN ISLAND TRESTLE.

Mr. VEST. Upon consultation with the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS] and the Secretary of the Senate, I am satisfied that the action taken by the Senate in regard to the bill which was returned by the President, is not correct. I therefore ask the Senate to pass the concurrent resolution, which I send to the desk, in order that it may go to the House of Representatives at once.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The concurrent resolution will be read.

The Secretary read as follows:

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring: That the Committee on Enrolled Bills be, and they are hereby, authorized to correct the enrolled bill (S. 3511) to amend an act entitled "An act to grant to the Mobile and Dauphin Island Railroad and Harbor Company the right to trestle across the shoal water between Cedar Point and Dauphin Island," approved September 26, 1890, by striking out the word "six" in the second line and inserting the word "four;" and the figure "6" in the sixth line and inserting the figure "4."

The resolution was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to.

Mr. VEST. I ask unanimous consent that the action of the Senate this morning in reference to this matter be reconsidered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If there be no objection it will be so ordered. The Chair hears none.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Mr. President—

Mr. STEWART. I desire to call up an appropriation bill. I do not think it will take more than a few minutes.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I think we had better get the liquor-license bill out of the way first.

Mr. STEWART and others addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair has recognized the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. HANSBROUGH].

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10266) regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN. Now, as that bill has been taken up and will be the unfinished business to-morrow, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Mr. HARRIS. I wish to suggest to the Senator from Ohio that the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] gave notice this morning that at 5 o'clock he would ask the Senate to give attention to a matter which is never postponed.

In that connection, I wish to suggest to the Senator from North Dakota, that if he expects to get the bill which he has in charge considered, there are hardly minutes enough between now and 5 o'clock for him to get it through.

Mr. SHERMAN. The Senator gave way for the reason that it will be the unfinished business and can not be considered to-day.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I understand that this bill stands now as the unfinished business, so as to come up the first thing on Monday morning. As the Senator from Ohio is very anxious for an executive session, I yield to him.

Mr. BLACKBURN. No; this bill does not come up the first thing on Monday morning.

Mr. ALLISON. It will come up at 2 o'clock.

Mr. SHERMAN. It will come up at 1 o'clock when the Senate meets at 11. I insist on my motion, which is not debatable.

Mr. GORMAN. I understand that the bill now before the Senate is the bill reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia and that it is absolutely necessary that it should be disposed of before we can get through with the District of Columbia appropriation bill. It is upon that statement that Senators upon this side of the Chamber have voted to take up the bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. I wish to state to the Senator from Maryland that I do not think the executive session will last more than a short time, and there is a necessity for it. I do not intend at all to interfere with the notice given by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL]. I therefore insist on my motion.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to finish my statement. As I understand, the passage of the liquor-license bill is absolutely necessary so as to enable us to dispose of the District of Columbia appropriation bill; in other words, the license system is part of the revenue system which must be adjusted before appropriations can be intelligently made. Following this bill is the pension appropriation bill, appropriating $165,000,000, which the Senator from Nevada [Mr. STEWART] has just given notice that he will call up on Monday morning.

Mr. SHERMAN. I think the pending question is not debatable.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is not debatable. Mr. GORMAN. What is not debatable?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion to proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Mr. GORMAN. I do not make a motion of that kind as pending.

Mr. SHERMAN. That is the question before us.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Ohio [Mr. HARRIS] to suspend the consideration of executive business until to-morrow. In the opinion of the Chair, the motion is not in order.

Mr. SHERMAN. I have no objection.

The yeas and nays were ordered. The yeas were 19, and the nays were 11. Mr. HILL. I wish to give notice for the District of Columbia.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair hears none.

The Secretary placed a bill on the desk. Mr. GEORGE. When will a bill be taken up?

The Senator from Oregon [Mr. HILL] gave notice. Mr. SAWYER. When is a bill to be taken up?

My colleague [Mr. VILAS], who has a bill in the Chamber. Mr. GEORGE. When Mr. VILAS's bill is taken up?

My colleague [Mr. WALTHAM] has a bill in the Chamber. Mr. DIXON. He is paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. HARRIS].

Mr. WARREN. When will a bill be taken up?

The roll call was commenced. Mr. CULLOM. After having voted on the liquor bill, I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAV].

Mr. WILSON. I am paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. HARRIS].

Mr. DIXON. I am paired with the Senator from Ohio [Mr. HARRIS].

Mr. CALL. After having voted on the liquor bill, I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. FORT].

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I am paired with the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER].

Mr. CAREY. After having voted on the liquor bill, I am paired with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. HENRY].

Mr. HISCOCK. After having voted on the liquor bill, I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JOHNSON].

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He is not paired.

Mr. HISCOCK. I withdraw my vote on the liquor bill.

Mr. CHANDLER. After having voted on the liquor bill, I am paired on this question with the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. BLODGETT].

Mr. BLACKBURN. By a suggestion on my part, I am paired with my colleague [Mr. LINDSAY], who is the Senator from Maine.

Mr. CHANDLER. I transfer my pairing to the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. BLODGETT].

Mr. BLODGETT. I vote "nay."

Mr. CALL. I vote "nay."

Mr. CULLOM. I have a general pairing with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAV].

Mr. GRAV. I have a general pairing with the Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCAL].

Mr. PASCAL. I have a general pairing with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASSIDY].

Mr. CASSIDY. I have a general pairing with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASSIDY].

Mr. BATE. After having voted on the liquor bill, I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASSIDY].

Mr. CASSIDY. I vote "nay."

The result was a tie—yeas 21, nays 21.

CRANK & HOFFMAN.

Mr. PEPPER. I wish to call the attention of the Senate to an error in our records. On the 15th day of February I reported with an amendment from the Committee on Claims the bill (S. 2799) for the relief of Crank & Hoffman, which is now on the Calendar, Order of Business 1313. I observe that in the Record and on the Calendar the bill appears to have been reported without amendment. The amendment is a very important matter, and I desire to call attention to it, so that the correction may be made.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Calendar will be corrected.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 1025) regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed consideration of the bill.

Mr. HUNTON. Will the Chair state the question before the Senate?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment submitted by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] to the amendment of the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON].

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Let the amendment be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 13, section 21, line 5, after the word "act," strike out the following words:

Except such laws as are applicable to the sale of liquor within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment to the amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. After the word "Home," in line 6 of the same section, insert the following:

Which law is hereby declared to be amended by reducing the limit prescribed in said act to one-half of a mile from the Soldiers' Home.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment to the amendment.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Do I understand that it is the purpose of the Senator from Virginia to strike out the words "except such laws as are applicable to the sale of liquor within one mile of the Soldiers' Home" and to insert the amendment offered by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER]? Is that the proposition of the Senator from Virginia?

Mr. HUNTON. I did not agree to accept the amendment of the Senator from West Virginia to my amendment. I understand from the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] that the amendment offered by the Senator from West Virginia is satisfactory all around, and if he will so state, I shall not object.

Mr. GORMAN. I have no hesitation in saying that from what I learn here and I have given this matter a good deal of attention and I have talked about it to people all around who are interested in the District the amendment offered by the Senator from West Virginia limiting the sale of liquor to half a mile from the Soldiers' Home will be satisfactory to everybody. I understand, and will enable the law to remain in force and be executed properly.

Mr. McHILLAN. I will state that I have given this matter a good deal of attention; I have examined the maps very closely; and the amendment suggested by the Senator from West Virginia would be entirely satisfactory to me. The half-mile limit would cover the ground that is generally objected to by those who desire the 1-mile limit; and then the passage of this bill will deal with such irregularities, such as existed therefore the 1-mile limit was passed. I think there will be no objection to it by the people who live in that neighborhood.

Mr. HUNTON. I have no objection to the amendment, may be to the Senator from Michigan and to the Senator from Maryland, and to certain people to whom they refer; it certainly is not satisfactory to the governor of the Soldiers' Home. He distinctly states to us that that limitation has worked evil and only evil to the discipline of the home.

Mr. GORMAN. The mile limit.

Mr. HUNTON. The mile limit. If the Senator wants to emphasize that fact I suppose he would assume that the provision proposed would work only half the evil a mile limit would do it being a half-mile limit. Exactly why we should apply a different rule of law to that little spot and part of the District of Columbia which is applied to this city and every other part of the District is what I have never been able to see.

It is what I do not see now, and what I never expect to be able to see. The legislation was unwise in the beginning; it was improper in the beginning, in my opinion, and I am heartily in favor of repealing it and subjecting every square foot of the territory within the District to exactly the same rules of law, be they what they may.

Mr. HUNTON. I heartily concur in what is said by the Senator from Tennessee, but I have always been taught to believe that "half a loaf is better than no bread." I believe that a one-mile limit or half a mile limit is wrong in itself. I believe further that it is injurious to the home.

When this matter was up yesterday the Senator from West Virginia said that the governor of the Soldiers' Home had reported duly that the one-mile limitation in the former law had been a disadvantage to the home, in multiplying liquor shops and places where liquor is sold, on Seventh street particularly; that that was due to the fact that there was no law in the city of Washington prohibiting the sale of liquor anywhere; and by reason of the failure of law to prohibit the sale of liquor the grogshop multiplied in the neighborhood of the Soldiers' Home and had destroyed the beneficial effect of the one-mile limit, which was intended to benefit the Soldiers' Home.

I voted in what I had to say yesterday a decision of the supreme court of the District of Columbia in The United States vs. Neri, in which the court decided that the legislative District law was a law for revenue, and where the parties paid or offered to pay the revenue, that being done they had the license to sell. That was the necessity for the measure which passed through the Senate a little while ago. But, sir, while that is true as to the rest of the District of Columbia, and there is no law now according to this decision of the supreme court by which persons can be punished for selling liquor provided they pay or tender the amount of assessment for that purpose, yet in the one-mile limit there is a law expressly prohibiting the granting of licenses.

I wish to call the attention of the Senate to that law, and to show that the Senator from West Virginia was entirely mistaken when he said that there was no law requiring a license within the mile limit, and hence the failure of the one-mile-limit law. When the one-mile limit law was passed, it was in these words:

That on and after the passage of this act no license for the sale of intoxicating liquor at any place within one mile of the Soldiers' Home property in the District of Columbia shall be granted.

This law applied only to the district 1 mile from the Soldiers' Home. So far as the territory was concerned within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home there was this new law, which prohibited a license within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home. So while the supreme court decision applied to the rest of the District of Columbia it did not apply to that one-mile limit, because the law establishing a one-mile limit expressly prohibited a license for that territory. Therefore it took it out of the general law under which the supreme court said where a person paid his assessment or tendered it to the proper officer, that of itself was a license to sell liquor. But when we come to consider the law establishing the one-mile limit we find the Congress of the United States said that within that one-mile limit no license should be granted to sell liquor.

So the argument of the Senator from West Virginia, that the one-mile limitation had failed of its purpose because there was no punishment for selling liquor, does not apply to that one-mile limit. Therefore, the letter of the governor of the Soldiers' Home, asking the Congress of the United States to repeal the one-mile limitation, is not due to the fact that there was no punishment for selling liquor in that mile limit without a license. Notwithstanding that, the governor of the Soldiers' Home writes a letter which was read to the Senate yesterday, implying that the one-mile limitation be repealed, because it broke up the discipline of the home, and had ruined some seventy or eighty members of the home.

With this evidence before me and before the Senate, it seems to me that it is our bounden duty to the home and to the old soldiers who are still under the obligation to pay the one-mile limit and let the governor, who is the best judge of all these things, have the best chance of enforcing his discipline attending the administration of the home. I think it is only a matter of opinion that the one-mile limitation is a bad thing, and the governor of the home says the same thing. But I do say that if we can not get the mile limit repealed we had better have it reduced to half a mile.

Mr. McPHERSON. I presume the Senator from Virginia has been explaining the very thing I want to bring up; but address himself to the other side of the Chamber, as though they were the only parties in debate, and therefore I shall have to ask him a question for information if he will bear with me. This proposed law, I am now told, will be really the first license law we shall have had in the city of Washington; at least none exists here. With it is possible under the pending bill for the excise commission to prevent the sale of liquor within that one-mile limit from the Soldiers' Home?

Mr. HUNTON. I will answer the Senator from New Jersey

The A.C. Mills Co., N.Y., has been awarded a contract from Virginia for Mr. Huxley.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 13, section 21, line 5, after the word "act," strike out the words:

Except such laws as are applicable to the sale of liquor within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment submitted by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] to the amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. After the word "Home," in line 6 of section 21, insert:

Which law is hereby declared to be amended by reducing the limit prescribed in said act to one-half of a mile from the Soldiers' Home.

Mr. SHERMAN. The doubt I have is whether that half mile is to be measured from the grounds of the Soldiers' Home or from the house in which the soldiers live.

Mr. VEST. From the grounds.

Mr. PLATT. The original act measures the mile limit from "the Soldiers' Home property."

Mr. HARRIS. It should certainly be measured from the boundary.

Mr. SHERMAN. I think it ought to be done, but as the amendment now reads a literal construction of the language would make the half mile measure from the house in which the soldiers live.

Mr. HUNTON. Oh, no.

Mr. SHERMAN. It ought to be made clear.

Mr. VEST. It is to be measured from the grounds.

Mr. PLATT. The original language is from the "Soldiers' Home property." The same language had better be used in this proposed statute.

Mr. SHERMAN. I think that should be inserted. I suggest to make it read "from the grounds of the Soldiers' Home."

Mr. HUNTON. I will state to the Senator from Ohio that the original law says "within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home property."

Mr. SHERMAN. That is a good suggestion.

Mr. HUNTON. The amendment would, of course, embrace the Soldiers' Home property and the limit would be measured from the property of the home.

Mr. SHERMAN. I move, if in order, to add the word "property."

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to adding the word "property"? The Secretary will read the amendment to the amendment as it is proposed to be modified.

The CHIEF CLERK. So that the amendment to the amendment would read:

Which law is hereby declared to be amended by reducing the limit prescribed in said act to one-half of a mile from the Soldiers' Home property.

Mr. PLATT. That is right.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. VEST. Is that the amendment of the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTON]?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment of the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER].

Mr. GORMAN. That is the half-mile limit proposed by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER]?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It is.

Mr. HARRIS. The first question is on the amendment of the Senator from Ohio to the amendment of the Senator from West Virginia?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That has been accepted, the Chair understands. The amendment to the amendment will be so modified in the absence of objection.

Mr. HARRIS. Then the question, of course, is on the amendment of the Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. GALLINGER. On that I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. I transfer that pair to the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY] and vote "yea."

Mr. DAWES (when Mr. FAULKNER's name was called). I was requested to pair with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER]. If he were present I should vote "nay." I understand that he would vote "yea."

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH].

Mr. GORMAN (when his name was called). I am usually paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE], but that pair has been transferred to the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. LINDSAY] for the day. I therefore vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. WILSON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], but I am satisfied that if he were present he would vote "nay," and I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. DIXON. I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. In his absence I withhold my vote.

Mr. BLACKBURN. My colleague [Mr. LINDSAY] is paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE].

Mr. HISCOCK. I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES].

The result was announced—yeas 28, nays 23; as follows:

YEAS—28.

So Mr. FAULKNER's amendment was agreed to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question recurs on the amendment as amended, which will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 13, section 21, line 5, after the word "act," strike out the following:

Except such laws as are applicable to the sale of liquor within 1 mile of the Soldiers' Home, which law is hereby declared to be amended by reducing the limit prescribed in said act to one-half of a mile from the Soldiers' Home property.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

Mr. GALLINGER. I ask for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

Mr. McPHERSON. Let the amendment be read again.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment as amended will be again read.

The Chief Clerk again read the words proposed to be stricken out.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called on agreeing to the amendment as amended.

Mr. GALLINGER. Before the roll is called, the inquiry has been made of me what result an adverse vote will have. I will state that, as I understand it, if the amendment is now rejected it would leave the limit, as it is under the existing law, 1 mile. The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CALL (when his name was called). Under the arrangement of the transfer of pairs between myself and the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR], I vote "yea."

Mr. WARREN (when his name was called). I ask if the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON] has voted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded.

Mr. WARREN. I am paired with that Senator and withhold my vote.

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired generally with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], but being informed that he would vote "nay" on this proposition, I vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. GORMAN. Before the result is announced I ask permission to make a statement. We on this side understood the Chair to announce the question to be upon the amendment offered by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER], which made a half-mile limit. The question was asked directly whether that was the case, and the answer came "yes." The fact is that the question pending now is to strike out all the words after the word "act," in line 5 of section 21, including the amendment of the Senator from West Virginia, which we have adopted, so that a "yea" vote would be against a one-mile limit and a "nay" vote would be for the half-mile limit, or for the amendment of the Senator from West Virginia. I ask that under the circumstances the question may be stated again and that we may have the roll again called. I ask the Chair to state the question.

Mr. MANDERSON. I ask the unanimous consent of the Senate that the pending roll call be held for naught, and that the question be again stated and that a new roll call be had.

Mr. HARRIS. Let the amendment be read again. It was

Mr. VOORHEES. Allow me to ask the Senator from Tennessee a question. I understand the amendment offered by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] establishing the half-mile limit was adopted.

The roll call having been concluded, the President called for yeas and nays. Yeas 7, nays 11, as follows:

[illegible]

Mr. PEPPER. Mr. President, I desire to offer an amendment. Am I in order?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator is in order.

Mr. PEPPER. Before doing so, perhaps the amendment will be better understood if I am permitted to make a statement.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Let the amendment be first stated.

Mr. PEPPER. In the first place, Mr. President—

Mr. HOAR. Before we pass from the matter which has been just announced from the desk, some Senators would like to understand what the vote was which inserted in the text the half-mile limit. Some Senators understand that that was adopted as an amendment to the amendment; and if so adopted, I inquire whether the amendment to the text stands unchanged?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The last vote was on the amendment to strike out certain language.

Mr. HOAR. That was disagreed to by what vote?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That was disagreed to by a vote of 7 yeas to 4 nays.

Mr. HOAR. By what vote did the language "the limit is hereby reduced to one-half mile" get into the bill? Was that proposed as a separate amendment to the bill, or only as an amendment to an amendment?

Mr. HARRIS. An amendment to the text of the bill in the nature of perfecting it before the vote was taken to strike out.

Mr. HOAR. That is what I desire to find out. I was absent for a short time.

Mr. PEPPER. Before having the amendment which I desire to propose read at the desk, I ask the indulgence of the Senate for a very brief period, indeed, while I state its general purport, and offer suggestions by way of general legislation, not in the nature of a speech.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I hope the Senator will permit us to have a vote on the bill to-night. There is a special order which comes up at 5 o'clock.

Mr. PEPPER. I shall not detain the Senate more than a few minutes, if Senators will be patient with me.

Mr. GALLINGER. While I should like, myself, to be very courteous to the Senator from North Dakota, I wish to say to him that I have eight or ten amendments myself which I wish to offer, and I may wish to say a word on some of them.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. A special request has been made by the Senator from New York (Mr. HILL) that certain resolutions from the House of Representatives shall be laid before the Senate at this time.

Mr. PEPPER. I would ask, however, if I am in order, that when the bill is taken up again I shall have the floor.

Mr. STEWART. I should like to give notice that on Monday morning, in the morning hour, I shall call up the proposed appropriation bill. I presume it will pass in the morning hour before we reach the regular order.

Mr. KYLE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of privilege.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from South Dakota will state his question of privilege.

Mr. PEPPER. Will the Senator from South Dakota allow me to offer an amendment which I wish to propose and let it go over and be printed?

Mr. KYLE. Certainly.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The order to print will be made in the absence of objection.

Mr. KYLE. Mr. President, I wish to say for myself that my vote upon the last proposition introduced by the Senator from Virginia (Mr. HUNTER) was upon the opposite side from what I intended it to be. In the discussion which took place here, I understood that the amendment offered by the Senator from West Virginia (Mr. FAULKNER) was an amendment to the proposition offered by the Senator from Virginia, and that it was in the way of perfecting the text. Therefore my vote should have been "yea" instead of "nay" upon the last proposition.

EULOGIES ON THE LATE REPRESENTATIVE SPINOLA.

Mr. HILL. I now ask that the resolutions from the House of Representatives relative to the death of the late Francis B. Spinola may be laid before the Senate.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair lays before the Senate resolutions from the House of Representatives which will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the business of the House be now suspended that opportunity may be given for tributes to the memory of the Hon. Francis B. Spinola, late a Representative from the State of New York.

Resolved, That as a particular mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, and in recognition of his eminent abilities as a distinguished public servant, the House at the conclusion of these memorial proceedings, shall stand adjourned.

Resolved, That the Clerk communicate these resolutions to the Senate.

Resolved, That the Clerk be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased.

Mr. HILL. I offer the resolutions, which I send to the desk. The VICE-PRESIDENT. The resolution will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard with profound sorrow the announcement of the death of Hon. Francis B. Spinola, late a Representative from the State of New York.

Resolved, That the business of the Senate be now suspended in order that fitting tribute be paid to his memory.

Resolved, That in the death of Gen. Spinola the country has lost a gallant soldier, an able and faithful Representative in Congress, and an esteemed and patriotic citizen.

Mr. HILL. Mr. President, the resolutions passed by the other House during the last session of the present Congress duly informed us of the death of Francis B. Spinola, of New York, an honored Representative of that body. The delay in taking action thereon in the Senate has been occasioned solely by a misapprehension as to whose province it was to call up the resolutions and institute further action. The death of Gen. Spinola occurred before I took my seat in this Chamber, and he having been of my own political faith my colleague kindly and courteously waited for me to take the initiative in the proceedings to appropriately pay tribute to the memory of the deceased.

The elaborate eulogies upon the character and public services of this distinguished citizen in the other House, which have already been placed upon the records of Congress, render my task a brief one. His immediate associates, with whom he had served in Congress so long and acceptably, have in their able and interesting addresses described the incidents of his early life, the details of his successful business career, his political achievements, the laurels which he won as a soldier, his abilities as a debater, and his many excellent qualities of mind and heart. Not caring to repeat what they have so fully delineated, I content myself with a bare reference to the positions which he filled and honored, the triumphs which he secured, and the general characteristics of the man.

Permit me to remark that few men in Congress have been more frequently or highly honored. He enjoyed a long, varied, and brilliant public career, evidencing the full confidence of his fellow-citizens and the general satisfaction with which he discharged every public trust. He was alderman, supervisor, several times an assemblyman in New York, State senator, brigadier-general of volunteers, and three times elected to Congress. His rise was not sudden. He did not jump from obscurity into exalted position, unprepared for the discharge of great duties. No flock of fortune or of politics brought him to the front; not he was a plodder, a worker, a faithful, industrious, and energetic citizen, and largely the architect of his own deserved success.

He was a partisan in the best sense of the term. He believed in his side. He regarded party organization as essential to permanent political success, and he never despised the ladder which had repeatedly elevated him to power. He was also a patriot and a soldier. He was a fighter by nature and taste; he loved strife. He was quick to resent a wrong, and always ready to forgive. He was impulsive, clear-headed, brave, and generous.

He was not only true to his country—he was true to his party and to his friends. He believed in personal friendships in public life, and he hated his "enemies, persecutors, and slanderers."

Competent military men and critics believe that had the right opportunity occurred, he would have shown himself to be one of the great soldiers of the times. The records of his gallantry are found in the archives of the nation, and in the general orders and reports of his superior officers.

He was audacious, courageous, and firm, and was apparently "born to command." He loved his soldiers, and they in turn loved him.

His record in Congress was most creditable. He was a ready debater, quick at repartee, full of sarcasm, and had a keen appreciation of the humors. It is safe to say that in Congress he was able, alert, patriotic, and zealous in the performance of his high and responsible duties. His friends believed in him—loved, honored, and respected him.

I knew him as a leading citizen of New York, as a prominent and trusted business man. I knew him as an eminent member of the Legislature. I knew him to be a true friend.

Columns of eulogy are not needed to show our appreciation of his public and private services, or to evidence the loss we have sustained in his departure. He has fought the good fight and gone to his reward. A good man has fallen, and the people mourn. More brilliant, more able, more renowned men have adorned seats in the Congress of the nation; but none more patriotic, none more sincere, none more trustworthy than Francis B. Spinola.

Mr. HISCOCK. Mr. President, Gen. Spinola was a marked character in the State of New York where he was born and lived all his life, the State he represented in the other branch of Con-

There are, however, a number of reasons why it is likely to be the case that, notwithstanding the above, there will still be a positive impact on the environment of the introduction of these lands to the public domain. First, the introduction of these lands to the public domain will allow the state to regulate the use of the land in the interests of the public.

In the face of this law—corruptly, no doubt, for it could not have been honestly done—by corrupt methods, in defiance of that provision of the law, there have been approvals of these lands to the detriment of the honest people of Florida as the occupants of the lands. Therefore, I ask the passage of the joint resolution, which simply suspends action until Congress shall adopt some further legislation.

Mr. MANDERSON. I hope the question will be put on the motion to refer.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion to refer.

Mr. CALL. I hope the motion will not prevail, Mr. President. I call attention of Senators to the fact that a motion to refer means to kill the joint resolution and to protect the frauds to which I allude.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion to refer the joint resolution to the Committee on Public Lands. [Putting the question.] The yeas appear to have it.

Mr. CALL. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). I am paired with the senior Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. If he were present, I should vote "nay."

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. CASEY, after having voted in the affirmative. I have a general pair with the Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCO]. As he is not present, I withdraw my vote.

Mr. CULLOM. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. Not seeing him present, I withhold my vote.

Mr. GEORGE. I announce for the day, and shall not repeat it, that my colleague [Mr. WALTHALL] is confined to his home by illness, and is detained from the Senate on that account.

The result was announced—yeas 25, nays 31; as follows:

YEAS—25.

Brice,	Harris,	Morrill,	Vilas,
Carry,	Hawley,	Platt,	Washburn,
Davis,	Hiscock,	Power,	White,
Eaton,	Hoar,	Sawyer,	Wolcott,

So the motion to refer was not agreed to.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution is before the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I should like to have the joint resolution reported as amended.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will be reported as amended.

The Chief Clerk again read the joint resolution as amended.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I have not a very definite idea as to the character or scope of this joint resolution, but I do know that some time ago in the Committee on Private Land Claims, of which I happen to be a member, there came a general discussion concerning these lands.

My impression of the subject is that the Interior Department recognizes the validity of certain appropriations of land, and that year after year the survey of those lands has been prevented by Congressional interference. I understand that there is some local contest in Florida, the extent and nature of which I do not know, that persons connected with some of the railroads were not in favor of certain other people who wanted to come to the Senate, or who wanted to hold other offices; that it is some sort of a local fight, and what we are asked to do is to interfere with the officers of the Department of the Interior in the clear performance of their functions in carrying out the law, and we seek to interfere with them, not by passing any legislation which declares that law to be invalid, but simply to tie their hands so that they may not be permitted to do what the law directs.

I think, Mr. President, that a matter of this kind, which involves a large acreage of land, ought by every rule of good legislation to go to some committee which is competent to tell this body what its duty is in the premises. We have had nothing but the most vague statements as to what is the state of the case. We are not advised as to the merits of the question. There are certainly rights of somebody here, which are being interfered with in some fashion; and I think we are entitled to have some competent committee pass upon this question, and not have a joint resolution, which involves thousands and hundreds of thousands of acres of land dealt with by the Senate in the morning hour, with nobody to give us an intelligible explanation of what the situation is.

I have no personal knowledge on this subject. I do not know the name of the railroad company, and I do not know the location of the lands. I have never been in Florida but once; and, if the Lord will forgive me, I shall never go there again. I do not know anything about this subject, as I have said, but I do know that we are in the morning hour, interfering with the due and intelligent course of legislation without any sort of explanation as to why we are called upon to vote in favor of requiring the officials of the Interior Department to suspend the very exercises of their duties for which they are installed in their offices.

Mr. STEWART. I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the pension appropriation bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Nevada.

Mr. CALL. Let me say a word before that motion is put.

Mr. STEWART. It will lead to an interminable debate.

Mr. CALL. I ask the Senator to allow me to say a word?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Nevada yield to the Senator from Florida?

Mr. STEWART. For what length of time?

Mr. CALL. For five minutes.

Mr. HARRIS. I wish to ask, if the Senator yields to the Senator from Florida, will he not be bound to yield to any other Senator who wants five minutes?

Mr. STEWART. I will not yield to any other Senator. I yield five minutes to the Senator from Florida.

Mr. CALL. Now that the Senator from Nevada [Mr. STEWART] has submitted his motion, he is gracious enough to yield to me for five minutes. I thank him, however, for the five minutes, though I have listened to him a great many times for more than five minutes. [Laughter.]

Mr. President, I regret that the State of Florida has sustained the great loss of not having the Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT] in that State but once, and I regret still more the great loss to the people of that State which will result from his never going there again; but we have to bear the ills of life as best we may, and I think the people of Florida will survive without the presence of any Senator, however great he may be, who defends the corporation frauds which have passed the whole of the public lands into the possession of unscrupulous speculators and fraudulent conspirators against republican government and the people who are to cultivate the soil.

There is no excuse for the statement of the Senator. If he had been attentive to his public duties and considered the records of this body he would have known the history of this grant. Four times has this resolution in different forms passed the Senate by a large majority, declaring that those lands should not be approved and asking the other body to concur in this action. The same argument has been made and met and decided by a majority of the votes of the Senate. It is now the existing law of the land, and I have asked that it shall be continued until Congress shall take some further decisive action.

The courts are open to these corporations. They have money. Who is the Senator who undertakes to say that the poor sufferer upon the public lands shall be turned out of his home because he has not money to litigate his case against great corporations?

I say here now that this whole thing is a fraud, a flagrant fraud. The late Mr. Dickerson, who was one of the beneficiaries of this grant, as the records of the United States courts show, stated upon his oath that the principal agent in the selection of these lands had withheld fraudulently from the corporation, of which he was the president, $6,000 upon the pretense that he had used it to corrupt Senators of the United States to prevent the confirmation of the grant. That stands upon the records of the Attorney-General's office to-day, and has been repeatedly stated by me here, and printed in my speeches and circulated over the country.

There is no excuse for a Senator defending this action; there

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will call the attention of the Senator from Kansas to the fact that a motion to lay on the table is not debatable.

Mr. PEPPER. I understand, and I do not wish to debate the question. I simply want to appeal to the Senator from North Dakota to permit me to make a very brief statement.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I withdraw the motion for that purpose.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota withdraws the motion to lay the amendment on the table.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, we have but five days remaining of this session and very much public business to be disposed of unless we force an extra session. I move to lay the amendment on the table, and I shall not withdraw the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Tennessee moves to lay the amendment submitted by the Senator from Kansas on the table.

Mr. GALLINGER. On that I ask for the yeas and nays. It is an important matter.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY].

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT]. I am satisfied that if he were present he would vote "nay." I therefore vote "nay."

The roll was concluded.

Mr. CAMDEN. I am paired with the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. PETTIGREW].

Mr. GEORGE. I have a general pair with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. I make that announcement for the day. He is sick and not able to be present, and I shall not vote, being paired with him.

The result was announced—yeas 39, nays 15, as follows:

YEAS—39.

Barre,	Faulkner,	Kyle,	Proctor,
Berry,	Felton,	Lindsay,	Ransom,
Blackburn,	Hansbrough,	McMillan,	Sawyer,

So Mr. PEPPER's amendment was laid on the table.

Mr. GALLINGER. In line 29, section 5, it is provided that any established hotel or tavern having twenty chambers shall be considered a hotel. I offer an amendment to that line and section.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. On page 5, section 5, line 29, strike out "twenty" and insert "at least fifty;" so as to read:

"Any established hotel or tavern having at least fifty chambers for lodging guests shall always have the right to obtain for itself a license for a house for a saloon, etc."

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I move to lay the amendment on the table.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from North Dakota to lay the amendment of the Senator from New Hampshire on the table.

Mr. GALLINGER. I ask for the yeas and nays on that motion, and by unanimous consent I will say that I have no disposition to delay the consideration of the bill, and will not do so if the Senator in charge of it exercises the usual courtesy of allowing amendments to be voted upon.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is the demand for the yeas and nays seconded?

Mr. McMILLAN. I ask the Senator from North Dakota to withdraw the motion. We want to pass the bill. It is a very important bill for the District.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I will withdraw the motion if the Senator from New Hampshire will agree not to occupy the remainder of the present session in objecting to the passage of this measure.

Mr. GALLINGER. I will exercise my constitutional right to offer amendments, and, if I think they are sufficiently important, to briefly debate them. Otherwise the Senator can exercise the power he has heretofore of prohibiting me from doing both. I presume, at least of preventing me from debating anything.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I withdraw the motion to lay the amendment on the table.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. HARRIS. Let the amendment be read.

The SECRETARY. In line 29, section 5, before the word "chambers," strike out "twenty" and insert "at least fifty;" so as to make the proviso read:

Provided, That any established hotel or tavern having at least fifty chambers for lodging guests shall always have the right to obtain for itself a license for a saloon, etc.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. HOAR. I offer, to come in at the end of the bill, the following proviso:

Provided further, That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell any intoxicating liquors to any inmate of the Soldiers' Home under penalty of forfeiture of his or her license, if any exists. Any person offending against the foregoing provision shall be liable to a further penalty of $100 for each offense.

Mr. President, I wish to say only one word on the amendment. The Senate is thoroughly committed to the principle that selling liquor to the inmates of the Soldiers' Home ought not to be encouraged or permitted. You put them under guardianship if you declare they shall not be within half a mile of their home, and they are persons we all know who need guardianship in that respect.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I accept the amendment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR].

The VICE-PRESIDENT put the question, and declared that the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. GALLINGER. I wish to offer another amendment—

Mr. VEST. Was the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts adopted?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment was adopted.

Mr. VEST. I should like to have the yeas and nays up on it, if that is possible.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is the demand for the yeas and nays seconded on the amendment submitted by the Senator from Massachusetts?

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. VEST. I wish to say, if the Senate will indulge me, that I deny with great respect the proposition of the Senator from Massachusetts that the Senate has adopted any such principle as that no liquor shall be sold to any inmate of the Soldiers' Home, making an exceptional case in regard to the sales to those persons. It is, I submit, a very different proposition from what the Senator really did in force, that these saloons should not be within a distance of one-half a mile of the limits of the Soldiers' Home. The Senate could very well have adopted that proposition without making an exception as to this particular class of persons.

If we propose here to put these old soldiers on the same footing with minors and habitual drunkards, then this amendment is absolutely proper, but I for one have never intended to put them in any such category. I voted to reduce the limit from half a mile to half a mile, and I believe yet that these deadfalls, the worst description of saloons, selling the most villainous compounds, should not be permitted in the immediate vicinity of that home, right along the fence which marks the limits of the place, but I have never been willing to say that because these old soldiers were inmates of that home they should be treated as confirmed inebriates or as minors. That is exactly what this amendment amounts to, and I want the privilege of recording my vote against it.

Mr. HOAR. Mr. President, one word. I hate very much to interfere with the bill in charge of my honorable friend from North Dakota, but I think we ought to deal with this matter as practical men. The custodian of the Soldiers' Home, the head of that institution, the commandant there has written a letter which was made the ground of an amendment by the Senator from Virginia [Mr. HUNTER], and was read as a part of the remarks of some Senator, in which he said (I do not suppose it was meant to be understood as universally true, but that it was true to an extent enough to affect our legislation) that there was a class of men in the home (I do not mean to say that they comprise the long been impressed with the views which I have advanced before the Senate. I have seen these old, worn-out soldiers wandering out to get a glass of beer or something of the kind near the Home, and I have always thought that that matter ought to be under the regulation of the commandant, and that they ought not to be required or allowed to go wandering abroad into the town.

Mr. HOAR. If the Senator will pardon me—I dislike to trespass on his courtesy again—

Mr. VOORHEES. Not at all.

Mr. HOAR. I am told, and I have no doubt it is true, that these men are seized upon by a set of harpies, just as the sailors who land from a man-of-war or merchant vessel are seized upon in our ports; that when they get a pension or any money in their pockets they are watched for and taken into places where there is a little den with two or three bunks, and there they are kept until they are stripped, and then they are turned out to wander home in the condition in which we have sometimes seen them. That thing I want to put a stop to; and I think any intelligent, self-respecting, and manly occupant of the Soldiers' Home will be willing to submit to this regulation to save his brethren from that kind of plundering.

Mr. VOORHEES. I have no doubt there is a great deal in what the Senator from Massachusetts says. I have no doubt there are lawless and evil-disposed people who take advantage of these men. That is true the world over.

Mr. HOAR. I have found the law.

Mr. VOORHEES. In one moment I will yield. At the same time it will cost me an effort to vote to place these soldiers upon the same scale with minors, or with habitual drunkards. I know of but two classes to whom it is a penal offense to sell intoxicating liquors. One is a minor, and the other is a habitual drunkard. There ought to be some way devised to meet this question without placing that imputation upon men who deserve so well of their country as this remnant of the old Army does.

Mr. HOAR. I have found the law, and I will read it:

It shall not be lawful for any person in the District to sell, give, or administer to any soldier or volunteer in the service of the United States, or any person wearing the uniform of such soldier or volunteer—

Which these men do—

Any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drink—

Mr. HILL. When was that law passed?

Mr. HOAR. It was passed in 1861.

Mr. VOORHEES. It applies to the Army.

Mr. BUTLER. It evidently applies to soldiers in active service.

Mr. HOAR. Let me finish reading the law:

And any person offending against the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, pay a fine of $50, or, in default of such payment, be committed to the District jail for thirty days.

Any person licensed to sell spirituous liquors or intoxicating drinks within the District who shall suffer or permit any soldier or volunteer in the service of the United States, or any person wearing the uniform of such soldier or volunteer, to drink spirituous liquor or intoxicating drink upon his premises shall be deemed guilty of the same offense mentioned in the preceding section, and upon conviction shall be punished accordingly.

Any person convicted under the provisions of the two preceding sections shall forfeit his license to sell spirituous liquor and intoxicating drink.

If the clause "any person wearing the uniform of such soldier or volunteer in the service of the United States"—

Mr. McPHERSON. What is the date of that law?

Mr. HOAR. It was passed in 1861, but it is in the Revised Statutes of the District of Columbia.

Mr. FAULKNER. I will state that that has never been applied to any member of the Soldiers' Home.

Mr. HOAR. I think my friends had better let me finish the sentence. If that language aptly and correctly described the inmates of the Soldiers' Home, who are persons "wearing the uniform of a soldier," then my amendment simply prevents a change in existing law by the operation of the proposed bill.

If, on the other hand, it is to be held to be restricted to soldiers or volunteers, my proposed amendment is entirely within the principle of that law, because if the intelligent and able-bodied soldier requires such special care and provision for him in performing the ordinary duty of a soldier in the regular Army to protect him against this class of harpies, certainly the old, broken-down man in the Soldiers' Home, feeble in body and often feeble in mind, peculiarly demands this protection.

Mr. HAWLEY. Mr. President, I have been supporting this law with such energy and influence as I can give to it. The condition of affairs in the District is discreditable to the country and to Congress. There is practically what is called free rum. There are nominally, I believe, 800 or 1,000 licenses, and it is said by those who have studied and investigated the matter there are a thousand others who are selling without pretense of a license. I can point to a place, in an exceedingly respectable neighborhood (where the whole thing is intensely distasteful to the people), to a man who has defied the law for a series of years. He may be fined occasionally, as he was obliged to be, but he has continued to sell from day to day and year to year.

I am in favor of high license. Prohibition in this District would mean free rum, in my judgment. I do not think it could be enforced. In saying that I am carried back to the experience of Connecticut about 1851 and 1855. In 1854, I think, we passed a prohibitory law which I, with others, supported. I was perfectly willing that I should be cut off from any chance whatever myself if it was best for the good of the community. The public sentiment that supported it was but feeble and temporary. It resulted practically in free rum. Now for many years we have had a system of license, depending upon an annual vote of the township, license or no license. If the local sentiment is strong it carries license, and there is no selling.

I believe in a system of high license. The bill is not what I myself would have drafted in all particulars, but it is much better than the present condition, when there is no law, when there is a rum shop for about every 115 citizens in this District. I say it is discreditable to us and to the country.

I would put the fewest amendments on the bill possible, so that there may be the least chance in the world for a difference of opinion between the Senate and the other House, and the greatest certainty for the passage of the bill.

The law of 1861, which was read by the Senator from Massachusetts, was for an entirely different state of affairs. This city at that time swarmed with tens and hundreds of thousands of men, sweeping through it, halting for a few hours, wandering into the town, and the shortest way was to prohibit the selling of liquor to any of them. That was a war measure. These men out here now are not soldiers. They are ex-soldiers distinctly.

Mr. BUTLER. May I interrupt the Senator a moment to ask him to state as a matter of fact if the Soldiers' Home here was not established by a fund raised by the regular Army, and that the Government has nothing to do with its support? I understand the Government does not appropriate a dollar for it.

Mr. HAWLEY. The Senator is quite right. The Soldiers' Home here was founded upon the levy made on the City of Mexico by General Scott, and was afterwards sustained by an assessment of a shilling a month reserved from the pay of the soldiers of the regular Army. It is their home and their property.

Mr. BUTLER. The Government does not appropriate anything for it?

Mr. HAWLEY. I do not know whether the Government gives a farthing to help it out or not. I think not.

Mr. BUTLER. I understand not.

Mr. HAWLEY. I think it is supported entirely by its own funds. To say that no member of the Soldiers' Home shall be able to get a glass of beer, I think, is an unnecessary and a futile attempt at restriction. The result would be that the soldier would ask to have it given to him, and if the saloon-keeper was not willing to give it to him, he would find plenty of men around the neighborhood who would be perfectly willing to treat the old man to a drink of some sort or another, or he could send somebody to buy a bottle for him. You can not do it.

As to the mile or half-mile limit, there is some reason in that, in the half-mile limit at least, because if you leave it otherwise you will have clustered right around the chief gates of that splendid park a set of buzzing venomous flies who would take the soldier's last dollar if they could get it and would get him drunk. I know how it has been at the soldiers' home at Dayton, Ohio, for example, where in spite of all their efforts these noisome, mischievous places are as near as they can get to the gates of the grounds. This half a mile limit would scatter the evil. Probably very few of them would take a location with a special view to the soldiers' trade then; and we should at least pay some regard to the public eye in keeping those places away from them.

But I do not want to put a special mark upon these old men as to say that they shall be classed with idiots, insane people, minors, habitual drunkards, and all that, for nine-tenths of them are steady, quiet, and peaceable men, who were orderly, well-disciplined soldiers. In my judgment you can not, in the present state of the world, get a hundred soldiers together without having two or three who would get very drunk at times, and six, eight, or ten out of every hundred who would sometimes get drunk; that is to say, you will not be able to find a hundred teetotallers, without special selections. But as men treat them pretty fairly they are a well-behaved, quiet, orderly, and decent set of old fellows.

While I am strongly in favor of a repression of this evil by high license and a restriction of the number of drinking saloons, I say my conscience would not trouble me at all for giving a glass of beer to a fellow who served his country thirty or forty years.

Mr. McPHERSON. Let the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts be again read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be again read. The CHIEF CLERK. Insert at the end of the bill the following additional provision:

Provided, further, That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell any intoxicating liquor knowingly to any inmate of the Soldiers' Home, under penalty of forfeiture of his or her license, if any exists. Any person offending against the foregoing provisions shall be liable to a further penalty of $100 for each offense.

Mr. McPHERSON. Mr. President, I do not see how it is possible for any Senator to resist so proper an amendment to be added to this bill. These old soldiers, weak in body and many of them confessedly weak in mind, go outside of the limits of the Soldiers' Home grounds and are taken in charge, as the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. Hoar] has described, by the proprietors of the rum mills that are scattered all along the boundaries of the inclosure.

Mr. BUTLER. May I interrupt the Senator from New Jersey for a moment?

Mr. McPHERSON. No, not at present, if the Senator please.

Now, Mr. President, regulations should be made for selling liquors within the inclosure, and who can dispute the fact that good regulations, proper regulations, may be made within the inclosure—so that an old soldier, if he desires it, if he needs it, can have liquors served to him there within the grounds, the same as is done through the War Department to soldiers in the field or in camp.

Mr. HILL. Will the Senator allow me?

Mr. McPHERSON. I can not yield to anybody at present until I shall finish this sentence, but I will yield the floor to the Senator in a moment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from New Jersey declines to yield.

Mr. McPHERSON. As I say, under regulations that may be made by the War Department touching this matter, everything that is necessary to the comfort of these soldiers or that we think should be given to them may be given; but in this bill we ought to restrict the power of anybody to sell them liquor outside of the home.

Mr. BUTLER. The question I wanted to put to the Senator from New Jersey—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from New Jersey yield?

Mr. McPHERSON. I yield now.

Mr. BUTLER. The question I desired to ask the Senator from New Jersey is whether he would by that amendment prevent the governor of the Soldiers' Home and all the officers from buying any liquor in the city of Washington? The amendment certainly would have that effect, for it prohibits the sale of liquors to all the inmates of the Soldiers' Home. The governor is an inmate and all the officers are inmates.

Mr. HOAR. I do not think any officer of the Soldiers' Home would want to go to these rum shops to buy a glass of rum.

Mr. BUTLER. They are not all rum shops. There are some very respectable places of that kind in the District of Columbia which I hardly think are entitled to be called rum shops.

Mr. McPHERSON. Would there be any necessity for any of the officers to go outside if they were allowed to keep it in the inclosure? Where does the necessity exist for going outside? I presume a very thirsty Senator or officer could find it now in the officers' quarters on the grounds.

Mr. BUTLER. They would have to send outside of the inclosure to buy it.

Mr. McPHERSON. It can be bought to be taken within the inclosure under some well-regulated system by the War Department. It seems to me there is no other security possible now except that offered in the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. HILL. Mr. President—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from New Jersey yield to the Senator from New York?

Mr. McPHERSON. I do.

Mr. HILL. It is undoubtedly the desire of every Senator on this floor to enact as strong an excise law as is possible, consistent with the public welfare; but I do not think we should strain a point here in order to make an arbitrary and unnecessary provision. There are excise laws in nearly all the States of the Union. There are soldiers' homes in nearly every State in the Union. I do not know of a provision in a single excise law in any State of the Union which prohibits the selling of alcohol to any soldier.

I assume that there is a soldiers' home in the State of New Jersey; and certainly my friend from New Jersey does not desire to impose any restriction upon the soldiers of the District of Columbia that he would not be willing to impose upon the soldiers of New Jersey. I ask him whether there is anything in the excise law of New Jersey which prohibits the people of New Jersey from selling or giving to old soldiers ale or beer.

Mr. McPHERSON. There is no organized soldiers' home in New Jersey, that I know of, in the sense that this one is organized here, which is under anything except the general laws of the State, and the inmates are treated as a "other people" by the license laws of the State and of the locality. There are no restrictions of that kind as to the soldiers' homes there.

Mr. HILL. The question is that this Soldiers' Home is under the control of the War Department, does not change the situation at all. If there be a soldiers' home in the State of New Jersey, as I supposed there was one, I presume it is so governed by the regular excise laws of the State. We have in our State almost excellent soldiers' homes, and I presume that the same is true neighboring to my own. At the head of that list I mention Henry W. Sleeper, who has been our president for some years.

It was under regulations established by him that a number of that home have a right to sell to the soldiers in the inclosure. They keep it on hand a good deal, and with that regulation I understand the Senator from New Jersey to mean that some such provision should exist here, in our State. The Senator from Massachusetts to state that some such provision ought to prevail here, not to give it to them, but to give it to the people.

Mr. HOAR. A part of the law.

Mr. HILL. For a consideration.

Mr. HOAR. I said as a part of the law, and I do not mean to call that particular thing.

Mr. HILL. Yet under the very law that is cited by the Senator from Massachusetts has cited and which we propose to amend, the amendment of the pending bill that would be laid on the table, and the Senator that it is broad enough to prohibit the selling of liquor, giving it away to a soldier, to under the very law which we now propose to repeal it could not be done.

Mr. President, there is no difference as to the law. The law was undoubtedly passed with reference to the soldiers who were here when the city was sold to them in 1800. It was never intended to apply to the inmates of the Soldiers' Home, which it does in terms. I agree with the Senator that the law, of course, to soldiers, whether in the city or in the District of Columbia, and I think it is one of the purposes of the pending bill that it proposes to repeal it. It is one of the purposes of the War Department to repeal it. It is one of the purposes of this bill. But with this law still in force, the War Department can not do it.

Therefore, I think that we should not be guilty of repeating the law, and I think that the Senator from Massachusetts ought not to persist in his amendment. I would not repeal the excise law, but I would not pass the law which would prohibit the selling of liquor to the inmates of the Soldiers' Home, and I would not add to the bill the provision proposed by the Senator from Massachusetts that it should stigmatize upon them, and I would not add to the bill the provision of the Senator from Massachusetts that it should prohibit the selling of liquor to the inmates of the Soldiers' Home in any other State in the Union. I would not add to the bill the provision of the various States of the country, and I would not add to the bill a more strict law upon the State of New Jersey than we do in our own State.

Why should not the poor soldiers who are in the Soldiers' Home here have the same pleasures that are enjoyed by the soldiers in the same States of the Union?

Mr. HOAR. I wish to say that I do not mean to repeal the law which I cited from the records of the District of Columbia has been held by the courts to be a part of the law of the Soldiers' Home.

Mr. HILL. Then there is something to be done as to it should be repealed.

Mr. FAULKNER. I am not a lawyer, but I think it can be construed as applying to the inmates of the Soldiers' Home. Those inmates are not any more soldiers of the United States Army than are citizens who are in the Army and are in the Army years of the war and whose homes are in the State of New Jersey. If that law applies to the inmates of soldiers' homes, it is as if the expression "soldiers of the United States" could be used to apply to every man who had been in the United States Army at any period of its history, and would make of him a criminal and subject to penalty for any man who had been in the District of Columbia a solitary drink of lager beer, and who was in the Army of the United States or in the volunteer service of the Government. I have never heard that there ever has been a case brought

I say, personally, I am not a lawyer, but I think the law was supposed to be repealed in this District before the decision of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia last fall, it was never intended and you could see at any time and the gates at the entrance to the Soldiers' Home the soldiers walking into the carrooms and getting their liquor, just as freely as any other citizen of the District of Columbia could do. I venture the assertion that there never has been a case brought up, even in the light of laws were enforced in this District, in which the great head of the inmates of that home came within the clause referred to by the Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. McPHERSON. I care not what the law is touching this matter. I am only speaking of what it ought to be. I approve of a law which will give to those old soldiers, many of them weakened in body and mind, be it or spirits, if they have been accustomed to its use. Anything that they seem to need I would give them, but I want to have it done under some well-regulated system within the inclosure itself. I dislike very much to see these poor old soldiers, with more than one foot in the grave, tottering out of the inclosure in the morning and tottering back again in the afternoon, scarcely able to reach the confines of the Home. I think it is a disgrace to this Government.

Mr. President, Congress is the lawmaking power for this District. We are the board of aldermen, so to speak, of this city. We make its laws. We may place any restrictions we please upon the ability to get drink within a mile or within a certain distance of that inclosure, and the War Department in like manner may make such rules and regulations as it may desire touching the interior of that inclosure, and any rule or regulation it makes has all the force and effect that any statute would have which we may pass here. Therefore it is that I favor the amendment or any restrictive legislation of that character for the security of these old soldiers outside the inclosure.

Mr. HARRIS. I should like to ask the Senator from New Jersey if he thinks these old soldiers have forfeited any or all of their rights to citizenship, and if we should legislate with a view of dealing with them on principles other than those on which we deal with other American citizens?

Mr. McPHERSON. If a soldier who is receiving the bounty of his country in a soldiers' home is unable longer to control himself, if he requires a guardian, the guardianship over him is a guardianship provided within the home. Now, I say as to that man that we should throw around him all the protection possible. We are doing him an injustice if we permit him to go outside the home, if that be his propensity, and indulge his appetite there. That is my answer to the Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. HARRIS. Then I should like to know upon what authority the Senator from New Jersey or any other Senator assumes that this particular class of American citizens have propensities they can not control and which require that Congress shall pass a law to take violent hold upon them and control and subject them to leading strings? It is an absurdity and a disgrace, in my opinion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CHANDLER in the chair). The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. HOAR], upon which the yeas and nays have been ordered.

Mr. PASCO. I ask that the amendment be again read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be again read.

The CHIEF CLERK. Add at the end of the bill the following provision:

Enacted, That it shall be unlawful for any person to sell in or about any place known to be frequented by the Soldiers' Home, and in the vicinity of the entrance of his or her license, if any exists. Any person offending against the foregoing provision shall be liable to a further penalty of $100 for each offense.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CAMDEN (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from South Dakota [Mr. McPHERSON].

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

Mr. WILSON of Iowa (when his name was called). I am paired generally with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT], but I am satisfied that if he were present he would "yea." I therefore vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. CULLOM after having voted in the negative, I inadvertently voted. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. Not knowing how he would vote, I withdraw my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 24, nays 42; as follows:

YEAS—24
Allison.	Hansbrough.	McPherson.	Proctor.
Chandler.	Higgins.	Merrill.	Sherman.
Harves.	Hiscock.	Peffer.	Stockbridge.

Chamden.	Dolph.	Palmer.
Cameron.	Geary.	Perdrew.

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. HOAR. I move a further amendment to be added at the end of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts its will be reported.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to add at the end of the bill the following provision:

Enacted, That nothing hereby contained shall be construed to repeal sections 1181, 1182, and 1183 of the Revised Statutes relating to the District of Columbia or any part thereof.

Mr. BUTLER. Will the Senator from Massachusetts be kind enough to read those provisions or have them read?

Mr. HOAR. I will send the volume to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will read as requested.

The Secretary read as follows:

Sec. 1181. It shall not be lawful for any person in the District to sell, give, or distribute to any soldier or volunteer in the service of the United States, or any person wearing the uniform of such soldier or volunteer, any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drink; and any person offending against the provisions of this section shall, on a conviction thereof, pay a fine of $20, or in default of such payment, be committed to the District jail for thirty days.

Sec. 1182. Any person licensed to sell spirituous liquors or intoxicating drink within the District, who shall suffer or permit any soldier or volunteer in the service of the United States, or any person wearing the uniform of such soldier or volunteer, to drink any spirituous liquor or intoxicating drink upon his premises, shall be deemed guilty of the same offense mentioned in the preceding section, and upon conviction, shall be punished accordingly.

Sec. 1183. Any person convicted under the provisions of the two preceding sections shall forfeit his license to sell spirituous liquor and intoxicating drink.

Mr. HILL. Mr. President, so far as the first section is concerned, which the amendment contemplates shall not be repealed, I think that question has virtually just been passed upon by a vote of the Senate. I think the Senate perfectly understood the question, namely, that that provision is repealed by this proposed act, because it was conceded upon all sides that it did apply, especially under the decision of the court, to soldiers in the Soldiers' Home. So far as the second provision is concerned, I understand it applies more especially to soldiers in the actual service of the United States. I do not know that there is any objection to that.

Mr. BUTLER. If the Senator will allow me, I think it goes very far beyond that. It says anybody "wearing the uniform of the United States."

Mr. HILL. Yes, that part of it.

Mr. BUTLER. It applies to volunteers from Pennsylvania and every other State who wear the uniform of the United States, as I understand the meaning of it.

Mr. HILL. In addition to being a volunteer, it also contains language, if I recollect it aright, pertaining to those wearing the uniform of the United States. I think the safest way is to debate the pending amendment. I vote today it upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is moved by the Senator from New York that the amendment proposed by the Senator from Massachusetts be laid on the table.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. In section 11, line 5, I move to strike out the word "regular" and to insert in lieu thereof the word "reputable" so as to read:

That upon the written prescription of a reputable physician

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. GALLINGER. I sent to the desk an amendment a short time ago, after the amendment of the Senator from Massachusetts was declared carried, which I ask to be now read.

Mr. PLATT. Where is the last amendment of the Senator in charge of the bill to come in?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On page 6, line 5, of section 11, the third word in the line.

Mr. PLATT. Is the court going to determine who is a reputable physician?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment has been adopted, inserting the word "reputable" instead of the word "regular."

Mr. PLATT. I think it might be a little difficult for a court always to determine who is a reputable physician.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I offered that amendment in deference

Mr. HARRIS. The only question is whether I took the floor immediately after the Senator from North Dakota.

Mr. GALLINGER. The Senator did not take the floor immediately after him.

Mr. HARRIS. I tried my best to do it, and spoke before the Senator from New Hampshire.

Mr. GALLINGER. I had the floor.

Mr. HARRIS. I was recognized by the Chair, and my rights to the floor were absolute after my guidance.

Mr. GALLINGER. Let the Chair decide it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That is rather an embarrassing question. If the Senator from New Hampshire had not yielded the floor he is entitled to it.

Mr. GALLINGER. I had not yielded the floor.

Mr. President, the amendment I have submitted is an amendment in exact accord with a bill which was agreed upon unanimously by the Committee on the District of Columbia, the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS] being a member of the committee, and the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. HANSBROUGH] another member of it, on the 13th day of May, 1892, nearly one year ago, and it was reported to the Senate on that day. It has been buried on the Calendar for nearly one year. It is a high-license bill. I do not know why the Senator from North Dakota has allowed nearly a year to elapse without calling up the bill, which he was instructed to report by a unanimous vote of the committee, and which he did report.

When that bill was reported on the 13th day of May, the Senator from North Dakota made an elaborate written report. In that report he commends and quotes Mr. Julian Ralph, in Harper's Magazine for April, 1892, as commending the high-license law of the city of Minneapolis. If I were not so good-natured as not to desire to consume the time of the Senate, and desiring that action shall be had upon this bill at the proper time, I should read what Mr. Julian Ralph has said about the Minneapolis high-license law, which the Senator from North Dakota incorporated in his report nine months ago, and which remains unacted upon to the present time. He says the Minneapolis high-license law is the best law in the world, that it has resulted in driving intoxicating liquors from the residence portion of that beautiful city.

I have the assurance of one of the Senators from Minnesota that what Mr. Ralph says in that argument, which the Committee on the District of Columbia indorse through the Senator who is pressing this low-license bill to-day, is absolutely true.

Now, I offer an amendment in exact accord, or nearly in exact accord, with the report which was made by the committee on the 13th of May last, which proposes to compel the men who are to sell rum in this city, who are ruining our boys and destroying our homes, to pay for the privilege as much as is paid in Minneapolis and some other cities of the country.

It is said that our laws are inadequate. Why are they inadequate? Congress is responsible for the inadequacy of law in this District. There is not a State in the Union which has such an abominable code of laws as the District of Columbia made up of the English common law, of the obsolete statutes of the State of Maryland, and some modern legislation; yet it is proposed to put on the statute books another law, and the Senator who is pressing this bill declares that we can do no better at this time.

I say we have had enough of patchwork and tracery in the way of legislation in the District of Columbia. If we are going to have a law in this District licensing the rum traffic, let it be a law which will protect the homes and families of this District as against the men who sell and the men who traffic in rum.

That is all I care to say. I simply ask that a yeas and nays vote shall be taken upon the amendment which, in my judgment, the Senator from North Dakota ought to be foremost in advocating and supporting.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I desire to say in answer to the Senator from New Hampshire—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from New Hampshire yield the floor to the Senator from North Dakota?

Mr. GALLINGER. I yield the floor to the Senator from North Dakota for a question.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I agree entirely with everything which is in the report made from the Committee on the District of Columbia to the Senate to which the Senator refers, and am in favor of a high license.

I desire to correct the statement made by the Senator from New Hampshire to the effect that the Committee on the District of Columbia of the Senate have reported a bill here in favor of a license of $1,000 for retail and $500 for wholesale dealers. I desire to call the attention of the Senator to the fact that we had quite a little contest in the committee on the day we considered the measure, and it was finally voted that the retail license should be $500 and the wholesale license $250, and I so reported the bill to the Senate.

Mr. GALLINGER. That is correct, and I stand corrected to that extent; but what I stated was substantially the fact that the Senator from North Dakota indorsed the Minneapolis high-license law and indorsed what the Philadelphia Press said of high license in that city where it is $1,000.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. And I indorse it now heartily.

Mr. GALLINGER. And yet the Senator reported a bill reducing the license in the District of Columbia. If the Senator will be kind enough to tell the Senate of the United States why rum-sellers in the capital city should not pay as much for licenses as in Minneapolis and Philadelphia he will confer a great favor upon me and the country.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I should be heartily in favor of making liquor-sellers pay a license of $2,500 if it were possible to do so. I simply submit that this measure is a step in the right direction and the best in my judgment that we can get at this time.

Mr. GALLINGER. I have said all I care to say at present.

Mr. HARRIS. This bill was carefully considered by the District Committee, and is the result of that consideration. The Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER] is a member of that committee, and I think it would have been respectful to the committee if he had intended to offer these various amendments, with which he is consuming the expiring hours of this Congress, to have offered them in committee and have allowed them to be considered there.

I do not know exactly what the rate of license ought to be for retail or wholesale dealers, but I accepted the judgment of the majority of the committee and agreed to the reporting of this bill. I hardly think it is an excusable thing in the Senator to annoy at this late day the Congress and the Senate in offering these varied amendments, which ought to have been considered and decided by the committee of which he is a member.

I shall vote against his amendment to the bill.

Mr. GALLINGER. In answer to the distinguished Senator from Tennessee, who, I presume, intends to be fair, I will say that on the 13th day of May, 1892, the bill to which I have called attention was reported. I was absent from the city at my home, having left here on the 13th day of February. I find by reference to the bill now under consideration that it was read twice and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia on the 14th day of February, Tuesday, and reported back here on Thursday, the 16th. The committee did not even wait until the day for the regular meeting of the committee. I should be pleased if the Senator from Tennessee would tell me how under these circumstances I could have conferred with that committee. I do not know that I could have done so very well even if I had been in the city.

Mr. HARRIS. If the Senator will allow me, if he had been here, where his official duties required him to be, he would have had notice of the meeting of the committee and could have attended.

Mr. GALLINGER. That is cheap talk. Any Senator can say such nonsense as that on the floor of the Senate, and nobody knows better than the Senator—

Mr. HARRIS. It may be nonsense to a mind like the Senator's, but it is the logic of fact and of duty.

Mr. GALLINGER. Well, it is nonsense.

Mr. VEST. I wish to ask a question of the Senator in charge of the bill. Before we vote upon this amendment I should like to know what increase of license is proposed by the amendment over the provisions of the bill?

Mr. HANSBROUGH. The provision of the bill, as the Senator will see on page 11, is that the wholesale liquor license shall be $250 a year. The present law is $25 a year.

Mr. VEST. What is the retail license?

Mr. HANSBROUGH. And the bill provides that the retail license shall be $400 a year. The license under the present law is $100 a year.

Mr. VEST. What is the amendment of the Senator from New Hampshire?

Mr. HANSBROUGH. To increase the wholesale license to $500 and the retail license to $1,000.

Mr. GALLINGER. I ask for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. HUNTON. I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUHOUN] on this question.

Mr. MILLAN. I have a general pair with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. VANCE]; but knowing that he would vote in the negative on this question, I have voted "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 21, nays 31; as follows:

YEAS—21.

Carey,	Gallinger,	Power,	Warren,
Casey,	Higgins,	Proctor,	Washburn,
Chandler,	Hour,	Sherman,	Wilson,
Cullom,	Irby,	Squire,
Dubois,	Peffer,	Stockbridge,
Frye,	Platt,	Teller,

NAYS—31.

Bate,	Gibson,	McPherson,	Shoup,
Berry,	Gorman,	Mills,	Stewart,
Blackburn,	Gray,	Mitchell,	Turpie,
Butler,	Hansbrough,	Morrill,	Vest,
Call,	Harris,	Pasco,	Voorhees,
Coke,	Hawley,	Pugh,	White,
Daniel,	Hill,	Ransom,	Walcott,

Camden,	George,	Manderson,	Vance,
Cameron,	Gordon,	Morgan,	Vilas,
Cockrell,	Hale,	Padlock,	Walthall,

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. GALLINGER. I offer an amendment, which I am happy to say, the Senator having the bill in charge thinks should be adopted, and I trust it will be.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. There is no objection to the amendment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to add to section 2, the following:

An I said board shall make an annual report to Congress, setting forth the number of applications for licenses both favorably and unfavorably acted on, the number of persons convicted for violation of this statute, and the amount of fines collected and uncollected.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. GALLINGER. I have another amendment to offer. The Senator in charge of the bill thinks it is in the bill, but I can not find it. It is in the bill, however, reported on the 13th of May last. I think it ought to be adopted.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I think it is in the bill, but at this late hour we have not time to find it. There is a special order for 1 o'clock.

Mr. HARRIS. Let the amendment be reported.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3 it is proposed to add to section 4 the following subdivisions:

Sixth. That he is not the owner of or licensee named in any such license then in force.

Seventh. That he intends to carry on such business for himself, and not as an agent of any other person, and that, if so licensed, he will carry on such business for himself and not as the agent of any other person.

Eighth. That he intends to superintend in person the management of the business licensed, and that, if so licensed, he will so superintend in person the management of the business so licensed.

Mr. HARRIS. How will the text then read?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The proposed amendment is an entirety. It consists of additional subdivisions.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I accept the amendment.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. GALLINGER. I find on my desk one further amendment, which I hope the committee will accept.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. In section 19, line 2, after the word "female," it is proposed to insert the words "minor under sixteen years of age, or person convicted of crime;" so as to read:

That no licensee under a barroom license shall employ, or permit to be employed, or allow any female minor under 16 years of age, or person convicted of crime to sell, furnish, or distribute any intoxicating drinks, etc.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. That amendment I also accept.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I hope we may now have a vote on the bill.

Mr. CAREY. I wish to ask the Senator having charge of the bill whether the persons who take out a license under it have not also to take out a license under the United States internal-revenue law?

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Most assuredly they have.

Mr. PEPPER. I wish to speak on the bill a moment before it is passed upon.

Mr. TURPIE. Mr. President—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Kansas yield to the Senator from Indiana?

Mr. PEPPER. I have a few words to say on the bill.

two years, saying nothing about wines, would fill a canal 5 feet deep, 30 feet wide, and 164 miles long, or, if you bring it into a lake, it would make a lake half a mile long, one-eighth of a mile wide, and 17 feet deep, affording space enough and fluid enough to float sixty-five of the largest war ships in existence.

The statistics which I have secured have been taken from internal-revenue reports and printed in the Register in the Philadelphia Record, showing the extent of the distilling in a few of our large cities. If I may be permitted by the Senate to pass the score over to the Reporter and to include them in my remarks, I shall say nothing more.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. If there be no objection, the statistics referred to will be inserted in the Record. The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

The statistics referred to are as follows:

Since 1875 up to the present time the consumption of beer and malt liquors in the United States has increased from 3,120 barrels in that year to 11,000 barrels in 1891, a net increase of 21,770,000 barrels.

It is no more readily increased than it is marked the progress of the trade in the United States is more abundant. Since 1875 and the only one of our annual and yearly increase was during the first year of high prices in the State when the sales fell off only 10,000 barrels from the previous year.

Since then high prices seem to have had little or no effect on the increase, since then being a constant and steady one, and the year 1890 being no exception, as the high water mark in the trade in Pennsylvania as well as the entire country. In that year the sales amounted to 11,215,000 barrels, an increase over the previous year of 100,000 barrels, and over the first year of high prices of 753,211 barrels. The following table will show the sales in some of the principal cities for 1890 and 1891, and the increase:

	1890.	1891.	In-crease.
Phila. & Delphia	1,706,245	1,458,816	247,429
New York	4,418,214	4,587,978	169,764
Chicago	2,031,396	1,678,685	352,711
Milwaukee	1,877,157	1,521,602	355,555
Baltimore	1,704,106	1,498,111	206,000
Cincinnati	1,254,818	1,115,653	139,165
St. Louis	1,824,260	1,655,215	169,045

The magnitude of the liquor trade in the United States is enormous. The quantity of spirits not wine or beer produced and deposited in distillery warehouses during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, was 118,436,564 gallons. Since 1882 the quantity has increased from 71,237,255 gallons in that year to the figures above for 1892.

The quantity of beer produced in 1875 was 8,383,720 barrels, and it increased regularly to 30,021,679 barrels in 1891, nearly 400 per cent increase in seventeen years.

The number of distilleries operating in the United States in the year 1892 was 1,357; the number registered was 1,603. The number of persons and firms paying special retail liquor taxes during the year 1892 was 215,174. This does not include the wine and beer list. The number of breweries paying special taxes the same year was 1,967.

Distillers enjoy special privileges in the matters of bonding, leakage, and exportation. Taxes need not be paid until the liquor is removed from the warehouse, and not then if it is to be exported. And in all cases leakage and exportation are counted out. The amount of liquors deducted for leakage during the year 1892 was 3,522,119 gallons, and the quantity exported during the same time was 3,218,787 gallons.

A large number of our distilleries are owned in whole or in part by aliens; and I have the authority of the Powers to send for the statement that upward of $10,000,000 of foreign capital is now invested in American breweries.

MEMORIAL ADDRESSES ON THE LATE SENATOR KENNA.

MR. FAULKNER. Mr. President, pursuant to notice heretofore given, I submit the resolutions which I send to your desk, and ask that they be now read and considered.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT. The resolutions will be read.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate do honor with profound sorrow to the death of Hon. John P. Kenna, late a Senator from the State of West Virginia, and extends to his widow, family, and friends sympathy and condolence in their bereavement.

Resolved, That as an additional mark of respect to the memory of Mr. Kenna, the legislative business of the Senate be now suspended in order that his former associates in this body may pay fitting tribute to his memory.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to transmit a copy of the resolutions, and also to the governor of West Virginia, a certified copy of these resolutions, with a statement of the action of the Senate thereon.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate do communicate these resolutions to the House of Representatives.

Resolved, That as a further testimonial of respect to the memory of the deceased Senator that the Senate do now adjourn.

MR. FAULKNER. Mr. President, in the name of the people of a State who in life respected, admired, and loved John Edward Kenna, and who, now that death has claimed him as his own, without distinction of party, section, creed, or faction, sincerely mourn the loss of a gifted son, I ask that the legislative business be temporarily suspended, that the representatives of the State may unite in a last sad tribute to the memory of an associate whom all admired for his high intellectual gifts, and many, many, loved for those bright, social, and genial traits of character that fascinated and charmed, and who, as—

Long live the Republic!

And the Republic live long!

Mr. President, no public man has ever been in closer touch with the people of our State, and I doubt whether, in the future, any one will so faithfully adhere to them by his personality and public services as Mr. Kenna. His track and many good things his genial companionship, his hand of unrelenting illustration, his unique and striking expression of his love of hunting, fishing, and all the manly sports, his unimpaired courage, his serving integrity, his liberality and unselfishness, his respect for and honoring eloquence, all united in a personality making the most perfect specimen of physical manhood, made him the idol of many and caused him to be respected, admired, and beloved by all.

His death was not only a public calamity, but a personal bereavement to the people he so long and so well represented. Nothing was left undone by the State or the citizens that could give emphasis to the sentiment of public and private misfortune. The Legislature, by resolutions, gave expression to the sentiment of our people. The press, without distinction of party, laid upon his casket the garlands of its highest tribute. A joint committee of the two houses was appointed to proceed to this city and with the committee of Congress to escort his remains to the capital of the State, where, surrounded by all the evidences and emblems of a grateful people's profound sorrow, thousands gazed upon that calm, strong, brave face never to be seen again—

"Till my cognate with Jehovah's blast,

Graves among them, and at His menace dread

In the smoke of planets melting fast,

Once again to them give up their dead.

Mr. Kenna was born in Kanawha County, Va., now West Virginia, April 19, 1848, and died in the city of Washington on the 11th day of January, 1893.

Philosophy but confirms the teachings of experience, that man's character, to a great extent, is molded and fashioned by the circumstances which surrounded his growth and development. The youth and manhood of Mr. McKenna were but an illustration of this truth. His magnificent physique, his vigorous intellect, his courageous and independent spirit, were not the result of a condition of luxury and ease, but the development of the characteristics, which were so marked in our deceased friend, was stimulated by the necessities by which he was confronted.

Left fatherless by one of those inscrutable dispensations of Providence at the early age of 8 years, he realized even then that on this world soon devolve the care and support of a loving mother and two younger sisters. In 1858, Mrs. Kenna and her two children removed to the State of Missouri, residing on the farm of Mr. Lewis, a brother of Mrs. Kenna, where they remained until after the breaking out of the civil war. It was then that his farm, and at the early age of 11 years, that he commenced to contribute to the support of the family.

Frequently have his associates in this Chamber heard him, with that boyish gravity, of his competence in reclaiming the "barren and cold" portions of Missouri's finest plantations, where his uncle held the handle of the plow and he controlled the yoke of oxen attached to it.

Although at this period of his life he had the advantage of the tutelage of a governess, yet war did not prevent him from becoming an expert teamster.

He was passionately devoted to his mother, and being an only boy and the eldest child, he soon assumed the position of her only adviser, counselor, and companion. This responsibility rapidly developed his character, and fitted him at an early age to grapple successfully with the stern duties of practical life.

At the age of 16 years he enlisted in the Confederate Army, and served bravely with his company and at Sharpsport, La., in June, 1865.

From that time, as in many other of his most striking characteristics, was his firmness and unconquerable determination of purpose, which was illustrated at this period of his life when, though severely wounded, he refused to retire from active service, choosing to endure the hardships and privations of a disastrous campaign rather than seek the rest and safety of a hospital couch. At the close of the war Mr. Kenna returned to Kanawha County, W. Va., where the rest of his family had preceded him.

At the age of 18 years he found himself without an occupation and with but a meagre education, but these disadvantages did not deter his brave and ambitious spirit from seeking a

The previous question was answered by the Commission, and the report was adopted.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. JAMES KEENE, its Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the reports of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the following bills:

A bill (H. R. 1275) to grant to the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad Company a right of way across the Fort Montgomery military reservation.

A bill (H. R. 10290) making appropriations for the support of the Military Academy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894; and

A bill (H. R. 10267) making appropriations for the diplomatic and consular service of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894.

The message also announced that the House had agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the House to the bill (S. 1307) to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia lying outside cities.

The message further announced that the House had passed a bill (H. R. 10351) to continue the duties on certain manufactures of wax at the rate now provided by law; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message also announced that the House had passed a concurrent resolution providing for the printing of 1,000 copies of the official report of the American delegates to the International Monetary Conference convened at Brussels, November 22, 1892, in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

The message further announced that the House had passed a concurrent resolution providing for the printing of 8,000 copies of the eulogies delivered upon Hon. Alexander K. Craig, late a Representative from the State of Pennsylvania; in which it requested the concurrence of the Senate.

ENROLLED BILLS REPEATED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 1275) to grant to the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad Company a right of way across the Fort Montgomery military reservation.

A bill (H. R. 9750) to promote the safety of employes and travelers upon railroads by compelling common carriers engaged in interstate commerce to equip their cars with automatic couplers and continuous brakes and their locomotives with driving-wheel brakes, and for other purposes.

A bill (H. R. 10290) making appropriations for the support of the Military Academy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894; and

A bill (H. R. 10184) to amend an act approved July 25, 1892, entitled "An act to provide for the improvement of the entrance of Brunswick, Ga."

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

The VICE-PRESIDENT presented a petition of the Second Legislative Assembly of Oklahoma Territory, praying for the approval by Congress of the act recently passed by that Assembly, and declared unconstitutional by the supreme court of the Territory, providing for the employment of additional employes other than those provided for by the organic act of that Territory; which was referred to the Committee on Territories.

He also presented a petition of the Second Legislative Assembly of Oklahoma Territory, praying for the passage of a law creating a cabinet office of Secretary of Labor, which was referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.

He also presented a petition of the Second Legislative Assembly of Oklahoma Territory, praying for the granting of a charter to the Lexington and Pure R. Railway Company; which was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. SHERMAN presented a memorial of sundry printing firms of Cincinnati, Ohio, is protesting against the passage of legislation authorizing the Post-Office Department to furnish stamped envelopes to purchasers at the face value of the stamps placed thereon; which was referred to the Committee on Post-Office and Post-Roads.

Mr. COCKRELL presented a petition signed by the ministers of the respective congregations in Clinton, Henry County, Mo., praying for the repeal of the obnoxious features of the act of Congress approved May 5, 1892, entitled "An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States" with the attendant regulations of the Secretary of the Treasury of July 7, 1892, and giving their reasons therefor. I move that the petition be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. HAWLEY presented the petition of Bishop William H. Hare, of South Dakota, and 45 leading citizens of Philadelphia, Pa., and other citizens, including some heads of universities and distinguished clergymen, urging the repeal of the so-called Geary Chinese exclusion act. I move that the petition be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. MITCHELL presented a petition of the Portland (Oregon) Chamber of Commerce, praying for the immediate repeal of the so-called silver purchase act of 1890; which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. CHILDS presented petitions of citizens of Monroe, Hardin, and Marion Counties, in the State of Illinois, praying for the appointment of a committee to investigate the combine formed to depreciate the price of grain, which were referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

Mr. SMITH presented a petition of the Chamber of Commerce of Port Townsend, Wash., praying that a fog-signal vessel be placed at Umaticla Reef, Flattery Rocks, on the coast of Washington; and that the northerly inshore current along the coast be more accurately determined and described; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. VILAS, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by himself on the 27th instant, intended to be proposed to the Indian appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT. I am directed by the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by myself yesterday relating to the Cherokee Outlet, intended to be proposed to the Indian appropriation bill, to report it favorably with amendments. I move that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and be printed.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT subsequently said: This morning from the Committee on Indian Affairs I reported favorably an amendment to the Indian appropriation bill. I am now authorized by the committee to report favorably a modification of that amendment; and I move that the same be printed and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. PLATT, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom were referred the amendment submitted by Mr. POWER, the amendment submitted by Mr. JONES of Arkansas, and the amendment submitted by Mr. DAWES, on the 25th instant, intended to be proposed by them respectively to the Indian appropriation bill, reported them favorably, and moved that they be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3789) to authorize the loyal Creek Indians, Indian Territory, to bring suit in the Court of Claims for damages committed upon their property, reported it without amendment.

Mr. HITCHCOCK, from the Committee on Indian Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3891) extending the time for the completion of its railroad by the Cheyenne Coal and Railway Company, and for other purposes, reported it without amendment.

Mr. MILLAN, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3776) to amend the charter of the District of Columbia Railroad Company, reported it with amendments.

Mr. HAY, from the same committee, to whom was referred an amendment submitted by Mr. HAY on the 28th instant, intended to be proposed to the efficiency appropriation bill, reported it favorably, and moved that it be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, and be printed; which was agreed to.

Mr. HIGGINS, from the Committee on the District of Columbia, to whom was referred the bill (S. 3591) to confirm title to lots 13 and 14, in square 959, in Washington, D. C., reported it with an amendment, and submitted a report thereon.

mean time the new Secretary will have an opportunity to look the field over and see whether he can not get along without any inconvenience in the service with the present number.

Then, as the Senator from Maine has well said, and I am glad to hear him repeat it, for it is not a new statement for him to make, when the time comes at the next session of Congress and more ships have been put in commission and the new Secretary comes to Congress with a demonstration that it is absolutely necessary to increase the cost of the service, I have no doubt we shall have the earnest support of the Senators on the other side, as they have had ours during the past four years, for whatever is necessary to make this great arm of the Government, now becoming more important, as efficient as the needs of the country will require. But I do not think it wise in this or any other case, as I have more than once stated to the Senate, to fix an increased expenditure hereafter.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I should like to ask the Senator a question, if I may?

Mr. GORMAN. I yield with great pleasure.

Mr. WOLCOTT. Are there any ships unable to go into commission now by reason of scarcity of employes in the Navy?

Mr. GORMAN. I do not understand that there are. I think that probably the officers would have a better time if we gave them more men. I think that they would probably clean the brasses on the ships and rub up the engines a little better than they do at present; that all the paraphernalia and all the facilities and comforts which can be added to these great ships would be increased and improved. We should probably have an opportunity to entertain our foreign visitors a little better, and we could have more men on the decks and make a better display; but as to the navigation of the ships and their proper management in times of peace, I do not understand that it is an absolute necessity. It is desirable on the part of the officers and on the part of the Navy Department, but it does seem to me that we can afford to wait. I agree with the Senator from Maine that the appropriation for the entertainment and display is fixed and unavoidable and we can not get away from it. It would be discreditable if we did; but I think we had better stop there. Hence my motion to strike out this provision.

I ask the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. CHANDLER], who has had familiarity with this subject, whether there would be any question about the proposition made by the Senator from Wisconsin and myself that this is a permanent increase of the Navy, and these men would be enlisted for four years or three years, whatever is the regular term of enlistment?

Mr. HALE. Nobody has disputed it.

Mr. GORMAN. There has been some question here in the debate on that point; there has been some confusion on the subject at all events. I ask the Senator from New Hampshire for his opinion.

Mr. CHANDLER. I had not examined this clause before I came into the Senate this morning. I then asked the Senator from Maine the meaning of it, and he stated to me exactly what he has stated to the Senate. Therefore I assume that a permanent increase to 9,000 men was intended by the clause as it stands, and I do not myself see any objection to it. Senators must understand that with the new ships and a large increase of the Navy at no distant day there must be an increase in the number of seamen in the Navy. I was sorry the Senator from Maryland seemed to suggest that a larger number of seamen was wanted for any frivolous or improper purpose. The Senator knows—

Mr. GORMAN. The Senator—

Mr. CHANDLER. If the Senator will allow me, he knows that the complement of seamen for the ships of different classes is fixed by a certain rule. The Secretary of the Navy does not undertake to exceed that rule, and it is very easy to be ascertained when the ships are in commission how many seamen are needed for that purpose. The Senator expects after that to make the necessary increase when it is called for?

Mr. GORMAN. I may have possibly in answer to the Senator from Colorado [Mr. WOLCOTT] used too strong an expression. I did not intend to do it. I did say that I believe for the next year the Navy can get along just as well as it is doing now, and I did say that the increase for the time being would give the officers the additional facilities and comforts which I described.

I meant to say that in my judgment this increase proposed is not absolutely necessary now; that there would not a ship go out of commission, or be tied up, or kept in the navy-yards if we fail to make this increase; that they can get along with some discomfort; that probably they will not have the number required by the regulations; but in time of peace we can get along without this proposed increase. I did not intend to reflect upon the officers of the Navy. I do not feel so. I think that in that branch of the service like the Army they have fixed rules, and they want to keep up their establishment in time of peace practically as they do in war. There is strict discipline in their service, and it is perfectly natural that they want to have the men around them. I do not say that in any offensive way or for the purpose of criticising them.

Mr. CHANDLER. I knew the Senator did not intend to make any unfriendly criticism of the officers of the Navy.

Mr. GORMAN. Not at all.

Mr. CHANDLER. He has always voted liberally for the support of the Navy. If the Senate does not wish to increase the number of men permanently in the Navy upon this bill of course that part of the amendment of the committee can be voted down. The provision for a temporary increase of the Navy seems to me to give a full and ample and appropriate discretion to the Secretary of the Navy, and I think that a reasonable amount of confidence certainly ought to be shown in that officer.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. VILAS. I understand the amendment of the Senator from Maryland was withdrawn temporarily in order to allow the Senator from Missouri to submit a proposed amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The pending question is on the amendment of the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. PALMER. I ask that the amendment to the amendment be reported.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment to the amendment will be again read.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 42 strike out from line 20 down to and including the word "thousand," in line 25, in the following words:

And the number of persons who may at one time be enlisted into the Navy of the United States, including seamen, ordinary seamen, landsmen, mechanics, firemen, and coal heavers, and including 1,500 apprentices and boys, hereby authorized to be enlisted annually, shall not exceed 9,000.

Mr. GORMAN. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE. Mr. President, I do not understand the question. I should like to have the question stated again.

Mr. GORMAN. To vote "yea" keeps the number of enlisted men in the Navy as it is to-day; and to vote "nay" will increase the number 750. That is all there is of it.

Mr. BATE. I understand it now. I vote "yea."

The PRESIDING OFFICER (when Mr. FAULKNER's name was called). The present occupant of the chair is paired with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH] who is absent sick. I make the announcement for the day.

Mr. MORRILL (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS]. I do not see him present. I therefore withhold my vote. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. CULLOM. I inquire if the senior Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY] has voted?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He has not voted.

Mr. CULLOM. I withhold my vote. I am paired with that Senator.

Mr. CAREY (after having voted in the negative). I thought that the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY] had voted. I find that he has not done so. I withdraw my vote as I am paired with him.

Mr. QUAY. I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN] on this and all other questions except two, I believe.

The result was announced—yeas 23, nays 26; as follows:

XXIV—143

mise by saying that at present there is, as I understand, only one dry dock belonging to the Government on the Pacific coast—that at the Mare Island navy-yard. The United States has a large number of war vessels on that coast, I think five or six at present, and there is a strong probability of increasing our naval forces in those waters.

The bottoms of these vessels become foul to such a degree that their speed is very largely decreased, and, as I said, in this connection I desire to call attention to this article which I will send to the desk and ask to have read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The article will be read.

The Secretary read as follows:

It is reported in naval circles that the cruiser Boston, now at Hawaii, will be compelled shortly to proceed to San Francisco in order to have her hull under water cleaned. The condition of the vessel's bottom is said to be more than ordinarily foul, and it is reported that the Boston, from being a 15-knot per hour cruiser, has had her speed reduced to something like 10 knots per hour. All this is due to the vegetable growth on the vessel's under-water hull.

The Boston's plight is emphasizing, it is said, particularly at this time, when the Government needs its best ships at the Sandwich Islands, the necessity for scouring the bottoms of all the new vessels. The Navy regulations prescribe that the cruisers shall be docked at least once in every six months. The proper preservation of the under-water hull plates demands this attention, and in foreign waters United States war vessels are permitted to use and pay for docking in foreign docks. The right to use Government docks has always been extended in recent years to United States ships by European powers. The same courtesy is shown in American waters to the war ships of foreign countries.

The Boston has been at Honolulu for the past three months. Prior to her sailing for the Sandwich Islands she did considerable cruising in the tropical waters of the Pacific. She has received one docking since she reached the Pacific, at the Mare Island California dock, but this attention was bestowed as long ago as last summer.

Since reaching Honolulu the Boston has remained almost wholly idle, lying the major portion of her time quietly at anchor. Vessels actively cruising do not appear to take on as much vegetable growth as those lying still.

Honolulu Harbor, it is reported, is one of the worst sections of the Pacific in which to foul a ship's bottom.

The sloop of war Mohican is now on her way to Honolulu from San Francisco. As soon as the latter ship arrives under the Navy Department will in all probability order the Boston to San Francisco for an overhauling.

Mr. SQUIRE. I have another article published in the New York Times of February 27, 1893, and other newspaper excerpts of the same purport, which, however, it will not be necessary to read to the Senate to-day. But I submit that it is a fact, first, that a dry dock is necessary at this point on the Pacific coast. The evidence is conclusive on this point. The speed of vessels on the Pacific Ocean is reduced in some cases over 50 per cent by fouling of ship's bottoms. Secondly, Congress has already legislated on that subject, having provided by law for a dry dock there to cost not exceeding $700,000. It has already appropriated $200,000. The work is going on. The contract has been let, as I stated, at a less sum than it was originally supposed the work could be done for. Now we may just as well provide the sum of money that will enable this dry dock to be completed, and that sum of money will only be about $75,000, all told, more than has been provided for in the bill as it came from the House of Representatives.

Mr. President, the interests of the Government on the Pacific coast are such that it seems to me the Senate ought to appropriate all the money necessary to complete this dry dock. It can be done at very little extra expense. Here to-day we have been voting away $300,000 for a naval review or for a great commemorative naval pageant, and I am not unwilling—I voted for that appropriation, and I believe it is right—but how much more important to complete this great public work on the Pacific coast, where we now have only one United States Government dry dock.

I trust that the member of the Committee on Appropriations having the bill in charge will kindly accept this amendment and let the Pacific coast have the benefit of the appropriation for the completion of this work now.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the amendment of the Senator from Washington be read.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 29, line 14, before the word "thousand" strike out "two hundred and twenty-five" and insert "three hundred;" so as to read:

To continue the construction with durable materials of the dry dock at Puget Sound, authorized by the act approved March 2, 1891, including approaches to dry dock, rent of quarters for civil engineer and inspector, pay of superintendents, inspectors, and draftsman, necessary dredging, and incidental expenses, $300,000.

Mr. COCKRELL. Is that estimated for?

Mr. SQUIRE. Yes, sir. I understand that it is estimated for.

Mr. BLACKBURN. That is for the completion of the work.

Mr. SQUIRE. That is for the completion of it. I will state that I consulted with Commodore Farquhar, in charge of the United States Bureau of Docks, and I understand him to say that this work as at present designed can be completed for the sum of $300,000. I think the entire sum may as well be appropriated. It will only cost a little more. Why should this important work be dragging along for three or four years when we can get it all done within at least two years, perhaps in one year and a half, or even one year?

Mr. COCKRELL. The question is with regard to the two years. Why appropriate $300,000 now if that amount can not be expended for at least two years?

Mr. SQUIRE. It can. That is the very point I make, that it can be expended now advantageously to the Government.

Mr. COCKRELL. Do I understand that $300,000 can all be used within the coming fiscal year?

Mr. SQUIRE. Yes. That is my understanding if the work can go rapidly ahead upon the original design.

Mr. COCKRELL. And complete this dry dock?

Mr. SQUIRE. Yes; and that is the very reason why I ask that the amount be changed. The ships of the Navy need this dock, and the commerce of the Pacific coast needs it, and the contractors can complete it if they can draw the money. So I am informed and believe.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. GALLINGER. On the 25th day of January I proposed an amendment to the appropriation bill now under consideration which I hoped to see reported and included in the bill, but unfortunately I do not find it. I send the amendment in substance to the desk and offer it at this time.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to insert after line 15 on page 29:

Dry dock, Portsmouth, N. H.: To commence the construction of a dry dock at Portsmouth navy-yard, of such size, design, and material as may be determined by the Secretary of the Navy, $100,000, under a limit of $500,000 as the total cost of said dock.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on agreeing to the amendment proposed by the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER].

Mr. GALLINGER. I am aware of the fact that very likely the amendment I have proposed is subject to a point of order, but I trust it may not be made against it.

I will say, concerning this proposed dry dock at Portsmouth, that the present dock is a very old and rickety affair, having been built more than forty years ago; and that in the very nature of things it will soon have to be abandoned or a new dry dock built. The harbor of Portsmouth is one of the best, if not the best, on the Atlantic coast. During the recent cold weather Portsmouth Harbor was the only harbor on the entire Atlantic coast that every day during the winter was entirely free from ice.

I do not care to discuss this matter at length, but I feel very sure that the Senator having in charge the bill, who is entirely familiar with the Portsmouth navy-yard and the necessities of the case, will frankly state to the Senate that in his judgment this appropriation ought to be made and that a dry dock ought to be constructed at that yard.

As I said in the beginning, while I apprehend that the amendment is subject to the point of order, I trust that in the interest of economy and of good administration of our naval affairs the point will not be made against it, and that it will be allowed to be incorporated in the bill.

Mr. COCKRELL. I heartily and warmly sympathize with the distinguished Senator from New Hampshire in his desire to see this appropriation made, and I regret that the distinguished Senator from Maine feels such an active interest in the matter that he cannot make the point of order.

Mr. HALE. I certainly shall not do so.

Mr. COCKRELL. I know it is an important matter, and that Portsmouth is a most excellent port—probably the best on the New England coast—but there must be an end to the amount that Congress can and ought to appropriate in this bill. We cannot afford, with the objects that we have under contract, under consideration, and under construction, to begin a new one, and especially one not estimated for by the Department. I am compelled, therefore, to make the point of order that the amendment is not estimated for and is not in order on the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair is of opinion that the point of order is well taken.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The amendments were ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

PROPOSED EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Mr. SHERMAN. I desire to have a brief executive session. I therefore make that motion.

Mr. COCKRELL. I hope that the important bill in regard to regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia, which is the unfinished business, will not be laid aside after having been pending so long. It is one that will save to the taxpayers of this District from $300,000 to $400,000 if it becomes a law.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I trust the Senator from Ohio will withdraw his motion. We can get through with the bill in fifteen or twenty minutes.

Mr. SHERMAN. I can not give the reasons for my motion, but after a brief executive session the license bill will be the regular order of business. I hope we shall have an executive session while the Senate is full, and in a brief time I hope we shall be able to resume legislative business.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Ohio moves that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Mr. SHERMAN. I call for the yeas and nays on the motion. The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUHITT]. I therefore withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. HIGGINS. I desire to inquire whether the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. McPHERSON] is recorded as having voted.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. He is not recorded.

Mr. HIGGINS. I withhold my vote, being paired with that Senator.

Mr. DIXON. I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

Mr. CULLOM. I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY], and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. VILAS. I wish to announce that the Senator from Louisiana [Mr. WHITE] is unavoidably absent from the Chamber, and is paired with the Senator from Montana [Mr. POWER].

The result was announced—yeas 27, nays 29; as follows:

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I ask that the unfinished business be now proceeded with.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (H. R. 10296) regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia.

Mr. PUGH. I ask unanimous consent to proceed to the consideration of House bill 10280. It will take but a minute.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from North Dakota yield to the Senator from Alabama?

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I can not yield. It will not take more than five minutes probably to finish the consideration of this bill, and after that the Senate will, I have no doubt, accede to the request of the Senator from Alabama. I must decline at present to yield. We have been engaged on this bill for four days.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill is as in Committee of the Whole and open to amendment.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I desire to move a slight amendment. On page 5, line 37, after the word "licensee" I move to insert a comma; in line 38, after the word "issued" to insert a comma; and in line 41, on the same page, after the word "aforesaid" to strike out the comma.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. TURPIE. Mr. President, I offer an amendment, and wish to be heard in support of the same.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment of the Senator from Indiana will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. The amendment of the Senator from Indiana is as follows:

That the word "licensee" be changed to "licensee" and the word "issued" be changed to "issued".

The VICE-PRESIDENT.

Mr. TURPIE.

the defense and justification of it to those who depend upon it as an argument in support of the policy of this bill.

The Senator from New Hampshire was unwilling to derive revenue from such a source. Whence is the revenue of the Government now derived? Hundreds of millions are derived from the excise tax upon spirits, many thousands of dollars from the special tax paid by wholesalers for their licenses, and many other millions from the tariff tax levied upon spirits and upon fermented and malt liquors imported. Are these unlawful? Have they no connection with the wretchedness, misery, and tears which the Senator from New Hampshire alluded to as being related to the license system.

Again, sir, whence is a large amount of the revenue of the States as well as of the United States derived? From the imposition of pecuniary fines and forfeitures for offenses against the criminal law. Even the price of blood in the form of a forfeited bond may go into the Treasury. It is too late for any lawgiver to take the stand that the folly, the weakness, or the wickedness of mankind, if you please to call it such, is not to be made the object and subject of revenue. There is no civilized nation—there has been none in the past and there is none now—which has not derived a very large portion of its revenue from a levy of this character. A reformer who would be willing to strike out such a local and comparatively small fee for license in relation to this particular traffic, and at the same time make no objection to the millions which are collected from the same source otherwise, is straining at a gnat—visible only under the microscope—and is swallowing a camel with two humps of the largest size.

We have all heard the phrases as chargeable to liberal sentiments on this subject-matter, that we are participants in the evil which their transgressions bring upon offenders. There is nothing new in any of the phrases used by the Senator from New Hampshire, denunciatory as they were of the license system. They belong to the vernacular of that fanaticism which discards the actual and the practical, the ordinary every-day good in legislation, and demands a standard of superhuman virtue and excellence to suit the ethereal views and visions of the purist and the pietist.

I understood the Senator to say that this was a license bill, and therefore he would vote against it. I shall vote against the bill because it is not a license measure.

I understood the very learned and honorable Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] to say that this was a bill for revenue, and therefore it ought to be expedited; it ought to be advanced; it ought to be taken up and considered. The Senator from Maryland is mistaken. This is not a measure for revenue. It is very seldom the honorable Senator makes such a grievous lapse, if he will allow me to call it by the mildest term. This is not a measure for license primarily; it is not a measure for revenue primarily. The chief, principal, cardinal point in the bill is that of prohibitory legislation, depending upon the will of the majority, to be taken upon this question by petition.

The three amendments I have offered at once go to this point. I have moved to strike out the words "a majority" wherever they occur, and to insert a reasonable number of householders and freeholders as signers to the petition, just as we do in our State, just as they do in the majority of the States, just as is done in the case of a ditch, in the case of a highway, in the case of getting a license to keep an inn or a tavern. This number of signatures will be sufficient to act as sponsors for the person who undertakes the business, to fully identify him and localize him as a dealer and resident in that section of the District; and that is the only legitimate object of these signatures.

Why, sir, this bill provides that in certain sections of the District, that is, in the city sections, the applicant for license shall have a majority of the residents keeping house, and a majority of the persons owning real estate, and the applicant for a license in a rural place shall have a majority of both such classes of persons. There may be a count of the opposers and the friends of the license system in a certain section of this city which shall approach to within one of an even number on both sides. What would be the consequence? Would this then be a license law?

It might depend upon one man who was opposed to this system, who had an adverse opinion, and upon the act of that single man, owning real estate perhaps in different sections of the city and the District, might depend the question whether in the first place a license should be issued. Is this then a license measure? In the next place, whether revenue should accrue. In this then a measure for revenue? And lastly, whether the sale and use of these commodities should obtain in that neighborhood.

There is no doubt but that sales, with or without license, will occur, and with or without revenue will also occur. Senators may be surprised to hear that this dominant policy in some sections of the country, of legislative prohibition, although it may not have adorned the English language, has really added a new word to the already large number in that tongue, or rather a combination of two old ones in a new significance. I allude to that haunt of bibulous prostitution I refer to that den of tailoring hypocrisy, I allude to that house of fraud and of a literature in which is commonly called the "speak-easy."

This bill would not prevent the speak-easy, but it would prevent licenses; it would prevent revenue. The signature of one man may be needed to make a majority. Of course the same thing might occur in any election. Certainly it might; but why should this matter be submitted to an election? What has the majority to do with such a question?

It is said that the will of the majority in this country governs. The will of the majority expressed under the form of law governs in this country in respect to those matters which pertain to government. But there are certain rights over which the Government has no control whatever, which are beyond the reach of law, beyond the reach of the power of the majority. Those rights are called natural, sometimes inalienable. They are enumerated in the constitutions of forty-four States; some of them are enumerated in the Constitution of the United States. They are enumerated, but they are not granted; they are not conferred by any government, State or national; they are a part of the birthright of every freeman. These rights are not only free, but they are equal, they are sovereign. They acknowledge no superior, that is the attribute of sovereignty. This Government has never conferred and can not confer them.

The foundation of this Government was brought about by the free conditions which preceded it. This republican form of government and this democratic policy are the effect, not the cause, of human liberty. It is true the State constitutions and the national Constitution guarantee all these rights as rights inalienable. A man can not be deprived of them, and he can not himself abdicate them any more than he can sell himself into slavery. Yes, sir; they are guaranteed by these constitutional ordinances, but they were not created by such ordinances, and their sovereignty shows that the individual, the unit, is, with respect to these rights, superior to and above the reach of legislation. The man is greater than the state.

The man, considered with respect to his responsibility as a free agent, political and civil, and considered with respect to the relations which he bears to the distant scene of the future beyond this life which certainly awaits him, is infinitely greater than the state under any form of development, and the state under any form is infinitely less than the man. It is transient, it is transitory, it is ephemeral as compared with the man.

Now, sir, one of these rights is the right of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, alluded to in the Declaration of Independence, the greatest American state paper, the greatest state paper of the world. Some of these rights are alluded to in the State constitutions, are enumerated, but the fact that some of them may not be enumerated does not disparage their existence or their exercise.

There is the right of freedom of the press, there is the right of free speech, there is the right of freedom of worship and conscience, a sovereign right, one which can not be interfered with by legislation, the right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience.

But, say these advocates of fanaticism, temperance is a good thing, always using the word in the sense of total abstinence. I shall use it in the same sense. Temperance is a good thing, they say, a noble thing, an excellent thing, a pure thing. Is it better than the Christian religion? I ask that. If the majority of a certain section, a city, a county, can establish a mode of life by law, why may they not establish a mode of worship by their will? It does not depend upon what mode of worship they establish, for the exercise of legitimate power in government is not to be questioned at all by its operation. They may establish Catholicism in one neighborhood if that be the will of the majority; they may teach Protestantism in another. That is one of the reasons why these high doctrines and principles of religion are not subjected to the will of the majority, because truth is one and indivisible, and can not be changed by a year-and-day vote of this assembly, or by any majority acting either by the ballot or by petition.

Why may we not have a law compelling every man and woman of adult age to join some church? Senators in favor of this policy of prohibition might talk until sundown, showing the beneficence of such a measure. Why may we not have a law compelling every man to join at least some of the benevolent societies, some of the mutual aid societies, the Masons or the Odd Fellows? Because the oldest and best members of such organizations and the churches themselves would flinch from such an accession. The church would not be benefited by such an accession, the individual joiner would not be benefited thereby. I steadfastly believe in all the articles of the Christian faith, but I would not vote for a law which would enable the will of the vision of the then Christian church. He said none of these things. What he said was this: "Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend."

There is a sublime word and act of self-renunciation, a voluntary pledge, a promise having no taint of human statutes engraved on the fleshy tablets of the heart. That was an act of great self-renunciation for a Roman citizen to make, one who would otherwise have broken no restriction upon his liberties or even upon his personal rights.

We have no quarrel with that great work of voluntary association which has within the last fifty years assumed gigantic proportions in all parts of the world, inclosing within its limits men, women, and children engaged in the good task of a willing self-annihilation, of building up the weak, of massing the moral forces of mankind, as the steam engine and the electric light and line have massed the physical forces of nature upon a single point and purpose—doing the work of truth, of peace, of that perfect law of liberty, the highest type of legislation. We have no quarrel with the Sons of Temperance, with the Daughters of Temperance, with the Order of the White, or the Order of the Blue Ribbon, with any of these voluntary societies which have unmeted, and will yet accomplish, this labor of moral reformation in the world. We believe in that mode, in that method, and especially we do not believe in the method of this bill.

The dogma of legislative prohibition is in direct conflict with the best principles of morality and religion as revealed. It proceeds to destroy the free, moral agency of men, and to shift the responsibility of wrong from the doer thereof to the accumulated and undefinable mass which makes a majority. There is no attribute of civil liberty which can take sides with this dogma. It denies the capacity of the race and of mankind for self-government, as it destroys the ability, the opportunity, the capacity of the man for self-control.

I trust that the time may be near—there are manifest signs of its advent—when the councils and deliberations of our people and their representatives, both in the State and nation, shall return to the plain ground of reason upon this subject-matter, shall return to the domain of common sense—common sense, that home of the mind, its domicile, its abiding place, whither after many wanderings it will return at last.

Mr. GALLINGER. Mr. President when at the opening of the debate on this great question, I took occasion to address myself very briefly to the Senate in opposition to this bill. I had not the least idea that it would evoke such an outburst of fervid eloquence from the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE] as he has directed against me during the last half hour. I have listened with very great interest to the argument of the distinguished Senator, for, notwithstanding his fallacious theories, which can easily be disproved, I have a very great personal fondness for the Senator, and am always glad to listen to him.

Among other things, the Senator from Indiana has charged upon me blasphemy, because I advocated the prohibition of the liquor traffic. Mr. President, I am quite willing to rest under that imputation under the circumstances. I will call the attention of the distinguished Senator from Indiana to the fact that if it be blasphemy for a Senator of the United States to advocate prohibition against what he conceived to be an acknowledged evil, before the Senate or is able to persuade reasonable men to believe that that accusation is justified, it may be well for him to turn his attention to the great prohibitory law which was given to the world ages ago amid the thunders and the lightning of Mount Sinai, and when he has extracted from that law the "thalt not" that it contains, then it strikes me he may with greater justification say to me and to the Senate of the United States that we have not the right by legislation to prohibit an evil which is upon the world.

Mr. President, the Senator from Indiana has announced himself as diametrically opposed to my views on this question, and yet he proposes to vote as I shall vote against the measure which is before the Senate. I oppose the bill because I would prohibit this evil. He opposes the bill because he is in favor of free traffic in this element, which brings disaster and sorrow to the people of this country. It is not the first time that extremes have met in this world, and I welcome the Senator from Indiana to the little group which will vote against this bill, of which I shall be one.

I shall close by expressing the hope that his argument has had such a profound influence upon the members of his own party, who have been so warmly congratulating him upon his effort, that they may join with us in defeating this measure when the final vote is taken.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. Mr. President, I desire to say briefly, that I am very glad we have had the opportunity of listening to both extremes on this question, the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. GALLINGER] representing the prohibition sentiment and the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE] representing what may be termed the free-whisky element. This bill occupies a middle ground. It is practical and is drawn to meet the existing condition of things. I trust the Senate will lose no time in adopting it.

That is all I have to say.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. CHANDLER in the chair). The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE], which will be reported.

The SECRETARY. On page 4, line 4, it is proposed to strike out after the words "permission of" the words "a majority" and insert "twenty;" in line 5, after the word "and," to strike out "a majority," and insert "thirty," and in line 13, after the word "from," to strike out "a majority" and insert "fifty;" so as to read:

That in the cities of Washington and Georgetown it shall be the duty of every applicant for a barroom license to present to the excise board with his application the written permission of twenty of the persons owning real estate, and thirty of the residents keeping house on the side of the square where it is desired to locate such business on the confronting side of the square, fronting opposite the same, and if the location of such barroom is on a corner and has an entrance thereon, such consent will be required from such owners and residents on both streets, and in that portion of the District of Columbia lying outside of the said cities of Washington and Georgetown, such applicant shall present such permission from fifty of the persons owning real estate and of residents keeping house within the space of 250 feet of the street or road on each side of the place where it is desired to locate such business, and within a similar space on the side of the street or road fronting opposite such place.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

Mr. PEPPER. I wish to ask the Senator from Indiana, before the vote is taken, what improvement in his opinion will be effected by the adoption of his amendment, substituting a smaller number than a majority for a majority?

Mr. TURPIE. I spoke of that question very fully in my argument, if I may call it so, but the Senator from Kansas would have me repeat it.

I do not think that such a question ought to be submitted to a majority or that it is within the jurisdiction of a majority or within the jurisdiction of any law or of any power of the Government. There is no legitimate authority in the majority to do this, but I have no objection, because such has been for centuries the practice, that such a petition should be signed by a few holders or freeholders in the neighborhood for the purpose of localizing the person who makes the application and identifying the person who engages in the traffic. That is the only legitimate use there is for any petition. The use made of a petition here is to insert in this pretended bill for license and revenue this dogma of legislative prohibition.

Mr. PEPPER. Then, I desire to ask the Senator further for information, whether he believes in regulating the retail sale of intoxicating liquors in any way by law?

Mr. TURPIE. That question I answered very fully. I say the only province of government with respect to any of these natural rights is to regulate their use and punish their abuse. But there is no government, and no law, and no will of a majority which can extinguish natural rights.

Mr. PEPPER. I desire to ask still another question. Does the Senator believe that the sale of intoxicants by retail ought to be as free as the sale of sugar, of corn, of shoes, and of clothing?

Mr. TURPIE. It ought to be just as free as the sale of any other commodities as far as the same may be affected by the will of the majority, which is a mere negation.

Mr. PEPPER. Then why is the Senator not willing to leave the provision as to the majority in this bill?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment.

The amendment was rejected.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended.

Mr. GALLINGER. There is one amendment relating to the sale of liquor in clubs, upon which I should like to have a separate vote. I desire also to offer an amendment to that amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Secretary will state the reserved amendment.

Mr. GALLINGER. It was, I think, the first amendment adopted, the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. HANSBROUGH] having offered it as a substitute for the provision in the bill concerning the selling of liquor in clubs.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. It will be found on page 6.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. The reserved amendment is in section 6, line 15, after the word "further," to strike out—

That any duly incorporated club having a license under this act may sell intoxicating liquors to its members at any time till the hour of 1 o'clock a. m.

And insert—

That the said excise board, may, in its discretion, issue a license to any duly incorporated club on the petition of the officers of the club, and that the said excise board may, in its discretion, grant a permit to such club to sell and consume intoxicating liquors to members and guests between such hours as the said board may designate in said permit.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The vote will be reserved on the amendment which has been read. The question is on concurring in the other amendments made as in Committee of the Whole.

MR. FRYE. I desire to reserve for a separate vote the amendment cutting down the limit from within 1 mile of the grounds of the Soldiers' Home to one-half mile, and I am influenced in this direction very largely by a memorial which I have recently had from the Garley Memorial Presbyterian Church, of which a mission established within the 1-mile limit of the Soldiers' Home. The memorial is a very earnest protest against the amendment, and will take the liberty, notwithstanding the honor of the church.

GARLEY MEMORIAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

To the honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

Your memorialists would respectfully present to you a memorial of remonstrance against the repeal of the bill which prohibits the sale of liquor for the sale of intoxicating liquors within a certain limit of the Soldiers' Home property. Our church is within one-half mile of the Soldiers' Home, and the amendment we saw with shame, indignation, and with the conviction that the bill was intended to repeal it. We have no objection to the bill as it is, but we forced it met every reasonable expectation of it, and we are now rapidly advancing in value our new and improved property, and there was every prospect for a bright future for our church, and we have a decision of court was made that no penalty exists on the violation of the wholesome law.

Since then a considerable number of dealers have put up signs on the establishments in defiance of the statute, and they are trying to escape to your honorable house that the bill should be repealed, and that the evils resulting from their violation of the law.

For the sake of several hundred students of Howard University, for the sake of the employees of the Government and of the veterans of our Army, for the sake of our children and neighbors, and for the protection of our interests as property holders, we ask that your honorable house will repeal the statute, and will provide appropriate penalties for its enforcement.

The foregoing memorial was unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of the church and congregation, held this evening, February 1, 1893.

WILLIAM S. MILLER,
Pastor of the Church.

C. H. MERWIN,
Clerk of the Session.

MR. PRESIDENT, I hope that the remonstrance of this church, which has been established there, and which is doing all in its power to save the children of that neighborhood from the terrible evils of the sale of liquor, there will be regarded by the Senate, that the 1-mile limit will be restored, and that the amendment fixing the limit at one-half mile will be voted down.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is: Will the Senate concur in the amendments made as in Committee of the Whole with the two exceptions which have been reserved?

The amendments not reserved were concurred in.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The question now is on concurring in the first reserved amendment.

MR. GALLINGER. I ask that the amendment be again reported.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be reported.

THE SECRETARY. In section 6, line 15, after the words "and provided further," it is proposed to strike out:

That any duly incorporated club may, in its discretion, grant a permit to such club to sell and consume intoxicating liquors to its members and guests between such hours as the said board may designate in said permit.

And insert:

That the said excise board may, in its discretion, grant a permit to such club to sell and consume intoxicating liquors to its members and guests between such hours as the said board may designate in said permit.

MR. GALLINGER. Mr. President, just a word in reference to the amendment. It probably has suggested itself to Senators that when we commence licensing clubs there will be a great increase of the number of clubs in the city of Washington. They will be on every street corner beyond a doubt, and they will be licensed to sell intoxicating liquors. But that is not the worst part of the amendment adopted by the Senate. It is an amendment not only licensing clubs, but permitting them to sell every day in the week, including Sunday. There is no question about that. The Senator in charge of the bill admits that such is the fact. I simply propose to offer an amendment to take the words "except on Sunday," so that if you are going to make clubs places where intoxicating liquors are to be sold, that you have a monopoly of the business on the Sabbath day.

MR. HANSBROUGH. The amendment which was adopted yesterday refers to incorporated clubs.

MR. GALLINGER. Yes, Mr. President, and I have heard it can be incorporated under the general law of the District of Columbia.

MR. HANSBROUGH. The Senator does not think they will be incorporated for the purpose of selling liquor, does he?

The amendment was concurred in.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is now upon the second reserved amendment, which will be reported.

The SECRETARY. In section 21, line 6, after the words "Soldiers' Home," the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, inserted:

Which law is hereby declared to be amended by reducing the limit prescribed in said act to one-half of a mile from the Soldiers' Home property.

Mr. FRYE. Mr. President, the rum-sellers of this District are exceedingly anxious that Senators shall vote on this amendment "yea," and the people who are desirous of saving their children from the evil effects incident to the business of rum-selling are equally desirous that Senators shall vote "nay" and retain the one-mile limit, instead of taking the one-half-mile limit.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on concurring in the amendment.

Mr. FAULKNER. I ask for the yeas and nays on the adoption of the amendment made as in Committee of the Whole.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. JONES of Arkansas. Let the amendment be again reported.

Mr. FAULKNER. I understand that a vote against the adoption of this amendment will leave in the bill the one-mile limit, and a vote to concur in the amendment adopted as in Committee of the Whole would reduce the limit to one-half mile.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated. The Chief Clerk read the amendment.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CALL (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. I do not know how he would vote on this question if present, and therefore I withhold my vote.

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY].

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TIERNEY].

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. HUNTON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUHITT]. If he were present I should vote "yea" on this amendment.

Mr. QUAY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Alabama [Mr. MONROE]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. RANSOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Maine [Mr. HALE]. If he were here I should vote "yea."

Mr. WARREN (when his name was called). I ask if the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON] has voted?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He has not voted.

Mr. WARREN. Then I withhold my vote. I am paired with that Senator.

The roll call having been concluded, the result was announced—yeas 21, nays 32; as follows:

So the amendment was nonconcurrent in.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, and read the third time.

Mr. MILLS. Let us have the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. GALLINGER. Yesterday I intended to ask to have incorporated in my remarks an article from the Philadelphia Press, of April 9, 1892, quoted in the report of the Committee on the District of Columbia on the bill which was reported to the Senate on the 16th day of June last. I now ask, without reading, that the article, which is brief, may be incorporated in the Record as part of my remarks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate hears the request of the Senator from New Hampshire. Is there objection? The Chair hears none; and it will be so ordered.

The article referred to is as follows:

Never was money more gladly paid than was that which came to City Treasurer McHenry's office yesterday in the shape of lump sums of $1000 for saloon licenses. A liquor-dealer by the name of Jerry Donahue was the first to put in an appearance. Mr. Donahue had evidently been laying for the honor of being the first man to step up to the captain's office to settle for the watchman's dues of $1000. He had never before been in the vicinity until the big iron door opened at 10 o'clock. At 10 o'clock, when the evening teller's office closed, eighty of the dated individuals had paid in $1000 each.

This anxiety and elation on the part of the successful applicants naturally brings up the query, what are the profits derived from a saloon? The question might well be asked, for it brings out astonishing results. A policeman who has a beat on Chestnut street sized up the situation remarkably well when he replied to a saloon-keeper who had let him to join him in a bottle of wine: "Oh, you've bet a good line, I see."

The policeman was practically right from the point of view, for the profits of an ordinary bar, since the reign of high license are enormous. This is illustrated in the case of an old man who died last year while keeping a modest little saloon near Twentieth and Calloway streets. His books were gone over by the executors, and to the astonishment of all concerned it was found that the old fellow had made a little over $20,000 clear money every year. His trade was composed largely of mill men who work in that vicinity.

A leading hotel was recently leased to a syndicate for $100,000 a year for ten years. The profits on the bar in this place are estimated at $500,000 a year exclusive of the restaurant.

Next to this ranks a place near Eighth and Vine, where the proprietor is about $300,000 a year, and every year from his bar profits alone. The leading hotels of the city about had a dozen in number, make an average profit of $5,000 a year apiece from the bars alone.

According to an expert there are about seventy saloons in the city that average all the way from ten to twelve thousand a year apiece. A barroom on Broad street, which had a fortune to put it up, makes about $15,000 a year and furnishes a good example, on which other more modest places which put in a decent business may be compared. A saloon on Chestnut street and patronized by the made money men connected with lined working men, or men who don't work, and never paid.

Of this class is one near Fifth and Sixth streets, where the profits are fully $20,000 a year. Just a block away is another place that annually makes a profit of $15,000. On South Front street is another which enters to the hotels that work in the neighboring hotels and to salt works. This saloon makes an annual profit amounting to nearly $10,000.

In the mid-18th century section of the city a saloon license is considered to be worth at least $5,000 a year on an average. In the extreme west end a license is worth more because there are not so many licensed places. Taking it all in all a saloon license is worth something for from a financial point of view.

Mr. GALLINGER. I desire simply to add that I have offered amendments to improve this bill, no human instrumentality could perfect it—and I shall deem it my duty and pleasure to vote against it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is: Shall the bill pass? on which the yeas and nays have been ordered.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TIERNEY].

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. CALL, after having voted in the affirmative. I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. PROCTOR]. I do not know how he would vote if present, and therefore I withhold my vote.

Mr. HUNTON. I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUHITT]. As I do not know how he would vote if present, I withhold my vote.

Mr. DANIEL. I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. SQUIRE].

Mr. COCKRELL, after having voted in the affirmative. I am paired with the senior Senator from Iowa [Mr. ALLISON]. I do not know how he would vote if present, though it is thought by his colleague that he might possibly vote "nay." As I have voted "yea," and should adhere to that if I were not paired, I shall withdraw my vote.

The result was announced—yeas 41, nays 15; as follows:

So the bill was passed.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I move that the Senate request a conference with the House of Representatives on the bill and amendments.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent the Presiding Officer was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. FAULKNER, Mr. McMILLAN, and Mr. HANSBROUGH were appointed.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. HILL. I move to take up for consideration the bill known as the New York and New Jersey bridge bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is moved by the Senator from New York that the Senate proceed to the consideration of a bill, the title of which will be read at the desk.

Mr. DAWES. I hope the Senator from New York will allow me to call up the agricultural appropriation bill.

Mr. HILL. I desire to occupy a moment and to say one word. I have tried repeatedly to get the bill before the Senate. I may be called away to-morrow, and it is important that the bill, an important one to my constituents, should at least have consideration. If the bill is not a proper one I do not want it passed, but if it is a proper one it seems to me that the Senate ought to consider it. I therefore trust the Senator from Massachusetts will not press anything now in its way.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The title of the bill moved by the Senator from New York will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. A bill (S. 2626) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York City and the State of New Jersey.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill?

Mr. MANDERSON. Pending the motion of the Senator from New York, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Mr. HILL. I wish to make a suggestion.

Mr. MANDERSON. I suggest that the motion is not debatable.

Mr. HILL. I wish to make a suggestion to the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. DAWES].

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion is not debatable except by unanimous consent.

Mr. HILL. I ask unanimous consent to make a brief statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and the Senator from New York will proceed.

Mr. HILL. If the Senate will take up the bridge bill, I have no objection to yielding to the Senator from Massachusetts to take up the appropriation bill he has in charge. I simply desire that the bill shall not be lost by delay.

Mr. DAWES. If I may be allowed to say a word, I will state that I am acting for the chairman of the committee, who requested me to make this motion as soon as the District license bill was disposed of.

Mr. MANDERSON. I fear the Senator from New York did not understand my motion. My motion is that the Senate proceed to the consideration of executive business.

Mr. HILL. I thoroughly understood the motion.

Mr. MANDERSON. I desire to say, if I may be permitted to do so by unanimous consent.

Mr. HILL. My motion is already pending.

Mr. MANDERSON. My motion takes precedence.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion to proceed to the consideration of executive business is not debatable.

Mr. HILL. Then I hope the motion will be voted down.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The motion is a privileged one, and is not debatable.

Mr. MANDERSON. By unanimous consent I simply desire to say that I have no desire to antagonize the bill the Senator from New York wishes to call up. He speaks of it as a bill that is of great local and perhaps national importance, but we all know that there are matters of very great moment needing the attention of the Senate in each session. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. Will the Senator from New York allow me to say a word?

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. HILL. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am not a member of the Senate, and I am not at all sure that I am not a member of the Senate.

value. The does not only depend on a gations, but if the committee think there ought to be an investigation of soils then there ought to be a separate appropriation for that purpose, and it should not be taken from the appropriation "to extend and continue the investigation of the adulteration of food, drugs, and liquors, including the purchase of samples, transportation, traveling expenses, stationery, return postage, printing and illustrations, analyzing, investigating, and examining samples purchased in the open markets."

This appropriation was intended for the investigation of the adulteration of food, drugs, and liquors, and if a portion of it is to be diverted to the investigation of soils, then it does not leave enough for the investigation of the adulteration of food, etc.

I beg to say to the distinguished chairman in charge of the bill that if he undertakes to investigate soils there is no telling how many varieties of soils there are in the United States, and $15,000 would not be a drop in the bucket to investigate the soils of this country. It would take away so much from the investigation of food adulterations as to make this provision practically useless to the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. ALLISON. This amendment was inserted on the request of the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who has primary charge of these appropriations. He stated to the committee that he desired a small sum for special soil investigations. An estimate was made of $5,000 for this purpose, but it was not inserted in the bill by the House of Representatives. The Assistant Secretary called our attention to it, and stated that with this sum, $15,000, they could make the special investigations they desire to make. I will say to the Senator from Virginia that this is $3,000 more than the appropriation for the current year, which is only $12,000. If it should turn out that the Secretary was mistaken in his request, we can easily arrange it in conference on consultation with the House of Representatives.

Mr. PADDOCK. I should like to ask the Senator having charge of the bill to pass over this paragraph for a short time until we can have an opportunity to look at it. The idea has just suggested itself here, and I have had no opportunity to examine it. It seems to me on the face of it to be absurd, because $15,000 is quite a scant appropriation for the duties first named in the paragraph, that is, for the investigation of food adulterations, etc.

Mr. ALLISON. It may be absurd, but if so the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture who recommended this provision certainly must have known something about it.

Mr. PADDOCK. I have another amendment which I desire to add to the paragraph. I should be glad if the Senator could see his way clear to pass it over for the present.

Mr. ALLISON. I am perfectly willing that it may be passed over.

Mr. HIGGINS. Before the item is passed over I suggest to the Senator from Iowa that the amendment in the form in which it is presented to the bill seems to be an inadvertence. It certainly destroys the effect of the appropriation and widens the scope of it so greatly that the amount appropriated becomes absurd. It was probably a mistake on the part of the draftsman.

Mr. HUNTON. I still think from what I have heard and from the intelligent gentleman in charge of this division that it would be wrong to divert any of the appropriation for an examination of the adulteration of food and liquor from that purpose and appropriate it to a special examination of soils, because the whole sum, $15,000, would not amount to much in the examination of soils, while it is enough for the examination of food adulteration and liquor adulteration. But if the Secretary has the discretion to divert any portion of the $15,000 that he may please to the examination of soils, he may if he chooses take the whole of it and leave the business of that division, which has been going on for years, entirely without money to proceed.

Mr. ALLISON. I am willing that the paragraph may be passed over for the present. To meet the objection suggested by the Senators who seem to think this is a very absurd provision—I am sorry they make such a criticism upon the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture as well as upon the Committee on Appropriations—

Mr. PADDOCK. No reflection was intended.

Mr. ALLISON. Oh, certainly not. I will modify the amendment in line 21 by inserting, after the word "dollars," the words "one thousand five hundred dollars of which may be used for special soil investigations."

Mr. PADDOCK. That is entirely satisfactory to me.

Mr. ALLISON. I hope that the gentleman who is at the head of this division, who seems to be pretty alert, will be satisfied with that provision, and I so modify it.

Mr. HUNTON. I am under the impression that modification will be satisfactory, but I do not know, and therefore I reserve the privilege of opposing it when the bill comes into the Senate from the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. ALLISON. Very well. I modify the amendment by in-serting after the word "dollars," in line 21, "of which sum $1,500 may be used," etc. I will not even make it directory. Then the Secretary of Agriculture, who I am sure will be able to settle this question in the interest of agriculture, will not use this $1,500 for one purpose when it can be more profitably used for another.

Mr. HUNTON. I think the form of amendment as proposed by the Senator is satisfactory.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment to the amendment of the committee will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In line 20, strike out the words "and for special soil investigations," and in line 21, after the word "dollars," insert "of which sum $1,500 may be used for making special soil investigations," so as to read:

"To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to extend and continue the investigation of the adulteration of food, drugs, and liquors, including the purchase of samples, transportation, traveling expenses, stationery, return postage, printing and illustrations, analyzing, investigating, and examining samples purchased in the open markets, $15,000 of which sum $1,500 may be used for making special soil investigations."

Mr. HUNTON. And restore the words "the sum of," in line 20?

Mr. ALLISON. That is not necessary; that is surplusage.

Mr. HUNTON. All right.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

The reading of the bill was resumed. The next amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, on page 12, in line 20, before the word "thousand," to strike out "twelve" and insert "twenty," so as to make the clause read:

Report on forestry, division of forestry: To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to experiment and continue an investigation and report upon the subject of forestry, and for traveling and other necessary expenses in the investigation, and the collection and distribution of valuable economic forest tree seeds and plants, $25,000.

The amendment was agreed to.

The next amendment was, on page 18, line 19, before the word "thousand," to strike out "thirty" and insert "forty-five," so as to read:

Agricultural experiment stations. To carry into effect the provisions of an act approved March 2, 1887, entitled "An act to establish agricultural experiment stations in connection with the colleges and published in the several States in the provisions of an act approved July 2, 1892, and of the acts supplementary thereto," and to enforce the execution thereof, $745,000, $25,000 of which sum shall be payable upon the order of the Secretary of Agriculture to enable him to carry out the provisions of section 2 of said act of March 2, 1887, and the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized to employ such assistants, clerks, and other persons as he may deem necessary, and to incur such other expenses in traveling, stationery, and other fixtures as he may deem and in carrying out the objects of the above acts, and the sums appropriated to the several States shall be paid quarterly in advance. And the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized to furnish to such institutions or individuals as may agree to buy it copies of the annual index of agricultural literature prepared by the office of experiment stations, and charge for the same a price covering the additional expense involved in the preparation of these copies, and he is hereby authorized to apply the moneys received toward the expense of the preparation of the index.

The amendment was agreed to.

The reading of the bill was continued to line 5 on page 20.

Mr. COCKRELL. I wish to ask something about the experiments in the manufacture of sugar. These experiments have been made for a number of years past and a great deal of money has actually been expended in experiments in the States of Kansas and Louisiana, and probably in other States. Is this simply to continue the same processes and scatter it out a little more extensively? What is the object of the provision? Let me read it, beginning at line 14 on page 19:

"To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to continue experiments in the production of sugar from sugar cane, sugar beets, and sorghum, and especially for culture experiments looking to the improvement of those sources of sugar, and for experiments for the more complete separation of the sugar from the molasses and including all necessary expenses in these experiments, namely, traveling expenses, purchase of samples, apparatus, and supplies, chemical services, including $500 additional temporary compensation to the chief chemist, and other expenses incidental to the experiments, $20,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary: Provided, That so much thereof as may be necessary may in the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture be expended in investigating and preparing to carry on experiments next year in sugarcane production on reclaimed swamp lands in some suitable place in the San Joaquin or Sacramento Valley, California, to be used by the Department free of charge."

Are we to go on those reclaimed swamp lands and experiment with them, plow and see if we can make sugar cane grow there?

Mr. ALLISON. I suppose that is the intention from the language of the bill. This is an exact copy of last year's bill.

Mr. COCKRELL. What did the Department do under the provision in the act of last year?

Mr. ALLISON. I understand they are only beginning now to make experiments and want to continue them another year. I will also state that experiments are being made in Florida, and to some extent in Louisiana, and they are still continuing experiments in sorghum in Southern Kansas. That is all I know about it. I think it is well enough to try it another year, and perhaps we can get through with San Juan and Sacramento Valley by that time. I trust next year we shall be able to dispense with Mr. COOKE. Why should it be a crime?

Mr. PADDOCK. It should be available because there are certain plants, etc., which are obtainable in May, which are not obtainable in April or at any later period. The amendment is in the interest of economy and in the interest of this particular service. It is important that a portion of the appropriation should be at once made available. I have here a letter from the chief of the division of botany recommending the adoption of such an amendment as I have offered, which may be read if desired. That is substantially the statement.

Mr. CORKRELL. Is it estimated for by the Secretary of the Treasury?

Mr. PADDOCK. An estimate is not necessary. It is not proposed to increase the expenditure. The amendment merely proposes to make the appropriation immediately available.

Mr. ALLISON. I understand the chairman of the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry desires the adoption of this amendment. It only enables the money to be expended a little earlier than it would otherwise be expended.

Mr. PADDOCK. That is all there is of it. The amendment makes no additional expenditure.

Mr. ALLISON. And we are to have a careful and good man to expend it, I presume.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PADDOCK. After the word "necessary," on page 11, line 24, I propose to add the proviso, which I send to the desk.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 11, line 24, after the word "necessary," it is proposed to insert:

Provided, That all duties imposed upon the Secretary of the Treasury or the Commissioner of Internal Revenue by the act entitled "An act to prevent the manufacture or sale of adulterated food or drugs in the District of Columbia," approved October 12, 1888, shall hereafter be performed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. GORMAN. Let the amendment be again reported.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be again stated.

Mr. ALLISON. The effect of the amendment is to transfer to the Secretary of Agriculture the duties now imposed upon the Secretary of the Treasury respecting the adulteration of food and drugs in the District of Columbia.

Mr. GORMAN. That is a change of existing law, and I shall be compelled to make the point of order against the amendment.

Mr. PADDOCK. Mr. President—

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Maryland make the point of order?

Mr. GORMAN. I do.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The point of order, in the opinion of the Chair, is well taken.

Mr. PADDOCK. I presume it is; but I do not think it is very wise to raise it on an amendment of this character. I should like to say a word concerning it.

Mr. GORMAN. I shall withdraw the point of order, of course to enable the Senator to make a statement.

Mr. PADDOCK. Mr. President, in a proviso which was enacted in the last Congress for the investigation of adulterations in the District of Columbia, the duties were imposed upon the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Now, it is provided in the clause of the bill which I propose to amend, that the same investigations without limit as to place shall be made. They may be made generally under the appropriation which is made in this bill. The investigations required by the law to which I have referred, but for which there is no appropriation whatever, may properly be made. I therefore suggest to the Senator from Maryland that while technically his objection is all right, yet in the interest of the public service, in the interest of these useful investigations, and in the interest of economy, it would be better to have these duties placed where I propose to place them, under the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. GORMAN. I renew the point of order.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair holds that the point of order is well taken.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendments were concurred in.

The amendments were ordered to be engrossed, and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

DISTRICT APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. ALLISON. I desire at this time to submit a conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill. This report is somewhat lengthy. I ask that it be printed in the RECORD, without reading, and I give notice that to-morrow morning I shall ask the Senate to consider it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The report will be printed in the RECORD, without reading, if there be no objection. The Chair hears none.

The report referred to is as follows:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 10038) making appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, and for other purposes, having met, after full and free conference have agreed that one amendment be adopted and sent to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its amendments numbered 1, 4, 5, 11, 22, 25, 27, 28, 32, 33, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, and 112 and agree to the same.

That the House recede from its amendments numbered 1, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 26, 29, 30, 31, 32, 34, 35, 36, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, and 112 and agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 13. That the House recede from its dissent to the amendment of the Senate numbered 13, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$200,000" and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 12. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 12, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: Strike out the matter inserted by said amendment and insert after the word "dollars," in line 27, page 10 of the bill the following: "And this appropriation shall be available for removal and repaving of parking on New York Avenue between Ninth and Tenth Streets under the provisions of the compulsory permit system," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 11. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 11, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$200,000" and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 15. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 15, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$15,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 16. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 16, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$50,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 17. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 17, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$25,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 18. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 18, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$3,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 19. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 19, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$13,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 23. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 23, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$123,955," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 25. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 25, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$82,275," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 31. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 31, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: Insert after said amendment as a new paragraph the following:

For grading Massachusetts Avenue extended, $10,000.

And the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 36. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 36, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$30,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 44. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 44, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$125,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 48. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 48, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$10,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 59. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 59, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$100,000," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 67. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 67, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$7,550," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 68. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 68, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$23,750," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 69. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 69, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the matter proposed to be inserted by said amendment insert the following:

For one light wagon harness and boxes, $575.

And the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 191. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 191, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed in said amendment insert "$1,181," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 192. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 192, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed in said amendment insert "$1,181," and the Senate agree to the same.

Amendment numbered 193. That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 193, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed in said amendment insert "$1,181," and the Senate agree to the same.

DISTRICT APPROPRIATION BILL.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there further morning business?

Mr. TELLER. I do not rise to morning business, but

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. If there be no further morning business, the Chair recognizes the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. ALLISON. Mr. President—

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. If for morning business, the Chair recognizes the Senator from Iowa.

Mr. ALLISON. I ask the Senate to proceed to the consideration of the conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The conference report will be laid before the Senate.

Mr. TELLER. I wish to say that as soon as that is disposed of I shall then try to call up the McGarrahan bill, of which I gave notice yesterday. I do not desire to interfere with the conference report, but following that I shall ask the Senate to take up the McGarrahan bill.

Mr. CALL. I ask the Senator from Iowa to allow me to have a vote taken upon the joint resolution which was under discussion yesterday and the day before.

Mr. ALLISON. I will state to the Senator from Florida that this is a matter of great importance, and should be disposed of at the earliest possible moment. I think it will take very little time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair lays before the Senate the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the bill (H. R. 10038) making appropriations for the expenses of the Government of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes.

Mr. ALLISON. Inasmuch as the report was presented last night and is printed in full in the RECORD, I suppose it is not necessary to read it at large.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The reading can be dispensed with by unanimous consent. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and the reading will be dispensed with. The question is on concurring in the report.

Mr. SHERMAN. We can not understand it very well by reading it. The Senator from Iowa ought to give an explanation of the various amendments.

Mr. PLATT. There is an agreement?

Mr. ALLISON. There is an absolute agreement. There are a great many rather immaterial amendments; that is to say, the Senate conferees have receded on a great many amendments and the House conferees have also done so. On the first amendment, which is an increase of the pay of the inspector of plumbing, the Senate conferees have receded.

Mr. SHERMAN. I do not know that I care to cross-examine the Senator from Iowa in regard to the report.

Mr. ALLISON. If the Senator has any special matter in view I shall be glad to make an explanation.

Mr. SHERMAN. I have not, because I have not the bill before me.

Mr. ALLISON. I will make some general explanation, however.

As to the streets the amount agreed upon in conference is $200,000, instead of $150,000, as proposed by the other House, and $300,000, as proposed by the Senate.

As respects sewers, the Senate conferees made a compromise with the House conferees upon the various provisions relating to sewers, securing a fair result, I think, on the whole.

In regard to the matter of the Washington Aqueduct, which is an important amendment in view of the Senate conferees, the Senate inserted a provision on page 22 of the bill, providing for the commencement of the improvement of the receiving reservoir, and appropriated for that purpose $75,000.

Mr. SHERMAN. Where is that receiving reservoir?

Mr. ALLISON. It is the upper reservoir, just at the boundary line. The improvement will double the capacity of the water in this city when made. The capacity for water in this city is about four days now. When the receiving reservoir is improved as proposed by the engineer officer in charge, the capacity of water in this city will be doubled.

Mr. HOAR. Is that at the Soldiers' Home?

Mr. ALLISON. No; it is the large receiving reservoir at the west, on the boundary. The House conferees agreed to that provision, inserting $60,000 instead of $75,000, so that work is retained.

Mr. SHERMAN. Is there any provision made for the reservoir on the north?

Mr. ALLISON. None.

Mr. SHERMAN. None at all?

Mr. ALLISON. None whatever. I think these are the important amendments. The remaining amendments are mere differences in matters of detail.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa as to the resolution adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year, which we have entered on the RECORD.

That is the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. ALLISON. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. GORMAN. I am in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. ALLISON. I am in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. STEWART. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. ALLISON. I am in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. GORMAN. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

Mr. ALLISON. With the amendment which was inserted by the Senate on the 27th of last year, the amount enable the City Engineer to contract for the sewer running from Lehigh Park to the city, which amendment it is retained in the bill, the work can be contracted for. It has not yet been done, but it can be contracted for, inasmuch as we have a limit from $225,000 to $250,000.

Mr. GORMAN. Then there is a provision made for that work for the next year.

Mr. ALLISON. There is a provision made for that work, at least, if not for the whole of next year, for the completion of it. The Commissioners are authorized to contract for its completion.

Mr. GORMAN. I am very glad that the members of the Senate have been able to agree that the health of this city and the health of the Nation depend upon the completion of that work. No matter what the cost, I consider that a great work ought to be done.

Mr. McMILLAN. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa a question. What was done with the money to take the garbage in the city?

Mr. ALLISON. The garbage disposal fund, which the Senate amendment are retained, and the amount appropriated from $10,000 to $5,000. The provision is retained, as is also the provision for $5,000 a year for the summer months.

Mr. McMILLAN. Then I should like to ask a question. What was done with the money of the District? Is that amendment retained?

Mr. ALLISON. It is retained.

Mr. VEST. Will the Senator from Iowa concur in the conference as to the appropriations for the educational institutions of the District?

Mr. ALLISON. As the Senator will remember, I inserted a provision about 70 per cent of the amount last year should be applied as provided in the bill for the next year. In conference that was changed to 60 per cent is allowed to the District, and the balance of the amount is placed at the disposal of the Commissioners.

Mr. VEST. In the last session, the amount was 60 per cent.

Mr. ALLISON. In the last session, the amount was 60 per cent. And the District should have any additional amount that the Commissioners may want, and above the 60 per cent.

Mr. ALLISON. The amount of the appropriation for the District is 60 per cent; and in their discretion they may apply 10 per cent to the various institutions. I should like to ask the Senator from Iowa whether or not he is in favor of the resolution which was adopted by the Senate on the 27th of last year.

The report was concurred in.

PRESIDENT.

A message from the President of the United States, L. PRUDEN, one of the judges of the Supreme Court, who had on the 27th of last year, signed a decree in the acts:

An act, S. 3062, to grant a pension to the widow of a Railway Conductor, and for other purposes, and

An act (S. 3873) to authorize the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf Railway Company to construct and operate a railroad, telegraph, and telephone line through the Indian Territory, and for other purposes.

The message also announced that the President of the United States had on the 28th instant approved and signed the following acts:

An act (S. 3811) to amend an act entitled "An act to grant to the Mobile and Dauphin Island Railroad and Harbor Company the right to trestle across the shoal water between Cedar Point and Dauphin Island," approved September 26, 1899;

An act (S. 3702) granting to the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company the use of certain lands at Chickasha Station, and for a "Y" in the Chickaw Nation, Indian Territory;

An act (S. 1538) for the relief of the heirs of James S. Ham;

An act (S. 1539) for the relief of the heirs of John W. Vose;

An act (S. 3725) authorizing the construction of a free bridge across the Arkansas River, connecting Little Rock and Argenta;

A joint resolution (S. R. 157) authorizing the Secretary of War to receive for instruction, at the Military Academy at West Point, Alberto Quirola, of Salvador;

An act (S. 3876) authorizing the St. Louis and Madison Transfer Company to construct a bridge over the Mississippi River;

An act (S. 3871) to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Calumet River; and

An act (S. 2828) for the relief of L. M. Garret.

WILLIAM MCGARRAHAN.

Mr. TELLER. I ask the Senate to take up Senate bill 3741, known as the McGarrahan bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Colorado asks the consent of the Senate to proceed to the consideration of a bill the title of which will be stated.

The SECRETARY. A bill (S. 3741) to submit to the Court of Private Land Claims, established by act of Congress approved March 3, 1891, the title of William McGarrahan to the Rancho Panoche Grande, in the State of California, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the Senator from Colorado?

Mr. MORRILL. I had not supposed that the Senator from Colorado would bring this bill again before the Senate. I am very sure that it will take much more time than the Senate can afford to devote to a private land claim. If it is to be brought up I have numerous amendments to propose to the bill which, if it be postponed until to-morrow, I shall have printed, so that the Senator may see them, but if the bill is to come up to-day, I shall be compelled to read my amendments and they will have to be taken down at the desk.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the bill?

Mr. MORRILL. I object to its being taken up.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Vermont objects.

Mr. TELLER. Then I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill.

Mr. MORRILL. On that I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. FRYE. Has the bill been read?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It has not; not this bill.

Mr. FRYE. Is it seriously objected to the other bill, and I certainly would like to know, before the question of taking it up is voted on, what the bill is. I ask that it may be read.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill will be read.

Mr. PLATT. I have no objection to the reading of the bill. I simply want to say that when a similar motion was made a few days ago and I asked if it was in order to have the bill read, it was told that it was not in order.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill will be read.

Mr. HOAR. I ask unanimous consent to make a statement. The question is not debatable, I know.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It is not debatable.

Mr. HOAR. But I hope the Senate will pardon me for saying a word.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Massachusetts will be heard unless there be objection made.

Mr. HOAR. Mr. President, the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT] and myself were opposed to the bill which was before the Senate some time ago, and which was vetoed by the President. I speak now only for myself, but I believe the Senator from Connecticut would probably concur with me, when I say that we should have preferred a somewhat different way of disposing of the subject from that which is proposed in this bill; but having objected to the other bill, I concur in this, which proposes to submit to the Court of Private Land Claims the question of McGarrahan's land title, with a right to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States as in other cases, and requires the reporting to Congress of all the facts if there should be any further claim for an appropriation of money.

I shall not undertake until the bill is up to go into the reasons which induced me to say that I think, on the whole, it is under the circumstances a reasonable disposition of the question and just to the Government. Although I should have a little preferred the other mode of sending it to the Court of Claims under the Bowman act, to report all the facts, I propose to support this bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Maine [Mr. FRYE] asks for the reading of the bill. It will be read.

The Secretary read the bill as proposed to be amended by the Committee on Judiciary, as follows:

Be it enacted, That the claim, petition, and papers or copies thereof relating to or touching the grant made by Manuel Micheltorena, governor of Upper California, to Vicente P. Gomez, in the year 1847, of the Rancho Panoche Grande tract of land in the State of California, be, and the same are hereby, referred to the Court of Private Land Claims, established by an act of Congress approved March 3, 1891, and said court is hereby vested with the powers and jurisdiction to hear and determine and adjudge the validity of said grant, and to render final judgment thereon, and in determining the same shall for the purposes of this act hold such sessions as may be necessary, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, and shall exercise the powers and jurisdiction in that were possessed by the former United States district court for the Southern district of California, which had powers and jurisdiction to hear and determine the appeal from the Board of Land Commissioners created under the act of March 3, 1851, entitled "An act to ascertain and settle private land claims in the State of California," and the acts amendatory thereof, in the claim of said Vicente P. Gomez to the said tract of land known as the Rancho Panoche Grande, and that William McGarrahan, claiming to have acquired by subsequent purchase, for a valuable consideration, the title of said Vicente P. Gomez to said tract of land, and as successors to the rights of said Vicente P. Gomez, may at any time within six months from the passage of this act, file his petition in said court, setting up therein the said grant and his said title thereto, and the said court shall also have jurisdiction to adjudge in said proceeding, as to the validity of said claim of said McGarrahan in and to said grant; and the said McGarrahan or his legal representatives, may prosecute said petition and cause against the United States in that court, and it shall be the duty of the custodian of the records and papers in said cause before said Board of Land Commissioners to transmit them to the clerk of said court immediately upon the passage of this act, and such proceedings shall be had on said petition in the said court as might have been had in said district court between the said Vicente P. Gomez and the United States, irrespective of any subsequent proceedings that may have been had in said district court or in any court of record of the United States.

SEC. 2. That upon the trial of questions or issues arising on the hearing of said petition herein provided for the said court shall receive as evidence on the part of the petitioner or the United States the original expediente presented by the said Gomez to the said Governor Manuel Micheltorena, and the original or map or accompanying same, or a copy thereof, the depositions and other evidence produced before said Board of Land Commissioners, or copies thereof, and all depositions, proofs, testimony, or affidavits taken before any court or district court of the United States in the State of California, or the clerks of such courts, or any commissioner appointed by said courts, or before any notary public, or before any committee of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, or of any independent department of any department of the Government of the United States, or of any United States marshal, or any other official, or any written testimony or depositions or copies thereof, concerning said record touching said grant from said Governor Manuel Micheltorena to said Vicente P. Gomez, or any patent or record of a purchase of portion of said lands in any of the departments of the Government, filed by the President of the United States or by his private secretary authorized to grant patents, or of any record of a patent having been granted by the President of the United States, retro, and any other matter or evidence which in the judgment of the court may tend to throw light upon the case.

SEC. 3. That if said court shall find and adjudge that there was a valid grant from said Governor Manuel Micheltorena to said Vicente P. Gomez, which was made before and by virtue of the treaty between the said Government of the United States and that of Mexico, commonly known as the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, and the laws of Congress to give effect to the same, and the said McGarrahan is now the owner thereof in law or equity, the court shall direct, retro, and adjudge, and allow to the Secretary of the Interior, who shall thereupon file and send the record to said William McGarrahan as the assignee of said Vicente P. Gomez, or his heirs or assigns, for the land therein granted within the above boundaries, and that the survey made by the United States Survey General for the State of California and approved by the Secretary of the Interior on the 14th day of September, 1892, which survey was approved by the Secretary of the Interior on December 1, 1892, and now on file in the General Land Office, shall be considered as forming part of the land granted to said McGarrahan. Provided, That in the event of judgment of said court in favor of said William McGarrahan or his heirs or legal representatives, as assigns or put in to be issued under authority of the findings and judgment said court shall take from the present holders any portion of said tract of land so claimed which has been heretofore disposed of by the United States. And it is hereby made the duty of the Secretary of the Interior, on receipt of any report made to him by said court in favor of said McGarrahan or his heirs or assigns, to cause such matters as may seem to him the most correct and expeditious what tracts of land have been conveyed or disposed of by the Government to other persons than the said William McGarrahan, and for the residue of said land shall issue a patent to the said William McGarrahan, as heretofore provided.

SEC. 4. That if the said court shall find and adjudge in favor of the said William McGarrahan, or his heirs or assigns, that the court shall proceed to find the value of such portion of land embraced within the boundaries of the said grant as may have been heretofore disposed of by the United States within the aforesaid boundaries, less the improvements, if any, made on said land. And if the said court shall not find and adjudge that the said William McGarrahan is the assignee of Vicente P. Gomez or is entitled to the minerals or other valuable substances on, in, or under said lands, the said court shall proceed to ascertain the value of such minerals or other valuable substances which may have been extracted from said lands by any person, persons, or corporations other than the said William McGarrahan, less the costs of min-

In the first place, I shall object to this private land court. Its

Mr. President, this bill has been very thoroughly handled by the parties in the past and those who expect to receive large compensation for past services if the decision shall be ultimately in favor of Mr. McGarrahan. My own impression is that Gomez never had any title whatever to the land, and that the map which is offered here in evidence is one which was made by the claimant or other parties and was never presented to the Mexican government of California.

I shall not, however, take the time to go through the several amendments which I have here noted, but shall seek some proper occasion whenever the question may come up to offer them.

Mr. FELTON. Mr. President, I did not hear my name when the roll was called, or I should have voted with pleasure for the taking up of this bill.

I have known more or less of this question for forty years. I know the public opinion in regard to it upon the Pacific coast, and I believe that public opinion there wrong. I had really no knowledge, and hence had no good reason for its foundation—possibly formed from what has been said and disseminated through the newspapers in the last few years. They may have been misinformed as to the facts. I have taken a great deal of pains to look into this matter during this Congress, and I have no question in my own mind but that there are great equities due the gentleman for whom this bill has been introduced. I did not vote for the former bill in his behalf, because I thought it went too far; but I should like to have the privilege of voting for this bill when amended, and I shall do so with great pleasure, believing that I am simply doing but justice to an honest man, and one who has to a great extent suffered a wrong.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. President, this bill, as I understand it, is equivalent to the confirmation of McGarrahan's title. It provides for the introduction in evidence on the part of the claimant of all the ex parte affidavits which have been collected for the last forty years, and makes them evidence.

It assumes that there is an original grant, and provides that that grant may be put in evidence. It also provides that copies of all these documents may be put in evidence, thereby taking away from the court all power to judge of their genuineness. It also provides for confirming a survey which has been repeatedly held by the courts to be fraudulent, a survey extending some 20 miles, if I recollect correctly, or as far as the original claim will go.

The Senate ought to understand what they are doing in this matter. There were a great many large claims in California when we acquired that country, but they were generally in an inchoate state; they had not gone through all the forms which were required to make a perfect title as a general thing. They had been initiated; they had equities, and they covered vast tracts of land, some of them 300,000 or 400,000 acres; but the great majority were limited to about 48,000 acres under a later law of the Mexican Government.

It took nearly forty years to settle these claims. In the meantime great confusion existed in California. There were riots and bloodshed and litigation during all that period. The final result was to patent about 8,000 acres of this land. The difficulties concerning land there have cost an immense amount of money and time and kept back the settlement of the country. A large number of claims were rejected, but some of them undoubtedly had validity. A large number of claims have been confirmed, the titles to which have since been ascertained to be defective.

Since the titles were settled the country has become thickly populated and for many years property has been changing hands in California on the strength of the settlement. To open any one of these cases for a rehearing would be the opening of a Pandora's box by the establishing of such a precedent. Congress has for many years set its face against opening any one of these claims. There were hundreds of them here, which the courts had decided adversely, asking for a rehearing. They were examined from year to year by the Committee on Private Land Claims, and finally Congress set its face against them all.

This claim was of a very doubtful order. When it came up for confirmation in the district court, the district attorney, having one-half interest in the claim, made no opposition to the confirmation. An order for a decree was entered, but the decree was not entered. After five years from the entering of the final decree, the law makes it the duty of the Secretary of the Interior to issue a patent. An application after the lapse of five years from the order for a decree was made for a patent, and the patent was made out. The Attorney-General then took an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. A very spirited contest was made there on the part of the claimant against this decree, but the Supreme Court decided adversely to him on the ground that the time had elapsed.

The Court, after having considered the whole case, held that the time for appealing commenced to run from the entry of the decree, and not from the order providing for the entry. They held that parties could not know exactly what the decree would be until it was entered, and that the law made the time run from the entry of the final decree. The court entertained jurisdiction, and elaborately reviewed the case. They held that the whole proceedings were fraudulent. It is a very severe opinion upon the whole case. Efforts were made in the court to show that the patent made out a final title, but the court held otherwise. Much collateral litigation grew up, and the subject has been before committees of Congress and reported in various ways for the last thirty years.

In view of the fact that many good men have come to believe that Mr. McGarrahan was an injured man, and on account of the favorable things which have been done and said in his behalf by good and honest men, I have said to him and to his friends that I was willing to make an exception in this case and allow him to have a hearing de novo upon the whole question before any court of competent jurisdiction in the United States, and I care not what court that may be. I will do for him what Congress has refused to do for any other claimant after the court had finally set a case aside, allow the case to be reopened, and the court to have original jurisdiction of the entire matter; but I am not, in view of the history of this case, as I understand it, legislating to make that evidence which is not evidence at all, and can not under any circumstances be evidence.

I am not willing to pass any law which assumes that there was a grant. I am not willing to confirm a disputed survey; but I am willing, if the bill can be so changed as to strip it of all the mandatory provisions which tell the court how it shall act upon the equities of this man, if the bill can be put in that condition, and if he has been an injured man, I am willing he shall have another day in court, but I do not wish to exclude the United States from its day in court also.

The second section provides:

That upon the trial of questions or issues arising on the hearing of said petition when approved by the said court shall receive as evidence on the part of the petitioner or the United States the original expediente presented by the said claimant to the said Governor Manuel Miñorera.

The bill then goes on and enumerates all the matter which shall be received in evidence or copies thereof.

I am willing that Mr. McGarrahan shall present these matters to the court, but I want it to be so qualified that the court shall judge of their validity and their relevancy. I do not want to preclude the court in that way.

As to the survey, I wish to allow that to be adjudged of by the court also. Let a new survey be made, and then let the court pass upon it. Let us put around this bill the safeguards which I think this bill does not furnish.

Mr. HOAR. Will the Senator draw such an amendment as he suggests and propose it?

Mr. STEWART. I should do so if I had time. I might draw an amendment which I think would cover the difficulty I suggest.

But this bill does much more than is ordinarily done in giving an applicant a rehearing, because it provides that there shall be an accounting with the United States, and no one knows the extent of the obligation which that may involve.

It may be ten or fifteen million dollars of money to cover the amount which has been taken out of the land in dispute, taken out of land which is held to be public land and been patented to other parties. It is on mountain tops; it is not valley land, and it is not pasture land, which the original grant contemplated. It has been contended, and it has been so held by the courts, that the survey which was made was an ex parte survey, and is far distant from the borns, from the point where the grant is supposed to have been made.

Certainly the survey and certainly the whole case should be opened if it is to be partly opened. Congress should not tie the hands of the court so that equal justice may not be meted out to the United States and this claimant. If this exception is made and the door is opened for this man, we shall have other applicants here. It will be the beginning of a very bad precedent; but if it is to be done, let it be done so that there shall be fair play on all sides.

I agree with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL] that in order to meet the counsel who will be employed on the other side, where there are millions at stake and where there will be required expert counsel familiar with these laws who will have to master this case and master the Spanish law, which will take a year or so of labor, and besides sending for witnesses, procuring depositions, etc., if the United States is to be protected, $200,000 would be a very small sum in a contest like this. In great contests like this the costs are much more than in ordinary cases. Here are many millions involved; we do not know how many, and consequently I say let it be open to the United States and to the claimant equally and let no evidence be introduced by Congress which the court may not accept as valid.

I am perfectly willing that the usual provisions shall be made concerning persons who are dead or persons who can not be reached and who have made depositions: that their depositions shall be used the same as if they were personally present. I am willing to make all such provisions as those; but the bill is not drawn on that theory. It is drawn on the theory of making everything evidence. Under those circumstances I can not vote for it, although I should like to accommodate the gentlemen who take a deep interest in the passage of this bill. I think, however, it is not so guarded that it is safe to pass it in the shape it now stands.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. President, the Senator from California [Mr. FELTON] remarked a few minutes ago that this claimant, the person intended to be benefited by the bill, is an honest man. If we are to judge from the extent of this legislation, he must be more honest than the great mass of his fellow-citizens, because much more is done for him than has ever been done or attempted to be done for any other citizen of the United States to the extent of my knowledge.

I know nothing of the original merits of this controversy. I have listened with great interest to the discussions, and I have endeavored to keep the current of facts within my memory. This seems to be a claim which has been repudiated by the courts, a claim which has been adjudged to be valueless and baseless.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The hour of 1 o'clock having arrived, it is the duty of the Chair to lay before the Senate the first special order, there being no unfinished business. It will be reported by its title.

The CHIEF CLERK. A bill (S. 2870) to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Cherokee Nation of Indians, of the Indian Territory, to make appropriation for carrying out the same, and for other purposes.

Mr. TELLER. Is that the regular order?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It is the regular order, being the first special order.

Mr. PLATT. That bill has passed the Senate. I do not know why it is retained upon the Calendar.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It appears to be the first special order on the Calendar.

Mr. PLATT. It has passed the Senate.

HUDSON RIVER BRIDGE.

Mr. HILL. In pursuance of the notice which I gave last evening, I move to take up the New York and New Jersey bridge bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from New York moves that the Senate proceed to the consideration of a bill the title of which will be reported.

The CHIEF CLERK. A bill (S. 2626) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Companies to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York city and the State of New Jersey.

Mr. TELLER. I suppose if that bill is taken up it will displace the present business.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. It will.

Mr. HOAR. I should like to make one observation for the consideration of the Senate and of the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER].

The bill which has just been under discussion has been reported from the Committee on the Judiciary, and the Senators who are opposed to it, one after another, have taken the floor to express their objections. I suggest that, perhaps, it would be more agreeable to them, more agreeable to the Senate, and more in the ordinary way of procedure if the reasons which have induced the committee to report the bill might in some way first be stated in the debate. I do not wish to thrust myself forward unnecessarily, but I should rather like to have that opportunity given to some member of the committee.

Mr. PALMER. I have no desire to control the order of this discussion.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair feels that it is his duty to call attention to the fact that motions to proceed to a special order of business are not debatable. The Chair does so for the reason that the time of the Senate for the transaction of business is exceedingly short.

Mr. HOAR. I was not speaking on that question, but of the course of debate on the McGarrahan bill.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. On the motion which has been made by the Senator from New York [Mr. HILL] that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill to which he has referred debate can only proceed by unanimous consent.

Mr. TELLER. I rise to an inquiry. Is it in order for the Senator from New York to make his motion now, pending the consideration of the bill which was taken up by a vote of the Senate?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill referred to by the Senator from Colorado ceased to be the pending business when the hour of 1 o'clock arrived, and I have no objection to the Senator from New York making his motion.

Mr. PLATT. The bill is not a special order, and it is not in order for the Senator from New York to make his motion.

Mr. PALMER. The bill is not a special order, and it is not in order for the Senator from New York to make his motion. The bill, which is the McGarrahan bill, was passed by the Senate, and it is not in order for the Senator from New York to make his motion.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair feels that it is his duty to call attention to the fact that motions to proceed to a special order of business are not debatable.

The CHIEF CLERK. A bill (S. 2626) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Companies to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York city and the State of New Jersey.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair feels that it is his duty to call attention to the fact that motions to proceed to a special order of business are not debatable.

The CHIEF CLERK. A bill (S. 2626) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Companies to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York city and the State of New Jersey.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair feels that it is his duty to call attention to the fact that motions to proceed to a special order of business are not debatable.

Mr. TELLER. I ask permission to report the McGarrahan bill in a few minutes.

Mr. HILL. How much time do you wish?

Mr. TELLER. I do not know, but I should think not a great deal.

Mr. HILL. I cannot yield and I do not wish to have a conversation in regard to that matter.

Mr. TELLER. It is possible that at 1 o'clock he would have to yield.

Mr. HILL. The Senator moves for the consideration of his bill, but of course the two bills cannot be taken up together.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair feels that it is his duty to call attention to the fact that motions to proceed to a special order of business are not debatable.

Mr. WOLCOTT. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the roll was called.

Mr. CAMERON, when his name was called, with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. RANSOM].

Mr. PAULKNER, when his name was called, with the senior Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. WILSON].

Mr. SANDERS, when his name was called, for my pair with the Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. WILSON].

Mr. FELTON, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. HARRIS, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. QUAY, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. HENRY, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. KYLE, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. RANSOM, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. WARREN, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. WILSON, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

The roll call was completed, and the yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. WHITE, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. COKE, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. HIGGINS, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. DENON, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

Mr. GRAY, when his name was called, to the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. He is not recorded.

Mr. CULLOM. I am paired with that Senator, and therefore withhold my vote.

Mr. GALLINGER (after having voted in the negative). I have a general pair with the Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS]. I understand he has not voted on this question.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS] is not recorded.

Mr. GALLINGER. I withdraw my vote.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from New Hampshire withdraws his vote.

Mr. PERKINS (after having voted in the affirmative). Has the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. CHANDLER] voted?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. He is not recorded.

Mr. PERKINS. I desire to withdraw my vote, then. I am paired with the Senator from New Hampshire [Mr. CHANDLER] upon that vote.

Mr. DUBOIS (after voting in the negative). Has the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMPEN] voted?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. He is not recorded.

Mr. DUBOIS. I withdraw my vote. I agreed to pair with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMPEN] on this vote.

Mr. WHITE. I announced my pair with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. HIGGINS]. I will transfer that pair to the Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCO], who is absent, and vote "yea."

Mr. FRYE. The Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCO] is paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN].

Mr. BLACKBURN. Has that pair been announced?

Mr. FRYE. It has not been announced, but I know the fact.

Mr. WHITE. I withdraw my vote.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The vote is withdrawn.

Mr. GEORGE. I have a general pair with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DELPH]. I make that announcement for the day.

The result was announced—yeas 26, nays 24; as follows:

YEAS—26.

So the motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The bill (S. 2626) to authorize the New York and New Jersey Bridge Companies to construct and maintain a bridge across the Hudson River between New York City and the State of New Jersey is before the Senate as in Committee of the Whole and will be read.

Mr. TELLER. I give notice that to-morrow morning, in the morning hour after the routine business, I shall again call up the McCarahan bill.

Mr. CULLOM. I ask that the bill just taken a momentary lay aside and that the Post Office appropriation bill be proceeded with.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Illinois asks the unanimous consent of the Senate that the pending measure be temporarily laid aside and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill H. R. 1021 making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

Announced from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had disagreed to the amendments of the Senate to the bill H. R. 1021 making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894; asked a conference with the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon and had appointed Mr. HAYES, Mr. FORMAN, and Mr. FENSTERMAKER managers at the conference on the part of the House.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the enrolled bill (S. 1307) to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia lying outside of cities, and it was thereupon signed by the President pro tempore.

MEMORIAL ADDRESSES ON THE LATE REPRESENTATIVE CRAIG.

Mr. CAMERON. I desire to announce that to-morrow just before the close of the afternoon session I shall ask the Senate to consider resolutions relative to the death of my colleague in the House of Representatives, Hon. Alexander K. Craig.

SENATOR FROM IDAHO.

Mr. TELLER. I desire to call up a privileged matter. Some time since there was some controversy as to the seat of the junior Senator [Mr. DUBOIS]. When the resolution was adopted declaring him entitled to retain his seat there was a motion made to reconsider. I desire to call up the motion to reconsider as well as the motion to reconsider the vote by which Mr. Clagett was declared not entitled to a seat in this body and have them both disposed of. I understand there is no desire to debate it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HARRIS in the chair). The Secretary will read the resolutions.

The Secretary read the resolutions agreed to March 2, 1892, as follows:

Resolved, That Fred T. Dubois is entitled to retain the seat he now holds as Senator from the State of Idaho for the full term commencing March 1, 1892.

Resolved, That William H. Clagett is not entitled to be admitted to a seat in the Senate from the State of Idaho for the term commencing March 1, 1892.

Mr. GORMAN. The Senator from Alabama [Mr. MORGAN], who has left the country on a public mission, brought my attention specially to the case before he left, he having made the motion to reconsider. A term examination, while I understand he did not change his opinion as to the law, under the circumstances and in view of the vote of the Senate, which was very pronounced in the matter, he authorized me to say that whatever action shall be taken will be agreeable to him. I feel that I am perfectly authorized to say there is no objection to the suggestion now made by the Senator from Colorado.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the motion to reconsider the vote by which the resolutions were agreed to.

The motion to reconsider was not agreed to.

Mr. TELLER. The record will show that the Senate rejected the motion to reconsider both resolutions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The record will so show.

AGRICULTURAL APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. CULLOM. The agricultural appropriation bill has just come from the other House. I ask that it be laid before the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the action of the House of Representatives disagreeing to the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 1021) making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and asked a conference with the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon.

Mr. CULLOM. I move that the Senate insist upon its amendments and agree to the conference asked by the House of Representatives.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Presiding Officer was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. ALDRICH, Mr. CULLOM, and Mr. CLAY were appointed.

POST-OFFICE APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. CULLOM. Now I ask that the Post Office appropriation bill be proceeded with.

The Senate, as a Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill H. R. 1021 making appropriations for the service of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, which had been reported from the Committee on Appropriations with amendments.

Mr. CULLOM. I ask that the formal reading of the bill be dispensed with, and that the amendments of the committee be reported upon as they are reached.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Illinois asks that the formal reading of the bill be dispensed with and that the bill be read for action upon the amendments of the committee in their order. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. The reading of the bill will proceed.

The Chief Clerk proceeded to read the bill. The first amendment of the Committee on Appropriations was, under the heading of "Office of the First Assistant Postmaster-General," on page 2, line 5, after the word dollars to add:

And of this sum not exceeding $50,000 may be expended for the rental of cancelling machines.

So read:

For compensation to clerks in post-offices, $8,860,000, and of this sum not exceeding $50,000 may be expended for the rental of cancelling machines.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Telegram.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

Hon. EUGENE HALE:

By the letter sent you yesterday aggregating the deficiencies needed, the amount asked for for Territorial courts, Utah, was mistakenly made $40,000.

By reference to my letter to the President of the Senate February 11 last, we asked for $35,000 in this matter. That is the correct amount desired.

W. R. H. MILLER.

Attorney-General.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Maine.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HALE. On page 52, after line 11, I move to insert:

To pay for a clerk for the conference of the minority of the Senate, which is hereby authorized to commence March 4, 1893, $2,210.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HALE. On page 48, after line 25, I move to insert:

For 1876, $41.

For 1872, $42.50.

For 1875, $709.

For 1871, $11.50.

For 1873, $40.

For 1870, $12.50.

Mr. COCKRELL. What items are those?

Mr. HALE. Those are the estimates sent in from the Department to wind up the old deficiencies.

Mr. COCKRELL. For what purpose; for what offices?

Mr. HALE. For the Department of Justice.

Mr. COCKRELL. In his own office?

Mr. HALE. In the office of the Attorney-General.

Mr. COCKRELL. That office must be mighty sleepy to be resur-recting an account over 22 years old.

Mr. HALE. I think the Senator, from his experience on the committee, will recall the fact that such old accounts are sometimes years behind in coming in, and this is the final clearing up. The amounts are very small. The items do not amount to more than $300 or $400 in all.

Mr. COCKRELL. Any Attorney-General who does not have them paid for so long ought to pay them out of his own pocket.

Mr. HALE. The present Attorney-General is not responsible for it. They are away back of his time.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HALE. On page 17, after line 11, I move to insert:

To enable the Secretary of the Treasury to pay William A. Richardson when the work shall have been completed, for preparing and editing a Supplement to the Revised Statutes, under the act approved February 27, 1891, $2,000.

Mr. COCKRELL. That is in accordance with the law just passed authorizing it?

Mr. HALE. Yes.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HALE. I move on page 21, after line 2, to insert:

To enable the coroner of the District of Columbia to employ an assistant for the current year and through the next fiscal year, $600.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. HALE. On page 58, in line 9, after the word "seventy-six," I move to insert the words:

Except for judgment in favor of John J. Allen named therein.

I have received a note from the Attorney-General saying that on investigation this account ought not to be included.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the amendment be read in connection with the paragraph.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

JUDGMENTS, UNITED STATES COURTS.

For payment of the final judgments and decrees, including costs of suits which have been rendered under the provisions of the act of March 3, 1857, entitled "An act to provide for the bringing of suits against the Government of the United States," certified to Congress at its present session by the Attorney-General in House Ex. Doc. No. 176, except for judgment in favor of John J. Allen, named therein, $7,344.09.

Mr. HALE. The Attorney-General, in a letter, states that this is a case where an appeal ought to be entered so that the Government may be protected.

Mr. COCKRELL. That is right; but ought not the usual clause to go in that no payment shall be made until the time for an appeal has elapsed?

Mr. HALE. There is a general provision at the end of the clause.

Mr. COCKRELL. There is no such provision for this particular clause. This applies to judgments of the United States courts, and I think the clause ought to be inserted here as well as at other places. We put it in under the head of "Court of Claims," but we have not put it to apply to these judgments of the United States courts.

Mr. HALE. I have no objection to that clause going in. If the Senator moves that amendment I have no objection to it.

Mr. COCKRELL. I will move it. Let the clerks state the usual form.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment of the Senator from Maine will be considered as agreed to, if there be no objection.

It is agreed to.

The Chief Clerk will report the amendment of the Senator from Missouri.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

Mr. HALE. On page 21, after line 2, to insert:

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. SQUIRE. On page 19, after line 8, I move to insert:

To be paid to Mrs. Sarah O. Hanna, widow of Baylies W. Hanna, deceased late minister resident and consul-general, and also consul, from July 1, 1877, until his death, and until a plenipotentiary to the Argentine Republic, for expenses and loss in bringing said Hanna from Buenos Ayres to the United States after he was attacked by a fatal disease while on his post and in the discharge of his official duties, which said attack rendered him entirely helpless and from which he died latter in a living home $5,375.

This is to complete a building that is nearly completed, the only public building in the State of Washington, and the money is needed to complete the approaches.

Mr. HALE. Is this within the limit fixed for the building?

Mr. SQUIRE. This is in accordance with the estimates.

The amendment was reported favorably from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds and referred to the Committee on Appropriations for their approval.

Mr. HALE. The one test question is whether it increases the limit upon the building. If it does, of course it is subject to a point of order and I must make it. If it does not, then the amendment can go through.

Mr. SQUIRE. I can not answer the question literally. I know it came from the architect on public buildings and grounds with his approval and that this sum is needed to complete the building, which is otherwise useless to the Government. The building is completed with the exception of the approaches. It seems to be folly to delay the completion of the building so that the Government can have the benefit of it. It was reported favorably from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds as an amendment to the present bill. I hope the Senator from Maine will permit it to pass, as it is for the only public building we have in the State.

Mr. HALE. I will let it go, Mr. President.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. VOORHEES. On page 3, at the end of line 1, I move to insert:

To be paid to Mrs. Sarah O. Hanna, widow of Baylies W. Hanna, deceased late minister resident and consul-general, and also consul, from July 1, 1877, until his death, and until a plenipotentiary to the Argentine Republic, for expenses and loss in bringing said Hanna from Buenos Ayres to the United States after he was attacked by a fatal disease while on his post and in the discharge of his official duties, which said attack rendered him entirely helpless and from which he died latter in a living home $5,375.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PADDOCK. On page 24, after line 15, I move to insert:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay to George H. Swift the sum of $730, being the amount due him for material furnished and work done by him by an order from the military authorities at Fort Pickens, Utah, in 1889.

Mr. HALE. Is that reported from the committee?

Mr. PADDOCK. It is approved by the Quartermaster-General, recommended for payment by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury, and approved by the Committee on Military Affairs of the Senate.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PETTIGREW. On page 69, after line 21, I move to insert:

For services of Joseph Schwartz of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., as architect in drawing the plans for the Indian industrial school at Flandreau, S. Dak., $250.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PASCO. On page 22, line 17, I move to insert:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized to settle the account stated between the United States and the State of Florida under the authority of section 5 of the act approved March 2, 1889, entitled "An act making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, and for other purposes," and in making such settlement he is hereby authorized to ascertain what amount is due by the State to the day of settlement, on account of principal and interest upon the loan of the State, in which a portion of the Indian trust fund have to be paid, and also what is found to be due the State to the same date for moneys expended by her during the Indian hostilities of 1810 and 1814 and 1837, and to the principal and interest on the coupon, the note to the governor of said State upon the settlement of them, and in making the settlement the Secretary is directed to follow the statement of the account made under the authority of said act, and to report the same to the Secretary of the Treasury, dated December 16, 1890, published as Executive Document No. 68, House of Representatives, Fifty-first Congress, and to report the same made of settlement upon the foot of page, on said document, containing the computation of interest upon the principal and said sum of the debt of settlement. And such sum of money is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated as is necessary to make such settlement.

Mr. SHERMAN. I think the amount of this claim is very large, and it being mainly for interest, as it is subject to a point of order, the point ought to be made. The amount is so large, amounting to more than half a million dollars, that it ought to be reported in the regular way and acted upon separately. It is subject to a point of order and I will make it.

Mr. PASCO. Before the point of order is considered by the Chair I should like to state that when the claim came up four years ago the point of order was raised and it was then decided by the Chair that the amendment was in order. At that time it went on the deficiency appropriation bill.

Mr. SHERMAN. Then it may have been reported from a committee, but as a matter of course that decision on the point of order does not continue.

Mr. PASCO. It is now an act of the Senate, because a bill identical with the proposed amendment has already been passed at the present session. We passed a Senate bill and then it became an act of the Senate.

Mr. SHERMAN. Then I ask the decision of the Chair upon the point of order. I think it has not been reported by a committee at the present session, and it has not been referred to the Committee on Appropriations, I understand.

Mr. PASCO. It has been referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. HALE. But not reported by a committee.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment shows upon its face that it was introduced by the Senator from Florida and referred to the Committee on Appropriations, but not reported by a committee to the Senate.

Mr. SHERMAN. It was not reported by a committee to the Senate?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment does not show upon its face that it was so reported.

Mr. SHERMAN. It is subject to a point of order, then.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Senator raise the question of order?

Mr. SHERMAN. I do.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair sustains it.

Mr. PASCO. I should like to be heard before the point of order is sustained.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The point of order is not debatable.

Mr. PASCO. I know it is not, but I should like to be heard by the unanimous consent of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Florida asks the unanimous consent of the Senate to be heard on this question. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and the Senator from Florida will proceed.

Mr. PASCO. In the Fifth Congress this matter was put upon the deficiency appropriation bill. The amendment was proposed in the Senate. I have not the words of the amendment as originally proposed in the Senate. It passed the Senate. A point of order was raised upon it and the point of order was overruled by the Chair. It went into the deficiency bill, directing an investigation by the Secretary of the Treasury and directing the payment of the amount after it was ascertained by the Secretary. It then went to a conference and the matter was modified in conference so as to make out the appropriating feature, and as it became a law it read as follows:

That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to examine the claim of the State of Florida reported in the letter of the Secretary of War dated May 22, 1882, and under previous act of Congress and to make a report upon the same to the next regular session of Congress, and in connection therewith to report the amount of all claims in favor of the General Government against the State of Florida, and in said report to state the account between the General Government and the State of Florida.

That was in the deficiency bill as it finally passed. The Treasury Department made a report, a copy of which I have here, and based upon that a point of bill was subsequently introduced in the last Congress and in the present one. It passed the Senate during the present Congress and it is now an act of the Senate. So upon the point made by the Senator from Ohio, it did not need a reference to the Committee on Claims, because it was an act of the Senate, and it comes under that clause of the rule.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the Chair understand the Senator to state that this appropriation is to meet a bill or resolution that has passed the Senate at the present session?

Mr. PASCO. The examination was made by the Treasury Department under a law which passed Congress at a former session and not at the present one. The report came back from the Treasury Department stating the account, and this amendment is for the purpose of carrying out that finding of the Treasury Department. It does not seem to me to be subject to the point of order upon that ground. A bill carrying out the report of the Secretary of the Treasury has passed the Senate at the present session and is now pending in the House of Representatives.

It does not seem to me that the amendment is subject to a point of order. I think an examination of the claim upon its merits will fully satisfy the Senator from Ohio that this is a just claim. It has been so found by the War Department. It has been so found by the Treasury Department. It has been so found by both Houses of Congress at different sessions. It is only in this way that this debt can be paid to the State of Florida at the present session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will ask the Senator from Florida if this appropriation is estimated for in the Book of Estimates?

Mr. PASCO. It is not in the Book of Estimates, but it is in the letter from the Treasury Department, a copy of which I showed to the Senator from Ohio. It comes from the Treasury Department as the language of the amendment shows. The Treasury Department settled the account and has made its report to Congress in the form of a letter. The Senate has acted upon that report in a separate bill, which was passed some months ago.

Mr. SHERMAN. As it is perfectly clear that the act of Congress passed several years ago to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to examine and report upon this claim would not be a sufficient basis unless Congress, during the present session, shall have by some act or resolution affirmed the correctness of the account of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. PASCO. The Senate has done so.

Mr. HALE. Not by an act.

Mr. GORDON. I did not intend to address the Senate again. I only desired to ask a question.

Mr. PASCO: I do not want to add to the fact, which I have already stated, in this matter heretofore with reference to the fact that there is no recommendation made by the Board.

proportion to this particular line or to any other line; that the bill as it came from the House of Representatives contained this item recommending such expenditure without any estimate from the Department, with no reasons stated for such expenditure on this line of railroad, and without any foundation whatever for such legislation.

As the bill went from the Senate, it appropriated a sum of money to be expended for the benefit of the postal service and left the discretion entirely where it should rest, with the Postmaster-General.

I believe, Mr. President, that in a matter of such importance as this and under the circumstances attending this amendment, we should be justified in voting against the confirmation of the report of the conference committee.

Mr. CALL. Mr. President, the question presented in this case is whether a subsidy shall be given to the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company to Atlanta and New Orleans. There is no reason why they should attempt to disguise this proposition. The general law of the land provides for the manner of carrying the mails all over the United States a system of payments according to weight and bulk. This provision of the appropriation bill has been intended to give the Postmaster-General the right to give a special facility anywhere in the United States. It was originally located for a line—and that idea has been maintained—from Springfield in Massachusetts on south along the Coast Line to the State of Florida and the West Indies. Therefore, whatever contention should be made upon this proposition should be simply whether special facilities beyond those of the other parts of the United States should be given to Georgia and Alabama and Louisiana and Texas apart from the general system, or whether there should be a foreign mail maintained along the most expedient routes.

That is the whole question. The House provision to which the Senate conferees consented is nothing but an appropriation, and the arguments here for a large amount of money as a subsidy to a particular railroad company, to a particular route, when there is no evidence that special facilities are needed for that route. There is no evidence that the existing practice, which the Senator from Maryland [Mr. GORMAN] very properly referred to as the existing law, which says that the whole mail compensation shall be according to weight and bulk for all the mail service of the United States, there is no evidence that that is not adequate, and more than adequate, to the reasonable compensation of these companies. In fact they are receiving too much. Too large an amount of the people's money is being taken from them in compensation for this mail service.

But there are lines, as the Senator from New Jersey [Mr. McPHERSON] has properly said, which maintain the foreign commerce and intercourse of the United States with the West India Islands and Central America, and to those lines a bounty might well be paid.

This is neither more nor less than a proposition of a subsidy of $196,000 to the Richmond and Danville road. As such I hope the Senate will not concur in it. It had better be stricken out of the bill altogether, and I trust we shall have a separate vote upon this proposition.

Mr. CULLOM. I only wish to say a word, and then I shall be glad to get a vote upon the report.

In the first place, the Senate Committee on Appropriations did not believe that the provision was necessary in the bill or that any appropriation for this purpose should be made. The impression, however, in the Senate seemed to favor the appropriation for some line to the South. On my own motion an amendment was placed in the bill by the Senate, which left the discretion entirely in the Postmaster-General as to the route or routes or line or lines which should be adopted. As I state awhile ago, however, when the conferees got together we found that we could not agree unless we receded from our provision.

The bill carries something over $8,000,000 for Post-office purposes. The Senate conferees did not believe that we could trifle on the subject and delay it very much by disagreements without endangering the passage of the bill. Therefore, so far as I was concerned, as one of the conferees, while I did not believe in the House provision, I agreed to it for the purpose of securing the great object of the passage of the Post-office appropriation bill before this Congress should expire.

There is much, however, in what Senators say in behalf of the line which is specified in the bill, and there is another suggestion I might make, which was made before when the bill was under consideration in the Senate, which is that the Coast Line has always had this service heretofore, and while they had it they failed apparently to carry out the provisions of the law in giving a fast mail. The result is that there has been confusion on the subject.

Mr. President, I hope that the conference report will be concurred in, because the hours are becoming very brief in which we shall be able to get the appropriation bills passed. I have no sort of assurance that if the Senate should disagree to the conference report, we should get one differing from the present report. Therefore, while the Senate may differ and may feel that the other provision would have been better to have left the question entirely in the discretion of the Postmaster-General, yet it seems to me that under all the circumstances the Senate ought to adopt the report made by the conference committee.

Mr. BLACKBURN. The question is, whether this paragraph must be retained in the bill at all or not. It is the only appropriation of this character therein made. The one line of railroad which is to receive this fund, being the beneficiary of this item in the bill, is the only railroad in the country which receives such assistance from the Government. It is for the Senate to determine whether or not this $196,000 shall be retained in the bill. That is the first question. The second question is, if it is to be retained, which of the two contending roads shall have it?

What is known as the Coast Line road, down the Atlantic coast, has had this appropriation for the last fourteen or sixteen years. The Post-office Department did not favor it, and two years ago refused to make any recommendation or estimate for it; but it was put on by Congress unasked for. This time the Coast Line road declined to ask for it longer, and what is known as the Richmond and Danville system came in, making a request to be substituted for the former route. The Coast Line road seems to have changed its purpose quite recently, and now the two lines are here asking for this appropriation.

It is simply a question, first, as to whether the appropriation shall be made at all; and secondly, if it shall be made, which of these two lines shall have it. It is believed, and I believe, in the light of the interviews that I have had with the Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service and the Postmaster-General, that if no direction shall be given in the bill as to which of the two lines shall receive this appropriation, the Post-office Department will probably accept that as an instruction from Congress to give it to the coast-line road.

Mr. President, the most important thing connected with the consideration of this paragraph of the bill, to my mind, is the fact that the House of Representatives seems to be determined—and I speak as one of the conferees on the part of the Senate with reference to this bill—to adhere to the paragraph which fixes this appropriation upon the Richmond and Danville system as it came to us. I only apprehend that delay and trouble and danger will probably result from the Senate insisting upon its disagreement to that feature of the bill. For one, I shall vote to sustain the provision in the bill as it came to us from the House.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate concur in the report of the committee of conference?

Mr. HAWLEY. Mr. President, the citizens of New England have more or less interest in this matter because of their innumerable business and social connections with the whole series of Atlantic States. I should be glad to see some central line running down through that country like a spinal column of a fish, with innumerable spines branching out from it through that whole region. I myself should prefer to leave it to the Postmaster-General to arrange this matter according to his best knowledge and belief, so as to accommodate the whole people—so that the route or branch of it towards Jacksonville or towards Tampa.

I propose if we had a fortnight before us we should vote against this conference report. For the present I would rather leave the whole question open to the Postmaster-General. But I am going to—I had almost said, without reference to right or wrong—vote to sustain the conference report.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate concur in the conference report? [Putting the question.] The yeas seem to have it.

Mr. PASCO. I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. WILSON, when his name was called, I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. CHAMBERS], and therefore withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DAVIS. I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURNER].

Mr. VILAS. I desire to announce that upon this question I am paired with the Senator from Louisiana [Mr. CAPPERY]. If he were present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

Mr. CAREY. I inquire whether the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. ORR] has voted?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He has not.

Mr. CAREY. Then I withhold my vote.

Mr. MORRILL. Mr. President, I object to the consideration of this bill, as I know it will take up a large amount of time. I ask for the yeas and nays on the motion to proceed to its consideration.

The yeas and nays were ordered; and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. FAULKNER (when his name was called). On the subject of this bill I am paired with the senior Senator from Rhode Island [Mr. ALDRICH].

Mr. WARREN (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON]. I understand he would vote "yea" if present. I shall therefore venture to vote "yea" in his absence.

Mr. WILSON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. COLQUITT]. Not being advised as to how he would vote on this question, I withhold my vote.

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DIXON. I am paired with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL].

The result was announced—yeas 46, nays 8; as follows:

YEAS—46.

Bate,	Dubois,	Jones, Nev.	Shoup,
Berry,	Felton,	Kyle,	Squire,

So the motion was agreed to; and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. TELLER. Mr. President, if I can do so without having this bill displaced, I desire to yield to several Senators who say they have morning business which they desire to present.

Mr. HARRIS. I appeal to the Senator from Colorado and to the Senate to allow me at this time to ask the consideration of Order of Business No. 1388. It is a little House bill of less than half a page in length, and appropriates the immense sum of $246.

Mr. TELLER. I will say to the Senator from Tennessee that I desire first to yield to the Senator from Wisconsin [Mr. VILAS] for a matter that he desires to have considered, and then I will yield to the Senator from Tennessee, if the consideration of his bill will lead to no debate.

Mr. HARRIS. If it leads to debate, I shall not ask the indulgence of the Senator or of the Senate.

Mr. SHERMAN. Before that is done, I desire to give notice to the Senator from Tennessee that I propose to move an order to act upon all House bills in their order, under the five-minute rule, and then undoubtedly his bill and others will pass.

Mr. HARRIS. I beg to state, however, if the Senator will allow me, that this is a House bill with a Senate amendment, and it has to go back to the House. It is, therefore, very important that it be acted upon at the earliest possible moment. That is the only reason why I ask the indulgence which I have asked.

STATUE OF PÈRE MARQUETTE.

Mr. VILAS. By leave of the Senator from Colorado, I present a joint resolution of the Legislature of Wisconsin, asking for concurrence of the Senate at this session in the resolution passed by the House of Representatives giving the consent of Congress to the erection in Statuary Hall of a statue of Père Marquette, the illustrious missionary who explored the West at a time when there was no East and when there was no West, and who has left his bones upon that Western soil.

Mr. President, this resolution is but supplementary to one which was passed some years ago by the Legislature of Wisconsin. The resolution as passed by the House of Representatives was simply in accordance with the request of the people of the State. The present Legislature has reiterated that request. It has been delayed in transmission hither. Therefore it comes at a late day.

I understand that the subject has been considered already by the Committee on the Library, which has the House resolution in custody. I ask that the resolution may be referred to that committee, and I have the hope that there will be an immediate report thereon. If so, I trust the Senate will give unanimous consent to immediate consideration of the House resolution, which will require but one minute of time.

I ask that this resolution be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the resolution was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Joint Resolution.

Whereas, by section 1817 of the Revised Statutes of the United States each of the States is invited to provide and to present to Congress for erection in the old hall of the House of Representatives at Washington marble or bronze statues of one or two of its deceased residents who have been illustrious for their historic renown or their distinguished civic or military services such as the State shall determine to be worthy of this national commemoration; and

Whereas, by chapter 541 of the laws of Wisconsin for the year 1887, it was enacted that Père Marquette be designated by the State of Wisconsin as one of such persons, and the governor was authorized and directed to have placed in the hall of the said House of Representatives a statue of Père Marquette, the faithful missionary whose work among the Indians and explorations within the borders of the State in the early days are recognized all over the civilized world; and

Whereas, to remove a technical objection, the House of Representatives did, on the 8th day of April, 1892, unanimously pass the following resolution, introduced by Mr. MITCHELL of Wisconsin:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the State of Wisconsin be, and is hereby, authorized and granted the privilege of placing in Statuary Hall at the Capitol the statue of Père Marquette, the faithful missionary, whose work among the Indians and explorations within the borders of said State in early days are recognized all over the civilized world; which resolution is still pending before the Senate of the United States: Therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate (the assembly concurring), That our representatives in the United States Senate be, and they are hereby, earnestly requested to secure the passage of said resolution before the close of the present session of Congress, so that the will of the people of Wisconsin, as expressed by law, may be made effective.

Resolved, That the governor be, and is hereby, requested to forward a copy of these resolutions to our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

R. J. MACBRIDE,

President of the Senate pro tempore.

ED. KEOGH,

Speaker of the Assembly.

Mr. VOORHEES. By the kindness of the Senator from Colorado I desire to state that I am authorized by the Committee on the Library to report the joint resolution which has just been referred to by the Senator from Wisconsin, and which has already passed the House. I ask for its immediate consideration.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate by unanimous consent, proceeded to the consideration of joint resolution (H. Res. 107) authorizing the State of Wisconsin to place in Statuary Hall at the Capitol a statue of Père Marquette.

Mr. VOORHEES. Let the joint resolution be reported.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The joint resolution will be reported.

The Secretary read as follows:

Resolved, That the State of Wisconsin be, and is hereby, authorized and granted the privilege of placing in Statuary Hall at the Capitol the statue of Père Marquette, the faithful missionary, whose work among the Indians and explorations within the borders of said State in early days are recognized all over the civilized world.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Is there objection to the present consideration of the joint resolution?

Mr. HOAR. Is this intended to be in lieu of one of the statues provided by the State of Wisconsin, or in addition thereto?

Mr. VILAS. It is one of the two.

Mr. HOAR. The resolution does not so state.

Mr. VILAS. The resolution of the State Legislature is more specific.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the joint resolution.

The joint resolution was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

J. P. RANDOLPH.

Mr. HARRIS. I now renew my request to the Senator from Colorado and to the Senate to be allowed to have considered this little bill, House bill 1231.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Does the Senator from Colorado yield for that purpose?

Mr. TELLER. I yield for that purpose.

By unanimous consent, the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 1231) for the relief of J. P. Randolph, administrator of J. G. Randolph, deceased.

The bill was reported from the Committee on Claims with an amendment, in line 6, after the words "sum of," to strike out "three hundred and ninety-one dollars and seventy-five" and to insert "two hundred and forty-six dollars and seventy," and in line 10, after the word "war," to insert "and to be received in full satisfaction of said claim;" so as to make the bill read:

Be it enacted, etc., That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed and to pay to J. P. Randolph, of Chester County,

Tenn., administrator of J. G. Randolph, deceased, the sum of $29,570, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the same being for subsistence supplies furnished the United States during the late war and to be received in full satisfaction of said claim.

The amendment was agreed to.

The bill was reported to the Senate as amended, and the amendment was concurred in.

The amendment was ordered to be engrossed and the bill to be read a third time.

The bill was read the third time, and passed.

Mr. HARRIS. I move that the Senate ask for a conference with the House on the bill and amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Vice-President was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. PASCO, Mr. MITCHELL, and Mr. DANIEL were appointed.

DUTIES ON FLAX MANUFACTURES.

Mr. HISCOCK. I present a report by direction of the Committee on Finance, which I will withdraw if there shall be any objection to or discussion upon it.

Mr. TELLER. If we are to go on with the consideration of the McGarrahan bill I do not think it is fair to yield to everyone.

Mr. HISCOCK. If there is any discussion I will agree to withdraw the bill I wish to have considered.

Mr. TELLER. I ask the Senator from New York to withdraw it now. Let us go on with the consideration of the McGarrahan bill and dispose of it. The Senator from New York will have plenty of time hereafter.

Mr. SHERMAN. I mean, as soon as I can, to submit to the Senate the question whether or not it will proceed to the consideration of the House bills to which I have referred. There are twelve or fifteen of them, mostly concerning small matters. I propose that they be considered under the five-minute rule, commencing exactly where we last left off. I appeal to the Senator from Colorado to allow this to be done without displacing his bill. It will take but a little while. I make the motion now because the engrossing clerks will be compelled to engross whatever bills are passed, and there must be some time afforded them for that purpose. Twelve hours is short enough. I believe we can finish their consideration in half an hour. Let the bills be reported to the Senate subject to objection as they are called. I make that motion.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The title of the bill reported from the Committee on Finance by the Senator from New York [Mr. HISCOCK] will be read.

The SECRETARY. A bill (H. R. 10351) to continue the duties on certain manufactures of flax at the rate now provided by law.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from New York [Mr. HISCOCK] asks for the present consideration of the bill. Is there objection?

Mr. TELLER. Let it go to the Calendar.

Mr. SHERMAN. I will make my motion, as suggested by the Senator from Colorado [Mr. TELLER], so as to avoid displacing his bill.

Mr. GORMAN. I trust the Senator from Colorado will agree with the Senator from Ohio in regard to this matter. It will not take more than half an hour to dispose of all the House bills on the Calendar without objection. The motion only refers to bills which are not objected to.

Mr. SHERMAN. Subject to the five-minute rule and subject to objection by any Senator.

Mr. TELLER. I desire to say that I have called up this McGarrahan bill and it is now before the Senate. If the Senate desires to take up these bills I shall not offer any objection to taking half an hour for the purpose suggested. I do not know but other Senators may object, but I have no right to farm out the time of the Senate, and I do not propose to claim any such right.

Mr. HILL. Will the Senator from Colorado yield to me?

Mr. TELLER. I do not think I ought to parcel out the time of the Senate at this late hour of the session. I have yielded the floor for morning business, but I do not want to yield it for anything else.

Mr. HISCOCK. I ask unanimous consent for the consideration of the bill I have named.

Mr. TELLER. I object now. I desire to say with reference to this bill that if it should prevent the passage of other bills I should not insist upon keeping it before the Senate, but I think it can be disposed of in a reasonable time, and then these other matters can be disposed of. I ask that these bills be taken up, and we can go along.

Mr. SHERMAN. I know that bill will give rise to some debate, and I ask unanimous consent of the Senate that, without displacing the pending bill, we devote a half hour to the consideration of House bills, subject to the five-minute rule, and subject to objection.

So ordered.

Mr. DANIEL. I hope I may be then recognized.

TRINITY RIVER NAVIGATION COMPANY.

The bill (H. R. 9502) to authorize the Trinity River Navigation Company to open to navigation the Trinity River, in the State of Texas, was announced as next in order.

Mr. MILLS. I ask that that bill may be passed over informally until my colleague [Mr. COKE] comes in. It is his bill, and he is familiar with it.

Mr. FRYE. The Senator's colleague is very anxious that this bill should pass.

Mr. MILLS. I know he is; and I merely ask that the bill may be temporarily passed over until he comes in.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over for the present.

OKLAHOMA MIDLAND RAILWAY COMPANY.

The bill (H. R. 10143) to authorize the Oklahoma Midland Railway Company to construct and operate a railway, telegraph, and telephone line through the Indian and Oklahoma Territories, and for other purposes, was announced as next in order.

Mr. SHERMAN. A number of amendments have been reported to that bill. I think, therefore, it had better go over.

Mr. PERKINS. I am anxious to have that bill considered; but as it is long its reading would occupy some time. If I can be accorded recognition at some convenient time, if that time ever occurs, I am willing the bill shall be passed over temporarily.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

GEORGE M. HENRY.

The bill (H. R. 1422) for the relief of George M. Henry was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It directs the Secretary of War to remove the charge of desertion from the name of George M. Henry, late of Company M, Fifth United States Cavalry.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read a third time, and passed.

DISTRICT STREET RAILROADS.

The bill (H. R. 8125) to provide for the regulation of the equipment and operation of street railroad lines within the District of Columbia by the Commissioners of said District was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. GORMAN. There is a motion already made by myself to recommit that bill. Let it go over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

DANIEL ELDRIDGE.

The bill (H. R. 5519) for the relief of Daniel Eldridge, Company D, Fifteenth Illinois Volunteers, was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It directs the Secretary of War to cause the charge of desertion to be removed from the record of Daniel Eldridge, late a private in Company D, Fifthteenth Regiment Illinois Volunteers, and to cause to be issued to him an honorable discharge.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

GEORGE W. S. SCHACHLEITER.

The bill (H. R. 4071) for the relief of George W. Schachleiter was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It directs the Secretary of War to remove from the record of George W. Schachleiter, late of Company G, Seventy-fourth Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, war of 1861, any charge of desertion which may exist against him as a member of that company and regiment, and to issue to him a certificate of honorable discharge, to date July 25, 1865; but no pay, bounty, or emoluments shall become due by virtue of the provisions of this act.

ELLIS P. PHIPPS.

The bill (H. R. 6212) granting an increase of pension to Ellis P. Phipps, late Lieutenant in Company A, Twelfth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, invalid certificate No. 35719, was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. BERRY. I wish to inquire of the Senator who reported the bill if there is any good reason why the pension in this case should be increased to $50 per month? I do not like to object to the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Minnesota [Mr. DAVIS], who reported the bill, is not in the Senate at present.

Mr. GALLINGER. This bill was reported by the chairman of the committee, and I presume he attended to it. Perhaps the reading of the report, if it is not too long, will answer the Senator's purposes.

Mr. HARRIS. Let it go over, Mr. President. There is no time to read reports now.

Mr. BERRY. Before the bill goes over I desire to make a few remarks. I simply wish to say that if this is a meritorious case I do not desire to object to it, but the effort seems to be continually not only to put every one possible on the pension rolls, but to increase the pensions of those already on the rolls. I am unwilling to increase the pension of anyone to $50 a month unless there is good reason for doing so.

Mr. GALLINGER. I would say that it is not the policy of the Committee on Pensions either to put everybody on the pension rolls or to increase the rate of pension to those on the rolls. We try to report only meritorious cases, and I suppose this is one.

Mr. BERRY. My observation is that the effort has been to put as many as possible on the pension rolls, and appeals are continually coming here for increased pensions. If the Senator from New Hampshire is unable to give any reason for the increase then I object to the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

Mr. BERRY subsequently said: I objected to the consideration of the bill (H. R. 6212) granting an increase of pension to Ellis P. Phipps, late Lieutenant in Company A, Twelfth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, invalid certificate No. 35719. The Senator from Minnesota [Mr. DAVIS] assures me that the bill as it came from the other House was for $72 a month; that it was cut down by the Senate committee to $50 a month; that it amounts to an increase of only $5 a month, and that the man is absolutely helpless. In view of that statement I withdraw my objection to the passage of the bill.

The bill was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It proposes to place on the pension roll the name of Ellis P. Phipps, late Lieutenant Company A, Twelfth Regiment New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, and pay him a pension of $50 per month, in lieu of that he is now receiving.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

MAUD CASE.

The bill (H. R. 7306) to pension Maud Case, of Dodge County, Minn., was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It proposes to place upon the pension rolls the name of Maud Case, the dependent and totally blind daughter of Hezekiah Case, deceased, late private of Company H, Thirty-third Wisconsin Volunteers, at $12 per month.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

CHARLES H. BEHLE.

The bill (H. R. 6554) to remove the charge of desertion against Charles H. Behle was considered as in Committee of the Whole. It directs the Secretary of War to remove the charge of desertion against Charles H. Behle, a former musician of Company K, One hundred and eighth Ohio Volunteers, and issue to him an honorable discharge from the Army.

The bill was reported to the Senate without amendment, ordered to a third reading, read the third time, and passed.

DISTRICT BOARD OF CHARITIES.

The bill (H. R. 9873) to create a board of charities, etc., in the District of Columbia was announced as next in order on the Calendar.

Mr. HARRIS. I ask that the bill go over.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The bill will be passed over.

WASHINGTON, BURNT MILLS AND SANDY SPRING RAILWAY.

The bill (H. R. 9956) to incorporate the Washington, Burnt Mills and Sandy Spring Railroad Company was announced as next in order.

Mr. COOKES of Arkansas. Let that bill go over, retaining its place on the Calendar.

Mr. McMILLAN. Has that been objected to?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. It has been objected to, and will be passed over.

Mr. JONES of Alabama subsequently said: Mr. President, a few moments ago I objected to the consideration of House bill 9956. I do not withdraw that objection. I have no objection to the bill being taken up.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to consider the bill (H. R. 9956) to incorporate the Washington, Burnt Mills and Sandy Spring Railway Company.

The bill was reported from the Committee on the District of Columbia, with amendments. The first amendment was, in section 1, line 22, after the word "along," to strike out "either off" in the same line, after the word "following," to strike out "routes" and insert "route" in line 23, after the word "point," to insert "to be located by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia" and in line 29, after the words "Sargent read," to insert "by such route" so as to read:

And said corporations are hereby authorized to lay out, locate, construct, furnish, maintain, operate, and enjoy a continuous single or double track passenger and freight railway, and a telegraph line, with all the necessary

Heve that there is a Senator around me who will say for a single moment that it was his intention to vote for an appropriation of two and a half million dollars that was to be expended by anybody except the commission appointed by the Government of the United States.

Now, the distinguished Senator from Kentucky, also a member of that commission, for the first time throws some light upon the history of this whole transaction, and we find that instead of giving over to our Columbian Exposition two and a half million dollars, as we supposed we had, out of which I understand the local board at Chicago have realized $5,000,000, we find that they have had nothing at all to do with it. I want to know where the blame rests? Perhaps it may rest with every member of the Senate who has not investigated this question and knows nothing about it, for certainly I did not believe for a moment that it would have any such effect.

Mr. TELLER. Will the Senator from New Jersey allow me to make a suggestion to him?

Mr. McPIERSON. I will.

Mr. TELLER. If the Senator had read the act when we were passing it he would have seen that the city of Chicago had control of this. He seems to think it is a discovery he has made now. Everybody knew that before.

Mr. McPIERSON. If anybody knew it before—

Mr. CHANDLER. If the Senator will allow me—

Mr. HARRIS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tennessee will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. HARRIS. Is this the conference report which was excerpted from the five-minute rule?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair does not understand that this conference report came under the agreement entered into.

Mr. HARRIS. There was an agreement as to all conference reports, the debate to be limited to five minutes and each Senator to speak but once, except as to one conference report.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair understands that the Senator from Iowa excerpted the bill now under consideration.

Mr. HARRIS. I knew that one was excerpted. I simply wanted to know if this was that one.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Iowa state his understanding?

Mr. ALLISON. I am not prepared, without having the notes before me, to say precisely what the final understanding was. I intended that it should cover all the conference reports except the report on the deficiency appropriation bill.

Mr. CULLOM. I am very certain that was stated by the chairman of the committee.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair, upon further consideration, is clearly of the opinion that it was the deficiency appropriation bill which was excerpted by the Senator from Iowa, and not the pending bill.

Mr. ALLISON. I think the Senator from Nevada [Mr. STEWART] excerpted the deficiency appropriation bill.

Mr. HARRIS. If that be so, I shall object to any Senator speaking oftener than once or more than five minutes.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair will undertake to carry out the agreement made by unanimous consent. The question is on concurring in the conference report.

Mr. WHITE. I want to make just one statement. I think the Senator from New Jersey falls into a very serious error. Last year when this appropriation was made the distinguished chairman of the Appropriations Committee made a statement as clear as the noonday sun, mentioning every fact which has been stated here to-night, calling attention to the difference between the Commission and the Chicago organization. Questions were asked him in the debate; I can not see how the Senator from New Jersey labors under the hallucination, as he was here and voted for the bill.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Iowa state the motion he made?

Mr. ALLISON. I move that the Senate insist upon the five amendments which I have named and which are in controversy, being amendments numbered 67, 68, 69, 70, and 71.

Mr. HARRIS. Will the Senator please state what they refer to?

Mr. ALLISON. They all relate to the World's Columbian Exposition. Upon that question, although the time is brief, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Iowa, that the Senate insist upon the amendments named by him, and upon that question the yeas and nays have been demanded.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DIXON (when his name was called). I have a general pair with the Senator from Mississippi [Mr. WALTHALL], who is detained from the Chamber by sickness. I do not feel at liberty to vote.

Mr. GEORGE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Oregon [Mr. DOLPH]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

The roll call having been concluded, the result was announced—yeas 51, nays 11; as follows:

YEAS—51
Aldrich	Dubois	Jones, Ne.	Proctor,
Alben	Paulkner	Kyle	Sawyer,
Blackburn	Peltou	Lindsay	Sherman,

So the motion was agreed to.

Mr. ALLISON. I now move that the Senate insist upon its amendment numbered 104, and that it agree to the conference asked by the House of Representatives.

Mr. HARRIS. Let me ask the Senator from Iowa what amendment 104 refers to?

Mr. ALLISON. Amendment numbered 104 is the proviso inserted in the bill by the House modifying or repealing a certain provision in a land act passed in 1891.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Iowa.

The motion was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, the Vice-President was authorized to appoint the conferees on the part of the Senate, and Mr. ALLISON, Mr. HALE, and Mr. GORMAN were appointed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had passed the bill (S. 3881) relating to copyrights.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills; and they were thereupon signed by the Vice-President:

A bill (H. R. 4493) to place upon the pension rolls of the United States the name of Thomas F. Sheldon, late captain Company A, One hundred and Twenty-fifth New York Infantry.

A bill (H. R. 5590) to increase the pension of W. H. Philpot, a pensioner of the Mexican war.

A bill (H. R. 5741) to increase the pension of Capt. E. R. Chase from $20 to $72 a month; and

A bill (H. R. 1071) to continue the duties on certain manufactures of wax at the rate now provided by law.

INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. DAWES. I present a conference report on the Indian appropriation bill and ask for its present consideration.

Mr. DIXON. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. I desire to ask the Chair if a veto message of the President puts the bill to which it relates in any other relation to the order of business of the Senate than any other matter upon the Calendar?

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The Chair has on his desk the message from the House and also the message relating to the bill returned by the President with his objections.

Mr. HOAR. I do not wish to interfere with my colleague, but I desire to say that such a message has come from the President in relation to a bill providing for a marshal and district in Alabama. The message shows, I think, that the President was under a misapprehension in regard to that measure. It seems to me that the Senate ought to take that up and consider it at an early hour; otherwise it can not perform its constitutional duty at all. After my colleague has disposed of the conference report I desire to ask the Senate that that shall be done.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The report of the committee of conference will be read.

The report was concurred in.

Another criticism of the bill is that it is "too broad and unbalanced." He says that the bill will not only affect officers, but will add to the patchwork of existing laws. "The Senator knows that these officers are a hard lot to that are now being collected, which go to the district attorney of the northern district and the marshal of the southern district.

These two officers now in existence being relieved from discharging the duties in the middle district, they certainly are not entitled to the fees, and the fees only go in the way of compensation for these additional officers. The bill does not add one dollar to the public expense.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The roll will be called.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. WARREN (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON].

The result was announced—yeas 58, nays 1, as follows:

YEAS—58.

Aldrich.	Davis.	Jones, Nev.	Pugh.
Bate.	Dawes.	Lindsay.	Sherman.
Berry.	Dubois.	McMillan.	Shoup.

Dixon.	Irby.	Sawyer.
Dolph.	Kyle.	Stanford.

So the bill was passed (two-thirds of the Senate present voting in the affirmative).

INVESTIGATIONS BY FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Mr. ALDRICH. From the Committee on Finance, I present two reports. I desire to call the attention of the Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS]—

Mr. HARRIS. That is a report from the majority of the Committee on Finance. It was submitted to me at 5 o'clock this evening, when I did not have time to look at it carefully. I shall ask that it be ordered printed, but not printed until I shall have had an opportunity of looking at it carefully and submitting the views of the minority, if the minority shall choose to submit views, in order that the views of the minority may be printed with the report.

Mr. ALDRICH. The request of the Senator from Tennessee is certainly a reasonable one in view of the circumstances, and I make no question upon it.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. That order will be made.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 10258) making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for prior years, and for other purposes, further insisted on its disagreement to the amendments of the Senate numbered 39, 63, 64, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 108, 150, 160, 161, 163, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 173, 174, 176, and 177, agreed to the further conference asked by the Senate on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses thereon, and appointed Mr. SAYERS, Mr. HOLMAN, and Mr. DINGLEY managers at the conference on the part of the House.

ENROLLED BILL SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the enrolled bill (S. 3881) relating to copyrights; and it was thereupon signed by the Vice-President.

WILLIAM MCGARRAHAN.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (S. 3741) to submit to the Court of Private Land Claims, established by an act of Congress approved March 3, 1891, the title of William McGarrahan to the Rancho Panoche Grande, in the State of California, and for other purposes.

Mr. TELLER. I ask that we may vote on the amendment offered by the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL].

Mr. PLATT. Let the amendment be stated.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 1, line 8, after the second word "the," strike out the words "Court of Private Land Claims established by an act of Congress approved March 3, 1891," and insert, "United States district court for the southern district of California;" so as to read:

Be, and the same are, hereby referred to the United States district court for the southern district of California

Mr. MORRILL. Mr. President, it would seem reasonable I think to any lawyer in this body that the best court in the country should be called upon to decide a question of the importance of the one now before the Senate. I have merely proposed that instead of this young green court, that was established in 1891, the court of the southern district of California shall take jurisdiction of this matter and have the case tried there instead of here at Washington by this new court.

It is obvious that the witnesses on the part of the United States are in California and not here in Washington. By the proposed bill all the evidence is to be received that has been taken ex parte, produced by the claimant here in Washington where there was no chance of repeal, no chance of impeachment of the witnesses, and where the United States was without power to investigate and summon witnesses from the proper place. I hope that the amendment will be adopted.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Vermont. [Putting the question.] The yeas seem to have it.

Mr. MORRILL called for the yeas and nays, and they were ordered.

Mr. TELLER. This is a proposition to change the court from the court that was created by Congress for the special adjudication of this class of cases to the district court of California. The committee considered this whole question and determined that this was the better court to which to send the case, and I hope the friends of the measure will vote the amendment down.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Secretary will call the roll on the pending amendment.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CAREY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY].

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

Mr. PERKINS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON].

Mr. STEWART (when his name was called.) I am paired with the Senator from Nebraska [Mr. PADDOCK]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. VEST (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON]. I should vote "yea" and he would vote "nay."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. DAVIS. I am assured that the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE], with whom I am paired, would vote "nay" on this question. I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. PASCO. I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 10, nays 39; as follows:

YEAS—10.

Aldrich.	McPherson.	Proctor.	White.
Frye.	Mills.	Sherman.
Hiscock.	Morrill.	Stewart.

NAYS—39.

Allison.	Dubois.	Jones, Ark.	Power.
Bate.	Felton.	Jones, Nev.	Pugh.
Brice.	Gallinger.	Lindsay.	Shoup.
Call.	Gorman.	McMillan.	Squire.
Camden.	Gray.	Manderson.	Stockbridge.
Cameron.	Hansbrough.	Mitchell.	Teller.
Chandler.	Hawley.	Paddock.	Warren.
Coke.	Hill.	Peffer.	Washburn.
Daniel.	Hoar.	Pettigrew.	Wolcott.
Davis.	Huntton.	Platt.

NOT VOTING—39.

Allen.	Callom.	Higgins.	Sawyer.
Berry.	Dawes.	Irby.	Stanford.
Blackburn.	Dixon.	Kyle.	Turpie.
Blodgett.	Dolph.	Morgan.	Vance.
Butler.	Faulkner.	Palmer.	Vest.

Carey.	Gibson.	Perkins.	Voorhees.
Casey.	Gordon.	Quay.	Walthall.
Cockrell.	Hale.	Ransom.	Wilson.
Colquitt.	Harris.	Sanders.

So the amendment was rejected.

Mr. MORRILL. On page 2, in section 1, line 13, I move to strike out the word "final." This refers to the claim of Gomez. At the end of the bill I see it is proposed that the United States and the claimant may have the right of appeal, but if this is to be a final judgment in relation to the Gomez claim, then after that has been decided, there will be nothing left but merely the question of whether the deed and title of Gomez have been legally transferred to McGarrahan.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendment will be stated.
The CHIEF CLERK. In section 1, line 13, before the word "judgment," it is proposed to strike out "final;" so as to read:
And to render judgment thereon.

Mr. MORRILL. I take it the word "final" was left in the bill by mistake.

Mr. HOAR. I do not understand that there is anything whatever in the suggestion of my honorable friend from Vermont. A "final judgment" does not mean a final disposition of the case, but final action in a particular court. Final judgments are ordinarily the only things that can be appealed from. No exception can be taken until after final judgment. If you should take an appeal from an interlocutory judgment in a Massachusetts court, or in the circuit court of the United States, the court would say: "You can not appeal until final judgment." That is the phrase which is used to distinguish from interlocutory judgments or decrees the final action of a particular court. The amendment, however, does no possible harm.

Mr. STEWART. It makes no difference.

Mr. HOAR. It will make no difference whether it goes in or out.

Mr. TELLER. It does not make any difference.

Mr. HOAR. Let the amendment be adopted if the Senator from Vermont requests it.

The amendment was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair understands that the committee amendments to the bill have not been acted upon.

Mr. TELLER. Let them be now acted upon.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendments will be reported in their order.

The first amendment of the Committee on the Judiciary was, in section 1, line 31, after the word "act," to strike out "submit the evidence of his title and;" in line 32, after the word "court," to insert "setting up therein the said grant and his said title thereto, and the said court shall also have jurisdiction to adjudicate in said proceeding as to the validity of said claim of said McGarrahan in and to said grant; and the said McGarrahan or his legal representatives;" and in line 37, before the word "court," to strike out "asking for the confirmation of said grant and judgment thereon and;" so as to read:

And that William McGarrahan, claiming to have acquired by subsequent purchase, for a valuable consideration, the title of said Vicente P. Gomez to said tract of land, and as successor to the rights of said Vicente P. Gomez, may at any time, within six months from the passage of this act, file his petition in said court setting up therein the said grant and his said title thereto, and the said court shall also have jurisdiction to adjudicate in said proceeding as to the validity of said claim of said McGarrahan in and to said grant; and the said McGarrahan or his legal representatives, may prosecute said petition and cause against the United States in that court; and it shall be the duty of the custodian of the records and papers in said cause before said board of land commissioners to transmit them to the clerk of said court immediately upon the passage of this act.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. MORRILL. I offer an amendment to come in as a new section before section 2.

The VICE-PRESIDENT. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3, after line 17, insert a new section, as follows:

SEC. 3. That to enable the United States to be represented by competent legal counsel and to procure the attendance of necessary witnesses, the sum of $20,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Mr. TELLER. I hope that amendment will be voted down. Nobody but an enemy of the bill would propose it. It is not at all necessary.

Mr. MORRILL. Mr. President, I confess myself an enemy to the bill; but I think it was suggested the other day by the Senator who has last spoken, that he had no objection only that he wanted it in some other bill than this.

It is quite obvious that in a suit of this importance, involving, perhaps, millions of dollars, large promises of reward will be made to the attorneys upon the other side, and here we have an attorney who is paid only $3,500 a year for his services. That certainly would not employ a lawyer like the Senator from Colorado to attend to the case. I know that he is in the habit of receiving $10,000 in the employment of a case. I think that this suit here ought to be attended on the part of the United States by a competent attorney. We know that this attorney has just lost a case in California that involved the title of 60,000 acres of land worth, it is stated, $12,000,000. That is evidence of the ability of the attorney of this court. Therefore I hope that the amendment will be adopted.

I am not unwilling, if this case can be given so that the United States will have a fair and equal chance in the matter, to have it go to a court, but I do not like to have it bound as the bill evidently binds it to go to the court in favor of the McGarrahan.

The same name is used. One is the person who has passed the case. General McGarrahan is not named in this case. It was a so-called case.

This is a case of the survey. It is a case of the State's title. It is a case of the survey. It is a case of the State's title.

Mr. HUNTON. Mr. President, I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. MORRILL. I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. HUNTON. Mr. President, I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. MORRILL. Mr. President, I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. TELLER. I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. MILLS called for the yeas and nays and was ordered.

Mr. CHANDLER. I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

The CHIEF CLERK. The yeas and nays were ordered.

SEC. 4. That to enable the United States to be represented by competent legal counsel and to procure the attendance of necessary witnesses, the sum of $20,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

The Secretary reported a message from the President.

Mr. DAVIS. When the President was called upon to sign the bill, he would not sign it.

Mr. PERKINS. When the President was called upon to sign the bill, he would not sign it.

The Senator from Colorado. Mr. President, I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. STOKER. Mr. President, I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

with the Senator from Maryland. Mr. President, I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

Mr. VEST. When the President was called upon to sign the bill, he would not sign it.

Mr. CAREY. I do not think the Senator from Vermont will yield to the Senator from Colorado.

The roll call was ordered.

PRESENTATION TO VICE-PRESIDENT.

Mr. McPHERSON. I submit a resolution and ask to have it considered now.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the Vice President is hereby authorized to retain for his personal use the writing set and appendages used by him during his term of office.

Mr. McPHERSON. I ask for the immediate consideration of the resolution.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection to the present consideration of the resolution?

The resolution was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to.

WILLIAM MCGARRAHAN.

The Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, resumed the consideration of the bill (S. 374) to submit to the Court of Private Land Claims, established by an act of Congress approved March 3, 1891, the title of William McGarrahan to the Rancho Panoche Grande, in the State of California, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The next amendment of the Committee on the Judiciary will be reported.

Mr. MORRILL. I offer a new section to come in before section 2.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3, after line 47, insert a new section, as follows:

SEC. — That the court as aforesaid shall determine whether or not the corporation organized in the year 1861 under the name of the "Panoche Grande Quicksilver Company," and the corporation organized in 1870 under the name of "The California Quicksilver Company," to each of which the said McGarrahan transferred and deeded all the rights and title claimed by him in the said Rancho Panoche Grande, have been restored and transferred to the said McGarrahan by a good and sufficient legal title, and that the claims of all the shareholders of the said corporations thereto have been properly and legally extinguished, and if not, then all further action of the court upon the matter contained in this bill shall cease: Provided, That the said court shall also have authority to investigate and determine whether any liens are still in force made by the said McGarrahan in favor of any of his claim agents, and particularly of one fourth part of the said Rancho Panoche Grande in favor of Frederick Frank, of one twenty-fourth part in favor of O. L. Shafter, and of 6 per cent thereof in favor of Simon Stevens, and if any such liens have been so made, then the action of said court shall be suspended until the lien shall be discharged and extinguished.

Mr. TELLER. I will say the bill ex cathedra declares that McGarrahan shall prove that he is himself the owner. It would be utterly inconsistent to put that in and leave the provisions in which require him to establish the fact of ownership. I hope the amendment will be voted down.

Mr. MORRILL. It is very clear that Mr. McGarrahan deeded this property to two different corporations. It is also clear that he had an associate by the name of Frederick Frank who had one quarter part interest in the claim; and to another, Simon Stevens, he had deeded 6 per cent of the claim; and to another attorney, I am not certain that it was ever deeded, but an offer was made of 20 per cent or 21 per cent. I think, therefore, that the party here should show that he has a clear title to it.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Vermont.

The amendment was rejected.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The next amendment of the committee will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3, section 2, line 3, after the word "evidence," insert the words "on the part of the petitioner or the United States;" so as to read:

Said court shall receive as evidence on the part of the petitioner or the United States the original expediente presented by the said Governor and the said Governor Manuel Micheltorena.

Mr. MILLS. I rose to offer an amendment to the amendment of the committee, but I yield to the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER].

Mr. PALMER. On page 3, in line 3, after the word "evidence," I move to insert: "So far as the same are competent and legal evidence;" so as to read:

That upon the trial of questions or issues arising in the hearing of said petition, either as provided for the said court shall receive as evidence, so far as the same are competent and legal evidence on the part of the petitioner or the United States the original expediente presented by the said Governor to the said Governor Manuel Micheltorena.

Mr. TELLER. I hope that amendment will be voted down. We have provided what shall be evidence in this bill. This is a modification which our committee refused to accept when it was suggested.

Mr. PALMER. It presents the very crucial test that I desire to make in the consideration of this bill. I desire that the sense of the Senate shall be taken on the question whether evidence that would not be competent on a trial between any other human being and the United States shall be made competent by this bill. It is my belief that this bill was prepared with a view to compel a decision in favor of McGarrahan—with a view to compelling the court to find for him. I desire that there shall be reserved to the court the question of the competency of the testimony.

I have no desire to delay the action of the Senate on the bill. I therefore content myself with submitting this naked proposition, not that Congress shall adjudge McGarrahan to be the owner of this property to the extent of his claim, but that the Senate shall by arraying the evidence and making it competent to compel any court that may hereafter consider the claim to find for him. That is the bill as it is.

If this bill passes a judgment of the land court in favor of McGarrahan is as inevitable as any other fact that can not be disputed or that is certain, because if all this testimony, manufactured or not, competent or not, is made competent by the bill and the court is compelled to receive it and listen to it and accept it without objection, the Senate might just as well by positive plain law give to McGarrahan all he claims and avoid this circumlocution of the form and the pretense of judicial action.

I say that I need not stand in the way of this vote and that the Senate may without any obstruction from me pass upon the bill and this protest against the bill on this test, which tests the sincerity of the gentlemen who profess to be seeking the right of this party by judicial action. I submit the amendments that they may have the opportunity of going upon record, and that the country may understand what this measure is, that it is a legislative finding in favor of McGarrahan, because if the Legislature determines that all that is claimed on the part of a claimant shall be received by a court and that all that is set out in this brief shall be taken by the court as evidence, then the finding of the court for him is inevitable.

I want to present the single question whether any discretion is to be left to the court at all or whether we will now adjudge McGarrahan to be the owner of this land; and not only that, but whether he will adjudge that the United States as the grantor of some of this property is to be charged with responsibility as warrantors beyond any liability ever thrown upon a warrantor before—a warrantor who is made liable for the trespasses of strangers for the robberies of those who may violate the rights of others as well as the United States. The question is whether the United States is to be, not subrogated, but charged upon the principle that whatever happened to this land during all these years is to be charged to the United States Government.

It is true it is decorously veiled. I do not pretend that the bill charges the United States, but why go into an account as to trespasses? It is to lay the foundation for a future appropriation for a future demand, because by this the United States assumes liability as warrantor. It is made liable for a sum that the gentlemen will not now undertake to limit.

I have asked Senators what will be the ultimate liability of the United States if the theory of this claimant is sustained. They will not tell me. They will not tell the Senate. It is an unknown liability. This is a change. The former bill authorized a judgment substantially against the United States. This is an assumption indirectly of liability and the facts are to be reported as the foundation for an appropriation. I redeem my pledge by throwing no other obstruction in the way of the passage of the bill.

Mr. TELLER. There is some evidence that would be admitted under the bill which would not be admitted unless there was provision in the bill specifically for its admission. That the Judiciary Committee intended to have in the bill. For instance, depositions taken thirty years ago in another case are not legal evidence in this case. The depositions were taken under the form of law, but not in this case. We propose to have these depositions used in this case.

The Senator from Illinois can not complain of that as an equitable and proper proceeding. The Judiciary Committee carefully considered this question and determined in their minds at least, if not all, nearly all; and I do not think there was any dissent—that this matter as to the effect that should be given to the evidence should be left entirely with the court. All the court is to do is to receive it and give it such weight as it sees fit. In deference to some Senators who have thought that it ought to be in, I give notice that at the proper time I shall move to add that the court shall give it simply such weight as it may think it entitled to. I thought that was in, but if there is any question about it, I shall add that specifically. I hope the amendment of the Senator from Illinois will be voted down.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. President, one word. I have never known at any time anywhere that a third party was to be charged with the contents of testimony or of depositions or affidavits to which that third party was a stranger. Now, let me consider what the Senator proposes. It is that testimony shall be used against the United States taken between third parties.

Mr. TELLER. Not at all; taken between the United States and this claimant.

Mr. STEWART. Affidavits.

Mr. PALMER. Mere ex parte affidavits is on.

Mr. TELLER. Not between any third parties. The Senator is mistaken.

Mr. PALMER. Then, if this testimony has been taken in suits to which the United States was a party, it would be competent on general principles. There is no doubt that where the United States has been represented, either in the taking of depositions or in any other mode by which testimony is obtained and the witnesses have died or gone beyond the jurisdiction of the court, that testimony may be used against the United States. Will the Senator consent to modify it to such positions as affidavits as were taken in causes to which the United States was a party? Would that modification meet his views? I apprehend not. Ex parte affidavits, where there was no opportunity for cross-examination or examination, are made competent.

There is nothing, therefore, that will justify these extraordinary changes of the legal rules of evidence as applicable to all other possible cases.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER].

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the amendment be read.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The amendment will be read.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 3, section 2, line 3, after the word "evidence" insert:

So far as the same are competent legal evidence

So as to read:

That upon the trial of questions or issues arising on the hearing of a petition herein provided for, the said court shall receive evidence so far as the same are competent legal evidence on the part of the petitioner of the United States, the original expediente presented by the said Government.

Mr. MILLS. Now, let us have the yeas and nays on that question.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DAVIS [when his name was called]. I am paired generally with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURNER], but understanding that he would vote "nay," I will vote. I vote "nay."

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. There is an amendment to the amendment pending. The question is on the amendment of the Senator from Illinois to the committee's amendment.

Mr. TELLER. I have no objection to the amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois. The word "competent" may be inserted if he thinks it necessary.

The amendment to the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. FAULKNER. At this point in the bill, after the word "cause," in line 29, I move to add the following proviso:

Provided, however, That the weight, value, legal effect, and relevancy of all such evidence shall be determined by the said court.

Mr. TELLER. I suggest to the Senator that I have here what met the approval of the chairman of the committee [Mr. HOAR], who has gone away. This amendment which I propose to offer is about the same as that offered by the Senator:

And shall give such weight to said evidence as the court shall think it is entitled to receive.

Mr. FAULKNER. My purpose in offering that amendment is to control the clause in that section which refers to the introduction of the supposed patent, which in law could not be introduced by the evidence of the patent as it is not a perfected patent, as I understand it.

Mr. TELLER. I ask the Senator if he does not think the words which the chairman of the committee requested me to have inserted cover the whole ground?

Mr. FAULKNER. I doubt it.

Mr. TELLER. The words are:

And shall give such weight to said evidence as the court shall think it is entitled to receive.

Mr. FAULKNER. Looking at it from a purely legal standpoint, the difficulty is that you propose to constitute certain matters evidence which under the law is not evidence. Now, having constituted it evidence, having even required the court to regard it as relevant testimony, the court must give it such weight as relevant evidence bearing upon the issue between the parties necessarily would have upon the mind of the court in considering it. I want the court to have the power to determine as to this matter, which is required to be considered by the court as to the legal effect of the patent, if it has any legal effect whatever.

Mr. MITCHELL. May I ask the Senator from West Virginia if the effect of his amendment is not to destroy entirely the provision which makes that evidence which would not otherwise be evidence for whatever it may amount to in the case?

Mr. FAULKNER. I do not think so. It has this effect, that although this patent, uncompleted and undelivered, is admitted in testimony in this case between the United States and McGarrahan, yet the legal effect of that evidence is submitted as a question of law to the court upon the facts stated.

Mr. MITCHELL. But the Senator's amendment proposes that the court shall pass upon the relevancy of the evidence.

Mr. TELLER. And after we have declared that it shall be admitted.

Mr. FAULKNER. The question of a patent does not involve the question of relevancy; it involves the question of whether it is evidence at all. It is true that relevancy enters into the question of evidence; a thing may be evidence in one view, but it may not be relevant to the issue in another view. All I ask is that the legal aspect of that patent shall be construed by the court.

Mr. TELLER. I will say that that must be done under the law before it can be received as evidence. I think my amendment will make it certain, and I ask that the Senator's amendment may be voted down. I give notice that I shall at the proper time offer the amendment which I have here.

Mr. FAULKNER. I have been willing and anxious to do everything I could within limits and bounds of reason to allow this bill to pass and even to become a law if, in the terms of the provisions of the bill, I regarded the United States as having any fair show in presenting its side of the cause, forty years after the transaction, to the consideration of the court before whom it is to be adjudicated.

I am perfectly willing to allow even ex parte evidence to be introduced into the matter, evidence taken by the parties in the form of affidavits, because they were necessarily taken at a time when notice could not be given to the Government. I am willing even for the court to be required to consider that as evidence in the cause; but I do claim that the Senate should not demand of the court that it shall pass upon a matter of fact which is set out in the bill, and which, under no rules of evidence, could be introduced into any court whatever, and thereby absolutely bind that court to consider it evidence, although the facts before it absolutely would convince the mind of any judge that it had no important bearing upon the issue whatever.

Take the question of the patent, for example. Suppose it is true, as is asserted by some parties involved in the issues which are in this case, that this is an incomplete patent, that it is not one which confers any title whatever on the patentee, yet the court under this bill is compelled to treat that as a patent, and that effect is to be given to it by the terms of the proposed statute itself.

Mr. TELLER. Not at all.

Mr. FAULKNER. Why not? Read it. It is as follows:

SEC. 2. That upon the trial of questions or issues arising on the hearing of said petition herein provided for the said court shall receive as evidence on the part of the petitioner or the United States * * * or any patent or record of a patent for any portion of said lands in any of the Departments of the Government signed by the President of the United States or by his private secretary authorized to sign land patents, or of any record of a patent having the signature of the President of the United States thereto.

The court is bound to consider it as evidence under the express provisions of the bill. I ask the distinguished Senator from Colorado whether any court, if the facts as I state them are true, could refuse to admit the patent under this clause as evidence in the case at issue between the United States and McGarrahan as evidence of the title of McGarrahan? I pause for a reply.

Mr. MITCHELL. I will ask the Senator—

Mr. FAULKNER. If I cannot get a reply from the distinguished Senator from Colorado, to a fair and legitimate and pertinent question, I ask further, if it is legal and legitimate testimony which goes to show a chain of title in this case, why the necessity of making an express provision by an act of Congress authorizing it to be admitted as testimony? Recognizing the fact that the patent in question could not be introduced in evidence as a chain of title in anyone whatever, I ask if the friends of the bill have been driven to the position of providing a statute of the United States which requires the court to consider it as evidence?

With the understanding which I have of the condition of that patent, it not conferring any legal grant upon the patentee, I say that the question of its legal effect should honestly be submitted to the decision of the court before whom this cause is to come.

Senators, if you desire, as I do, to open this cause absolutely de novo to the petitioner in this case, if you desire that this whole cause shall be tried anew, as I do, then let us be fair to the United States, as well as to the petitioner.

We do not know what the liability will be under this bill. It has been estimated at from four to forty million dollars. No one can say what it will be or should be until after the adjudication of the cause under the provisions of the bill. All I ask is that the United States shall have presented against it a case which bears the stamp of legal, fair, legitimate, relevant testimony, and no other. My amendment does not exclude the consideration of any of those questions, provided the legal effect of them would be to give Mr. McGarrahan under the evidence introduced any title whatever by reason of the patent supposed to have existed.

Mr. TELLER. The Senator could not have read the bill with very much care. All the testimony to be introduced is of and concerning and touching two things: First, the grant; secondly, the patent, if a patent ever issued. It has nothing to do with the introduction of the patent. That is not provided for.

The depositions referred to are of and concerning the patent and of and concerning the grant. That is all there is of it, Mr. President.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GALLINGER in the chair). The question is on the amendment submitted by the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. FAULKNER] to the amendment of the committee.

Mr. FAULKNER. I call for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HARRIS when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL], who is called from the Senate by indisposition.

Mr. PASCO when his name was called. I again announce my pair with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. PETTIGREW when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMPDEN]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. VEST when his name was called. I am paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON].

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am paired with the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. BLACKBURN]. Has he voted?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He is not recorded.

Mr. MANDERSON. If he were present I am sure he would vote "nay" upon this question, and I therefore vote "nay."

Mr. CULLOM. I inquire if the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY] has voted?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. He is not recorded.
Mr. CULLOM. I am paired with him, but shall vote if it be necessary to make a quorum.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is necessary.
Mr. CULLOM. I vote "nay."
Mr. PERKINS. I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON] upon this bill, but the friends of the measure prefer that I should vote to assist in making a quorum. I vote "yea" upon the pending motion.
Mr. HARRIS. Is an additional vote necessary to make a quorum?
The PRESIDING OFFICER. It is not.
The result was announced—yeas 11, nays 35; as follows:

So the amendment to the amendment was rejected.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment submitted by the committee.
Mr. FAULKNER. I should like to know what the amendment is.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be reported.
The CHIEF CLERK. In section 2, line 28, after the word "thereto," the committee proposes to strike out "and other evidence concerning the rights of the parties before the courts" and insert "and any other matter of competent evidence which in the judgment of the court may tend to throw light upon the case."
Mr. FAULKNER. I understood the amendment had been agreed to before I submitted my amendment, or else I could not have submitted my amendment.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair will state to the Senator from West Virginia that an amendment to that amendment was agreed to inserting the word "competent." The amendment itself was not agreed to.
The amendment was agreed to.
The PRESIDING OFFICER. The next amendment reported by the Committee on the Judiciary will be stated.
The CHIEF CLERK. In section 3, line 2, before the word "grant," it is proposed to strike out "the said" and insert "there was a valid;" in line 3, after the name "Gomez," to strike out "was valid and" and insert "which was;" in line 8, after the word "same," to insert "and the said McGarrahan is now the owner thereof in law or equity;" and in line 11, after the word "boundaries," to strike out "except as hereinafter provided;" so as to read:
SEC. 3. That if said court shall find and adjudge that there was a valid grant from said Governor Manuel Michelmorena to said Vicente P. Gomez, which was protected under and by virtue of the treaty between the said Government of the United States and that of Mexico, commonly known as the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, and the laws of Congress to give effect to the same, and the said McGarrahan is now the owner thereof in law or equity, the said court shall report such finding and judgment to the Secretary of the Interior, who shall cause a patent to be issued therefor to said William McGarrahan, as the successor of the said Vicente P. Gomez, or his heirs or assigns, for the land embraced within the aforesaid boundaries, and that the survey made by the United States surveyor-general for the State of California, and approved by said surveyor-general on the 11th day of September, 1882, which survey was approved by the Secretary of the Interior December 15, 1882, and is now on file in the General Land Office, shall be considered as forming part of the lands embraced within said boundaries.
The amendment was agreed to.
The next amendment was, in section 3, line 28, after the words "United States," to strike out "upon which there are any smelting or reduction works;" so as to read:
Provided, That no finding or judgment of the said court in favor of said William McGarrahan or his heirs or legal representatives or assigns or patent to be issued under authority of such findings and judgment shall be had effect until the same shall be approved by the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. TELLER. I am paired with the Senator from Nevada, and I vote "yea."
Mr. STEWART. I am paired with the Senator from Nevada, and I vote "yea."

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 4, section 3, line 29, after the word "case," it is proposed to insert:

And shall give such weight to said evidence as the court shall think it is entitled to receive.

Mr. PERKINS. I should like to suggest to the Senator from Colorado whether, in his judgment, that is not the law without the insertion of such a provision?

Mr. TELLER. It is undoubtedly the law and the committee so thought; but some Senators thought it was wise to insert this provision, and so we put it in.

Mr. PERKINS. There should be a provision inserted that only such weight should be given to the evidence as the court in its judgment should deem proper.

Mr. TELLER. It is imperative on the court not to give it, and you can not make it any stronger by changing the language.

Mr. PERKINS. The court usually gives weight as in its judgment may be proper.

Mr. TELLER. If the Senator prefers to have the words put in I have no objection.

Mr. PERKINS. I ask to insert "but shall only give."

Mr. TELLER. Let the amendment be modified in that way.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be so modified.

Mr. COCKRELL. As modified let the amendment be stated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment as modified will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. On page 4, section 3, line 29, after the word "case," it is proposed to insert:

But shall only give such weight to said evidence as the court shall think it is entitled to receive.

Mr. FAULKNER. I desire the attention of the Senator from Colorado. After the word "weight," in the amendment submitted by him, I should like him to insert, if he will do so—and, of course, if he does not, the Senate will not—the words "and legal effect."

Mr. TELLER. I am quite willing to insert after the word "weight" the words "and legal effect."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated as modified.

The Chief Clerk read as follows:

But shall only give such weight and legal effect to said evidence as the court shall think it entitled to receive.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is upon agreeing to the amendment as modified.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. PALMER. I understand now that all the amendments have been disposed of which are proposed by the committee?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All of the committee amendments are disposed of.

Mr. PALMER. I now move to strike out section 4 of the bill, and ask that it be read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The CHIEF CLERK. It is proposed to strike out section 4, as follows:

Sec. 4. That if the said court shall find and adjudge in favor of the said William McGarrahan as provided in section 3, the court shall proceed to find the value of such portion of land embraced within the boundaries of the said grant as may have been heretofore disposed of by the United States within the afore-said boundaries, less the improvements, if any, made on said land. And if the said court shall find and adjudge that the said William McGarrahan, as the assignee of Vicente P. Gomez, is or was entitled to the minerals or other valuable substances on, in or under said lands, the said court shall proceed to ascertain the value of such minerals or other valuable substances which may have been extracted from said lands by any person, persons, or corporations other than the said William McGarrahan, less the costs of mining and extracting the same. And the said court shall report to Congress of the United States the aggregate values of the portion of land and the minerals as afore-said.

Mr. PALMER. That is the milk in this coconut; that is the part of the bill which is regarded. I have no doubt, as most valuable to the claimant in this case—the provisions of the bill that the law protects all persons who have claims, all persons who have any portion of this land which was conveyed to them by the United States or disposed of by the Government to other persons than the said McGarrahan. The language is exceedingly loose and clearly intended to recognize any adverse claim and having something less than the legal title. Indeed, it is apparent to my mind that the land which has been disposed of, either by conveyance or otherwise, is regarded as having very small value, and that the main purpose of the bill is not so much to establish a title to the portion of the land undisposed of as it is to lay a foundation for a claim against the Government of the United States, based upon this fourth section of the bill.

It is to me remarkable that it should be assumed for any reason in the world that it should be a matter of interest to the Congress of the United States to know to what extent strangers, corporations, and others, have extracted from the land claimed by McGarrahan either minerals or other valuable substances.

What interest is it to the Congress of the United States that that fact should be known? It is upon the ground that the United States Government is to be charged with whatever may be found to have been the value of the property thus taken from this land.

And if the said court shall find and adjudge in favor of the said William McGarrahan, as provided in section 3.

That is very happy language, because that section does provide that the court shall find for McGarrahan—

That, if the said court shall find and adjudge in favor of the said William McGarrahan as provided in section 3, the court shall proceed to find the value of such portion of land embraced within the boundaries of the said grant as may have been heretofore disposed of by the United States within the afore-said boundaries, less the improvements, if any, made on said land. And if the said court shall find and adjudge that the said William McGarrahan as the assignee of Vicente P. Gomez is or was entitled to the minerals or other valuable substances on, in or under said lands, the said court shall proceed to ascertain the value of such minerals or other valuable substances which may have been extracted from said lands by any person, persons or corporations other than the said William McGarrahan.

That only applies to the lands which may be found to belong to McGarrahan if the court shall find that McGarrahan is entitled to one league of this land—I use a term with which I am not very familiar—still the inquiry would be not only what has been taken from the lands claimed by others and disposed of by the United States, but from all the lands.

The said court shall proceed to ascertain the value of such minerals or other valuable substances which may have been extracted from said lands by any person, persons, or corporations other than the said William McGarrahan, less the costs of mining and extracting the same.

For what purpose? It is suggested by the Senator to my right [Mr. GRAY] as the basis of a claim. It is a question in which the United States has no legal interest, unless a liability is fixed by this bill either by direction or indirection. I protest that nothing has been developed in this case upon which an apology can be predicted for this liability which is so distinctly hinted at in the bill; I protest that in a controversy between parties in regard to lands granted by the United States or disposed of by the United States, the United States has no interest whatever. It cannot concern the Congress of the United States what minerals or other valuable substances may have been extracted from these lands by "any person or corporation other than the said William McGarrahan."

I think I can understand that it might be possible in some remote sense to attribute a liability to the United States if these valuable substances had been extracted from the land by persons acting under the authority of the United States. If any grantee of the United States had thus extracted minerals, there might be some ground for a remote equitable liability; but this is not limited to persons who act or claim under the United States. It covers the whole field of trespassers and wrongdoers, persons who, with or without pretense of right, without vouching the authority of the United States, persons who have stolen these minerals, if such people can be found.

The ordinary liability of a warrantor is for acts done by him or by those claiming under him. Here is a liability hinted at and based on the act of persons not claiming under the United States, persons who may claim adversely to the United States, persons who may be mere naked wrongdoers.

Was there ever such a theory of liability imposed upon a grantor before this most remarkable bill? Why should it be so? Why should the Government of the United States be placed in such an attitude?

In the first place, I ask one that the report required is intended to be the basis of a liability. I then ask the question why, is it, upon what possible ground, can it be claimed that the United States shall be even charged by indirection, with liabilities which were never imposed upon any natural or artificial grantor before this bill? Is there any possible view of the case in which that can be justified?

Mr. President, this, I think, involves the very marrow of this controversy. This title is to be made out by the means which have been suggested; but the radical, valuable thing is the ultimate intended liability of the United States. Senators may tell me that the bill imposes no liability upon the United States, but will they tell me that it does not contemplate ultimate expenditures by the Government to the extent imposed by the bill? with a provision that the court shall report that when minerals or valuable substances have been extracted from the land by some person or persons or some corporation or corporations other than McGarrahan, and then that estimates shall be laid before Congress, will it be contended that it is not intended upon that report to ask the Congress of the United States to pay this man for all of these substances which have been taken from the land?

If this is an application in good faith, intended only to vindicate the rights of the claimant, I insist that its ultimate intended imposition upon the United States is not necessary. It conceals a purpose to impose upon the United States all the value of all the minerals or other substances which may have been extracted from all or any part of these lands, as well those which may be adjudged to McGarrahan as those which may be adjudged to other persons and those that may be adjudged to have been disposed of by the United States.

Mr. TELLER. I hope we may now have a vote upon the amendment, and that it will be voted down.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from Illinois [Mr. PALMER], to strike out section 4.

Mr. PALMER. I should like to have the yeas and nays upon that, Mr. President.

Mr. FAULKNER. Before the motion is submitted to the Senate, would it be in order under the rules, to perfect the amendment proposed to be stricken out?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It would.

Mr. FAULKNER. In order to do that, I move in section 4, line 10, after the word "lands," to insert "by the law of Mexico."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

Mr. TELLER. How does that read?

Mr. FAULKNER. I propose to move in section 4, line 10, after the word "lands," to insert "by the law of Mexico."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The amendment will be stated.

The SECRETARY. In section 4, line 10, after the word "lands," it is proposed to insert, "by the law of Mexico."

Mr. TELLER. I think the Senator will hardly offer an amendment of that kind. What sense does that make "by the law of Mexico"?

Mr. FAULKNER. I will explain what I intend by the amendment.

Mr. TELLER. It would then read:

On, in, or under said lands by the law of Mexico.

Mr. FAULKNER. It would read as I propose to amend it:

And if the said court shall find and adjudge that the said William McGarrahan as the assignee of Vicente P. Gomez is or was entitled to the minerals or other valuable substances on, in, or under said lands, by the laws of Mexico, etc.

I will state the object and purpose of the amendment. The claim is made that this was a grant by the Government of Mexico prior to the cession to this country, and that by reason of the treaty which was negotiated between the two countries all the rights of parties under those grants were protected by that treaty. I claim that under the law of Mexico this grant which was taken out did not carry with it any minerals contained in the land; I claim that it has been adjudicated and decided by the Supreme Court of the United States that none of the grants similar to the one claimed by the petitioner in this case conveyed to the petitioner any mineral or other valuable substances in the lands, and that, this being an agricultural grant, as set forth in the very papers filed by the petitioner himself, under the laws of Mexico none of those mineral or other valuable substances were conveyed to the grantee.

That being so, and the liability and obligation of the United States resting solely upon the treaty which guarantees the protection of all those grants, we assumed no obligation greater than that authorized by the Mexican grant at the time it was made. For that reason, if the court should find the views which I express are correct, it would at once decide that the value of any mineral or other valuable substances taken from the land was not a subject of inquiry. I think, therefore, that is an important amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the amendment proposed by the Senator from West Virginia.

Mr. TELLER. I will simply say that that question must be determined under the laws of the United States, and what the rights of grantees are under the laws of the United States, may depend very much upon what they were under the laws of Mexico. The court will have both the laws of the United States and the laws of Mexico to pass on.

The suggestion of the Senator is a limitation upon the court and not an extension; and I should not care to have that inserted after the committee has passed upon the bill with the understanding we had that the whole matter of title was open to the courts of the United States from the court which first tried it, up to the Supreme Court.

I wish the Senator would withdraw the amendment, because we do not wish to spend all night on these little things.

Mr. FAULKNER. I do not see under what law we have increased our obligations other than those obligations we assumed in the treaty. I am frank to admit that when we grant a patent in the United States it has been held that the grant conveys not only the land, but the minerals and other valuable substances contained within its boundaries; but that was not the law of Mexico, nor was that the obligation assumed under the provisions of the treaty under which this claim is made.

For that reason, I do not think we ought to go any further than the obligation assumed in the treaty.

Mr. HUNTER. I think the amendment is a good one, and I think it is a good one to insert in the bill.

Mr. FAULKNER. I think the amendment is a good one, and I think it is a good one to insert in the bill.

Mr. TELLER. I think the amendment is a good one, and I think it is a good one to insert in the bill.

Mr. FAULKNER. I think the amendment is a good one, and I think it is a good one to insert in the bill.

Mr. PALMER. I ask for the yeas and nays on the passage of the bill.

The yeas and nays were ordered, and the Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BATE (when his name was called). On the main question, by agreement, I am paired with the Senator from Washington [Mr. ALLEN], with the right reserved to vote if necessary to make a quorum. I should vote "nay" if at liberty to vote.

Mr. CAREY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Carolina [Mr. BRY], but I understand he is in favor of this bill, and so I vote "yea."

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TRIMBLE], but having been informed that he would for the bill if present, I shall vote. I vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. If he were present I should vote "nay."

Mr. PETTIGREW (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. VEST (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Iowa [Mr. WILSON]. If he were present I should vote "nay" and he would vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. PETTIGREW. I transfer my pair with the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN] to the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY] and vote "yea."

Mr. PASCO. Under the arrangement just announced by the Senator from South Dakota I feel at liberty to vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. GALLINGER. I am paired with the Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS]. If he were present I should vote "yea."

Mr. HARRIS. Is there a quorum present?

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair understands there is.

Mr. HARRIS (after having voted in the affirmative). I am paired with the Senator from Vermont [Mr. MORRILL], who is necessarily absent. I withdraw my vote.

Mr. PERKINS. On this bill I am paired with the Senator from Georgia [Mr. GORDON]. If present he would vote "yea" and I should vote "nay."

The result was announced—yeas 37, nays 12; as follows:

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the following enrolled bills: and they were thereupon signed by the President pro tempore:

A bill (H. R. 5922) for the relief of Lucy Spothberry;

A bill (H. R. 2077) for the relief of William B. Price;

A bill (H. R. 1100) granting a pension to Mary Catherine Reardon;

A bill (H. R. 6212) granting an increase of pension to Ellis P. Phipps, late Lieutenant in Company A, Twelfth New Jersey Volunteer Infantry, invalid certificate No. 25619;

A bill (H. R. 6233) granting a pension to Thomas T. Prather;

A bill (H. R. 4955) granting a pension to Susannah Chadwick;

A bill (H. R. 4804) to place the name of Sarah L. Van Nest on the pension list;

A bill (H. R. 5598) to place the name of Sabra A. Wolcott upon the pension rolls; and

A bill (H. R. 10349) making appropriations for the service of the Post-Office Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894.

REPORT OF NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES.

Mr. HAWLEY. I report by direction of the Committee on Printing a concurrent resolution to print 3,500 copies of the usual annual report of the National Academy of Sciences, precisely the same number and in the same wording as is done every year under the law.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let the resolution be reported for information.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The resolution will be reported. The Secretary read as follows:

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring). That there be printed 3,500 additional copies of the report of the National Academy of Sciences for the year 1893, 500 copies for the use of the Senate, 1,000 copies for use of the House, and 2,000 copies for use of the National Academy of Sciences.

Mr. HAWLEY. I ask for the present consideration of the resolution.

The resolution was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to.

COMPILATION OF LABOR LAWS.

Mr. MANDERSON. I am directed by the Committee on Printing to report favorably a House concurrent resolution, which I send to the desk, and for which I ask present consideration.

The resolution was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to as follows:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring). That 5,500 copies be printed and bound of House report 1960, being a compilation of the labor laws of the various States and Territories and the District of Columbia, 2,500 copies being for the use of the Commissioner of the Department of Labor, 1,000 for the Senate, and 2,000 for the House of Representatives.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. T. O. TOWLES, its Chief Clerk, announced that the House had agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 10258) making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for prior years, and for other purposes, numbered 30, 63, 64, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 108, 150, 160, 161, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 173, 174, and 175.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED.

The message also announced that the Speaker of the House had signed the enrolled bill (H. R. 10488) making appropriations for the naval service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, and for other purposes; and it was thereupon signed by the President pro tempore.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATION BILL.

Mr. HALE submitted the following report:

The committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on certain amendments of the Senate to the bill (H. R. 10258) making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, and for prior years, and for other purposes, having met after full and free conference have agreed to recommend and do recommend to their respective Houses as follows:

That the Senate recede from its amendments numbered 30, 63, 64, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 108, 150, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 170, 171, 173, 174, and 175.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 177, and agree to the same.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 169, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: Strike out all after the word "dollars" in line 24, page 1, of said amendment, down to and including line 30, and lines 1, 2, and 3, and the words "and twenty-two cents" in line 4, page 2, of said amendment; and the Senate agree to the same.

That the House recede from its disagreement to the amendment of the Senate numbered 161, and agree to the same with an amendment as follows: In lieu of the sum proposed insert "$30,165.96;" and the Senate agree to the same.

EUGENE HALE,
W. B. ALLISON,
F. M. COCKRELL,
Managers on the part of the Senate
JOSEPH D. SAYERS,
W. S. HOLMAN,
NELSON DINGLEY, JR.,
Managers on the part of the House.

Mr. STEWART. I should like to inquire what the report contains and what it means?

Mr. HALE. The previous report of the conference committee left open the items for the Pacific Railroad, the French spoliation claims, and an item for the clerks.

Mr. STEWART. Clerks of Senators?

Mr. HALE. Not the item touching the expenditure and appropriations for clerks in the future; that matter is entirely settled.

Mr. COCKRELL. The disagreement relates to the pay of clerks to Senators for October and November, 1890.

Mr. HALE. Yes. That matter for the future has been settled by action upon other appropriation bills and the joint resolution of the House. On the disagreement covered by the previous report the matter went to the House for action. A year-and-a-half vote was taken there upon the French spoliation claims, with a result which I regret very much and which I think was wrong, a result in which people whom I represent are very deeply interested; but the majority was so large, the expression in the House was so explicit that I have not felt that at this stage of the session it was worth while to resist longer. The French spoliation claims were defeated by a large majority. The other two items to which I have referred were defeated by practically a unanimous vote of the House.

Therefore the conference committee has receded from these items, leaving the bill to pass with the other greater items upon it, the item for a deficiency in the appropriation for soldiers' pensions, and the other large items in the bill, because the conferees believed that it would not be possible to bring the House of Representatives to accord with the Senate on these subjects.

They will all go over if the report be concurred in, and will come up for action in subsequent Congresses. What other Congresses will do nobody can predict. But the conferees on the part of the Senate have not felt that it was wise to delay longer after getting this expression of the House. As I have said, I regret very much that that expression was not the other way, but the report is on the basis of agreeing now and ending the matter and sending the bill to the President.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. President, I do not know that the committee could have done otherwise, but it seems to me very remarkable that such plain obligations of the Government should not be paid, particularly judgments of a court, the Supreme Court of the United States, in regard to matters which have been deliberately examined, arising in contracts against which there is no offset, the parties having no contract relations with the Government, and judgments drawing 4 per cent interest besides. It seems very remarkable that such judgments should be denied payment.

A great deal is said about the honor of this Government involved in its sacred contracts. When it is necessary to save the honor of the Government in favor of one class of creditors we often change the currency in which they are to be paid, doubling it and doubling it, making contracts payable in greenbacks, contracts payable in coin, and then we make contracts payable in gold—multiplying them. When a contract for carrying the mails has been performed and payment refused without any pretext and that case comes before the United States Supreme Court, and they hold the contract is binding, that there is no offset, no equity against it, and Congress refuses year after year to pay it, it seems to me it places the Government in a very false position.

The pretext for such conduct is that some of the Pacific railroads—not these nonbonded roads—have contracts with the Government and are owing the Government. But the Supreme Court have held that there is nothing due from them; that under the Thurman act there was a settlement made; that they have complied with it; that they have paid all that was to be paid, nothing being presently due, though there may be something to fall due at a future time.

It is proposed to enforce the obligations of the Government against these roads when they fall due, but in the meantime the Government refuses to fulfill this contract. That is putting the Government in a false position. It seems to me that that is not an honorable way of dealing in business transactions.

I hope that at the next session there will be plenty of time when this matter can be discussed a little more fully. I have no doubt that the action elsewhere results from a total misapprehension of the facts. I do not suppose that the situation is understood or known. This was a plain contract against which there is no offset; the judgment is drawing 4 per cent interest, and it is an obligation which the Government refuses to pay. I suppose there are very few Senators and very few elsewhere who have ever had this matter brought to their attention, so as to know how plain and simple a contract this is, and how absolutely the Government of the United States has refused to fulfill the contract.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The question is, concurring in the conference report.

The report was concurred in.

CAPT. PHILLOS B. BRUBAKER.

Mr. HANSBROUGH. I ask for the present consideration of the resolution which I send to the desk.

Mr. COCKRELL. Let it be reported for information.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The resolution will be reported.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. No quorum has voted, and the Secretary will call the roll.

Mr. HARRIS. I suggest a call of the Senate instead of the ordinary roll call. Senators who have absented themselves on this the last night of the Congress ought to be sent for and brought back here.

Mr. STEWART. We shall have to have a roll call to ascertain whether or not there is a quorum present.

Mr. HARRIS. Very well; but I am not sure there is a quorum present.

The roll was called, and the following Senators answered to their names:

Bate,	Davis,	Hiscock,	Peffer,
Berry,	Dubois,	Hunt,	Perkins,
Blackburn,	Paulkner,	Kyle,	Sawyer,
Blount,	Polton,	Lindsay,	Shoup,
Blount,	Frye,	McMillan,	Squire,
Blount,	Gallinger,	McPherson,	Teller,
Blount,	Hansbrough,	Manderson,	Vest,
Blount,	Harris,	Mitchell,	Voorhees,
Blount,	Hawley,	Paddock,	Warren,
Blount,	Higgin,	Palmer,	Washburn,
Blount,	Hill,	Pasco,	Wolcott,

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Forty-nine Senators have answered to their names. A quorum is present.

Mr. HARRIS. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. From the roll call upon the question a few moments ago it is evident that, while there is a quorum here, as the roll call just taken develops, there is not a voting quorum, because of the existence of pairs. Is it in order to move a call of the Senate, and that the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed to ask the return to the Senate of absent Senators?

Mr. STEWART. Certainly, you can make that motion.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair thinks such a motion would be in order.

Mr. HARRIS. I make that motion.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Tennessee [Mr. HARRIS] moves that a call of the Senate be had for the purpose of sending for absentees.

Mr. VOORHEES. Allow me to ask the Senator from Tennessee whether in making pairs it is not a part of the rule that for the purpose of a quorum a pair does not prevent a Senator from voting?

Mr. HARRIS. That is a very general agreement, and yet Senators who are paired very often feel embarrassed and decline to vote. The vote upon this question shows the want of a voting quorum by several Senators.

Mr. VOORHEES. Certainly Senators ought not to feel embarrassed under those circumstances. I should not.

Mr. HARRIS. I will withdraw the motion, and let the roll call proceed upon the pending question. The Senator from Indiana [Mr. VOORHEES] and others will then see that we have not a quorum.

Mr. VOORHEES. I have no desire to antagonize the Senator from Tennessee, for he certainly is better authority on questions of this kind than I am. I only made the suggestion, and I hope no Senator will feel bound to withhold his vote by reason of a pair and thereby break a quorum. I know I shall not.

Mr. HARRIS. I yield to the suggestion of the Senator from Indiana, and withdraw my motion for the present.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Tennessee withdraws his motion.

Mr. WHITE. In answer to the Senator from Indiana [Mr. VOORHEES], I will say that the Senator from Nevada with whom I am paired [Mr. JONES] came to me this evening and said: "I am obliged to be absent myself, and I am opposed to taking up the New York bridge bill; will you pair with me?" I consented. If I had voted I should have violated the express terms of my pair.

Mr. VOORHEES. Every Senator in this body with sufficient intelligence to be a member of it knew in the early part of the evening that this was to be an all-night session; and everybody knows that after midnight there comes a time when a quorum is in danger. I think every Senator who makes a pair and absents himself understands that the Senator with whom he is paired has the reserved right to vote in case a quorum is involved. Of course the Senator from Louisiana and every other Senator will have to determine that question for himself, but that is the way I should determine it.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The last roll call having disclosed a quorum, the Secretary will now call the roll upon the pending question, which is to take up what is known as the New York and New Jersey bridge bill.

The Secretary proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CAREY (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY].

Mr. CHANDLER (when his name was called). I am paired with the junior Senator from New Jersey [Mr. BLODGETT]. Therefore I do not vote.

Mr. CULLOM (when his name was called). I am paired generally with the Senator from Delaware [Mr. GRAY]. We have, however, an understanding that when a quorum is necessary we may vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. DAVIS (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Indiana [Mr. TURPIE].

Mr. GALLINGER (when his name was called). I will again announce that I am paired with the Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS]. The Senator from Florida [Mr. PASCO] is paired with the Senator from North Dakota [Mr. CASEY]. The pair of the Senator from Texas [Mr. MILLS] will be transferred to the Senator from North Dakota, and the Senator from Florida and I will vote. I vote "nay."

Mr. HISCOCK (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Arkansas [Mr. JONES].

Mr. HUNTON (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Connecticut [Mr. PLATT] with the understanding, however, that either of us shall vote in the absence of the other in order to make a quorum. I vote "yea."

Mr. KYLE (when his name was called). I have transferred my pair from the Senator from California [Mr. STANFORD] to the Senator from South Carolina [Mr. IRBY], and I vote "yea."

Mr. WHITE (when his name was called). I am paired with the Senator from Nevada [Mr. JONES]. I transfer that pair to the Senator from West Virginia [Mr. CAMDEN] and vote "yea."

The roll call was concluded.

Mr. COCKRELL. I am paired with the senior Senator from Iowa [Mr. ALLISON], and have been all the evening.

Mr. DUBOIS. At the request of the Senator from Oregon [Mr. MITCHELL], I announce his pair with the Senator from Montana [Mr. SANDERS].

The result was announced—yeas 26, nays 16; as follows:
